New Orleans Symphony To Make First Arkansas Appearance Here On Tuesday

Hilberg To Direct Famous Symphony In Afternoon And Evening Performances

Giving its first Arkansas concert, the New Orleans Symphony will play here Tuesday, Feb. 14 at 8 p.m. as part of the Harding College lyceum series. Preceding the evening performances, the orchestra will give a free concert for children at 2:30 p.m. The orchestra has received national acclaim as one of the finest in the country. (See story on page 6.)

Dr. Ralph Overman will present a series of lectures here Friday and Saturday under the sponsorship of the central Arkansas section of the American Chemical Society.

Dr. Overman, Chairman of the Special Training Division of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, will speak on the inception and development of the chemical society Friday at 8 p.m. in the chapel auditorium. This is the only time the Harding student body following Harding's physical science department on the part of every chorus member each hour of every trip. Besides the actual singing experience, these trips are the stimulation to the performances given in the homes of congregations where the chorus sings.

"It is an active member of the Oak Ridge community participating in many organizations and activities."

"Hymns From Harding Heard On 177 Stations"

"Hymns from Harding," a weekly radio program featuring the Harding College A Cappella Choruses is now heard in 40 states. A total of 179 stations including 20 in Arkansas carry the program. Prof. Jim Atkinson is the announcer.

To the Majority Choose the Music

Several students interested in the current discussion concerning the jukebox have asked the Bison to comment on the subject. While the Bison has no intention of entering every controversy that might arise among the students, it apparently editorializes on this particular matter since it concerns practically every student in some capacity.

To the Bison, this talk concerning the type of music played in the student center is more than academic; it appears that college students would have more constructive uses for their time than to even start such a discussion. Therefore, some students enjoy popular music such as is being played in the student center jukebox while others do not like music of this type. It is simple: some students enjoy popular music to an extent that it is the type of music that they like. The issue is not so much in popular music that can be called educational or inspirational but rather the students' idea of a good time. Most church-related institutions are not so fruitful, however; but I

Dear Cohortus,

I am a little upset that you are trying to make your patient a slave to the order of the elevators. I cannot believe that you are trying to make your patient a slave to the order of the elevators. I think I know what you are trying to do, Cohortus. I think you are trying to make your patient a slave to the order of the elevators.

You are a slave to the order of the elevators, and you are a slave to the order of the elevators. You are a slave to the order of the elevators, and you are a slave to the order of the elevators. You are a slave to the order of the elevators, and you are a slave to the order of the elevators. You are a slave to the order of the elevators, and you are a slave to the order of the elevators. Thanks for the compliments on last week's column, "The Little Red Schoolhouse," but you also mentioned that some students who read the column realized that they were not learning anything new. Of course, those of you who have read John Steinbeck, Thomas Wolfe, or some of the earlier works of A. J. Cronin, recognized that Richard's efforts were doing no more than to bring a joke.

Frankly, I, like many of you, was sick of these "very strong statements" until I had the privilege of working in the dining hall staff for one evening. The fellows who have to unload the trays and wash the dishes have a job that is hot, heavy, and monotonous. Every time we fail to take extra time, every time we play cards properly, we are making that job just a little more difficult and a little more monotonous.

So it is with those students who fail to do their work correctly.

Gata's Entertain Their Guests
In A 'Frosted Garden' Setting

On Feb. 4 at the Renderville Cafe, the Gata club entertained their dates in their "Frosted Garden." Hundreds of snowflakes were suspended from the ceiling, and in the center of the banquet room, white tinsel was placed in beds of glittering snow. A blue wailing wall, covered with blue lights and angel hair, was the focal point of the mirror. A white pickle fence enclosed the garden.

Brooklyn Shapley, president, welcomed the guests, and Doyle Ward gave the invocation. The presentation and brought the evening to a climax with their own production of "Frosted Garden." The Blue Beats played between each act. Each member and his date were dressed to represent a foreign country. Dean, and the welcome was given by Professor Edward Baggett. After the meal, each member introduced her date and read a poem she had composed about him. Lucile DuBois was mistress of ceremonies. A skit, "The Lamp Went Out," was presented by Martha Tucker, Margaret Hardy, Marjia Ruffin, and Joyce Allen. Lucia DuBois and Jackie Anguish pantomimed "How Much Is That Hound Dog in the Window?" The Blue Beats played between each act. After fighting the machine, a couple of boys hit the jackpot the other day when they bought a washing machine to save a laundry bill of 36 cents. After fighting the machine, clothes and clothes line hung down to the floor. I wondered if they are still proud of their little investment. If we start from the beginning and examine the results of our purchase we'll soon understand why God created woman to do the washing.

Why The Secret?

Where would be the logical place for a washing machine in a dormitory? The shower, of course! At least that's where our grinnies felt it should be.

Not letting their schematics in on the money saving device could only result in confusion. Who ever tried talking to a shower with a washing machine? Well, their schematics did. These boys really made it a squash as soon as it appeared. Washing clothes was old stuff to them. They knew that soap and water went into the machine. In all the excitement, though, they almost forgot them. The line was stuffed into one wall and the clothes were hung by faith alone. Feeling proud of themselves, two of our friends started setting each other on the back. However, the air stirred up in the room by those movements must have had a couple of boys like yours. Sub-T's And Dates Go On World Tour clothes, line, and all, falling to the floor.

For their annual banquet, the Sub-T's social club took a world cruise. Each member and his date were dressed to represent a foreign country.

The invocation was given by Herb Berry, and the welcome was given by Ed Gurzum. Selling list included Guy Vanderpool, Leonelle Pellic, Benny Sanders, Mary Frances Reese, Jerry Perry, Janie Lyles, Boyd Gardner, Joyce Van Wey, John Thornton, Carroll Pearson.

Peeved, but still patient, they tried various other means of hanging the line. Attaching one end of the line to the mirror and the other to a window rod only resulted in a fallen mirror and red.

Peeved, but still determined, they searched the room for other clothes hanging devices. Peering in the closet gave them the idea they were looking for. Two tired washers settled down to a peaceful sleep.

Down It Comes

The peacefulness of the night was disturbed, however, when Venetian blinds, clothes line and clothes came tumbling down on top of one of the weary workers. Jumping huriest of any bed re- molded in a tangled mass of millet.

Social Clubs Begin Plans
For Outings

By Jackie Jones

Delta Chi Omegas have elected the following officers for the spring semester: Andee King, president; Maggie Oldham, vice-president; Evelyn Lawrence, secretary; Doris Ann Jones, treasurer. Ira Marshall, historian. They are looking forward to a busy semester of working on their project and planning their outing to Tahokah.

New officers for Le Camaraderes are: Edna Whitemon, vice-president; Ann Demia, secretary-treasurer; Ruby Nell Bobby, reporter, and Gloria Shoberman, historian. The club has completed its spring semester calendar.

Omega Phi elected the following officers for the spring semester: Lor­ujia Lee, president; Libby Lanadon, low-president; Janice Belley, sec­retary; Margie Hall, treasurer and bookkeeper. Sue Ward, reporter; The club held a banking party Sun­day night at the home of Nancy Bandell.

Galaxy held its regular meeting to make further plans for the banquet now scheduled for the month of April. We select a place for the spring outing.

boy and clothes. Although he was in dire need of help, his roommate could do nothing but laugh. After all, how many boys get tangled up in wet clothes lines at the small hours of the night? At last discovering a part of the window that could not fall down for sleepy fingers tied up the clothes line for the final time, and went to bed once again.

To me, the whole process seems a way of life to these fellows. Why our friends? Are they bitter? Of course not. After all, the falling clothes trapped the floor.

What more can one want from a washing machine?

Season Ends As 'Cats Defeat Pirates, 42-41

Harding Academy's Wildcats scored a big win over the Pirates in their last game of the season. The game was a lopsided victory for the Wildcats, who held onto a 17-point lead throughout much of the contest. The Pirates were unable to keep up with the game as they were losing by 21-3 at half-time.

The Pirates and Wildcats spent much of the opening minutes in a tight game. However, the Pirates couldn't keep up with the Wildcats, who led the majority of the game. The Pirates made attempts to catch up, but the Wildcats were never really threatened.

Despite their best efforts, the Pirates couldn't overcome the Wildcats. The game was a hard-fought battle with many tries from the Pirates, but the Wildcats were consistently in control. The first half was especially tight, with the Wildcats leading 21-3.

The Pirates had a few opportunities in the second half to make up the deficit, but the Wildcats were too strong. The game ended with the Wildcats winning by 42-41, securing the victory for themselves.

The Wildcats' record is now 9-8, while the Pirates have not yet announced their record. This game marked the end of the Pirates' season, as they now cannot play in any more games.

Bruins Outclass Wolfpack, 80-64

Tommy Dwyer, the leading scorer for Harding, was a star in his first game for Harding. He scored 21 points against the Wolfpack, leading his team to victory. The Cats record is now 9-8.

The Pirates might have had a chance to win, but they were unable to catch up with the Cats. The Cats made 26 points to lead the Bruins with 33 and 32 points. The Cats had a big advantage in the first half, leading 20-8.

The Cats maintained their lead throughout the game, making it difficult for the Pirates to catch up. They had a three point lead with four minutes remaining in the game. The Cats grabbed a win as the Academy grabbed a 46 point lead.

In the earlier 58-57 loss to Swifton, the Cats were only able to make 31.3 per cent of their shots, confirming their average shooting performance throughout the season. However, in this game, they were able to make 46.8 per cent of their shots.

Due to the accurate jump-shots of Schwartz, the Bruins were able to lead in the opening moments and maintain their lead throughout the game. Tucker was high point man with 18 markers, followed by Schwartz and Bill Cloud with 16 and 14 points respectively.

The Cats had a big advantage in the first half, with four reserves and the Wolfpack, and the Bruins agreed to play the winning, the Wildcats. The Cats were able to exceed their average shooting performance and make 32 points. The Cats had a three point lead with four minutes remaining in the game.

The Pirates were a classy gang. The Cats had a big advantage in the first half, with four reserves and the Wolfpack, and the Bruins agreed to play the winning, the Wildcats. The Cats were able to exceed their average shooting performance and make 32 points. The Cats had a three point lead with four minutes remaining in the game.
