Student ticket sales must cover expenses of Carpenters concert

by Doug Hennesen

The Carpenters, modern soft-rock group, are tentatively scheduled for an Oct. 19 performance on campus if all provisions of the contract can be fulfilled and if the concert is approved by Dr. Cliff Ganne, Jr., president of the college, according to Suze Carey, Social Affairs committee chairman.

One of the main conditions of approval by President Ganne is that the concert be funded totally by the students through ticket sales. According to Dr. Jerome Barnes, faculty sponsor for the Student Association, this would be the biggest concert ever undertaken at Harding financially, ranging in the $19,000 bracket.

Miss Carey and Brandt "Bambi" Bryan, S.A. executive committee president, described the contract as being "like a book" because of its length and the details specified. Miss Carey said it would take "mostly

'R Harding Day' nets college fund $2000

Students, faculty and administrators all worked together last week to reach the goal of $2,000 to sponsor the third annual Harding Day at Pizza Hut of Searcy.

According to Steve Holder, assistant manager of Pizza Hut, there were about 1,500 to 2,000 customers. The restaurant only seats about 150 people.

"The teachers did a great job," he said.

Hammon Scholarship fund awards outstanding students

The recipients of the Charles K. Hammon scholarship fund for the 1976 fall semester have been announced by Vice-president of the college, Billy Ray Cox. They are Marshall Grate of Waterloo, Ind., Jim Coss of Little Rock, David Johnson of Gadsden, Ala., and Steve Lowell of Dover, Ark.

Grate, a junior American Studies major, received the scholarship awarded to the outstanding student in the history department. He is a member of Sigma Tau Sigma social club and the track and cross country teams.

A senior accounting and economics major, Cene, was selected as the outstanding student in the business department. He is president of the Galaxy social club, and serves as treasurer of the Student Association.

Johnson received the award as the outstanding American Studies student. He is a senior Bible and accounting major, a member of Chi Sigma Alpha social club, and serves as vice-president of the Student Association.

Cene was chosen for recognition from the journalism department. An English and journalism major, he is serving as associate editor of this year's BISON, and is a member of Alpha Phi Gamma, national journalism fraternity. He is married to the former Elizabeth Sparkman.

The scholarships are given each semester by Mrs. Charles K. Hammon of Gainesville, Fla., in memory of her late husband. In addition to providing scholarship money to the school, Mrs. Hammon was a major contributor for the Hammon Student Center.

Linda McKinney, a junior, exercises her right to vote last week at the S.A. elections for class officers and S.A. representatives.

American Studies features E.G. West

Dr. E. G. West, visiting professor of economics at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in Blacksburg, Va., presented a film and spoke Thursday night for the American Studies Program on campus.

West, who has authored several books and papers on Adam Smith, presented on his topic, "Adam Smith: A Wealth of Nations." He also showed a film which he created and wrote on the same topic.

Born and educated in England, West has written such books as "Adam Smith: The Man and His Works," "Education and Industrial Revolution," and is a frequent contributor to economic journals.

Billy Ray Cox, director of the American Studies Program, released a list of other speakers for the 1976-77 school year, and the dates of their campus presentations. Judge Darrel Hickman, a Harding graduate, who was recently appointed to the Arkansas Supreme Court, will speak on Oct. 12.

Following him, on Nov. 18, will be R. E. Hyde, Jr., the president of Dresser Industries of Dallas.

Economist Ben Rogge of Wabash College is the next scheduled speaker. His presentation is slated for Nov. 22.

J. H. Lamb is the scheduled date for Bob McDowell, editor of the Arkansas Democrat.

The System
Sensationalism typifies election coverage

by Steve Leavell

Only a little more than a month remains until the November general elections, and already most voters seem to be tired of the whole thing. Even the news media seems to be forced to resort to all manner of sensationalistic tactics to keep up viewer interest.

The issues of governmental reorganization, national health insurance, defense spending, and so on presumably aren't interesting enough to warrant expenditure of valuable air time. Instead, the news is filled with other "important" stories with less hard news content but more television potential.

For example, the biggest story out relating to the Ford campaign is the shocking revelation that the President spent several weekends playing golf at the expense of several large corporations while he was a congressman.

Pledge Week merits a review of attitudes

With the beginning of Pledge Week next Tuesday, some advice might be in order for those that have Pledge Week in their future.

There are misunderstandings each year between old and incoming members about the attitudes that are displayed by club members. There is a period of fun, a time when each one can laugh with others at expenditure, but already many voters seem to be tired of campaigns.

For example, the biggest story out relating to the Ford campaign is the shocking revelation that the President spent several weekends playing golf at the expense of several large corporations while he was a congressman.

Newest board members tell Harding 'ideal for education'

by Diane Mowry

Mrs. Carrie Lou Little of Ardmore, Okla., is Harding's newest board member. She is a woman to serve on the board. "Harding is great," she said. "It is the ideal educational institution." The students are "extra friendly" and the faculty is "almost like a family." It is "particularly the people from Arkansas who make me feel a part of them. I love it."

Last week, after a reception in her honor, she spoke on the subject, "I Love God," in which she urged young women to use caution in choosing a husband. Friday evening, during chapel, she spoke to the women students on the subject, "The Alabaster Box," basing it on Mark 14 and John 12.

She feels "very humble" about being a board member "among the successful businessmen and ministers." It is "A challenge" to try to do your best. "You think you have a little potential and you use it when the opportunity comes. It is a way to serve.

"It is a real honor to be selected. You receive gifts all your life but it's things like this that make you feel needed and that when you feel good, I can say something as a woman to add to the decisions that have to be made. I want to "uphold the standards of Christian education. The challenge today is to keep it on the straight and narrow." Let socialism and communism enter the picture."

"There is nothing at stake," as being a woman board member, she said, "It's what you have to offer as ideas." She wants "to do the best for the college so it can remain a Christian education institution."

Women's sports "are great" and "can be done in good numbers." Intramural physical education activities "help the mind," she said. "I love the outdoors." Among other sports, she enjoys golf, swimming, tennis, and water skiing. However, she has "not tried bowling yet."

Mrs. Little was born in Madill, Okla. Her family includes her husband, Quentin, and three grown children. She describes herself as "a housewife" and has "always taught Sunday school -- teenagers." She works with the Madison Avenue church in Ardmore.

Carrie Lou Little is on the board of Goddard Art Center in Ardmore; a board member of Ardmore Day Nursery; a board member of Southern Industries Inc., an organization for the discouraged. She is president of the Oklahoma Christian College Women's Association, which she has belonged to for 17 years. She is on the teaching staff of Pettijohn Springs Christian camp in Mounds, Okla., and has participated in gospel meeting in Scotland and London, England, in which she taught ladies Bible classes.

Perhaps much less would have been said about if it were a conventional format. Well America chosen. At any rate, the subjects that are being covered seem to have little to do with his qualifications for office.

Carter's Playboy interview, the quotes released up to now reveal nothing more than what seems to be orthodox Christian doctrine expressed in perhaps unfortunately informal terms.

Fifth Column--Candidates make sin confessions

by Steve Leavell

Recently it has been revealed that presidential candidate Jimmy Carter found himself in an interview to "Playboy" magazine in which he confessed several sins he has committed.

Unfortunately President Ford was unavailable for comment on this point since the White House secretary did admit that the President had to read a naughty word or two when he bit his head on the door of his helicopter.

All members of both houses of Congress refuse to discuss their past sins. They prefer, it seems to let things pass for itself.

In fact, the only political figure in the entire nation who would talk with us on this subject was Mr. Farley Mudwurk, the alderman from the fifth municipal district of New Racine, Wisconsin.

Fifth Column: Mr. Farley Mudwurk, do you have any outstanding vices in your past which might be of interest to our readers?

Mudwurk: Well, let's see... the most outstanding virtue that has come to my mind immediately was an incident that occurred several years ago.

Fifth Column: We were waiting for our Big Macs to be delivered, this girl who works with the hamburger and a figure like nobody's business.

Mudwurk: Then our Big Macs were ready and we had to go to the meeting.

Fifth Column: I'm sure that will be of great interest to our readers. Do you have anything further?

Mudwurk: No, not really, that's it.

EHA UPDATE -- Twelve state legislatures have recently approved the Equal Height Amendment, with a host battle currently being waged in Texas. Only twenty-five more states are necessary.

Public support for the measure has been running high. So far, Fifth Column has received very little comment against the amendment aside from the usual unsigned letters.

We still extend our invitation to any qualified opponent of the Equal Height Amendment who might want to use this space as a platform for the presentation of his ideas.
Workshop scheduled for Oct. 5; 'Role-playing' named as theme

by Diane Morey

"Insight Through Role-playing" will be the theme of a workshop to be held 'puea, Oct. 5, in the Bernard Polyan Auditorium, according to Dr. Bill Verker, chairman of the sociology department.

Role-playing is "acting out some of the 'games' people play according to Dr. Eric Berne and others," Verker said. The purpose is to help people gain insight into their relationships with other people and any problems they may have in social interaction. The workshop will be related to classes in human relations skills conducted last year by Mrs. Verker.

At 9 a.m. the program will begin with life games, general games that people play. These include "Alcoholic" and "Kick Me.", At 10 a.m. and 12:30 Marital and Sexual games will be presented. These include "Let's You and Him Fight," and "Look How Hard I've Tried." "Blimsh" and "Schemel," are examples of party games, to be presented at 1:30. At 2:30 Consulting Room and Underworld games will include "Stupid," "Wooden Leg," and "Cops and Robbers."

The last category, religious games, is at 3:30 and will include "Now I've Got You, You Have," "I Can Forgive Your Everything But," and "The Devil Made Me Do It." Programs may be obtained in advance at the Social Services department in the Student Services building.

Sponsored by the Department of Sociology and Social Work and the Behavioral Science Club, the workshop is open to all students and the community. There will be a charge of one dollar per person. This is to help defray expenses for the psychotherapy workshop to be held Oct. 26, according to Verker.

"Psychotherapy is a therapeutic technique which allows an individual to gain insight into his problems and work them out through role playing of particular situations which disturb him," Verker said.

It will be presented by Professor Joe Hart of the University of Arkansas graduate school of social work in Little Rock. Dr. Hart has taught at twenty different institutions, including Oxford and the Vienna Academy of Medicine. The psychotherapy workshop, which usually costs "from 60 to 120 dollars per person to participate," will be free for students.

Foundation will award 95-105 fellowships

Danforth plans for 1977 graduate fellowships

Information about the Danforth Graduate Fellowships, which will be awarded by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, March 1977, may be obtained from Dr. James F. Carr, Jr., the Foundation’s campus representative.

The fellowships are open to all qualified persons who have serious interest in careers of teaching in colleges and universities, and who plan to study for a Ph.D. in any field of study common to the undergraduate liberal arts curriculum in the United States, according to Dr. Carr.

Approximately 60-65 fellowships will be awarded to seniors and recent graduates who are considered “Early Entry” applicants in the program. Another 35-40 awards will be made to post baccalaureate persons who are called “Late Entry” applicants and who apply directly to the Foundation. Preference is given in the “Early Entry” component to persons under 30 years of age and in the “Late Entry” component to persons 30-40 years of age.

Applicants for the Early Entry awards may not have undertaken any graduate or professional study beyond the baccalaureate and must be nominated by Laison Officers of their undergraduate institutions by November 15, 1976. The Danforth Foundation does not accept direct applications for the Early Entry Fellowships.

The Danforth Graduate Fellowship is a one-year award but is normally renewable until completion of the advanced degree or for a maximum of four years of graduate study. Fellowships are based on individual need, but they will not exceed $2275 for single fellows and $2450 for married fellows for the academic year, plus dependency allowances for children. The fellowship also covers required tuition and fees.

The Danforth Foundation, established by the late Mr. and Mrs. William H. Danforth in 1927, is a national, educational, philanthropic organization, dedicated to enhancing the humane dimensions of life. Activities of the Foundation emphasize the theme of improving the quality of teaching and learning.

The Foundation serves the following areas: higher education nationally through sponsorship of staff-administered programs; precollege education nationally through grant-making and program activities; and urban affairs in St. Louis through grant-making and program activities.

The science club is planning other film showings throughout the year, and will sponsor a variety of speakers, according to Dr. Harmon Brown, faculty sponsor. Other activities planned are fall and spring field trips.

Booming 845 students this fall, the largest ever in Harding's history. The statistics also show a large number of transfers in the upperclassmen figures, with 52 new sophomores this year, and 96 new juniors.

With the rise in the number of students this year we have 47 students representing 19 foreign countries. This year, as in every year, the increase in the number of students has caused an increase in the overcrowded boarding conditions. The number of boarding women this semester is 1,171, and the number of boarding men is 1,013.

According to Ike Hamilton, director of housing, crowded living conditions have risen considerably compared to the fall of '70. Last fall, in the women's dorm, Cathcart housed only 14 over the normal capacity load, compared to this year's 46 overload. The men are also feeling the squeeze, with Armstrong housing 88 men over its capacity load, compared to last fall's overload of 21.

Bisons host HSU Saturday: first AIC encounter

by Buzz Ball

Harding’s toughest football game of the season could very well take place this Saturday when the Bisons entertain the nationally ranked Henderson State Reddies in an AIC battle at Alumni Field.

Henderson, currently ranked 6th in the NAIA, bombed the Arkansas State Wonderboys 24-6 in last Saturday’s game. In that ball game the Reddies accumulated over 220 yards while allowing the Wonderboys a mere 98 yards.

Henderson is led by All-AIC quarterback Bo Atkinson who led the AIC last year in field goals, PAT’s, and punting. In the backfield for the Reddies are last year’s top ground gainers, Joe Smith and Curtis Brown. Brown, a 195-pound junior, was the AIC’s leading rusher in 1975. Smith was top ground gainer in 1974 but did not play last year due to knee injury.

While the Reddies are flying high after their conquest of Ark. Tech, the Bisons will be trying to bounce back from the loss to Washburn University last week. Once again, turnovers were hazardous to the Herd as they lost four fumbles and had two passes intercepted. On two occasions turnovers enabled the Ichabods to score.

The Bisons defeated the Ichabods everywhere but on the scoreboard as they accumulated 386 yards while containing Washburn to 109. In the first down department, Harding had 21 to Washburn’s 14.

The secondary finally came around by allowing the Ichabods only 21 yards in the air. The Washburn team was 7-17 in the passing department.

It was a rough afternoon for Harding’s premier tailback Joe David Smith. The Washburn defense keyed on the running back all afternoon and contained him to 71 yards. But the talented back also caught eight passes for 106 yards bringing his net total to 178 yards.

The big powerhouse of the Bison team was Allan Greib who carried the ball 17 times for 87 hard-earned yards. Greib got all of his yardage up the middle breaking up the Washburn defense.

Bison signal-caller, Jeff Smith, had an excellent day as he completed 15 of 28 passes thrown for 206 yards. Smith also threw one touchdown pass. Harding drew first blood with 10:59 left in the first quarter with a field goal to make the score 3-0. Starting on their own 30, Harding got the ball down to the Washburn 13 in 10 plays. David Skelton then kicked a 34 yard field goal.

Washburn came right back by recovering a Harding fumble on the Bison 7 in two plays. Mike Grogan hit the ball to the Harding one and Jim Redden then bulldozed his way through the Harding line for the first six-pointer of the afternoon. Mike Cassin added the extra point making the score 7-3 ending the first period.

In the second quarter, Harding took the ball on their own 26 yard line, Greib ran for seven yards before J.D. Smith took the ball to the 36 for the first down. Smith then faded back and rifled the ball to Eric Whiteley who went to the Ichabod 27. Greib then carried to the 27 for another first down.

Once again, Smith went back and threw to Whiteley who caught the ball and went out-of-bounds on the nine. A five-yard penalty and a three-yard gain by J.D. Smith moved the ball to the one. J.D. Smith then burst through the line to paydirt with 12:52 left in the half. The kick by Skelton was good making the score 10-7 with the Bisons on top.

The last time Harding scored was with 23 seconds left in the half. Tim Towns intercepted a Ichabod pass on the Washburn 22.

Bison tailback Joe David Smith sweeps left against a Washburn defender for a couple yards. Smith gained 11 yards on the ground and also caught eight passes.

Every year, hundreds of thousands of Americans die needlessly from heart disease, strokes and kidney failure. Many more are crippled for life. They didn’t know they had High Blood Pressure.

But treating High Blood Pressure is usually as simple as taking a pill every day. And you can lead a longer, healthier life.

So when you finish reading this, see a doctor or visit your drugstore.

TNT, Theta Tau capture respective softball crowns

by Doug Henseman

Large club TNT, spurred on by last week's upset of defending champion Alpha Tau, captured the "A" team crown with a 4-1 win over Galaxy and Theta Tau. Delta walked away undefeated with an 11-3 victory over Lambda Sigma, in small club play.

In a defensive battle second to none, Galaxy was set down in order in the first and seventh innings while TNT could manage only a first and fifth inning scoring drive.

After holding Galaxy scoreless in the first, TNT opened with singles by Gary Rhodes and John Black who both scored with help from Phil McCormick's sacrifice single and Charlie Rambarger's sacrifice fly.

Galaxy appeared to threaten in the second when David Morris advanced to third on Eugene Prescott. However, Rick Work flied to TNT second baseman Bob Fowler for the third out.

TNT couldn't seem to keep their momentum going as they were allowed only one hit in the second and that was due to fielder's choice. Galaxy, however, couldn't take advantage of the slump by TNT as they weren't without a hit in the third, although they stepped a potential TNT scoring threat with two outs when Galaxy third baseman Mark Miles fielded the ball and stepped on third for the force out.

Momentum switched in the fourth, however, as David Morris blasted a homer and Galaxy set down TNT in order to finish the inning.

It was short lived, though, since TNT gave up no hits in the fifth and took advantage of three Galaxy errors to boost their score up two more runs in the bottom of that inning.

TNT pulled off a double play in the top of the sixth to end any serious Galaxy threat and take the win, 6-3.

With that lightning quick outfield of Kevin Fisher, Vince Adams, Tim McElroy and David Summitt, Theta Tau forced Lambdas into 13 outs-by-flies in their march to victory.

Lambdas appeared to hold their own when they retaliated to Tau's opening two-run lead with two runs of their own in the bottom of the first. However, they were set down in order in the second, and were allowed only two singles in the third, and one in the fourth.

Meanwhile, Theta Tau responded with David Summitt's homer in the second and, although held scoreless in the third, had a big three-hit, two-run fourth inning.

Holding Theta Tau scoreless in the fifth, Lambdas put together a three-hit, one-run rally of their own with two outs but sputtered in the final two innings and fell short, as Theta Tau split the game open with a six-run sixth inning to ice it away, 11-3.

Large club "B" team action saw defending champion TNT bow to Alpha Tau, 10-6, in the championship game.

Chi Sig's "C" team let a 10-1 second inning lead slip from their fingers as Sub T came from behind to win, 13-11, in an extra inning.

The all-sports trophy
by Jim Warren
The 1975 season is over! Initial blood has been drawn in the annual all-sports trophy race and Alpha Tau and Theta Tau have forged into the lead.

For the fourth straight season, the Alpha Tau and Theta Tau, the most efficient freshmen, blessed with that inherent quality marked by questioning and confusion (commonly known as "freshmen"), shall explain.

The all-sports trophy is awarded to the large and small clubs in both the "A" and "B" divisions that accumulate the greatest number of points over the year through each course of sports activities (softball, football, basketball, swimming and track).

Points are awarded in each sport according to the clubs’ finish in double elimination, round-robin tournaments.

The point system and the sports program were set up on the basis of a 1973 poll of Harding’s main students conducted by Cecil Beck, the men’s intramural director.

Last year’s champions were Alpha Tau (large club “A”), Theta Tau (large club “A”), Sub-Tau and Alpha Tau (large club “B”)

The point totals following softball are unofficially as follows: (large club “A”) Alpha Tau-10, Theta Tau-9, Alpha Omega-8, Theta Tau-2, Kappa Sigma-6, Sub-Tau-6, Alpha Tau-5, Mohican-6, Sub-Tau-5, Chi Sig-5, Kappa Sigma-4, small club “A”) Theta Tau-10, Lambda-8, Alpha Omega-7, Chi Sig-6, Kappa Sigma-5, Mohican-4, small club “B”) Alpha Tau-10, TNT-9, Alpha Gamma-7, Sub-Tau-6, Chi Sig-5, Kappa Sigma-5, Mohican-4, Theta Tau-4, Kappa Sigma-4, Alpha Omega-6.

Next, the clubs prepare for the killer of all sports — rag tag football — as Searcy Crushes and Bandages Inc. begins to run 12-13-14, anticipating an upsurge in business.

The New Guy On The Block
In the Bisons’ presumed superiority, a large club athlete, over small club athletics, many on campus are beginning to murmur seditive statements that TNT’s conquest of Galaxy might not be too far for the championship of Harding College.

Chief among these rebels of the system are members of small club champ Theta Tau, who have yet to be defeated this year.

Blessed with a strong hitting team, the Big Blue include two of the AIC’s standout baseball performers in third baseman Ordis Copeland (the AIC’s leading hitter) and short fielder Vince Adams (the AIC homerun king).

In addition, Tau boasts an outstanding hometown connection in shortstop Craig Ireland and second sacker Tommy Mitchell.

With no apparent weakness in the hitting lineup and an outstanding defensive front, Theta Tau could be possibly more than any club on campus could handle.

When questioned about the possibility of a match between the two clubs, Coach Fleck expressed no objections as long as the clubs did this on their own time and effort.

He feared “a precedent” might be set concerning matching up large and small clubs which could injure the present club setup, noting “two out of ten times the large club is going to win in a normal situation.”

But, as TNT — with everything to lose and nothing to gain — must realize, this is not a normal situation.

Bison offense leads AIC

Harding College is leading the AIC in total offense by more than 80 yards per game according to official conference statistics released Monday.

In three games the Bisons have racked up an average of 311.7 yards per game, while the ground attack has averaged 172.7 yards through the air for a total of 484.4 yards. The next closest competitor is Henderson College, averaging 326.7 yards per game.

Individually, Bison tailback Joe David Smith leads the AIC in rushing with 331 yards on 45 carries. He has also scored 6 touchdowns to rank him fifth in scoring in the NAIA.

Senior quarterback Jeff Smith, also of Harding, leads the conference in passing and total offense. He has completed 50 of 66 attempts for 461 yards and two touchdowns. Overall he has 599 yards.

There is a sport that requires more stamina and discipline than football, more coordination than basketball, as much speed as track, and is almost as rough as rugby.

The sport is soccer, claiming more worldwide followers than any other type of athletics and quickly working itself into the mainstream of American sport fanaticism.

This particular fanaticism is beginning to trickle into the blood of a number of Harding students, who are devoting an hour every Sunday afternoon to playing soccer.

Although the main objective of the soccer club is found in the pure enjoyment of beating your brains out trying to get a ball into a rectangular goal, there are some ulterior plans.

Under the unofficial direction of assistant coach and freshman Tim Curtis, the club has approached the Harding administration in hopes of becoming officially sanctioned by the college.

To become sanctioned, the club must first draw up a constitution stating clear cut purposes and objectives of the club, Curtis said, commenting on the administration’s response.

Curtis said the club was not yet ready to undertake these requirements, however; “Right now we are going to just play... trying to get all the guys together that we can,” he continued. “Eventually we might be ready to play other schools and teams, but right now we’re just waiting.”

The participation in the first three practices has averaged around 20 people according to Curtis’ estimations.

Soccer offers a unique variation to most American sports, because no times are offered during play, demanding rugged endurance by the participants.

Anyone interested in playing is invited to attend one or more of these Sunday marathons at 1:30 on the intramural field behind Kellar dorm.
