Dear Clarence:

I noticed in the Northridge bulletin that you had to have an operation not too long ago. Even though this letter comes a little late I did want you to know that Sue and I were concerned and hoped that the operation was a success. I suppose you must be feeling better now for I have just read that you returned to work recently.

How is Mrs. Harris and the boys getting along? I probably wouldn't know Timothy and Mark and I suppose David has grown alot. With school starting back David ought to be learning alot.

Our work is going as good as I expected. The congregation was dead when I moved and it still is not too alive. We are making good steady progress and that counts more I suppose than other types of what seems to be progress. I am up to my ears in school work. In fact, I am taking more than I ought to be taking but I do want to get through so badly. With six meetings this summer, going to school all summer, and my local church work, I had been fairly busy.

I just wanted to write and let you know we were thinking about you and wish you the best of health.

Faternally yours,

John Allen Chalk
