Students to Share Party With Needy This Christmas

"Let's give our party to others this year," is the idea that the Student Association has planned for a night of Christmas activities, December 17.

"Instead of having an all-school party where the spirit and happiness of our student body is bottled up in one place, we have decided it would be better to share it with others," commented Bill Floyd, Student Association president.

Clubs have already been assigned needy families by the Student Association to which they will individually bestow gifts.

After the clubs have completed their tasks, the plan is for everyone to meet and go to the county farm with gifts and singing.

Hot chocolate will be served in the Emerald room for the group when they return.

"We hope this will be one of the most pleasant parties we have ever planned as we still believe it is more pleasant to give . . ." said Floyd.

Academy Chorus Plans To Sing at Little Rock

The Harding Academy chorus will go to Little Rock for two singing engagements. They will sing at the Veterans Administration's Hospital, December 18, at 7 p.m.

At 8 p.m. they will sing at the East Side Church of Christ, 14th and Scott St. They will return to Harding after the performances.

Monday night, December 9, the Academy Quartet and Sextet journeyed to Hickory Ridge to sing at a Young Peoples' Meeting which was held there.

Campus Players Stage Barbecue for Nearly 300

In spite of a wet weekend, which left the air a bit chilly and the ground a little muddy, 150 Campus Players, apprentices and dates headed for a hamburger barbecue at the college park, Monday, December 9.

Eight girls volunteered to prepare the sauce and 300 hamburger patties, and the male Players and dates cooked them. Undaunted by wet wood and ground, everyone waited for his share of the food and at last everyone was served.

Essay Contest On Alcoholism To Begin Soon

In America today there are more than 60 million people who drink. Of these approximately 4 million are what the medical profession would call alcoholics.

Nobody is born an alcoholic. He allows himself to take that first social drink. Then comes the second; and from there he wanders down the road toward alcoholism.

Each year the Intercollegiate Association gives North American undergraduate students the opportunity to participate in an editorial writing contest on some phase of the alcoholic problem. This year's program, The Roberts' Editorial Awards, offers 3 thousand dollars in cash, scholarships and travel grants.

The theme for this year is "Motives for Drinking." The prizes are so arranged that anyone can enter the contest and feel that he has a good chance of winning one of the many awards.

Further information as to where to send the editorial manuscripts can be obtained in the Bison office.

Writing Contest For College Women

Mademoiselle announces its 1958 College Fiction Contest for women. The two most outstanding contest stories will each receive a prize of $500 plus publication in Mademoiselle.

Any woman undergraduate under 26 years old who is regularly enrolled in an accredited college or junior college is eligible. Stories that have appeared in undergraduate publications are acceptable if they have not been published elsewhere. Stories must be original and characters fictitious.

Stories should run from 2,500 to 5,000 words. More than one story will be accepted from each contestant. The stories should be submitted on regulation-size typing paper. Entries should be typewritten, double-spaced, on one side of the page only.

Co-eds Make Vacation Plans For Christmas Holiday Season

By Naomi Walker

Preview of Christmas: Harding, Dec. 12

It's a grand night for singing — and quite a few are. The reason? Look at your calendar! Christmas vacation starts in a week!

Christmas vacation — what lovely thoughts those two little words bring forth from the depths of a "stir-crazy" heart. Singing Christmas carols until it seems as though even gallons of hot chocolate couldn't warm you up . . . fighting mobs of pedestrian traffic so you can see Santa land in a helicopter — or so you can buy that special Christmas gift . . . sniffing the fragrant aroma of gingerbread and fruitcake fresh from the oven . . . helping trim the Christmas tree — with perhaps a fleeting thought of how much fun it was when you still believed in that jolly Mr. Claus . . . seeing the eyes of a youngster sparkle as you read:

"Twas the night before Christmas and all through the house Not a creature was stirring, Not even a mouse."

Visiting old friends . . . going to Christmas parties . . . drinking boiled custard . . . spending an hour wrapping a present that will be opened in a minute . . . hoping for a big blizzard, so it will really be a White Christmas — this is all part of the holiday fun.

Yes, Christmas evokes multitudes and masses of memories. And everyone reacts differently to them. For instance, though it's a week before we leave, in this room is a girl repacking her suitcase for the eleventh time.

And there's an industrious soul buried under a mountain of books — determined to finish her term paper before the holidays. She has quiet for study; her roommate is out visiting (she plans to catch up on her lessons while she's home.)

However, when you ask most people what they're going to do with all this free time, they just grin and answer, "Have a ball!"

The Bison staff wishes you a MERRY CHRISTMAS — and, by the way, have a ball!

Chorus Members Return to Campus

The A Cappella chorus returned Tuesday, after an 11-day tour in the Northeast. Six states were visited during the tour.

Besides their regularly scheduled appearance, the chorus recorded a radio program at Muscatine, Iowa.

While on the trip, the members did a lot of sightseeing in Chicago. They visited the museum of science and industry, the aquarium, planetarium, and museum of natural history.

Before leaving Chicago the chorus members, with director Kenneth Davis and public relations manager Russ Simmons, visited the Crudential Building. This building is now the newest and tallest skyscraper in Chicago.

The largest crowd to hear the chorus was at the Davenport high school, Davenport, Iowa. There was an attendance of 2400 students and 100 teachers.

The smallest crowd was at Muscatine, Iowa. There were 200, which was 100 per cent overflow of the auditorium.

The program was a success everywhere and was marred only by sore throats and one-day virus infections and a fuel pump failure on the bus, which caused the members to return by chartered bus from the Fort Smith area, according to Russ Simmons.

Will it be Miss Rosemary Kendrick, Miss Annette Hendrix, or Miss Loretta Icenhower? One of these three young ladies will reign as Queen of the May Fete, sponsored by the Ju Go Ju social club.

Miss Kendrick competes for the honor as the nominee of the Regina Club. She is a senior from Haynesville, La. and is also president of Regina. She has been active in F.T.A. as sec.-treas., in intramural volleyball, in chorale and on the Petit Jean staff. This summer she was elected Miss Haynesville and is now practicing what she has learned as an elementary education major.

The Kappa Kappa Kappas chose Miss Hendrix as their representative. A senior home economics major from Antoine, Ark., Miss Hendrix also sings with the cappella chorus. She has served as vice-president and also as secretary-treasurer of Kappa Kappa Kappa and is an active member of the Home Economics Club. Her junior class elected her their "favorite."

Miss Icenhower is the candidate of the Omega Phi Club, for which she serves as historian. Texarkana, Ark. is the home of Miss Icenhower who is a junior elementary education major. She has been active in F.T.A. work and also on the Petit Jean staff. Both this year and last she has served as attendant to the All-star Football Queen.

These are the results of the preliminary election held in chapel, December 6.

Two Morrors

Bobby Morrow, Abilene track star, wired Bill Teague this week announcing that Bobby's wife Joan has presented him with a pair of assorted twins.

They arrived December 10. Names haven't been revealed yet.

Drive Defensively, Politely --- and Live

Don't Be a Fool! — He Met One!

CHARLES BURKS innocently met his death last summer while returning to Harding. The car he was riding in was hit by a car load of drunks. Be careful on your trip home.

Safety Is No Accident!

DRIVING WHILE DRUNK! Drunken driving cost the driver his life. Watch out for careless drivers during the vacation.

HE WAS SLEEPY! He didn't stop to wake up and refresh. His sister paid for his carelessness with her life. Don't drive when you are sleepy.

EXCESSIVE SPEED can kill. The driver of this car saved a few minutes, but what did he gain? Slow down and live!

Pretty? No!
Funny? Of course not.
True? Yes.

These pictures were not placed here for fun or beauty. To the contrary, they are here to cause everyone who reads this page to stop and think.

If they help make students and faculty members more safety conscious, we will feel that our purpose was accomplished.

Before you begin your long trip home for the Christmas vacation check your car thoroughly for any faulty mechanical operations.

Be sure to check the nut behind the wheel.

In 1956 the age of the automobile came into its own. Congress passed a multi-billion dollar highway development program, assuring the motoring public of wider, longer, straighter roads in years to come.

Automobile manufacturers took advantage of this promise and began to fashion dreams of steel; powerful, sleek, multi-colored models with all the newest conveniences. And, the nation's drivers made certain that accident statistics came of age, too.

They killed, maimed, crippled and destroyed more men, women, children and property than ever before in the history of the automobile.

Cars spun out of control on wet, icy roads, pedestrians were struck down while trying to cross the street against the light, sleepy, tired or drunk drivers gambled their reflexes against their lives . . . or the lives of others.

These pictures indicate the results of such carelessness. The reckless young tried to show off behind the wheel of his father's car and was dashed to a date with eternity.

"Drive like everyone else is nuts" or drive defensively, could be a good slogan to remember when you speed by oncoming automobiles less than three feet from you, just across that white line in the middle of the road. Some people don't stay on their side of the white line.

In 1956 excessive speed killed almost five times as many motorists as did any other action. Last year 40,000 Americans were killed and 1,500,000 were injured on our streets and highways. If safety is not practiced to a fuller degree, 42,000 will be killed in traffic in 1957.

Why allow such mass murder to take place? The majority of the deaths were through carelessness; 35,000 of those killed need not have died. A Kemper Insurance study reveals that 88 per cent of the people who died on the highway in 1956 were killed in accidents involving people who disobeyed traffic laws.

Safety is no accident. You are the one who can see to it that you return to Harding after Christmas.

Every year we get the opportunity to learn by our mistakes and the mistakes of others. What have you learned? Will you try to get home as quick as you can, or will you make sure you get there alive?

Slow Down — And Live!

HE PASSED in the wrong lane. Don't make the same mistake. Stay in the right lane until passing is safe!

YIELD RIGHT OF WAY to emergency vehicles. The driver failed to yield the right of way. Now this policeman is wearing a plastic nose. Drive carefully!

DRAG RACING! It may be fun to drag with the gang, but it isn't very smart. This race killed three teenagers.

Academy NEWS

By Mary Lea Northcut, Editor

Perhaps the most enjoyable and newest addition to the Harding Academy curriculum this year is snack time. Snack time was designated by Mr. Perry Mason to be a short break for milk and candy in the mid-morning. The milk bar, under the supervision of the Citizenship Club, has proved successful and seems to be "that pause that refreshes." Rosie King, Pat Neal, Naita Jean Berryhill, Timmy Rhodes, and Don Berryhill have been working faithfully behind the counter for the past several weeks.

The first contribution toward the purchase of the new hymn books for the auditorium was made by the S.T.A.R. social club. A check for ten dollars was presented to Mr. Mason by Pat Neal, president of the club. The S.T.A.R.'s also delivered a basket of food to a needy family in Searcy as a Thanksgiving project.

Heads high, hands gracefully in position, and slow purposeful steps were points stressed to the home-making II class before the style show Dec. 4. The presentation, entitled "From under the Christmas Tree," was given in chapel and was narrated by Pat Neal. The attention of the audience was focused on the center of the stage as each of the 13 girls participating stepped from a giant Christmas package and modeled to piano music played by Bettye Ritchie and Nancy Knott.

Have you noticed the energetic sellers of popcorn, peanuts, and cokes at the recent basketball games? These boys are members of the Junior Key club. This club was patterned after the Senior Key club and also is dedicated to services to others.

The college girls' intramural basketball teams had better be on the lookout for the upcoming academy team. Eighteen girls have been practicing after school, preparing to contest their collegiate friends when the intramural program begins. Jacquelyn Hathcock, guard, and Sandy Mills, forward show outstanding ability.

The Bible classes have been responsible for the five preceding Saturday chapel programs. The arrangement of the worship was worked out and presented by the boys in each class. The programs have been inspiring and aid in giving the boys ease before an audience as they direct songs, lead in prayer, and make short talks.

As the new high school editor for the Bison, I would like to thank Tony Pippen for providing the academy this space for our news.

On Thursday, Dec. 5, the Association of High School Women in West Dormitory held their last meeting before the holidays. The students were divided into three teams and have been competing for grades on room neatness. The two losing teams will treat the winners to a Christmas party on Sunday, Dec. 15.

The Library Club has been concentrating on decorations for the Christmas season. A tree has been erected, and a Christmas poster was made for a shadow box.

The K.A.T. club is planning a bunking party for Dec. 15. At the party further plans will be made for the Christmas basket to be given to a needy family before the Christmas holidays. Plans for a spring banquet are being discussed. A date and theme will be chosen soon.

The junior class' outside activities were begun Saturday evening, Nov. 16, when many of the members participated in an evening of Christian fellowship at the home of Jimmy Thompson.

Ping pong, shuffleboard, scrabble, and checkers were some of the games enjoyed, but the highlight of the party was the refreshments. Mrs. Andy Ritchie and a committee of five students served crackers, cheese, potato chips, hot chocolate, and cookies.

Plans are now underway for the junior-senior banquet to be held April 12 at the Rendezvous. To develop ideas for the banquet, the following committee has been chosen: Sid Tate, chairman, Nancy Knott, Carleton Burke, Nicki Dixon, James Hall, Mary Lea Northcut, Jere Yates, and DeeVonne Clark.

The elementary grades had their pictures taken by Wallace Stein from Newport, November 5.

On November 6, the Junior Wildcats defeated McCrory in a basketball game. The 1957-58 Junior Wildcats are: Lanny Casey, Mike Simms, Larry French, Donnie Thompson, Phillip Rhodes, Dick Dean, Clifton Ganus, Edward Hays, Bobby Thompson, Loyd Smith, Roy Evans, Larry Hillis, Stephen Hays, and James Morris. The cheerleaders are to be commended for their decorating the halls and cheering at the game.

The first grade is decorating their room and Christmas tree. The second grade has a motto of "A good yesterday, a better today." They are also decorating for Christmas.

The third grade is presenting a Christmas program Friday at 3 p.m. The two honor students of the third grade room are Marsha Hays and Karen Meyers.

The fourth grade had charge of chapel. They gave two films about Christmas.

The fifth grade is decorating their room also. They are going to put a scene of a small town in the back of the room.

The sixth grade is going to present a play of the Book of Ruth on December 18 at 3 p.m. Everyone is invited.

Speech With Peach

By Helen Hendrix

If eighty girls are told to find dates, the results are similar to an Easter egg hunt. That's what happened to the girls in Campus Players. The girls wasted no time in searching every nook and cranny to find a boy to take to the hamburger barbecue at the park Monday afternoon.

Well, yes, our boys also asked girls for dates, but it's not the same. Really though, you've never lived until you've attended one of the Campus Players' parties. Approximately 150 students who attended the hamburger fry will tell you it's true.

To mention the progress of our club I shall tell you that the honorary make-up club, Masquers, has been giving make-up lessons to apprentices on Tuesday nights. Helen Hendrix and Darrel Alexander have 19 students enrolled in the class.

Last week Prof. Wiley's father donated a vacuum cleaner to Campus Players. Looks like there will be no excuse for letting the wool rugs in the Green Room get dirty again.

Our writer, Peachy, has been gone on a chorus trip for nearly two weeks, and from the sound of her letters she is having a whang-banging good time. Since she isn't here, I'll have to tell you that the tryouts for "Enemy of the People" will be on the afternoon of Dec. 12 and 13.

Bald Knob Upsets 'Cats', 33-32

The Academy, which seems to make a habit of heartbreaking finishes could not keep the ball frozen and Bald Knob, as a result dunked a basket with seven seconds remaining to tack a 32-33 loss on the Academy 3-1 record, Saturday.

Bob Kissire sank a two pointer with three minutes remaining to put the Wildcats ahead 32-31, and Coach Ted Lloyd immediately gave the freeze orders which the Bulldogs solved by fouling, giving up one shot for possession of the ball. The Wildcats fired twice from the free throw line and missed and on the second try Bulldog determination was rewarded with a two pointer which gave the winning margin.

Ailing Timmy Rhodes, who played little and did not score, was given the chore of getting the two points back with one second on the clock but his desperation shot was blocked as the buzzer was sounded.

Bald Knob led at halftime, 19-15. Bill Smith led the Wildcats with 12 points and Wamsley sparked Bald Knob with 13.

In the first half the Wildcats hit 29% of their shots compared to Bald Knob's 24%, and the second half they hit 39% while the Bulldogs got 21%.

The Harding Academy Wildcats finally found the victory trail Friday night as they defeated McCrory 56-46. Timmy Rhodes had his high point production of the season with 28, Arnold Dewitt had 17 for McCrory.

The half-time score was 20-14 in favor of Harding.

Bill Williams fouled out for Harding and Jerry Wood and Larry Glover for McCrory.

Harding Bisons Lose To Arkansas College

Harding's "cradle new" Bisons found the losing jinx still their biggest problem last Monday night as they went down for the sixth consecutive time, and for the second time in two weeks before the Scots of Arkansas College.

That magic ten points was the difference again with the Bisons producing 50 markers, 11 short of their opponents with 61 points.

Ron Lewis led the losing cause with 10 scores and following was Keith Boler with eight. The game was a slow one with Harding making its lumps as usual on rebounds under both boards.

With Fred Massey off of his hot scoring rampage, the Herd lacked in any consistent scoring threat. The Bisons now have lost six games all of which were within 15 points, except two. Next Saturday they entertain Henderson State here at home.

Powder Puff Parade

Team One captained by Maggie Chafin and Glenda Calvert, volleyed and spiked their way to the intramural volleyball championship last Thursday in the final game of the season. The remainder of the team consisted of Etta Mae Westbrook, Betty Baker, Jo Chafin, Glenda Higgins, and Lenora Cross.

Although most girls predicted this to be the toughest game of the season, Team One easily outplayed and outdistanced Team Two from the beginning whistle. Powered by the Chafin sisters and the serving of Miss Cross, Team One outmaneuvered the unpredictable Karen Fry and the rest of her team.

Team-work was the best displayed by any team yet this season. Both teams played well as a unit, but Team One had more of that spirit which makes a winning team. Team Two fluffed a number of easy returns which could have counted in their favor.

In the consolation game, Team Eight triumphed over Team Seven. The winners jumped into the lead and were never touched by their opponents after that. Scoring after the first half was Team Eight, 17 and Team Seven, 9. Both teams eased off during the second period making the final score 29-16 for Team Eight.

All-stars were chosen by each of the eight teams who played during the season. They are Maggie Chafin, Rosie Causbie, Edna Lamberson, Kirsten Christensen, Tillie Watson, Augustine Hendrix and Barbara Greene. The other team consists of Glenda Calvert, Jean Hester, Caroline Hamm, Asako Kakehi, Jo Chafin, Anne Seay, Karen Fry and Helen Greene.

Those clubs who plan to enter the club volleyball tournament had better be sharpening up their plays. Competition and ability will be keen.

Delta Chi will seek to retain last year's championship. Four of their members placed on the all-star list. Kappa Phi's, second place last year, also placed four on the all-star teams.

Club volleyball will begin after the holidays.

If a nation expects to be ignorant and free, in a state of civilization, it expects what never was and never will be.

One Man's Opinion

By DON RUSK

The time has again arrived when an otherwise normal sports editor suddenly develops a demonic gleam in his eye and voluntarily places his neck on the block.

The desire to demonstrate prophetic powers becomes irresistible, so two supposed basketball powers must suffer the kiss of death. After all, this writer only predicted the football champ, Oklahoma, to finish last.

Faculty Appears Unbeatable

One prediction is a certainty. If the Faculty loses a game, it will be through pity. The Scholars were good last year and are twice as good this year.

Hugh Rhodes was farmed out to Lubbock in the West Texas League and Cecil Beck has been retired to Coaching in the Minors to make room for standout rookies.

Ted Lloyd, last year's intramural scoring champ, was drafted into the Faculty right off the campus. Kenny Perrin was called back from exile at Kansas State and Harry Olree likewise from his masters degree work at Memphis State. All are exceptional basketeers and combined with Hugh Groover, Cliff Ganus and Dr. Joe Pryor they could beat the varsity.

The Faculty has not lost a game in any sport this year, and will not at basketball, but cheer up. Baseball still remains and the professors are only average baseball players. Beck does the pitching and he can be hit. Preacher Roe may be a professor of marketing by then, though.

First The Tigers

The team which first catches the eye is the Tigers of the Southeastern Conference. Calvin Downs' talented jungle marauders boast superior skill in Wally Colson, who played for David Lipscomb last year; 6'4" Paul Huff, who should be able to sweep the backboards; Harold Valentine, who gained experience on the Academy team; and finally Downs, who as an all-star last year, did every thing well.

Dale Porterfield's Wildcats are relegated with misgivings to second place. Larry Peebles, who was good enough to make the varsity squad, and veteran playmaker Don Johnston combined with Porterfield could very easily help the Wildcats claw their way to the top.

The Vols can be seen only as high as third place in spite of standouts, Allen Armstrong and Ken Vanderpool.

The Bulldogs and Garrett Timmerman's Rebels remain to growl over last place with the nod going to the Rebels for the booby prize.

I'm a Yankee myself. Cecil spent long hours aligning the teams evenly and this writer will agree that he did an expert job in the Southwest Conference.

Four teams look equally tough. We would call it a highly improbable tie between the Owls, Mustangs, Aggies, and Longhorns. Arkansas' own Razorbacks look a sad last even with Dale Flaxbeard.

Beck Does A Thorough Job

Actually, a very hesitant nod is given to the Owls. Dead serious Huel Evans, who plays a fine game, may have misgivings over robust Phil Watson's jovial approach to basketball but all will be forgiven when Phil hogs the backboards and buckets key baskets. George Gur-

College of Ozarks Defeat Bisons, 55-44

Inability to hit key field goals, inaccuracy at the free shot line, and an apparent slippery basketball, spelled out the fifth defeat for the Harding Bisons, as they fell before a taller and more experienced College of the Ozarks quintet, 55-44.

College of the Ozarks moved to an early game lead and then hung on tenaciously to counteract Harding's second half full court press.

The Bisons played just the opposite of their last week's encounter against the Scots of Arkansas College when they played such an impressive first half, leading, 36-35. Saturday night, the College of the Ozarks marched to a 38-23 half-time lead and looked to be in for a breather, until Coach Groover turned his little men, Pete Stone and Dwight Smith, loose on ball swiping chores.

The Bisons produced four more points (21-17) than did College of the Ozarks during the exhilarating second stanza.

At one time during the relay, the Harding dribble specialists drew within five points of the leaders and looked like a team that might come from behind, but they missed their opportunity by inability to score when the chips were down.

Fred Massey once again was the big offensive gun for the Bisons as he bucketed 23 markers. There is no telling how many he would have scored if he had been hitting early in the game. No one else seriously presented a scoring threat for the visitors as Leon McQueen, who has been absent for the past few days, was second in the scoring column with five.

ganus is the reason for the nod Owlward. The Aggies and Mustangs each have a Knight to offset each other and the Longhorns have Jerry Mitchell and Glen Shriver. You pick between them.

IT'S GOOD! Freddy Masses (No. 31) gets off one of his jump shots to score for the Bisons. While Jim Citty (34) screens for Massey, Gerald Casey (25) and Leon McQueen (35) drive in for the rebound.

The Mountaineers rode the trusty eye of Francis Pitts to victory as the 6'4" center cut the meshes with 20 points, most of which came in the successful first half for the guests. Howard Patterson followed Pitts with eight tallies.

In the fouling category, the Bisons proved a little more agile as they didn't lose a man via this route. Fred, who usually has to be careful about fouling, since he has to guard a much taller man, had only one called against him. Citty and McQueen each had four.

Eventually every team pieces together the good first and second halves they have to form one complete game of almost perfection. When they do they give someone a rough time. This is what the hard-working Bisons will do on any given night at the expense of an unfortunate opponent. Then they will have tasted of victory and will be hard indeed to deter from their goal. The team to take the risk next will be Henderson State Teachers College.

What Makes Pop Corn Pop?

Popping corn contains water. When the water gets hot enough, the kernel explodes. Result: popcorn.

We're not passing this information along as a public service. Actually we're up to the same old game.

You see, popcorn makes most people thirsty. Fortunately, when most people get thirsty they hanker for the good taste of Coca-Cola.

Wouldn't you like some popcorn right now? C'mon now, wouldn't you?
