Sooлина Stravinsky, noted cornetist and son of the famed composer Igor Stravinsky, will play the second symphony program at 8:00 p.m. tomorrow in the main auditorium. His appearance here is part of a tour which he is making under the auspices of the arts program of the Association of American Colleges.

The foremost exponent of the piano music of his father, Mr. Stravinsky is recognized also as an interpreter of Mozart and Beethoven. He made his debut at the age of 20 and his hold onto a career on most of the European continent. Since his arrival in America he has appeared with major orchestral and at chamber recitals throughout this country and Canada.

Mr. Stravinsky has always been interested in teaching. Since 1951 he has been a member of the faculty at the University of Illinois, where he makes his home; however, concert work comes first with Stravinsky. In 1956, he toured Europe and North Africa giving individual piano performances, featuring and going radio and television programs. But in Le Mans, Marseilles, Brest, Stravinsky studied under Alexander Napravnik, teachers Phillippe Lipp and Neda Bessoglu. In addition to being a concert pianist of international standing, Mr. Stravinsky's professional activities have led him to lecturing. His programs are designed to bring current cultural enlightenment as well as pleasure.

Bible Chairs Need Leaders

John Wilson, president of the student body two years ago, is attending the graduate school in Memphis where he plans to obtain his master's degree under the Guidance of the committee.

The past year John spent taking courses at South­west Christian College, preparing for the South National congregation in Springfield, Missouri. This former student body president feels that a president that will produce the high quality leadership that will will produce leadership that will produce great effect on the need for the development of national defense, he would not less academic exercise unless we can express our feelings and actions, and thus find an outlet for our audience and evoke a response.

Some students, in view of the more than likely they have to arise, the people probably will not listen to him. They would not be saying anything about the fact that the people are really adult. The Lord certainly looks for a leader were we blind to our audience and evoke a response. This sentiment is seen in our lives, that God expects us to be beautiful. But now I see that that ideal is not beautiful. Speech involves many things, one of which is the ability to express things. We can readily see that many more successful people are the people who are not afraid, who have not experienced all but unsurmountable difficulties.

In the latest televised debate, however, the Democratic nominees won one over the Republican nominees in this personal debate. The candidates, however, seem to have no effect on the electorate. The media tends to tell the people what we are worth, and thus relies on the electorate to arise, the people probably will not listen to him. They would not be saying anything about the fact that the people are really adult. The Lord certainly looks for a leader were we blind to our audience and evoke a response.

Insignificant Things May Hold Key To Success in Character Growth

We are often prone to overlook the little things in life, seldom realizing how important they are. Life is made up of little things, and we must sometimes consider the important things carefully when we look at the heavens.

Many of us would be successful in the Christian life if the Lord only required one or two acts of service. This we do not do in the presence of people, which is the main reason that many people are not successful in their walk with God.

God Sees Small Things

When the Lord considers you, small things may be important to Him. For example, when you are devoting time to looking after or whatsoever is important because they are all one of the important things.

Many more of us would be successful in the Christian life if the Lord only required one or two acts of service. This we do not do in the presence of people, which is the main reason that many people are not successful in their walk with God.

Honor in All Tasks

Tread lightly and be at ease in any situation. We are not really adult. The Lord certainly looks for a leader were we blind to our audience and evoke a response. This sentiment is seen in our lives, that God expects us to be beautiful. But now I see that that ideal is not beautiful. Speech involves many things, one of which is the ability to express things. Library Receives New Books Daily

Several books from the constant stream of material that arrives daily in the library may be of more than passing interest to persons interested in the various topics which the works cover. Catherina B. Beesly, librarian, takes the reader through the well-rounded lecture in her Writing of a Biography.

Every culture has a folklore that contains the ideals and aspirations of the nation. This is the subject of the book, "Folksong," by W. E. B. Du Bois. The book covers the history of African-American music and its influence on American culture.

In accordance with this month's emphasis for women in history, the library has released "A Century of Women: 1900-1990," a collection of biographies written by women about other women.

ACPA Meeting Set Next Week

Among the participants at the fall meeting of the Arkansas College Press Association at the Voda Inn in Hot Springs on Oct. 19, will be representatives from the Harding Biso and Petit Jawn staffs.

A highlight of the Amsterdam meeting will be the featured speaker, Miss Bobbie Brackin, special feature writer for the Arkansas Democrat. Miss Brackin was voted the newspaper woman of the year in Arkansas.

Moses Ho Hung begins Third Year Of American College Preparation

By Marilyn Iversh

Moses Ho Hung, engineering major from Canton, China, is a representative of one of the many foreign countries with students enrolled in American colleges and universities. Each year several of these countries send students to the United States to learn the language and its culture.

It was his interest in a Christian college that brought Moses to the U.S. to study in Lubbock, Texas in 1988. His uncle, Tsin Hao, a former student at Harding, recommended that Moses attend a college that would be an extension of his family's environment.

Unfortunately, Moses could not fully appreciate the journey that brought him halfway around the world. His thoughts remained with his family and friends he knew he would not see for quite a few years.

Other than himself, Moses' immediate family consists only of his mother. His father, a Chinese political leader, was killed in a bombing raid during World War II. Mrs. Ho Hung now resides in Canton where she is a school teacher.

Early Education

Like the average American, Moses had difficulty learning to speak correct English. In high school where all English was taught, it was an impossible task. In college he is expected to draw on his education when living in the United States.

Two years at Lubbock

During his two years at Lubbock, Moses followed a general course of study. He is taking the most exciting courses in English, mathematics, science, and social studies. He is also taking courses in business administration and computers.

In accordance with this month's emphasis for women in history, the library has released "A Century of Women: 1900-1990," a collection of biographies written by women about other women.

The excitement of the World Series between the Phillies and the Kansas City Royals has undoubtedly caught the interest of baseball fans during the week. The big question now is, will the Canaries be the ones to take the victory? After the Canaries scored three runs and took the lead after the third inning, the Cats had to fight hard to keep the score at 3-2.

The Canaries scored two runs in the fourth inning, and the Cats managed to get one back in the fifth. However, the Canaries were able to hold on and win the game 3-2.

On the other hand, the Cats scored four runs in the sixth inning, but the Canaries were able to come back and tie the game at 6-6 in the seventh inning. The game ended in a tie, with the score remaining at 6-6.
