Hal Holbrook To Appear In 'Mark Twain Tonight'

According to advance reports, members of the audience at Harding will be doing some eye-rolling on March 12, when they gather to witness a performance of "Mark Twain Tonight" by TV actor Hal Holbrook.

Although the appearance of Holbrook, which resulted from television appearances last fall by both Holbrook and Allen, followed a unique seven-months' New York stint, launched Holbrook on a series of concert tours which have spread-eagled the country.

PERIPATETIC PLEBEIAN

By Canard

Once there was a rail. Grean-branched extending through a world of boughs.
Unceasingly striving for the sky.

A child, rich with thought and love, Was set upon the ways above, Chap-tered upon the abiding blue.

Correct apparel, welláníng Dipstoting of knowledge of all things.

Peripatetic Plebeian

For this track was held wisely.

Learned men have driven stakes of steel.
Stopped, seeming in the vast at one.
To hold true the course of thinking men.

But the man, musing.
Absorbed in his timetable.
Knew not that the rail
And, too, who feared the train.
The midnight oil, like a man.
To guide the aging child.
Little flowers and goal achieved.
But beyond each goal lay infinite.

Night fell and heard faint.

Shame.

A crepitated clock of steel.

And the beam;

The man only wondere.
The Go Jo Cinderellas and their Prince Charming arrived at the "Blue Room" of the Rendezvous palace. A formal dance, with pieces of golden castles in white clouds of angel hair, the gold stars suspended from the ceiling, and a garnet. In the center of the floor the fairy-tale atmosphere was.

The guests were welcomed by Sandra Daus and the response was given by Roy Morris. The master of ceremonies, JerryJones, presented the chairman of the evening, Mr. Donald Sime.

Entertainment was provided by Hayes Fagen, Mary Redwine, and Roberts Rhodes, singing "Supply Supply" and "Cinderella.

Also, Rex Williams gave a special reading in which the punctuation marks were read, and Jack and Joe Baldwin acted out the story of a man and his dog, with their speeches were given, and a game was played by the guests.

Seeing that the hands on the clock were nearing ten, the final program was given by Mr. Cecil Beck after the club president, Quinton Phillips, had presented the club, Bernard, Snyder, a gift from the club.

WHCs Entertain with Palama Party

The WHCs thoroughly enjoyed a pajama party given by club sponsor, Mrs. W. B. West and her daughter, Patsey, the night of February 28. The party, which was held in the west end of Searcy, was attended by almost all the members of the club. There was no ordinary party, however, since the atmosphere was past any ordinary entertainment. This was an exchange of presents, in which all the members of the club exchanged small presents.

Entertainment was furnished by the ladies who sang, "The Jingle Bells." The club was given a game of "Capture the Club Song," which was a lively and enjoyable game, and the winners were given a gift from the club.

The preceding week at the academy seems to have been "infested" with club banquets. On Feb. 24 at the Family Hel- tel, the C.K.A.s held their annual banquet. "Fun and Fancy Free," the theme for the evening, was carried out by the decorations by elves and little jewels interspersed with blue angel hair and ivy on the tables. Also hanging among the elves were placed around the room.

President Don Vieone Clark gave his report to the members and their guests, and Don Burrell made the wild cheer. Entertainment was provided by Joie King and Kate Margaret St. Spear; who presented a pantomime, "Blue Angel Hair and Candles." "Travis Jenkins read a selection of poetry, and Don Ro- yall gave a monologue.

The C.K.A.s and their dates were as follows: Rosalind King, Mary Lou Meador, Mary Lou Meador, Bill Hill; Joyce Flax, Larry Pedler; Nancy Davis, Rob Lane; Barbara Robertson, Travis Jen- kin; Leatrice Dever, Ovett Barrell; Sandra Mills, Ken Simmons; Linda Riemer, Laney Cayser.

Eddie Jo Hughes, Beaun Dean; Nancy Cone, Ralph Campbell; Rosemary Steg; Gary Green; Juan Thomas; Juanita Hall; Bettye Ritchie, Jim Bozart; Don Vieone Clark, Dan Burrell; and Nina Harvey, Don Johnston.

Jean Thompson and James Hall were crowned king and queen of the ball. Cutouts of elves were placed around the room.

Before and after dinner, music was provided and entertainment was provided by Rosie King, Mav-kins; Latina Dvkes, Vonne Clark, Don Berryhill; and Kay Holmquist, Kay Northcut; Joe Bozarth, Annette Hendrix.

Minor League All-Stars Chosen

The old tradition of the winning team placing the All-Star team was done away with Monday night, as the sports staff Intramural director Cecil Beck, in their wisdom, decided to bring up a more interesting method of selecting the top players in the minor league. Two teams of All-Stars were selected from the minor league. The South team consisted of the winners of the Christmas tournament. The North team consisted of the runners-up of the tournament.

South Line-Up

The South will have as their forwards Wayne Arnold, leading scorer of the minor league. Don Holmes, who covers the back boards well and makes his share of the boards. The team will be completed by Ben Smith, Jerry Jones, and Roy Benton.

North Line-Up

The North team will be strengthened by the addition of the following players: Ben Figgins, Eldridge McFadden, Roger Brown, Charles Bryant, Jerry Figgins, and Bill Cobb.

"The Best In The Business"
Bison All-Stars Play Next Thursday Night

By Don Book

Twenty of intramural basketball's finest hoopsters will clash Thursday night, March 13, for the championship trophy during the outstanding player of the eighth annual Bison All-Star game, which will be played before a packed house Thursday night.

Three Hours of Entertainment

Special attractions, actually, will be treated to a full evening's entertainment, with three games on the agenda. At 6:00, two teams of minor league all-stars will collide; at 7:30, the most adept of the girls will personally fornix frills and battle it out; and at 8:30, the game will be climaxd by a war between the Bethany high scoring men.

The only necessary hallucinations in the entertainment, entertainment will be provided by the chemistry in various contests and Jim Bur­doy's live comedy act.

Admission $0.25 and up

In all three of Harding's most exciting entertainments must be provided for the necessary $0.25 admission for students or $0.50 for faculty and adults. The proceeds of the games will go to the sponsoring Bison and if favorable weather, further information and enjoyment will be provided by Wally .

The major league climax will not be一笑 passed away by scoring champ, Hugh Tavera, who scored a high of 43 points through the night by shooting and passing, right on the money, best with the Saw Photogs, as they are often called, but by running the game according to the squarists. The Southwest also has, Wally Colson, who is known to operate from the corner.

Outside, Flay and Jim Adkins, and Bobbie Call, are matched by the Southwest's Vic Delar, and Bobbie Carr, all of whom are very capable with a bouncing basketball. Bobbie Wendell House, Terry Yates, and John Richard complete the Southwest and the gentlemen besides are Pernin, Ready, and the Searcy, Bulldogs.

Could Go Either Way

Ironically, Evans, who was so successful with his units was classified as a rookie. He called Part time Fan, home for the last two years.

Colson, also brings considerable experience from his participation on David Lipscomb's varsity.
