One act play features journey of twelve blind

"The Blind," a one act play by Maurice Maeterlinch, will be presented tonight at 8 and tomorrow night at 6:30 by the drama department.

According to Larry Menetee, professor of drama, the play is being presented in conjunction with the Christian Communicator Seminar.

The presentation is a symbolic drama which centers around twelve blind people who live in an asylum on an island. These "blind" are taken care of by an old priest and several old nuns.

When the priest takes the people on a routine walk one day, he sits down and dies suddenly, leaving the blind people by themselves with no one to help them and no way to get back.

Menetee stated that the play is rarely done because it "reads very strangely." However, he commented that the impact of the play is totally different when seeing it performed.

The cast for "The Blind" includes Phillip Jameson, as the priest, David Porter, Warren Hazelton, Marty Knight, Eric Manlove, Robin Miller, Thomas Lawson, Shay Brazell, Deana David, Gloria Shoop, Jenna Hobbs, Sue Smith and Kimberly Choate.

Admission will be free with I.D. card, $1.00 for adults, and 50 cents for students.

"The Blind," a one-act play, will be presented tonight and tomorrow night as part of "The Christian Communicator" humanities workshop.

Faculty develops evaluation system

Students will have the chance to evaluate the effectiveness of all their teachers this semester, according to Dean Joseph Pryor.

According to Dr. Pryor, a faculty committee headed by David Burks, chairman of the business department, has developed a questionnaire which will be used to rate teachers each semester beginning this term.

The evaluations will be made by a questionnaire administered to classes by department heads near the end of the semester. As soon as the questionnaires are completed, they will be sealed in envelopes and taken to Dr. Pryor's office where they will be scored by a computer. The computer will rate each teacher according to department norms, overall faculty norms and school norms.

All information compiled on each instructor will be kept confidential, according to Dr. Pryor. Only Dr. Pryor, the department chairman and the teacher will know the outcome of an evaluation.

According to Dr. Pryor, the evaluation system is an outgrowth of the system used to name Distinguished Teachers of America. About three years ago, teachers requested that the DTA questionnaire be studied and revised.

As a result of that study, the Faculty Welfare Committee recommended that an institution-wide evaluation system be developed. After a year of "a tremendous amount of study" Mr. Burk's committee completed plans for the evaluation system.

"Since it did come from the faculty itself, the primary purpose of the system is to provide a basis for personal examination and evaluation by instructors," Dr. Pryor said. "It did not come from the administration, and is not something to use to fire teachers. Of course, I can't say they won't be considered when the administration evaluates a teacher's performance, but that is not the primary purpose," he stated.

Alpha Chi society adds new members

Forty-nine students were inducted into Alpha Chi, national honor society, Wednesday night.

"This is the largest group we have ever inducted," said Dr. Joe Pryor, one of the groups sponsors. A student must have a grade point average of 3.70 for junior and 3.50 for a senior, he said.

The new members are: Janet Lynne Aly, Wilma Allen Bailey, Deborah Ann Baten, Donald C. Bendinelli, Linda D. Cerminara, Carol Lynn Clarke, Glenora Cook, Joseph Alan Corum;

Carol Ann Dillard, Brenda Gail Dyer, Beatrice Gist, Betty Jean Green, Carl Wayne Guthrie, Campbell Henderson, Elizabeth Higgs, Marilyn Horsman, Donald

Report reveals S.A. budget

Dewitt Yingling, S.A. treasurer presented the expenditures and budget for the 1974-75 school year, Tuesday night in the weekly council meeting.

Yingling disclosed that the balance now stands at $921.61, which he commented was a "lot better than we were doing this time last year."

He also stated that this year's council is working with an inherited deficit and "we're still attempting to set things in order, and things are looking very good."

A partial breakdown of expenditures this year thus far are as follows:

Watermelon Party	$297.00
Registration week	$161.00
Homecoming	$300.84
Coffhouses	$453.38

Student Lectureship	$62.00
Phone bill	$73.00
Printing	$121.88
Office supplies	$98.18
Total	$1,566.28

Yingling added that, "so far the travel expenses to the Christian College Conference (to Pepperdine University) are incomplete, but we've already paid $832.00."

The Christmas party was discussed at the meeting and suggestions were made to have open house instead of the usual party. Other business was a proposal to introduce an open forum for students and council members in which question concerning policies could be discussed. The suggestion also called for inviting faculty representatives to these sessions.

Time of Day begins tour

The Time of Day, Harding's traveling recruiting entertainment troupe, continued this year's busy schedule with four performances at Birmingham, Ala. last weekend. Their next appearance will be in Memphis on Monday followed by two weeks of performances throughout the east.

Frampton to play jazz-rock music

The Mac Frampton Trio will appear at 8 o'clock in the Main Auditorium Saturday.

Triumvirate features the keyboard acrobatics of Mac Frampton and is rounded out with a drum and bass. Their "rock-alternative" sound is the jazz-rock-broadway style that Frampton has developed as his trademark in the musical world.

Frampton began playing the piano at the age of three and began his formal education at five. He made his professional debut when he was seven. Since then he has studied at Erskine College and the Cincinatti Conservatory. In 1969, he was the bronze medalist in the Van Cliburn International Piano Competition.

During the past two years, Triumvirate has played over 300 concerts in the United States, Canada, and Europe including a concert last year at Harding College.

This will be the first of four "off-campus" lyceums to be presented this year. The Arkansas Symphony will appear December 7 and 8, los Indios Tabajaras guitarists will be here

January 24, and "Comedy of Errors" will round off the schedule with their March 26 appearance.

Reserved seats are available in the Business Office and are free with Harding I.D. Other tickets may be obtained for $2.50 each.

Opinion ballots count, improve attitudes, S.A.

As was stated on last week's editorial page, this week's editorial was to discuss the roles and responsibilities of the Student Association, especially in connection with the views of the students and administration expressed through the opinion poll.

However, that editorial plan had to be revised after a grand total of five opinion poll ballots were turned in.

Either our readers feel that their opinions won't change anything, or they don't care.

If the former attitude is yours, we'd like to urge you to reconsider. The Student Association is here to serve you. If you don't feel the members are doing their job, it's your responsibility to get them busy. If you think they're doing a good job, they need the encouragement.

If the latter attitude is yours, you're probably not reading this editorial anyway.

We will accept opinion poll ballots until Monday afternoon. Your opinions can change or improve the S.A. Express yourself!

Controversial editorial arouses campus concern

Dear Editor:

Many years ago, when I announced that we were going to resume club sports, many of my friends warned me against doing it. "Sore-heads" and "win at all costs" types will take over they said. There have been times when the pressure and ridicule have made me wonder if it is all worthwhile. Then I remember that the students want very much to have club sports, and I'm here to serve students, so we keep on.

The editorial written last week by Mr. McGee was very wide in scope and once again makes me wonder if club sports are really worth it. Maybe it would help if he would check facts before putting them in an editorial that is read by thousands. Everyone knows that I receive a lot of criticism as a result of club sports. I don't mind honest criticism, but Mr. McGee attacked the club sports program and, as its director, I resent some of his remarks. Here are a few clarifications:

1. Injuries are not increasing. This has been one of our better years in flag football. I don't like to see someone get hurt. It weighs heavier on me than anything else.

2. We played 104 flag football games this fall. This is one of the best years yet for lack of "hot-heads." I can't see all of the games. I make almost all of them.

3. Poor sportsmanship and un-Christian behavior can be two of the big problems in club sports. Football, being a contact sport, can bring out the worst in the participants. In certain games it gets too rough. He is right. I have thrown out many players for this. I can't throw out the whole team. I urge officials to be strict. Sometimes they aren't. All in all, however, I think they do a creditable job as volunteers. We figured out last year that if we paid officials for all of our intramural contests it would cost in excess of $5,000.00. We don't have that kind of money so we do the best we can.

In closing, I believe that the motto for club and intramural sports still stands and I believe if club sports are to continue, all clubs need to have a good look at themselves as regards Christian attitudes. We can thank Mr. McGee for bringing that to our attention

Cecil M. Beck
Director,
Men's Intramural Sports

Dear Editor:

After prayerful consideration I feel that it would be unfair to allow the reference to Mr. Cecil Beck, our intramural director, as being apparently unconcerned, to go unchallenged. If, by that, you mean that he should have intervened and reversed some "bad calls," I seriously must disagree.

If calls made by volunteer officials in the intramural program are to be reversed by a "higher authority" there would be no integrity in the program. Mr. Beck has to place confidence in the referees. If he were to reverse one call he would possibly be hounded to death on every possible border-line call thereafter. I, therefore, feel that it would be less Christian for him to reverse mistaken calls of referees who are, after all, chosen by the clubs themselves.

Our intramural program is made of human participants, a human director, human officials and human spectators. I know that in my own case I have made serious mistakes. I also know that Mr. Beck is doing all that he knows to do to teach both spectators, participants and officials that Christian quality of self-

Editorial stirs debate, not an attack on Beck

We would like to apologize for the statement in last week's editorial in which Intramural Director Cecil Beck was referred to as "apparently unconcerned." Through a serious oversight, we neglected to edit the statement after the column was written.

Coach Beck was definitely not the main target of the editorial, and we are sorry that the column seems to have been misinterpreted because of the statement. We are aware of Coach Beck's dedication and interest in the intramural program, and we have expressed our regrets to him personally.

Providing constructive criticism is part of our editorial responsibility. It was to this end that the editorial was written. It is regrettable that we expressed our opinions in such a way that our motives became obscure.

The main point of the editorial was to encourage club members to re-examine and re-evaluate their attitudes concerning club sports. We hope that our readers will be able to consider the editorial in light of this goal.

control. This is not to say that we should be satisfied with poor officiating.

Perhaps our physical education department, in conjunction with intramural program, could conduct special training with this in mind. Even under the existing situation clubs can control the quality of the officiating a great deal by planning ahead and by choosing those officials who are fair and alert.

Eddie R. Campbell

Dear Editor:

This is in reply to the editorial concerning the attitude displayed on the intramural field. While agreeing with much of what was said, I feel like there are two sides to the picture.

It is very possible that bad attitudes do surface in these contests — I know, because I have had bad attitudes on the playing fields, for which I am ashamed and sorry. But I feel that a blanket accusation like was made is erroneous. Some of the deep friendships that I have made here have come as a direct result of sincere, hard competition, and I don't feel like the words describing what the program stands for has become "just that, words."

The editorial's attack on the "incompetent, biased, or both" referees is also slanted. It is not an easy experience to referee a game, especially when there are usually no rewards for calling a game. Most of the participants sincerely appreciate the job done by the unpaid, fair-minded referees.

The last thing that I felt was completely out of line was the attack on the "apparently unconcerned intramural director." Even though Mr. Beck takes his share of criticism, his running of this program is very competent, and to say that he is unconcerned is purely ridiculous. He deserves better treatment than was given in this editorial.

Competition is a healthy thing, and I myself feel Christians should be competitive. While agreeing that Christian attitudes should be evident on the field, I would just ask that the writer take a closer look at the subject before attacking it.

David Hawley

Dear Editor:

In pure rebuttal of the article entitled, "Club sports deficient in Christian attitudes," and a slight rebuttal of the writer of this article, I will begin by trying to defend the referees of the game referred to. These individuals were accused of being incompetent and biased. Since this may be and probably is true, I won't argue, I will just make one little comment to the writer of this article and his followers. There is an old saying that goes, "If you think you could do better." As far as I can tell, it does not exclude referring. The attack on individuals helpless to defend themselves is outrageous to me, but what is even more shocking is to get your throat cut by one of your own hands since as the writer put it, we all are in the same body.

In closing I will say, "Get a new inscription on the east wall of Rhodes Memorial Fieldhouse, since strive means by The Reader's Digest Great Encyclopedia Dictionary, Volume II, "to contend or fight." You wouldn't want to be a hypocrite all of your life would you? And if you would, I wouldn't want you to be.

Michael Grizzell

Dear Editor:

I would like to agree with the editorial that appeared in last week's Bison. I think the manner in which the editorial was presented was fair and accurate; however, the emphasis of the editorial was misinterpreted by most. Such an editorial was a long time coming.

Firstly, it seems that most people have missed the point of club sports. I do not think that sports is the number one club activity. The way I understood it, clubs are for Christian fellowship and service. Unfortunately most clubs feel that sports are a life and death matter. It seems the prerequisite of being in some clubs is that you play football or basketball for four years and be an all-star.

Also, I feel that there have been games played by crooked players and called by incompetent referees. I have been in and seen games where players were laid flat by flying tackles, elbows and clips. The trouble is most of these were not even called.

I do not feel that the answer calls for the suspension of club sports but the total overhaul of the rules and values. If a club proves that it is incapable of sportsmanship then it should not be allowed to participate in club sports for a period of time. Players who cannot control their temper and use vulgar language should be thrown out of the game. And if a referee proves to be incapable of calling a game, he should be replaced.

Club sports can be an enjoyable thing if we play and act like Christians. When we get back the privilege of playing, let's all take a positive attitude toward the games and play and call clean.

Alpha Psi solicits literature to encourage involvement

Plans are being made by Alpha Psi, honorary drama fraternity, for a project to be presented in the spring semester. Members of the fraternity are encouraging students to contribute original poetry, prose, one-act plays or any other original literature.

They will choose from the contributions the ones they feel are particularly good, and present them in a one-night program.

If any of the authors want to present their own works, they may do so in the program. Otherwise, members of Alpha Psi will perform the selections.

Sponsors of the drama fraternity are Larry Menefee, and Morris Ellis, drama instructors. Officers are Tim Bixler, director; Sonya Bixler, stage manager; and Sharon Brazell, business manager.

The purpose of the project is to encourage more of the student body to get involved in all aspects of oral interpretation, according to Mrs. Bixler. "This includes not only the performing part, but also the writing part," she said. "Authors sometimes do not get enough glory, so we want to spotlight a few of the students at Harding who have literary talent."

Dean Scott and his Cosmic Cowboys performed for the second time for the Harding audience Saturday night. Impersonating singer Ray Charles, Dean Scott receives assistance on stage by his brother, Bobby Bradshaw and police officer, Peter C. Pig.

Scott closes lyceum as 'memorable time'

"This is definitely one of our more memorable times," said Dean Scott as he concluded Saturday night's lyceum. Closing with a standing ovation, Dean Scott and the Cosmic Cowboys sang a song "appropriate for the night" and continued saying, "it's most important to learn, to grow . . . and then love comes from the top of your head: 'He Ain't Heavy, He's My Brother.'"

Dean Scott and his company, including his brother, Bobby, and his father, George Bradshaw, have been touring colleges for the past season and have about 40 more colleges to tour, says the senior Bradshaw, known as "Pop." Scott's father is also their road manager "and whatever else," adds Pop.

His father explained Scott's start in 1954: "He was interested in music since I can remember. He danced and became one of the original Peppermint twisters and later began a singing-comedy act."

Although the group has been primarily involved in promotional work, Scott has plans to do "something a little different," beginning after a vacation in January, says Pop.

According to Scott's brother, Bobby, who also sings with the group, they appeared for about 12 minutes last season on the Johnny Carson Show. "We hope to do that again."

"But Dean likes to do more ballads," says Pop. "He'd rather perform before a live audience... He's ready to hit the stage anytime." Pop continued, "He does all of his own arranging and writing. He plans every show."

"Being a 'no-name' group with no recordings," says Scott, "it means a lot to us to reach the people. Too many big artists have forgotten the people. My life is dedicated to meeting and seeing the people."

The group originates from Houston, Tex. where they have a standing opening whenever they are in town. Since September, Scott and his Cosmic Cowboys have performed for colleges in Virginia, West Virginia, Florida, Iowa, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, and Mississippi. On the road again from Searcy, they will travel to colleges in Tennessee and Texas and, after the beginning of next year, some in New England states.

Scott's impersonations of singers Ray Charles and Elvis Presley received enthusiastic responses from the audience, said S.A. president Bill Fowler. "They emphasized their background accompanists more this year than last year." He concluded, "They had good messages as well as good music."

Science department sets seminar

The Natural Science Department of Harding will host a seminar on "The Christian and Modern Evolutionary Thought," November 22-23, according to Dr. Jack Wood Sears, chairman of the biology department.

Clark Stevens, an alumnus and former teacher at Harding, will deliver the keynote address at 7 p.m. Friday in the American Heritage Auditorium, where all lectures and panel discussions will be held. Most seminar speakers are presently teaching at Harding including Don Robinson, Gary Elliott, James Mackey, Neale Pryor, and Don England.

Dr. Sears states that "the department expects visitors from throughout the state and from other Christian colleges. If possible, we hope to have the entire series of lectures published." Following is a schedule of times and topics for the symposium:

Friday, Clark Stevens will speak on "What is Modern Evolutionary Thought." A panel discussion will be held at 7:45.

The program Saturday will consist of several speeches including "The Impact of Modern Evolutionary Thought in Daily Living," Ron Brotherton at 8:30-9:10 a.m.; "The Impact of Evolutionary Thought on the Visual Arts," by Don Robinson at 9:15-9:55; "The Impact of Evolutionary Thought on American and English Literature," by Dr. Gary Elliott at 10:30-11:10; and "The Impact of Evolutionary Thought on Science," by James Mackey at 11:15-11:55.

Saturday afternoon's speeches will include "The Impact of Evolutionary Thought on Ethics and Philosophy," at 1:15-1:55; "The Impact of Evolutionary Thought on Religious Thinking," by Dr. Neale Pryor at 2:00-2:40; and the seminar will conclude with a panel-Question and Answer Period moderated by Don England.

Bisons upset Riders, 10-7

Sophomore place-kicker David Skelton booted a 26-yard field goal with 6:06 remaining to snap a 7-7 deadlock and give the Harding Bisons a 10-7 victory over Southern State College in conference action in Magnolia Saturday.

The win extended the Bison's mastery over the Muleriders in three straight years and evened up Harding's AIC mark at 2-2.

The Bisons had fallen behind 7-0 early in the first quarter on a 25-yard sweep by Leonard Nichols. Calvin Beasley's successful point-after-touchdown was good with 8:13 left in the period.

Although rated as two touchdown underdogs before the contest, the Bisons retaliated after the Mulerider's touchdown by driving 55 yards to knot the score. Freshman Allan Grieb returned the Riders kickoff 31 yards to the Harding 45 to launch the Herd on the scoring march. Sticking with the running game, Harding ground out the yardage on 14 plays, climaxed by Grieb's five-yard scoring jaunt with 0:52 remaining in the opening period. The touchdown was Grieb's first as a collegian, combining with David Skelton's perfect kick to the contest at 7-7.

The Riders threatened to regain the lead with time running out in the first half with a drive that set them up on the Harding 17. The drive was aborted when the Bison's charge forced the Rider quarterback to slip on the wet turf, resuming with a 7 yard loss. A fourth down pass laser fell incomplete in the end zone, sending both teams into intermission all tied up at 7-7.

The Muleriders, with their backs to the wall following their two previous conference losses cranked up another threat midway to the third stanza, driving all the way to the Bison 23 yard line. Linebacker Randy Miller, who had snuffed out two other Rider threats with a fumble recovery and pass interception, batted down a fourth-down pass to turn the ball over to the Bisons.

A Harding drive at the end of the third quarter, boosted by a 30 yard pass from Steve Peeples to Joe David Smith, gave the Bisons a chance to go ahead but the ensuing field goal attempt was wide to the left. Defensive Jerry Joslin intercepted another Rider aerial minutes later, to give the Bisons still another chance to forge ahead. Once again, however, the Mulerider line proved to be impenetrable as the Bisons were forced to try for the field goal. The 45 yard attempt was barely off to the right allowing SSC to remain in the tie.

Seconds later, after Southern State had taken over on their own 20, David Cooke scooped up a loose ball to give the ball to the Herd on the SSC 24. This time the Bisons refused to let the opportunity pass them by as David Skelton came in to boot the winning score after Grieb and Smith worked the ball down to the SSC 7.

The Muleriders countered the score with a drive on their own driving to the Bison's 21. Harding, sensing the upset victory, dug in and took the pigskin over on downs. SSC got the ball once more in the contest before time ran out but lost it on still another interception, this time by linebacker Bubba Hopkins.

Grieb rushed for 104 yards on 25 carries to lead the rushing while Jack Barber chipped in with 29 on six carries. The Bisons will be hoping to clinch at least a .500 season as they travel to Monticello to take on the UA-Monticello Bollweevils in an AIC counter.
