Young, Reeve Clash in Prexy Race

By Lynn McCauley

David Young and Ron Reeve will face each other Wednesday, April 24, in the election for the 1968-1969 Student Association presidency.

Opposing each other for vice-president on the ticket will be Phil Roberson and Rick Glass. Bruce Stidham and Lundy Neely are running for treasurer, while Lynn Bolten and Gloria Paglia are running for secretary of their position.

Reeve, a junior psychology-sociology major from Siloam Springs, is the junior man's S.A. representative. He is a member of the Galaxy social club, as well as the American Studies Program and Alpha Chi Honor Society.

Treasurer Young

Young, who is S.A. treasurer, is a junior political science and history major from Kingman, Kan. He was named Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities for 1967.

An active intercollegiate debater, Young belongs to Pi Kappa Delta, national debate fraternity. He, too, is a member of the American Studies Program.

A Phi Gamma Delta social club member, he is also a member of Phi Alpha Theta, a national history fraternity. He was sophomore S.A. representative.

Junior Rick Glass is a premed major from Columbus, O. Glass was the 1967-68 president of the Frater Sadis social club.

Phil Roberson, a junior political science major from Hamilton, Ala., is president of Alpha Tau Epilson social club. He is also Ko Jo Kai's club beau and is on the Men's Dormitory Council.

The senior senator then quoted from former Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson on the seven greatest problems in America today. Foremost were an attempt to exalt security, comfort and ease above freedom and an accompanying decline in morals.

Others cited were an eight-fold increase in juvenile delinquency since 1950; our $500 million smut industry; the world's biggest market for narcotics; increased evidence of moral passion; and a 38 per cent rise in crime in the past seven years - nine times faster than the population.

Root of Riots

"Those who argue that poverty, ignorance or unemployment are causing riots are wrong," he asserted. "The only lack of education at the root of this trouble is in the failure to teach morals and decency and honor."

He pointed out that the criminal today enjoys too much protection from law and society. "We will make our streets safe only when we take the criminals off the streets and throw them where they belong - in prison," he said.

In closing McClellan urged, "Instead of change, let's strengthen the roots above." He proposed four remedies to the problem:

1. A revival of patriotism, stamina, principles and ideals.
2. A greater effort to instill high standards of morality and a deeper sense of citizenship.
3. A strengthening of law enforcement, both in equipment and in police support.
4. A greater effort to bring the scales of justice back into balance.

Applause Interrupts

McClellan's talk was punctuated by applause which interrupted him seven occasions. He received standing ovations both at the beginning and at the end of his speech.

His appearance on campus was jointly sponsored by the National Education Program, the School of American Studies and the Student Association who spoke as the first night speaker in Freedom Forum XXXII.

The Forum is annually presented by the NEP, a conservative political organization located on Harding's campus but supposedly not connected with the school in any way. Dr. George S. Benson is president.

The college stage band will kick off its annual variety show with the fifth consecutive year show to start at 8 p.m. tonight in the Main Auditorium.

Having been popular throughout the year, the group will feature freshman music major Ronnie Bingham in one of its three selections.

Bison Stage Band to Keep Off Fifth Annual Variety Show

Keeping the evening moving for the fifth consecutive year will be master of ceremonies Bob Helstein.

Entertainment will include duet in both campus and off-campus individuals and groups according to Eddie Baggett, director of the show.

Off-Campus Talent

Among the off-campus talent to be featured are Dot Beck and Buddy Childress.

Mary Welch, freshman from Jackson, Miss., will present a monologue on "Prinderella." Quite a large variety of entertainment has been scheduled for the event according to Baggett, including a magical act and an assortment of vocalists and instrumental numbers.

"There will be a big faculty surprise, too!" Baggett stated. "All I'm going to say is that this person will be doing something very much out of character."

Staging for the two-hour-event is being provided by Andy Saunders of the speech department.

Advanced tickets will be on sale in the student center between 1:30 and 4:30 p.m. today. Students, faculty and staff rates are 75 cents; non-Harding adults will pay $1.25.

Tickets may be purchased at the door beginning at 7 p.m.

Funds derived from the show will help defray costs of the junior-senior banquet, May 10.

Ronnie Reeve ...

What do you look for in a Student Association President? Is it primarily experience? Or is it the ability to communicate effectively with students, facility and administration? Is intelligence the most important quality of a good student leader, or is it the willingness to spend long hours in hard work the essential ingredient? I am convinced that an S.A. President must possess all the above qualities. Furthermore, I sincerely believe that I can offer you this combination of attributes necessary for dynamic and successful leadership.

My experience on the Student Association this year has been both demanding and rewarding, yet not totally satisfying. We have worked hard, and I feel that much has been accomplished. However, much more needs to be done before Harding can become the institution which it has the potential to be. Where do we start?

To begin with, I believe that Harding’s social regulations need a thorough revaluation. Rules are necessary, to be sure; but they should always be based on sound reasoning within the framework of Christian principles.

As they now stand, I feel that several rules are more restrictive than reasonable, emphasizing formality rather than practicality. Clarity and uniformity are currently lacking, causing much confusion and discontent. These problems can be solved from a hope involved in their solution.

I also perceive a need for significant academic improvement at Harding. The students must be given more authority than it now possesses to make it a real Christian school, as it certainly should be. But must our education be limited by this fact? Can a Christian college also be an institution of academic excellence, or are the two aspects of education mutually exclusive?

I think Harding can excel in both the realms of Christianity and academics. I want to work toward that goal.

I propose a positive program for religious emphasis at the school, a broader student representation on the S.A. (through the dormitory council), and an expansion of the program established this year to include every field to our campus, and continue the improvement of the lyceum programs.

Of course, I want to see the traditional work of the S.A., the watermelon party, homecoming activities, freshman and transfer mixers, movie program, etc., maintained and improved wherever possible.

I would be honored to serve as your president, if you select me, I pledge to be diligent in my effort to provide you, as fellow-students, with maximum service.

David Young ...

In 1963-64, the Student Association directed a major academic study. From the recommendations given by the study group came important changes at Harding and Harding’s social and academic life (including rules) were conducted.

Since there is a need, and since no major studies have been conducted since 1963-64, I include the promise to conduct a major study in religion, academic and social life at Harding for the coming year as a major part of my platform.

The advantages of the study approach are in the main these:

1. Progress which otherwise may take years can be had in one year.

2. A study is in itself valuable in revealing fact and opinion, involving large numbers of students in the student academic making process, and influencing the students involved.

3. What has already been done. This is good. But too, this is the expected.

What was once innovation is now institutionalization.

Furthermore, the exceptional year must be the year of ideas, and working to transform these ideas into reality.

Construction of a small chapel building on campus. This would provide a quiet place for one to be alone away from dorms and the noise of the campus, when he desires solitude. In part, this could be student financed, like the fountain project.

For the married students, Harding could give more consideration to the SA or an organization similar to the SA to represent the married students.

The need for such a representation was brought to my attention during the last election period. (married students apartments.)

I propose to find a building on campus hall as a permanent weekend entertainment and refreshments.

Extended library hours on weekends and during breaks.

Regular hours for elected representatives.

-Encouragement of department seminars in several minor fields—perhaps to be co-ordinated with the lecture series the Harding sponsors.

-AN INCREASE in SA revenue, part of which could be distributed to the classes as dues, which currently are collected.

A well co-ordinated student book store, which would facilitate disposal and acquisition of books.

These proposals I have given to you in order to show you that I am not an exception, a year of action, a year of positive action could be taken, and that this year will provide a year of positive action.

Because I want to be a part of the coming year’s action—to do something worthwhile, to do the things which are needed—what better way to do that than to participate in the Student Association?

I ask you for your support in the upcoming elections.

Editor, The Bison:

Recent emotional outbursts against myself as an apparently "conservative" demand a clear statement of my views. I do not appreciate being branded with any stereotype, "conservative" demanding a clear statement of my views.

"Racism is the lowest, most crudest political form at co-operation.

"It is the notion of ascribing moral, social or political significance to a man's genetic lineage — the notion that a man's intellectual and characterological traits are genetic and transmitted by his biological family.

"Which means, in practice, that a man is to be judged, not by his own character and actions, but by the characters and actions of his forbears, his forefathers, his ancestors. (THE VERSE OF SLAVES)"

Advocates of Freedom need not, indeed, fear my opposition, for my views on racial matters are well known in the field of psychology and the life of the Young Americans for Freedom

"That foremost among the transcendent values is the individual's right to be free, whenever derived his right to be free from the restrictions of arbitrary force."

Bison Poll Predicts Nixon Victory

Few surprises resulted last week when 50 students were selected at random and asked, "Who do you plan to vote for in the November Choice '68 and why?"

Generally the responses reflected the moderately conservative attitude on campuses at approximately 20 institutions that those queried designated Richard M. Nixon as their choice for the next U. S. President.

Reasons which were given for selecting the former Vice President included the fact that he is "the most experienced," he is "not too extreme," and he is the "Republican most likely to succeed."

"Always My Man"

Many who chose Nixon indicated that they had "always been my man." They were not well-informed on the issues, but said they had "admired" him during his eight years as vice-president under the sometimes-jailing Eisenhower.

The next most popular choice was Lyndon Baines Johnson, even though it was announced that he will not seek or accept re-election. However, some feel he will drafted into the nomination and will change his mind on this issue.

"If he gets the nomination, he is even more of a liberal than realistic Nixon-backer. "Johnson is certainly aware of the issues, said one of his followers, and he really hasn't been all that bad of a man.

"All these sanitation men hit him just as he was beginning to do something constructive in Viet..."

Choral Festival Continues Here

About 1,000 students representing Arkansas will be on campus Thursday, Friday and Saturday to participate in the State Junior High School Choral Festival, by the University of Arkansas high choral group which will sing at ten-minute intervals which began at 12:25 PM on Thursday and will continue until 1 PM Saturday in the main auditorium.

The group will sing, "There is no other," under the direction of Ken Tipton, a graduate student who will perform at 10:40 p.m. Thursday. They will sing "O Sacred Head" and "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross."

A smaller group, the Lads and Lasses, were selected from the entire chorus and will sing at 4:45 p.m. Thursday.

Rocky Leads in Pre-choice '68 Polls

By Don Wilson

Republican Nelson Rockefeller and Democrat Eugene McCarthy have scored one-sided victories in pre-choice '68 polls at two American universities recently.

Despite New York Governor Rockefeller's self-declared non-candidacy, students of the University of Texas Law School gave him a whopping 26 percent more of the vote than they gave his closest rival, Richard Nixon, in a poll concerning only GOP candidates.

In a similar poll, Alfred University students of Alfred, N. Y. gave Rockefeller 38 percent more of the vote than they gave Nixon.

McCarthy Leads Johnson

Minnesota Senator McCarthy polled 18 percent better than President Johnson in the recent Texas school voting for Democratic candidates. At Alfred, McCarthy topped another rival, Robert Kennedy, by 14 percent.

Such student interest in national politics was a phenomenon that is necessary. "The reality of student power," James Reston of the New York Times agrees with Roy. "The politically conscious university students are potentially a very powerful political force in this country. Their intelligence and energy could be...deceiving, they really got down to the hard work of helping the best candidates available. It all depends, however on whether they want to dream or work."

Local Campaign Organizations

Student campus organizations have pushed voting for President Johnson, Hubert Humphrey, Kennedy, McCarthy, Ronald Reagan, Nixon, and George Wallace.

Without formal organizations on campus but having individual supporters and appearing on the ballot are Mark Hatfield, Rockefeller, John Lindsay, Charles Percy, Richard Stassen and Socialist Workers candidate Fred Haise.

Each of these candidates, with the exception of Humphrey, were selected for the ballot by a committee of student coordinators in Washington last Feb. 4. The campuses pushed into the limelight by President Johnson's decision not to run that there will be represented by a write-in campaign.

These 12 men, only Halstead, Kennedy, McCarthy, Johnson, Rockefeller, Reagan and Wallace have declared themselves candidates for the presidential election.

King on Ballot

The name of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. also on ballot. Ballots were printed prior to his assassination April 4.

Chairmen of the campaign organizations met with Richard Davis, campus coordinator of Choice '68, last week to lay down certain rules for the campaigns. Among these rules was that all activities of an organization would be of a constructive nature. Slander, discrediting of posters and like conduct were condemned.

Furthermore, the group suggested that campaigning activities whenever possible be conducted through the organizations in a law agency and avoid any conflict of interest.

All but Three

Due to the SA officers campaigning next Monday and Tuesday, all but three posters for each candidate will be removed from the student center Sunday night.

After the election, representatives of each organization with faculty advisor Jim Ed Williams and Davis will examine the ballots to insure that they are un-damaged and legal.

Leading the various campaigns are: Jay Wilborn for a Johnson draft; Ted McLaughlin for a Humphrey write-in; Sammy Poulis for Kennedy; Bob Young for McCarthy; Larry Arnhart for Nixon; Mike Hallmore for Wallace; Ted Parkhurst for Reagan.

Fills Comedy Goal

H.A.M. Proves Prophetic; Student Fills Comedy Goal

By Jean Fillipio

Few indeed are those on campus who do not know Hank McDaniel as a talented thespian, a spontaneous wit and certainly one of the funniest clowns in school.

Fewer still are those who have been allowed to penetrate that outer wall of humor. When they do, they find a wonderfully warm, acutely sensitive, slightly humble young man, deeply dedicated to a mission in life.

"If the Lord endowed me with anything, it was the facility to help make people happier," he admitted. "Comedy can communicate to a lot of people; my mission is to make them laugh."

Since Schooldays

Hank has been on the stage since his early schooldays in Jackson, Miss., when he had the lead in a fourth-grade play. He went to Millsaps College upon graduation from Provine High School in 1959, pursuing a speech major.

Joining the Navy in 1961, he returned four years later with a wife and a lot more miles under his belt. His wife, Joy, is a Harding alumna, and they came here in March 1965.

A senior, he had always played roles comedy roles ("I haven't the physique for a leading man") until his leading part in "Gideon" this fall. It was basically serious, spiced with lighter moments of comic relief.

It may be his best role, but it will have to go some: he was named Best Supporting Actor in 1966 and Best Actor in 1967.

It may be his best role, but it will have to go some: he was named Best Supporting Actor in 1966 and Best Actor in 1967.

In addition, he traveled with Harding's USO troupe to Greenland putting on "Where's Charlie?".

"All of my experiences relate to the stage, as everyday becomes a catalogue of experiences," he noted. "You learn from everything and everybody. An actor who ceases to learn is dead."

It is this love of meeting new people and counseling young people which is pushing him into educational theater, rather than professional drama. After he graduates in May, he hopes to go to Florida State for a M.S. in theater and later to teach in college.

Comedy in Serious

Comedy is a serious business with Hank. To him, the major problem in the world is a failure to communicate, resulting in a tendency to take oneself too seriously.

A "sense of humor is one of the saving features," he pointed out. "Comedy can lift the soul and make it forget all the tragedy around, if only for a moment."

Hank has tried his hand at all phases of dramatics, from playwriting (he and Patty Bowman wrote the melodrama used by the Belles and Beaux in technical design (he carries an art minor.).

In between, he acts, not only in speech department productions, but in projects for the SA and for churches. When any campus production including creativity or wit is required, he is invariably summoned.

"Yes it takes a lot of time, but I don't mind," he responds. "When someone comes up to me and slaps me on the back and says, 'Em-Hank, I'm glad you're a clown,' that makes it all worth it."

His parents must have guessed what his future occupation might involve when they named him Henry Arwood McDaniel. It's obvious that, with initials like that, he had to either go into comedy or butchering.

Or a combination of both.

A Look at Track

The 1968 AIC track season is in its fourth week and the picture is developing like most people had thought it would — Southern State has the AIC lead in May.

The Mulieriders just last week scored an impressive victory in the Tiger Relays. In doing so SSC scored Harding, Arkansas A&M and State College of Arkansas. These four are the top competitors for the track crown.

SSC, the defending AIC champion, won last year on the strength of their team depth and they appear to be just as strong this year. The Mulierider relay teams have already put together this season’s best times in the AIC.

The distance events again are Harding’s strong suit. The one-two combination of Jim Crawford and Joe Boyle head the list of AIC distance men.

Crawford is first in the state in the mile (4:06.1) and is tied with SSC’s Wayne Roper (1:55) in AIC half-mile competition.

BOYLE, A SENIOR, has a 1:57.2 half-mile, a 4:18.4 mile and a 9:29.8 two-mile to his credit this season.

Bisons showing the most improvement in recent meets are sophomores David Byrd and Ken Coston. Both have lowered their times every time they have competed. They recorded their season’s best marks at the Tiger Relays.

Byrd, a 440 sprint man, began the season running a 51.5 quar­ter, but last week in Little Rock he nipped the SSC runner at the tape in a 48.8 clocking.

IN THE 440-3/4 intermediate hurdles Coston has knocked 1.2 seconds off his initial time. His best time to date is 51.1.

Harding tracksters have also been making news in the field events.

Freshman Jesse White has continued to amaze everyone in his search for the “outer limits”. White is tops in Arkansas in the high jump with a 6’9” leap. This time after Harding school mark.

HENRY NORTON’S 140” heave of the discuss and Marc McDaniel’s 43’9” triple jump have emerged as the favorite for established new school records. Jim Duncan has leaped his best throw in the shot put to 47’1½”.

Harding Golfer

Fall to Memphis

Harding golfers fell heavily to a first-class Southwestern at Memphis team Tuesday in Searcy. Terry McMichael, Harding’s number one golfer, carded a 77 for the Bisons’ medalist score.

Thus far this year, Harding golfers have played only three matches losing two and tying the other. Six matches were cancelled by other schools in the last three weeks accounting for the scarcity of competition for the team.

Harding’s team played Little Rock University at Little Rock yesterday.
Pitchers Control Action

In Intramural Baseball

Pitching continued to dominate intramural baseball action as teams entered the second week of competition. In Tuesday's games the winning pitchers gave up a total of only eight hits in three games. Major league pitchers Rod Brewer and Gary Frank each pushed their mound mark to 2-0 for the season.

Orioles 3-0

Brewer's Oriole team had little trouble in defeating the Indians 3-0. Brewer gave up only two singles in his second complete game this season, bringing the Orioles' record to 2-4. The hard-throwing Franks had a little more trouble in getting by the Red Sox, but the Tigers managed to edge the Sox 5-3. Other Actions

In the only other major league action Tuesday, Garry Parrish stilled the Twins' bats, allowing only two hits and bringing his pitching mark to 1-1. The curve-ball-throwing Parrish recorded two strike-outs in picking up his first victory.

In minor league action last Friday the Barons defeated the Oilers 10-4 and the Peis beat the Trav's 4-1. In the Pel-Travs game David Logston went three for four at the plate and John Horn pitched a two hitter in leading the Peis to their initial victory.

Top Five Bison Bowlers To Compete in Nationals

By Ron Killen

Harding's top five bowlers will be shooting for the Bisons' first national sports championship in the NAIA Bowling Tournament April 28-27 in Kenneb City, Mo. The Bisons qualified for the eight-team meet by raking up the top score among teams competing in Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas and New Mexico on April 6. Competing in Little Rock, the Bisons at the same time claimed their fourth straight AIC championship.

Bowling Coach Ed Burt said that "this is the Bisons' best chance ever to go all the way to the national championship."

Three and Two

Representing Harding at the meet will be three bowlers who made the trip last year — Charles Burt, Charles Webb and Johnny Beck — and two newcomers — Gary Martin and Gary Parsons. The five qualified by bowling Harding's top score in the April 6 roll off at Little Rock.

Among the eight teams in the tournament will be La Crosse State University of La Crosse, Wis., last year's winner, and Christian Brothers College of Memphis.

This year Pursuant, a freshman, took the number one spot among AIC bowlers with a 185 season average. He has high hopes for the national championship, noting that "we've got a great chance for it." Last year he advanced to the semi-finals of the Maryland Tournament of the Youth Bowling Association.

Burt took the seventh spot in the AIC this season with a 184 average. He first competed in bowling by joining a league in the fifth grade and "got hooked" from the start. He made it to the finals in the National Tournament of the Youth Bowli-
