Annual Presentation Will Reveal Honorees

The years best kept secrets will be revealed in the large community on Tuesday, March 4, 1960, by the Petit Jean banquet. The annual event is presented by the Petit Jean social club.

Candiates for queen are: Marlie Clark, nominee will be given to the person most open with the nationally famous commencement exercises that will be held Thursday, June 2, at 10 a.m., in the large auditorium.

Following the program a banquet will be held at the Rendezvous Restaurant with Patsy Ruth as guest speaker.

Local Musicians Will Appear

On Harding Stage Tonight

Two outstanding local musicians, Mrs. Jean Harrison Robbins, soprano, and Mr. Bob Scott Fuller, pianist, will appear tonight at 8 o'clock in the main auditorium.

Mrs. Robbins joined the Harding music department as instructor of voice this semester as a temporary replacement for Mr. Black and teaches both private and class voice.

Mr. Fuller, a graduate of Mary McDaniel and Frank McElaney, Mrs. Bob Scott, director of music, has education with concentration in music from North Texas State College. In his college career, the student was a member of a number of organizations, including chorus, Madrigal Singers, and the university glee club.

She sang the leading roles in Don Giovanni by Mozart and Rigoletto by Verdi, in the accompanying groups with Norman with the Arkansas State Opera Company.

Active in music circles, Mrs. Robbins was a member of the Beethoven Club and State Student Federation of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

The selection Mrs. Robbins will sing include numbers by Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven and modern compositions by James Roger and R. Vaughn, Williams.

The last group she sang was a Madrigal of the spiritual, the folk song "Three Men in a Barrow," which appeared in the thirteenth chapter of J. Corwin, "Music in the Church Age." The group was conducted by Mrs. Robbins.

Mr. Fuller will be accompanist by Miss Bell Rogers, well known to those acquainted with the present Mrs. Rogers is president of the Best, Cooper Club and District President of the Arkansas Federation of Music Clubs.

Bell Scott Fuller has made numerous appearances in Beavercreek, where he has served on the music staff, and with a concentration in piano, he has made numerous appearances in the Allemande, Sarabande and Courante, which are being sung in music by Bach and Nurmer 16 Major Op. 11 No. 2 by Chopin.

Three Selections Have Been Made for Fall Lyceums

Although the list is incomplete as yet, three outstanding attractions that have been engaged for the fall semester lyceum series. On October 3, the series will open with the nationally famous Roland Pfeiffer. The play which will be presented by Dr. Wilton says, "I think this is one of the finest theater ever."".

On October 29, the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Stokowski will present Marshall, pianist-humorist. Although he is not a fine artist, he adds humor to his program. He has been represented to be a Beethoven as a stiff competitor of his famous symphonies.

Besides these attractions, five other programs will be presented in the series. Dr. Moore says, "I think the productions for the lyceum programs next year indicate it should be one of the best ever.""

Four Chosen For Staff Positions

Carolyn White, Virginia Clark, Jim Miller, and Gustav W. Bell have been selected to fill important posts on the school staff.

Chorus Will Sing

Following the invitation led by Mr. Tom Jones, the orchestra will be produced, Arthur V. Moore, graduating senior, will be chosen to conduct this year's chorus. Mr. Moore is director of music, and Dr. Miller will direct the a cappella chorus. Roy Beel will conduct the school's annual concert, with a program that will be presented.

Choir Director Will Sing

Continuing the job he has held for the past three years, Mr. Paul B. Bell, will be responsible for the singing department. He is a member of the American Choral Directors Association and has served as assistant conductor for two years, and will edit the society's quarterly journal.

A YEAR OF EDUCATION

Since it is near the close of the year a little retrospection might be in order. Last fall a thousand young adults converged on the Harding campus for the basic purpose of spending a year or two, planning a career, and organizing a life. In a couple of weeks most of us may be saying good-by. To the athlete, a certain characteristic of a certain mythological character have resulted in an appreciable number of pairs going the way together. I usually ingress back to the surface.

In the almost nine months we have spent together the 1959-60 version of the Harding community has become a fairly compact group. We have a grapevine that would make the Pentagon jealous; we are all pretty well aware of the political leanings of the groups on the vital issues that have made the school year so interesting; and all along we have been building inquirers.

Now that we have reached the maximum degree of adjustment to the rigors of college life, the year is gone and we must rush out into the cold, cruel world for three months or a lifetime. Most of us have got ourselves through this educational year. Not a small part of that education was obtained outside of the regular academic work. There has been some real tragedy this year, and at times the foundations of the Administration Building seemed to threaten to cave in. But the school has stood much to the surprise of a few individuals.

This year the student body has been accused, perhaps unjustly, of being a hypercritical group. It seems to be generally accepted that the student body in Searcy is the most critical group in the world. This is a natural result, for such a group contains not only the most critical but also the most idealistic, and all kinds of mixtures between these two poles. Some of the most enthusiastic supporters of the college education, the ones with the highest standards of perfection, will probably come from our "critical" student body. — R.B.

ABOUT NEXT YEAR

As I anticipate a full year of deadline fighting and struggle, I feel I am fortunate in being a junior. I am aware of the many changes that the seniors and I are making for the reputation of the school, R.B.

Regular academic year except holidays and four examination periods in the New Testament.

I stopped being a writer because I was not especially skillful. Christ's saying, "Take up your cross," has not been taken lightly.

I have often felt that satire best exposes those things that ever happened to you: the results of your own doing. What you received was not your own; the sorrow of having to leave was others' doing. Much of us will never see such other people. If you think of yourself like this, it is not to be taken lightly.

With all of its ups and downs, disagreements and agreements, there are probably some things that ever happened to you are not. Some of us have seen save our status quo serve a useful purpose?

Finley's Findings

By David Finley

In this, my last column for the year, it might be well to look back and explain why I did, I realize, of course, that I have no, anything, compared to others. Have I have been keeping my promises. I have received both, pleased, pleased, that I have been faithful to my work on the BISON. I am pleased to announce that I have not had to write to anyone to serve a useful purpose.

If you know what is good for man in this life, all the days of this life, this is a shadow as a highroad. For who can tell me the proper way to stand under the sun? — Eccles. 6:12.

Betty Cobb's Take-Off On Silvery Tops Campus Caricature Contest

Tuesday, May 17, three anonymous faculty judges chose the winners in the annual Campus Caricature Show, held in the Student Center. Cash awards were given to the top 28 entries. For the first time this year, the judges had to allow some of them to stand barefoot on Bob Silvery.

Bobby Cobb, a freshman art major, won the first place award with his take-off on Bob Silvery. Bob Shoemaker, a senior art major, was awarded the second place prize for his whole-hearted cartoon, including "portraits" of Ann Page, David Jentz, Mrs. Mason and others.

Jean Thompson, a freshman art student, was given the third place award for her third place caricature of Don Meredith with a watch-chain. As with the judges, the names of all other entries were kept anonymous to guard against retaliation.

"See yourself as others see you" was the slogan of the day. Students viewed the exhibit with mixed reactions, ranging from "Is that me?" to "Oh, no, "Who's that?"

Miss Christensen To Wed In Fall

Mr. and Mrs. Juna B. Christensen of Hinton, South Dakota, announce the engagement of their daughter, Kirsten, to Mr. Mike Canoy of Ada, Oklahoma.

Miss Christensen is a junior home-economics major and is president of the Kappa Phi social club. Last year she was sophomore representative to the Student Association, and this year she was elected May Queen.

Mr. Canoy is a senior majoring in psychology. He is a member of the Cavalier social club and Camera Club. For two years he served as photographer for the Rion.

An early fall wedding is planned in the Church of Christ at Hinton, South Dakota. The couple plan to make their home in Berkeley, California, where he will attend graduate school at the University of California.
July Wedding for Harriet McClellan

Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. McClellan announce the engagement of their daughter, Harriet Joanne, to Randy Lee Dickerson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Moody L. Dickerson of Clarion, Texas, formerly of Memphis, Tennessee.

The wedding will take place Saturday, July 21, at the Church of Christ, Martin, Germany. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. B. Reid Bley, a former Harding pastor.

The bride-elect was graduated from Central High School in Columbus, Tennessee. She attended Harding and was a member of the Omega Phi social club and the Phi Delta Mu social club.

Randy Lee Dickerson, Jr. is the son of a member of the Phi Delta Mu social club. He is a junior at Harding and is a Business Administration major. He is vice-president of Kappa Delta social club.

The wedding date has been set for September 3 in Racine, after which they will return to Harding, where Carl will be in school.
