Harding's first annual Behavioral Science Symposium is being held today in the American Heritage auditorium.

The symposium is sponsored by the Student Association in cooperation with the psychology and sociology departments. Nine authorities are discussing the current topic of "Law Enforcement and Penal Reform."

Inquisitions are extended to Harding students, all area college students, sheriff's and high schools within a 35-mile radius.

Four Are Chosen in SA Election; Run-off Thursday

Four SA representatives were elected Wednesday and two Thursday in an election to fill the final positions on the Student Association Executive Council for next year.

Phil Roberson, Rod Brewer, Chris Green and Peggy Torpilz all polled past their opponents Wednesday and beat the Bisan deadline.

In the junior race Donna DeJong and Edith Page tied for the lead putting Marlene Cobb and Kay Craig out of the picture Wednesday.

Roberson, next year's senior men's representative, beat Gary Costes and Tom McLaughlin. Roberson won this election one week after his defeat in the election for SA vice-president.

Over Parakeet, Silva

For the junior office, Brewer was elected over Ted Parkhurst and Larry Silva.

Greene won the election for sophomore men's representative with a larger margin than any other winner. He defeated Jeff Woods, and Mrs. Mary Burt Nash analyzed the trends of crime in America and the ecology of the juvenile offender.

Justice Holt

Holt is a former Supreme Court Justice and currently a Little Rock Attorney. Besides practicing law in Searcy, Hickman has served the county as Deputy Prosecuting Attorney. Mrs. Nash, aside from holding a law degree, is the Juvenile Court Referee of Pulaski County.

The morning session was concluded at 11 a.m. by a panel comprised of R. E. Bright, Little Rock Police Chief; Lt. Col. Bill Miller, assistant director, Ark. State Police, and Herbert E. Holle, special agent in charge, FBI, Little Rock. "Operational Problems of Law Enforcement" was the topic for discussion.

Judge in Sentencing

Municipal Judge Alton Harveys will open the afternoon session at 1 p.m. with a talk entitled "Sentencing Policies and Procedures."

He will be followed at 1:45 by Victor Urban, superintendent, Cummings Prison Farm and Director of the Ark. Board of Pardons and Paroles. Urban will speak on the topic, "Trends in Modern Penology," "Helping the Released Offender" in the concluding subject. Eugene Efford, director of Ark. Release Guidance Association will direct a panel discussion on this subject at 2:30.

Dr. Bob Gilliam, coordinator of the symposium, expressed hope that evaluation will be favorable and the symposium will become an annual affair.

Harding's business team took first place in both game play and presentation of strategies last Saturday on the Michigan State University campus en route to making Harding the only two-time champion in the history of the International Intercollegiate Marketing Competition.

The team was a two-and-a-half championship loving cups by the team's faculty advisor, Ray Cox, the team's faculty advisor, who called the gain in the tournament "awe-inspiring." He said that the team's work in the closing rounds was "a tremendous experience to observe."

Other Finalists

The other three finalists finishing behind Harding were the University of Colorado, Fort Lewis (Colorado) College and Dyke (Cleveland) College. Forty-five graduate-level teams entered the competition in the international competition.

The Harding team will be featured in an article on the symposium in Marketing Professor, a national collegiate business magazine.

The team was given one small loving cup as a permanent trophy of the 1986 games and a large trophy for the year which rotates among the winners. Harding has one the large trophy twice, and another will give Harding the large trophy permanently.

Team Members

The team members are Alvin Fowler, Mike O'Neal, Rick Venne, and Bob Hesselrode. Belden, a member of the junior business program at the trip. Hesselrode and Venne will be competing next year in the International Competition. O'Neal was the team's captain.

Inside Story

At one such engagement, Gov. Rockefeller said, "There is nothing I would rather be impeached for than to have a superior court over me."

The governor proceeded to cite the changes made in the insurance businesses of the state.

"Today, our insurance businesses are solvent, and both policy holders and stockholders have solid confidence in them." Recognizing that former prison superintendent Thomas Morton was a "loner" and that "noise isn't everything," Rockefeller praised the actual reforms which have been instituted as well as the work of the present director, Victor Urban.

Rockefeller insisted that an upcoming taxation increase is necessary in order for growth.

Business Barons Grab First Place In Executive Play

Proposing that Arkansas use "credibility" to regain financial stability, Rockefeller cited the universal use of all kinds of credit. He answered comparisons to his predecessor, Ovul Faulk, with examples of lack of foresight in building structures without future funds to maintain and build on.

Making a positive stand on race relations, Rockefeller said that he felt that the Negroes were looking for friendship and understanding. "They are looking for a hand, rather than a handout," he said. "I am expressing my feelings, the governor said, "I am my brother's keeper. But, even more, I am my brother's brother."

Faculty-Staff Dinner Scheduled for Tonight

The annual Faculty-Staff dinner will be held in the Charles White Dining Hall at 7 p.m. tonight.

President Clifton L. Gannus will give a report on the college including an account of the number of employees and the budget.

Service pins will be presented at the dinner.

First Annual Behavioral Science Symposium

To Study Law Enforcement, Penal Reform

By Ann Camp

Governor Winthrop Rockefeller presented the inside picture of Arkansans to students and faculty at the first of a series of lectures sponsored by the Student Association.

Striking a relaxed manner, Rockefeller defended charges made against his administration. He admitted supplementing salaries from his own pocket, and said, "There is nothing I would rather be impeached for than to have a superior court over me."

He continued, saying that the people elected him for the sake of change, and to become an active part in building Arkansas.

Not An Arkansan

"There is nothing I would rather be impeached for than to have a superior court over me." Rockefeller said.

"In the last few years that a speaker's "inside picture" of Arkansans," Rockefeller said, "I am my brother's keeper. But, even more, I am my brother's brother."

Much Ado About Harding's Image: Should Be Presented Accurately

Richard Davis

And the people came unto him one evening as he walked near the school, and said unto him, Master, teach us regarding the things which should be accepted or rejected; for we know not how to follow thee. And he saith unto them, Have no fear of them that say, What is your opinion? And what of our enemies? The teacher saith unto them, I love not those enemies. But love not the enemy when he cometh to thee. And the actuality and reality of the school. They should realize the imperfections involved as well as the desire for improvement and betterment on the rough road toward perfection.

But still, despite all of this, there is still that one important factor — the one who forms the image. It must be assured that he has the accurate information and all of the facts necessary to form a correct image. After truth, honesty and sincerity have been presented, there is little else one can do to be sure that Harding is represented in the correct way.

If a bad image still results and if that bad image is justified, then the reflector of the image should be examined and the proper steps taken to rectify.

In Growth and Achievements

An image of perfection should not be necessary to satisfy the many who are interested in the growth and achievements of Harding. They should not be so concerned with the "image" Harding has, but rather with the actuality and reality of the school.

They should realize the imperfections involved as well as the desire for improvement and betterment on the rough road toward perfection.

And the people said, Master, who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven? And he saith unto them, Whosoever shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

Editor, the Bison:

In response to the editorial in last week's Bison, we have decided to "turn the other cheek." The reaction against this editorial seemed to be sufficient to show its fallacies. As for the cartoons, "no comment." By the way, my mother would like to congratulate the Bison for enabling me to "make the cartoons." It has helped her fill her scrapbook of Van Rienen memories.

On the Campaign

Editor, the Bison:

During the 5A elections last week, among all the campaigns there were two somewhat unusual items. Supporters of both candidates for president prepared a statement signed by various individuals.

This is of course the privilege of any candidate. It seems however, that both of these campaign sheets were especially concerned about showing that people who high offices supported their candidate. The name was relatively unimportant; it was the impressive list of offices that counted.

The implication seemed to be that the students who do not hold prominent offices are not qualified to examine the candidates and their qualifications, and that they should follow the lead of those who have more illustrious fellow students.

James D. Bales

If this was not the motive, why was each person's word printed? Harding students are often treated as immature, but surely they deserve recognition from their fellow students and particularly their candidate.

Gary Cotrell

On King-Keeble

Editor, the Bison:

During the last few weeks, the Negro race has lost two well known leaders. Dr. Martin Luther King and Brother Marshall Shipp. Both were outstanding in the fight for those they believed to be right. Dr. King was honored nationally, as well as locally, by the press, radio and TV. Avoiding the flag was flown at half-mast for three days.

We could not help but notice that Brother Keeble's death was only mentioned at the morning worship and not one prayer was said in his death mention in chapel.

We feel that Brother Keeble was a true friend of humanity and that he too worked for peace and was a firm believer in the principles we cherish and hold so dear at Harding.

With Brother Keeble's passing we lost a great mind and wisdom. We feel that Marshall Keeble was a man of love and will have a great effect on the lives of many. As Martin Luther King, we have lost a good fight; I have finished my course, I have met the faith.

Strength of United States Based on Agriculture, Rice Grower Tells American Studies Students

"You can judge the strength of a nation by its agricultural program," Bill Smith told the American Studies group during its regular meeting April 25. Smith is a rice farmer at Lake Village. A Harding alumnus, he serves on the Board of Development of the college.

"The greatest thing America has going for it is its farming program," he charged. "Through technology, American farming has become more successful every year."

Comparison

He then launched into a comparison between farming in Russia and in America. He also discussed U. S. surplus production and how this affected prices on a world-wide scale.

"Americans have the softest consciences of the world," he commented. "They can't stand hunger among other people."

Propaganda Coup

Turning to the situation in Southeast Asia, he observed that it would be ridiculous to let the communists take credit for supplying food to the Vietnamese. This was described as a propaganda coup.

"Don't knock the farmer!" he chided in closing, before he began answering questions from the floor. They related to the new hybrid rice now produced in the Philippines, whether there will someday be a shortage of farmers ("Definitely not"), and why our government will pay farmers not to plant crops rather than let them grow all they want and export the surplus.

Elkins Conducts Bible Seminar

The Bible department's seminar series for this year concluded Wednesday, with Phil Elkins preaching for the college congregation on "World Missions."

Elkins arrived on campus Monday and began the seminar at Monday Night Meeting. He spoke Tuesday and Wednesday in both chapels and lectured to Bible majors both afternoons in the American Studies Auditorium.

Elkins is now completing work on the doctorate in missions at Hartford Theological Seminary.

Plan Proposed To Replace SA With Senate

By Ted McLaughlin

Should Harding have a Student Senate instead of a Student Association?

This question was brought to the Student Association last week by several members of the boy's Dormitory Council.

The proponents of the Student Senate idea gave as their main argument the factor of greater representation. The larger the representative body they said, the more voice student would have in their own government.

On the other hand, Richard Davis, sophomore Student Association representative, pointed out that the larger an organization becomes, the less responsibility there is for work. He said a smaller body can get things done quicker and more efficiently.

Ways of Representation

Davis also related that the Student Association is presently considering several ways of enhancing representation. Among these are giving Student Association executive council members regular office hours, thus making them readily available to students, and the admitting of both Dormitory Council presidents into the executive council of the Student Association as voting members.

Davis said he felt this idea of a Student Senate was premature, because the Dormitory Council had not been given time to prove its worth.

Problem Solving

"We are hoping the Dormitory Council will evolve into the problem-solving group. Given a chance it can become an effective organization," he went on to say.

The Student Association has scheduled a hearing on the question for May 6 at 8 p.m. in the small auditorium. Students and faculty members may attend.

The proponents of a Student Senate have threatened to petition for a student vote on the matter.

Nedra Horner to Marry

Miss Nedra Horner will become the bride of Danny Russell on August 17 in a ceremony in Sikeston, Mo.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dee P. Horner of Essex, Mo. She attended Harding the first semester of this year.

Russell, a sophomore physical education major and a member of the Harding basketball team, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack B. Russell of North Little Rock. He is a member of Alpha Phi Kappa social club.

The couple will live in Searcy.

Dr. and Mrs. Joe E. Sanders of Nashville, Tenn., announce the engagements of their daughters, Cynthia Faye, to Thomas Leon Pettigrew and Phyllis Kaye, to Larry Paul Lawson of Searcy.

Pettigrew is the son of Mrs. Edna Pettigrew and the late L. E. Pettigrew of Dallas. Law­son is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Lawson of Searcy.

Kaye is a senior home economics major and a member of Kappa Kappa Kappa social club.

Faye is a senior psychology major and also is a member of Kappa Kappa Kappa.

Pettigrew is a junior psychology-sociology major and a member of Phi Gamma Delta social club.

Lawson is a senior psychology-sociology major and a member of Sub T-18 social club.

A double wedding is planned for July 12, in Nashville.

High School - May Day to be Tomorrow

By Judy Coffman

Several hundred high-schoolers are expected on campus tomorrow for Harding's annual High School-May Day activities.

A first-time feature this year will be a double-header of Greaves Baptist University. President's Welcome will head the visitor's program that has been planned for Harding's annual High School-May Day activities.

Several hundred high-schoolers are expected to be on campus for Harding's annual High School-May Day activities.

President's Welcome will head the visitor's program. An interesting and informative program has been planned for these prospective college students, according to Eddie Campbell, field representative, beginning with registration at 8:30 a.m.

By Kay Gowen

Three musical productions, providing two hours of entertainment, will be presented on our stage Thursday and Saturday beginning at 8 p.m. each day.

A contemporary curtain-raiser (a production to provide light entertainment to round out an evening of heavier opera), "Sunday Excursion" will feature Carol Adams, Kay Cowen, Joe Clements, Charles Davis and Cliff Roberts.

"Down in the Valley" will wrap up the evening's entertainment as a musical drama based on the old folk song of the same title. All the music and the story of the drama grew out of song and dance.

Chris Greene, Danette Key, Drew Fuller, John Wilson and Ken Tipton have leading roles.
Baseball Season Ends

Harding's baseball team tomorrow with a berth to the AIC tourney hanging in the balance. Harding must have a split in the doubleheader to be assured of a spot in the Pine Bluff finale.

The Ouachita Tigers furnish the opposition for the Bison ball team and the Tigers are no "push-overs." OBU fields one of the strongest teams in the league in hitting and their mound staff is equally as tough on the opposition.

THE TIGERS have the leading AIC hurler in Dwight Ledbetter ($40) and the leading slugger in Jerry Luxel.

Carl Allison's nine realize the challenge before them and are openly optimistic about this final twinni.

Currently Arkansas A&M leads the AIC standings with OBU second, Southern State third and Harding fourth.

The Bisons are stronger than their 4-4 conference record indicates. The young team has been close in every losing effort, with the exception of the Monticello contest with league leading A&M

Bison Bowlers Second

Harding's bowlers bowed their way to a second place national finish in the NAIA championship in Kansas City last week.

The Bisons placed two bowlers in the top ten in the singles competition and the Harding doubles team finished third in the national rankings. Junior Johnny Beck rolled to fourth place with a 2,851 mark.

Sophomore Gary Martin pushes his record to 14-8 and Harding's keglers bowled their way to a second place national finish.

Bison Divide With JBU

Pushes Record to 14-8

By David Crouch

Losing the first game and winning the second, the Harding baseball team split a double-header with John Brown University Tuesday on Alumni Field.

JBU won the first game 5-1, and Harding took the finale 6-0.

In the opener, the Bisons out-hit JBU six to four, but the visitors capitalized on Bison errors to win the game. Harding fielders committed five miscues to allow all five JBU runs to score.

The Bisons mounted a three-hit attack in the bottom of the sixth inning, but the Golden Eagles batted the Bisons, allowing only one run.

The second game was all Harding's Bobby McKeel. The Bison right-hander gave up only two hits to the JBU nine, shutting them out 6-0. The win put McKeel's record at 2-2.

Ishbell, Neal Homer

Bison bowlers bonded four JBU bowlers. Bison second-sacker Gary Ishbell smashed a two-out double over the left field fence. Catcher Don Donson added his part, going 2-4 at the plate.

Harding now boasts a 14-8 overall record and a 4-6 mark in AIC play. The Bisons end the season with a double-header Saturday at Alumni Field. The Ouachita Tigers will be the opposition in the two games. The first game will start at 1 p.m.

Records Marked In Tri-Way Meet

Four new track records and nine individual bests by Bison runners were set as the Bisons bowed to powerful Southeast Missouri State in a triangular meet held here Tuesday. Southeast Missouri State had 107 points, Harding had 81, and Henderson was third with 30.

Jim Crawford was a double winner, winning the mile in 4:06, his fastest this year, and the 880 in 1:54.6. Joe Boyle was second in the mile with a 4:11.5, his best of the year. Harding also won the medley relay. Kenny Coston ran his best of the year in the 440 intermediate hurdles. New field marks include 15' in the pole vault and 9.7 in the 100 hurdles.

The meet was held at Alumni Field.

Track and Field Competition To Be Tuesday

The annual intramural Track and Field Day will be Tuesday. No classes will be held on this day.

Track and Field Day pits club against each other in an all-day track meet. Preliminaries will be held Tuesday morning and afternoon with the finals being concluded Tuesday night.

Competition will be held among men's and among women's clubs. Men's clubs will be divided into large and small club categories. Multi-club social club won the large club division last year while Independents won the small club competition. Theta Phi placed first in the women's division.

The meet will be held at Alumni Field.

McMichael's '74 Leads Victory For Golf Team

Harding golfers paced by sophomore Terry McMichael, captured the John Brown University team in a match Tuesday at Searcy.

L. e. d. by McMichael's '74, the Bisons captured at possible points in their strongest win this season.

This victory was the fourth in a row for Harding's team. The golfers defeated Ouachita Baptist and Henderson in a three-way match at Arkansas, Friday, April 26. The freshmen team, led by Jimmy Henderson, beat State College freshmen at Searcy April 23.

McMichael, one of two returning lettermen, has been the Bisons' leading scorer all year. Last year McMichael was first man on the team.

Yesterday the Bisons traveled to Hot Springs to play Little Rock University. Today the golfers are in Memphis, playing southwestern. Both LRU and Southwestern defeated the Bisons earlier this season.

Harding's golfers have three matches scheduled in the next two weeks. The AIC tournament which will determine AIC standings will be held May 17 and 18. The Bisons finished fifth in the AIC last year.
