The Harding College student body voted Thursday, Dec. 2, on candidates for Petit Jean Queen and named Peggy Futrell, Bonnie McAdams, and Jane Russell as the three finalists.

Final voting to name the new queen, who will succeed Betty Helms of Winnetonka, Wash., will be held during the chapel hour Tuesday, Dec. 14.

Miss Futrell, the Sigma Tau Sigma candidate, is a junior from Walnut Ridge. She is president of the Roy­ gina club, a member of Campus Player, Camera Club, and Home Ec club, and is majoring in English.

Miss Russell, a junior majoring in business education, is from Bloom­ ville, Ark. She is candidate of the Lambda Sigma club.

Miss McAdams, a senior education major from Jacksonville, is the number of the To­ eb club. She is a member of the Tofebt club.

Camera Club Reveals Winners

Winners in the first monthly snapshot contest conducted by the Camera club were announced this week by Weldon Hatch, president.

First place in the black and white division went to Bill Ramsey for his snapshot of a girl in a haystack.

Walter Gillies was awarded second place for his picture of a tree taken at Grenada, Miss. Third place was won by Herb Dean with a snap­ shot of a neighbor boy holding a snapshot of a girl in a haystack.

The deadline for the next snapshot contest is Dec. 17. This contest is open to anyone on campus and prints are to be submitted to Prof. Neil Coppe or Weldon Hatchet.

Student Council To Sponsor Christmas Party

At nine o'clock Tuesday night the Student Council is giving a pageant a u sher in the Christmas season with a party for an student body to ob­ serve actual treatment of speech difficulties.

The classes are taught by Richard Walker who is doing the correction work. Later in the course, stu­ dents will be able to do most of the correction work themselves.

Any student who feels a need for help in speech correction may take the course, receive correction and earn two hours college credit.

Following a short devotional period conducted in Spanish, JoeCue­ ller, president, discussed the personal­ ity of the Latin American people. He said that through an understand­ ing of Spanish, one may learn to better appreciate the traits and cus­ toms of our neighbors to the south.

Repeating the club motto, "En Ju contributions in Spanish, with the dialogue was in Spanish, which transition was necessary while showing the film.

Those persons having activities among their students foreign accent, some in speech correction.

The members on the chorus trip are:

First Sopranos: Neil Stilpert, Don Underwood, Jerry Lewis, Davis Perryman.
Second Altos: Claudette Harris, Flora Rutherford, Barbara Jones, Loretta Lee, Rose­ more Cantrell.
Second Tenors: Jim Brill, Jerry Martin, Morgan Richardson, Pat Tague.
Second Basses: Ralph Ellis, Leon Banderow, Re­ gina Bailey.
First Basses: Owen Olbrich, Bob Clauss, Bob Crox, Ken Noland.

Letters From The EDITOR’S MAIL

We have been told time and time again in chapel and in our classes that we should conserve our resources. Every minute is precious to most of us since we have so much to do. It seems that if the administration is really interested in helping us save time, it would do something to shorten the time that we are forced to stand in line to enter the dining hall.

If each of the students has to stand in line fifteen minutes for each meal—many wait much longer—3,675 hours are wasted each week by standing in line for meals; assuming that seven hundred people eat in the dining hall.

It is the opinion of many of the students, that the line would be much shorter and many hours could be saved if the dining hall stayed open longer during the week.

With the exception of lunch, the dining hall is open only 30 minutes after class. This is completely impractical for a student who is large body and heavy.

Yes, it would cost more to keep the dining hall open longer, but I would save the students many hours of badly wasted time.

The White House has recently offered an insight into what its policies are concerning the next pro­ gram for military service. The present draft law, which expires in July, 1953, leaves the possibility of an entire new policy. The new program, however, will be essen­ tially a two-year period—two years of service. Reviewing this new program may be something which concerns us all, let us look briefly into the facts. What may the schedule be of the new draft program? There will be no change in the order of the present tour of duty. As required by law, youths must regis­ ter for induction at age 18. The draft period will run for two years, just as it does under the present policy.

In an attempt to keep up with both the demands of our technology, young men will be held longer for training, preferably to study in engineering and science. Deferrers will be estab­ lished for those who meet the re­ quirements for such deferments. The new feature which the White House has introduced is of concern to those who are likely to be better. By approved by Congress, the plan will allow a volunteer three choices:

1. A two-year period of service, no deferment.
2. A three or four year enrollment in the Navy, Air Force, or Marines, or (3) A period of four years of active service—two years in the Active Reserve or the National Guard.

It is also probable that certain changes are likely to be introduced. These may be such things as pay raises, bonuses for re­ sults, and other collections of better opportunities for GI educations.

Although not much different from the present system, it seems that the youths choice between part time service or full time service during a longer period of time, or full time duty for a much shorter period of time.

A great deal of talent is lost to the world for want of a little of courage. Every day sends its graver for the world, and we must con­ ventioned from making a first effort.

Hep-Talking Kid Finds Hiding Hul

By Sugar Stewart

I was talking to Harry the Hipple one other day, and he was very de­ viated in the “cool cats” of our staff. He had a story to lay in the fact that the cat dressed the old cat, but did talk like a cat should. When you take your best girl home from a very exciting date, the correct thing to say is, “Plant you now. Did you like that?” Then he said “I have to go now, I’ll see you tomorrow.”

A few short and frantic phrases before my paper ends: “wearing the green” is to have paper money; “cop a squat” is to sit down; “Dagger and quill” is to get some sleep; and “lines your flue” is to eat some food.

HINK ON THESE THINGS

By BILL FLOYD

What is real education? Many people believe that education is a book learning only. If you know it tomorrow which you do not know now, are you going to tell me that real education? It is part of our daily life and habits, not of the words that we learn in our class. An important phase of education often overlooked is learning to use facts in the right way. We must retain the ability to think, we cannot use the fact any better. We must seek for the absolute truth.

True wisdom is not altogether the gathering of facts; it comes from the ability to think, to use the common sense and a profound reasoning power. God has been gracious to give us a wonder­ ful reasoning power. Why not use it to its true value.

Another phase of education often overlooked is learning to get along with our fellow man. We live in an age of individualism. We live in an age of world today because the world does not know which way to use it — destructively or constructively. Why not use it to its absolute truth.

We learn the difference between wisdom and knowledge. Wisdom is the continu­

It’s Banquet Time
As Clubs Make Plans

By Jo Anne King

The round of club banquets seems to be starting somewhat early this year. The Tri Sigma Delta and the K.C.’s had their gala events last Friday night.

The Frater Social Club recently initiated 17 pledges into their ranks in the form of an informal initiation. With the entrance of these pledges, membership it has had in the last several years. Good Luck to you in your year’s work.

With the Thanksgiving holidays over, the club activities are really getting under way. Club banquets seem to be the main item on the various agendas.

The Lambda Sigma discussed plans for their banquet at their regular meeting Monday night. The banquet is to be at the Mayfair on Jan. 8. The Lambda Sigma club has 32 members this year. They plan to be on-campus at the library tea and book review in the near future. At their last meeting they welcomed their new co-sponsor, Mr. Don B. Simo.

It seems that the Lambda Sigmas are really sticking together this year. A few days ago 13 of the members were seen going through the line of the dining hall together. It wasn’t planned that way either.

Attention, club reporters. Please turn your club news in to the Bison Dean Roper and Jane Claxton, Boys’ and Girls’ Headline Club.

Book Review Given At Library Tea

My Life History, the story of Grandma Moses, was the title of the book reviewed by Mrs. Perry Mason at the second library book review and tea, Dec. 4.

Miss Ann Bradley, senior librarian assistant, extended a welcome from the library staff and social club hosts.

Introducing the speaker, Mrs. Glass, college librarian, spoke of Mrs. Mason’s experiences, her skill as an artist of pen and brush, and her skill as an artist at living life to its fullest and best.

Presiding the review Misses Della Stokes, president of the Delta Chi Omega club and Marjorie Hyatt, president of the GATA club presided at the tea table.

Assisting the library staff in extending the courtesies were: Misses Joanne Hartman and Kay Gillespie of the Delta Chi club, and Bob Brown, Jack McNutt, and Ken Norton of the Delta Upsilon club who also assisted in dispensing hospitality.

More than 130 faculty members, students, and friends attended.

Birthday Party Honors Miss Pearson

Miss Carol Leach Pearson was the guest of honor at a birthday party Dec. 5 in Calhoun Hall. After the honors had blazed out the candles, birthday cake and cakes were served.

Other guests were Misses Lee Alsberry, Ginger Jackson, Patzy Pritchett, Lola Redes, Margie Rhyatt, Shirley Harvey, Rachel Handley, Kaye Van Wey, Yvonne Moreng, Carolyn Hutt, Cathy Sampson, Jackie Jones, Margaret Hardy, Martha Tucker, and Rosalyn Shapley.

Cavaliers Treated By Club Queen

Every member of the Cavalier Social club was present Monday night at the meeting in which plans were made for the annual banquet. The banquet will probably be held Saturday night, Jan. 22.

After the meeting, the Cavaliers enjoyed a delicious cake which was given to them by Miss Ronnie McAdams, the club nominee for Petit Jean queen. This was the second treat given the club by Miss McAdams, the first being a cake given to the club just after her selection as the Cavalier nominee.

On Dec. 3, the Cavaliers co-hosts to the book review held in the library at which Mrs. Perry Mason reviewed the autobiography of Grandma Moses.
