Tucker orders extermination of pests in Heritage building

Bug extermination in the Heritage building and updated medical examinations of all full-time cafeteria workers have been ordered by Lott Tucker, vice-president for finance.

The order came following an investigation conducted by Tucker after Biese Morgan approached him with a letter to the editor about American Heritage cafeteria conditions.

The letter made several charges of "unclean" cafeteria conditions.

"Cockroaches are everywhere in the cafeteria," according to one student. "The staff has not been cleaning the floors properly." Tucker was quoted as saying, "We need to make sure that the cafeteria is cleaned and that the staff is being properly trained." Tucker also said that the cafeteria was not a "non-profit" organization, and that they were trying to reduce costs by making sure that staff was being paid fairly.

"We need the profits from the cafeteria," Tucker said, "to keep everything running smoothly." Tucker explained that the staff was not being paid enough, and that they were trying to improve the cafeteria's profit margins.

"We are trying to make sure that the cafeteria is a profitable operation," Tucker said. "We want to make sure that the students are not being overcharged for their meals." Tucker also said that the cafeteria was not a "non-profit" organization, and that they were trying to make sure that the cafeteria was being properly managed.

Who's Who selects thirty-seven

Thirty-seven seniors have been selected for entry in Who's Who among Students of American Universities and Colleges. Of the 61 seniors nominated, 41 were suggested by faculty members and 33 by the S.A.

To qualify for entry, a student must be a senior with a GPA of 2.5 or higher. The selection committee makes the final decision on who is selected for inclusion in the Who's Who among Students of American Universities and Colleges.

Hammon fund awards scholarship to four students

Hammon Scholarship awards were recently given to four Harding students. Recipients of the scholarships for the fall semester, are Bill Peterson, who has a major in journalism; Sheila O'Keefe, who has a major in history; and Cecil Wilson, who has a major in American Studies.

Peterson was the only senior journalism major transferring from Harding last year, and is a member of the Biese staff.

Wilson is a junior majoring in philosophy. He is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity, and is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society.

Alumni arrive today to join in Black and Gold banquet

Alumni will be arriving on campus today for the 1975 Homecoming activities, which will begin with a Black and Gold Banquet at 5:30 p.m. in the Charles White Cafeteria.

Bertha Tucker was quoted as saying, "We are trying to make sure that the students are not being overcharged for their meals." Tucker also said that the cafeteria was not a "non-profit" organization, and that they were trying to make sure that the cafeteria was being properly managed.

Results of Monday's class attendant election were announced during the meeting. The candidates for senior Nancy Cochran, junior Michelle Pullara, sophomore Lisa Reynolds, and freshman Robin Bales. The candidates for Homecoming queen are Madonnia Wallace, Bernice Rester, and Becky Sides.

S.A. to launch Homecoming festivities

Homecoming activities, which begin today, will include an annual chili supper at Camp Wyldewood, headlined by the S.A. executive council. The S.A. executive council will sell everything from chili to tickets, and all ticket sales will be used to fund the S.A. program.

Annie calls for showdown

Annie Oakley, portrayed by freshman Pam Paul, plays hard-to-get with Frank Buller, rival marksman, characterized by sophomore Tom Lazenby, in the Homecoming play, "Annie Get Your Gun." The Biese-tenal production opened Wednesday night and closes tomorrow evening with the 8 o'clock show in the main auditorium. Attendance has been exceeding all previous records for Homecoming performances.

Third world power bloc manipulates U.N.

By Tim McNeece

From its beginnings as the San Francisco Conference the U.S. has always gone ahead with money and supporters. While the Charter was signed in San Francisco it was not settled into New York. Since 1945 the U.N. has put up about 30 percent of the organization's budget, exceeding the U.S. contribution.

Franklin Roosevelt's dream of a U.N. has not materialized as the hoped for the materialization.

But the decades to follow brought changes to the internal makeup of the United Nations. That original group of 194 nations has mushroomed to 191.

The bulk of these new partners in international cooperation were the fledgling nations of the Third World.

As their number grew, so did their blare and somewhat brutish attacks on the United States, as the epitome of everything they were.

The last five years have seen the Third World nations met into a powerful bloc with control of the United Nations, the only things began to go wrong.

In 1973, the U.N. membership at the expense of the United States. This was sanctioned membership for its internal politics of apartheid. Later, when the nation was powerless in the Arab states, the Third World majority seemed to be the center of attention.

Moynihan explains the Third World is mainly black or brown, and the white world is white, while the Third World world is black or brown. This is the way the Third World is seen. The United Nations is the United Nations to the Third World is the United Nations to the Third World. The United Nations is the United Nations of the Third World to the United Nations of the United Nations.

Moynihan is our latest American ambassador to the United Nations. He has taken the General Assembly by surprise with a policy of iron first and liquidation second.

His controversial writings and past dealings with India, as an U.S. ambassador, have given him a reputation as a Third World statesman, which caused several of his colleagues to think of him as the United Nations' first black U.S. secretary general.

The United Nations, which has conducted an effort to sharpen the U.N. building with such an eye.

So far, the United Nations' task of the Third World is to serve as a forum for the Third World to introduce its ideas to the United Nations. The United Nations is the United Nations of the Third World.

Moynihan is aware of his position as the United Nations' secretary general. He has said in good faith, "I know we can't do anything in good faith.

Moynihan, however, has not shown this can be done in the United Nations. The United Nations' methods. Patrick, FDR would be proud.

Students and teachers were asked this week about their feelings on euthanasia, especially in connection with the Karen Ann Quinlan court case in Morristown, N.J., which will be a landmark case.

Miss Quinlan, 21, has been in a coma for six months. Her parents want her removed from a life-sustaining respirator so she can die with dignity.

Doctors have testified that brain damage has put Miss Quinlan into a "persistent vegetative state" that cannot be reversed by known medical technology.

Opposing the Quinlans are Miss Quinlan's doctors, the state of New Jersey, the Morris County prosecutor, St. Clare's Hospital, and Miss Quinlan's temporary court-appointed guardians.

The doctors' lawyer asserted during the trial that no one may order someone's death just because the quality of that life is low.

"If she can't live independently of the machines, she should be allowed to die."

"You open the gates to the death of thousands of people in the United States who may have a low quality of life," the lawyer said. "It 'gives judicial sanction to the act of euthanasia,' he said.

"If Karen Anne Quinlan has one chance in a thousand, one chance in 10 thousand, one chance in a million, who are we and by what right do we kill that chance?" he added. "Dare we defy the divine command, 'Thou shalt not kill'?"

The court's decision that will decide Miss Quinlan's fate is expected any day.

Students and teachers on campus were asked their feelings on this case and euthanasia as a whole.

Larry Jones, a senior, said, "I feel that everyone should have the right to die a natural death. I just don't believe in keeping her alive artificially. Also, prolonging life in her present condition would drain the family physically and mentally."

"My feelings are mixed. I have a great respect for God's power to give and take away life. I don't think any heroic measures should be taken to end a life in a case like this," said Ron Brinkmeyer, a junior.

"One question that comes to my mind is, who are the doctors she won't recover from. Is she an individual with a human consciousness or not?" asked sophomore Larry Jones, a senior, said, "I feel that everyone should have the right to die a natural death."

"A person has the right to die as well as he has the right to live," said Dr. Neale Fryer, professor of philosophy, "and prolonging a person alive by artificial means is unfair."

"When an individual has lost all ability to function mentally and doctors say that it is an hopeless case, then death would be a beautiful thing," said Alsa Isom, associate professor of philosophy.

"I think she should be allowed to die," said Reby Hunter, editorial associate in the publicity office, "since she already is dead."

"I think they should let her die," said Reby Hunter, editorial associate in the publicity office, "since she already is dead."

"It seems like a tremendous strain and waste on everybody," said sophomore Tweed Hilesman.

"She should be kept alive by all possible means as long as possible," said Micky Randolph, a senior. "Scripturally, I think it is their duty to sustain any amount of life."

Dr. Ted Atman, dean of students, said, "To be completely for it, I think a person would have to be placed in a position similar to that of Karen Quinlan's parents. If I were her parent, I'd feel the same way as they do."

"If she is totally dependent on those life-sustaining machines, and she has no hope of regaining a human consciousness or awareness, then in this case I think she should be allowed to die independently of the machines," said junior Richie Poe.

"I don't think they should make the decision like that because the doctors can't be 100 percent sure she won't recover," said Nancy Roberts, a sophomore. "There's always that chance."

"If I were very sick, I wouldn't want my life prolonged by artificial means," said Mrs. Je Choate, director of housing. "I'm in favor of it for myself."

"I feel the family should make the decision," said Jean Wei, a junior.

OLD NAMES — OLD FACES — OLD PLACES

That's the fun of returning to Harding for homecoming. And part of that fun is seeing how places have changed and families have grown.

Well, we at Dee-Jay's Pizza Palace have grown and changed locations. Besides our new location at 309 East Race, we now have a larger menu to serve you with. But it's still the same good pizza and the same friendly service.

And we have a special offer for our old friends at Harding. Bring in your ticket stub from the homecoming football game and receive a free large drink with the order of anything on our now larger menu.

Group register interview dates

Representatives from Louisiana Tech University, the Peace Corps and Vista have scheduled interviews with the Placement Office next Tuesday and Thursday.

Louisiana Tech Graduate School representatives will be talking with students interested in the graduate programs offered by the school.

The Louisiana Tech representatives will be interviewing from 10 a.m. until noon Thursday.

Representatives from the Peace Corps and Vista will be in the Hammon Student Center from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. on Wednesday. The two agencies are interested in talking with December and May graduates. Students interested in interviewing with these organizations should go by the Placement Office in the American Heritage Center to schedule an interview time.

V.A. official to visit campus

Veteran Administration representative Jack Cornett will be on campus every Thursday afternoon from 1:30 until 3:30 to answer questions about veteran benefits. Cornett will be in the Personnel Office for interviews with students.

Alcoholism heads club's discussion

Alcoholism was discussed at this week's Behavioral Science club meeting by three representatives from the Serenity House, a non-profit organization which is associated with Alcoholics Anonymous.

Speakers were Joe McQuinney, Doyle Helso, and Arnold Jordan. They discussed the causes, effects, and treatment of alcoholism.

The next Behavioral Science club meeting will be November 15 in room 101 of the counseling center. All psychology, sociology, social work, and special education majors are invited to attend.

Harding wins NAIA crown

Although barely missing out on the AIC All-Sports Trophy last year, Harding and manage to capture the NAIA All-Sports crown for the 1975-76. A little known fact in that the Bisons have won the title every year since records began being kept in 1970.

This past year the Bisons recorded 63 points to finish ahead of David Lipscomb College, the runner-up from district 26 with 58.

Chiefly responsible for the Bisons' sixth title was the national champion bowling team. Coach Ted Lloyd's charges dominated both the national and regional fields.

Theta Tau posts wins

Theta Tau outscored opponents 190-53 in posting four straight wins and moving into the finals in small club "A" flag football this past week on the intramural field.

Tau began by defeating Sigmas Tau 26-11 and then massacred Fraters 40-8 and Lambdas 68-0. They slipped by Kings Men 16-14 last Wednesday to earn the right to play Knights, who are undefeated.

In large club "A" ball, Mohicans remain undefeated with a hard-fought 6-0 victory over Sub-T. They will now face TNT, who defeated Sub-T 18-14 Wednesday night, for the championship.

The results for the remaining games played last week were:

Small Club "A":
- Lambdas 24-CCP 2
- Knights 36-Fraters 0
- Lambdas 18-Alfa Omega 15
- Knights 28-Kings Men 14

Large Club "A":
- Alpha Tau 25-Sigmas Tau 7
- TNT 35-Galaxy 28
- Small Club "B":
- Kings Men 21-Fraters 0
- Theta Tau 26-Alpha Omega 6
- Knights 18-Kings Men 12

Large Club "B":
- Theta Tau 32-Alpha Tau 7
- Mohicans 12-Chi Sig 9
- Alpha Tau 32-TNT 5
- Sigma Chi 0

Harriers defend title

The Bisons will be running for their fifth straight AIC title today on the course where the string began five years ago in 1971. Things have changed considerably since that race on a frigid morning in November.

After placing fourth in the conference in '70, few rated the Bisons as even long shot contenders in '71. However, the Bisons' harriers battled the odds to win the championship, and the titleclass haven't been beaten by an AIC opponent since.

Today the Bisons are rated as nearly shoo-ins for top honors, especially after last week's easy victory in the district finals.

Bisons back in running

Although losing their first two games of the season, it appears the Bisons are back in the running for at least second place in the conference standings as Southern State upset current second-place holder Ouachita Baptist last week. The Herd has yet to play SSC, UAM, and UCA while OBU plays Tech and Henderson.

Reeddies lead AIC

Henderson's Reddies appear headed for their third straight undefeated conference season with an unblemished 16 record as they remain at the top of the AIC standings.

The Reddies were tied for the lead with Ouachita Baptist until the Tigers were stunned by Southern State in a 10-3 upset last week. Henderson State plays Arkansas-Monticello, and Central Arkansas before wrapping up the regular season with Ouachita Baptist.

Southern States' victory gave the Bisons renewed hope for a chance at second place finish. The SAC-Harding game tomorrow looms as an important one that neither team can afford to lose.

Central Arkansas is currently in third place in the conference but face Henderson in their next league test. UAM has yet to win a conference game while Arkansas Tech has won their only game against the Weevils.

In the most recent polls, the Reddies were ranked third in the NAIA Division I charts while holding down the number eight spot of the Associated Press Small College rankings. National runner-ups last season, Henderson seems almost certain to gain a berth in the playoffs. At present, OBU would appear to be the AIC probably choice to play in the Bicentennial Bowl in Little Rock, Thanksgiving weekend.

Bisons fall to Bulldogs, prepare for Muleriders

It'll be the Bisons versus the Muleriders this week in one of Harding's hardest hitting rivalries in the AIC grid-iron war.

Southern State surprised everyone in the conference last week when they upset unbeaten Oacchita Baptist 19-3 in Magnolia.

The Riders were led by the league's leading passer, Russ Bechtelheimer. Leading the ground attack will be senior All-AIC fullback Mike Rubinski who rushed for over 1,000 yards last fall. Bechtelheimer has accumulated 768 yards so far this year while Rubinski has garnered 688 on the ground.

While the 'Riders are flying high after their conquest of OBU, the Bisons will be trying to bounce back from the loss to Texas Lutheran last week.

Harding's game but outmanned Bisons put up a determined battle but couldn't stop the nationally-ranked powerhouse as the Bisons headed the Bisons a hard fought 24-10 defeat in non-conference action.

The Bulldogs seemed well on the way to repeating the 42-0 victory of last year when a Bison fumble deep in their own territory and a short punt helped Texas Lutheran run up a 14-0 advantage with just over 10 minutes gone in the contest. However, the Bisons' tenacious defense refused to fold and stopped the nation's sixth-ranked offense twice on or inside the Bison 10-yard line.

The Bulldogs got on the scoreboard early in the game after Chris Keeler recovered a Bison fumble on the Harding 35. Faced with a fourth and three situation, All-American quarterback Mike Washington rushed for 25 yards to the Harding three. On the next play John Balinas sprinted into the left corner of the end zone to put the Bisons into the hole 7-0 with 9:12 showing on the clock.

Following the touchdown, the Bulldogs forced the Bisons to punt and the Texans started a drive from their own 44 that took them all the way to the Bison eight-yard line. On second down on the Harding seven, the Bison defenders broke through to nail Washington for a 5-yard loss to the 11. Looking for a receiver, Washington was forced out of the pocket on the next play and a host of Bisons ran him down for a whopping eight-yard loss to push the Bulldogs out of touchdown range. A 20-yard field goal attempt on fourth down went wide to frustrate the Texans with 2:41 left in the first quarter.

The Bulldogs got back on the scoreboard again early in the second quarter when Washington broke loose on a 30-yard scamper to the Harding 22. After halfback Charles Frank gained eight yards, Washington found Brock Kalmbach open on the four-yard line and he plunged into the end zone for the score. Keller booted the PAT with 12:50 left in the half.

The Bisons twice denied the visitors in the second quarter, once on a spectacular diving interception by Robert Akin on the Harding 42, and once more on a defensive stand at the Harding 18 with time running out in the half. Texas Lutheran had cranked up a sustained attack to move down to the Harding 10, but were faced with a fourth and one before calling time-out. Hoping to add a third score, Washington went back again to pass but Bison noseguard Robert Bridges burst through to dump the quarterback for a two-yard loss to turn the ball over to the Bisons and extinguish the threat.

Junior Joe David Smith will carry much of the load tomorrow in the Bison homecoming game.

Texas Lutheran kept up the pressure when Balinas took the first snap of the second half for a 25-yard gainer to the Texas 43. After Balinas carried once more for 11 yards, tight end Steve Rubinski, running from the halfback position, popped up the middle then veered to the left for a 30-yard gain to the Bison four. Two plays later Franka punched it over from the one for the Bulldogs' third score of the evening, with 11:31 left in the third period.

Both teams fought on even terms for most of the second half until a pitch back on a reverse from Steve Peeples to Joe David Smith went astray, bounding back into Bison territory. Noseguard Augustus Matthews fielded the pigskin on the bounce about the Harding 46 and ran it in all the way for the score. Reserve quarterback Neal Miller then passed to John Thomas for the two point conversion to push the Bulldogs in from 28-0 with 6:32 showing.

Sophomore Steve Peeples refused to allow the Bisons to go down without a fight and directed Harding to a touchdown just before the game ended. In Texas territory on the 38, Peoples fired a perfect bomb to Smith who ran through a host of defenders to the 10-yard line, then scooted into the end zone for the score. Randy Jones' conversion was good, but a holding penalty wiped it out and moved the ball back to the 18. A subsequent attempt was just off to the right.
Marshall Grate and the Harding cross country team ran away with top honors as the Bisons captured their third consecutive NAIA District 17 championship in competition last week at the Searcy Country Club. The Bison runners grabbed five of the top nine positions to easily outdistance second place Ouachita Baptist with 62. In addition Harding's sixth and seventh runners finished in the 12th and 15th spots to insure the victory. While the Bisons were adding another trophy to their string of titles, Grate became the first Harding runner to ever win the NAIA 17 individual title. The sophomore from Waterloo, Indiana, recorded an excellent time of 25:52 over a tough five-mile course to whips his nearest competitor, Kerry Barnett of Arkansas Tech, by thirteen seconds.

Displaying an abundance of depth, Harding had one of every other runner at the finish in the top ten. Freshman Phil Hostetler ran 26:21 to take the third position while junior Kent Johnson was finishing fifth with a 26:30 effort. Mark Galeazzi came in seventh with a 26:36 clocking and Pat Cronin had his best performance of his career as he finished ninth with a time of 27:01.

The Bisons' only senior on the squad, Curt Wiederspahn, finished 12th with a 27:19 performance, and sophomore Joe Shepherd put the finishing touches on the lopsided victory by placing 15th with a time of 27:37.

Head coach Ted Lloyd, obviously pleased with the meet's results, remarked, "We had one of the best team efforts that I have seen in a long time. We have not scored under 30 points in a major meet in several years."

"Several of our boys had their best meets of the year and we're anxious to go for the AIC title this year," Lloyd further added. "The course will be much flatter and I expect the times to be much faster."

Taking the third place in the team standings was Henderson State University with 89, followed by Arkansas Tech with 106, Southern State 113, Arkansas-Pine Bluff 139, John Brown University 141, Hendrux 214, and College of the Ozarks 241.

Harding has won all three NAIA 17 meets since its inception in 1973 and with all but one runner returning next year, prospects for a fourth championship in 1978 appear good. The Bisons travel to Conway today to defend their AIC title that they have won for the past four years. After today's meet, the runners will enter the NAIA national championships in Salina, Kansas, on November 15.

Women's volleyball records heavy enrollment response

Shamblin's "A" volleyball team outscored Zeta Rho in two closely fought games Monday night. Both teams were supported by excited fans and the teams were so evenly matched that until the last few minutes of the game was it possible to determine a winning team.

"We have in club volleyball teams this year which is about 15 more than we had last year. This is mainly due to the addition of "D" teams. Since we have so many teams it will take longer to finish the play-offs. We may have to play volleyball after Christmas break," states Barbara Barnes, Director of Women's Club and Intramural Competition.

"So far I feel the club games have gone very well," adds Mrs. Barnes.

Results of other "A" team games were: Kappa Phi over Ko Jo Kai, Delta Theta defeating Regina, Jo Go Ju over Phi Delta, Theta Psi defeating Tri Sigma, and Zeta Phi outscoring Kappa Delta.

Minor "A" teams have finished the second round of play. In the Major "A" teams Gata and Kappa Phi remain undefeated.
