Dear Dick:

Progress on the building program is being witnessed almost every day. We continue to remember and deeply appreciate the initial thrust which your organizational talents offered the program. Within the last two weeks the finance committee has been named and is already making extensive plans to go into every home of the congregation telling "the Broad Street story."

Please excuse my tardiness in not sending my gratitude for Congressman Evins' book, Understanding Congress. It was highly thoughtful of you not only to send me a copy but to procure the Congressman's presentation notice.

We trust that the entire family is enjoying the stay in Washington. Please give my regards to Eleanor, Laken, and Suzanna. According to present plans, I will be in Washington on the evening of December 9 and work through the day, December 10, in connection with original material being prepared for the Church's Worlds Fair Exhibit. Brother Ray Chester will have more complete information about where I will stay and what my schedule will be.

Fraternally yours,

John Allen Chalk
