Dear Dyrel:

I am so happy that you felt disposed to write me about my younger brother. Even though I have taken sometime in answering your letter, I do want you to know that I consider it a wonderful gesture on your part.

I have talked with my mother about this situation. Due to my brother's conservations and letters she seems convinced that he is regularly attending a small congregation somewhere in the area. I am writing Jimmy to directly encourage him. It is of interest that in the past he has always shown great interest in the Church even when his interest lagged in school matters, etc.

It was a joy to work with you this summer and to come to know you as a warm personal friend. Please feel free to advise me of any further knowledge you may acquire about this matter. I send you my very best regards.

Fraternally yours,

John Allen Chalk
