Dear John Allen:

Your letter of the 26th came a few minutes ago, and I shall try to answer it before things get too pressing. I always appreciate the opportunity to be with Broad Street, but it appears that my schedule makes it almost impossible now.

I plan to be away from here from May 14th through June 18th, and then one more Sunday in August or September. I am normally not supposed to be away over 4 Sundays, so it appears that I should not.

The building has been going very slowly, but they at last have the floor poured for the classrooms, and expect to have the auditorium floor poured by Monday if weather permits. Then everything can go on all at once, and should be no serious hitches.

Trusting all is well with you, and hoping to see you sometime in May, I remain

Sincerely yours,

T. Pierce Brown
