Registar names 343 for '72 Dean's List

Fully 343 students made the grades for the spring '72 Dean's List, according to Registrar Virgil Beckett.

The academic requirements for this honor are a 3.5 GPA for freshmen and a 3.0 GPA for upperclassmen.

The former Dean's List, according to Registrar Virgil Beckett, is 340 students.

Dr. Mason explained the increase of students and the increase of interest by saying that the academy is devoted to education program and the educational expansion will be more advanced.

Within the coming years, the need will become more pressing for additional space and facilities, but there are no definite plans for the immediate future. The academy faculty now has 25 full-time teachers and two part-time teachers.

Mrs. David Elliott has been added to the Academy's physical education program this fall, and Bill Watt, former Bion full-join, joins both the P.E. and art departments.

The former Dean's List, according to Registrar Virgil Beckett, is 340 students.

Dr. Mason explained the increase of students and the increase of interest by saying that the academy is devoted to training people for college entrance. It is an accelerated school, and one of the few prep schools in the nation. Compared to the public secondary schools, the academy students are approximately a year more advanced.

Twenty families have moved into the Searcy area within the last few months in order to enroll their children in Harding Academy, according to Perry Mason, superintendent.

The academy experienced a substantial increase from March 16 to April 20 this fall, with each of the new students enrolling in the upperclassmen. The academy has had to turn down several applicants because of lack of dormitory space. However, he hopes to absorb these applicants in January if possible.

S.A. council plans for commencement of new term

By Mike Justus

For the fourth time the pres. has called the Student Association pre-school conference declaring the commencement of a new academic term.

For the past week the Executive Council of the Student Association has labored to make the first vacation shoes less than migraines and the initial activities more than entertaining.

Perhaps the duties and efforts of the Executive Council have kept their members so involved that they have failed to show their faces as much as they would have liked to do. But they were in the room when I was introduced this article is designed to inform the students of Harding College to the best of their ability.

Composed of 11 members, the Executive Council is being communication exchange between faculty and student opinions, interests, and decisions.

Does the student in mind, the Council collectively contains representation from all four of the classes. Each class elects one man and one woman to represent them.

Bison fill graduated senior grid positions

By Ken Beck

Jerry Cook, All-American guard, Ronnie Peacock, All-AIC and eighth on the college all-time receiving list, Terry Brewer, captain of the NAIA's second best passing defense, Bill Watts, All-Bison.

The 1971 Harding Bison football team lost these four seniors to graduation and head coach John Prock can find suitable replacements the squad's outlook against Austin College on Sept. 9.

Yesterday ended the last two-day workout and most positions are about settled as the team prepares for their first game.

Coach Prock authors the "handwriting on the wall" for this year's Bison.

Gooden one of the top passers in the AIC is backed by two other excellent signal-callers as Terry Welch of McGhee is probably the best passer of the Harding quarterbacks.

Rounding out the quarterbacking trio is Roger Collins a determined and hard-working player who underwent a knee operation last season and could be starting before the season ends.

The offensive line of the Bison is solid in all positions except for the right guard spot vacated by Jerry Cook. At center senior Mike Clem of Lepanto at 240 lb. seems fit for a good season while on his left Rick Brown at guard and Ed Eason at tackle are both 3-year lettermen and well-experienced players.

At right tackle is Georgian Neil Thompson, a 3-year lettermen and next to him at tight end is Steve Glary returning from an excellent sophomore season.

Senior David Williams, a rough and stubborn blocker from North Little Rock and raw-boned Lance Ragoz of Memphis are fighting over Cook's empty guard position while Steve Watts, a 240 lb. sophomore from Georgia can just about play any position on the line.

Top receivers for the team are flanker Harry Barone, who is liable to replace Peacock as the AIC's top pass-catcher, and Jim Atkins and Jack Barber, two split receivers with good moves and fine hands.

The defense only had one spot to fill at linebacker and Mike Hopkins has stepped into that position with Conway's Bob Shock at the other linebacker role.

The front line for the Harding defense is stacked with returning starters from last season. At left end is James Pigot of New Concord, Ky. starting his second season at that spot and beside him Barney Crawford of Mountain Home is a top favorite for best sophomore defensive lineman in the league. Clarence Hicks returns at his nose guard position and Dale Payne and Tony Faison should alternate at right tackle. Manning defensive end on the right side is Larry Richmond while Searcy's Adrian Hickman could help out at either end or tackle.

The defensive secondary is filled with safeties Gary Hunter and Gary Gregg, both seniors and 3-year lettermen. The halfbacks are Rodney Echoles and David Lemkin, the AIC's top interceptor last season.
