Dear Brother Chalk:

Yours of January 3rd was very encouraging. For which I wish to thank you very kindly. I shall be glad to meet you on the morning of January 21, at whatever place you may suggest, and at whatever time. Perhaps on David Lipscomb College campus or at the Gospel Advocate Office. We can then lunch together and arrange a conference with Brother Goodpasture. Perhaps a note from you to him, telling him of your plans to be in Nashville on this date would assist in getting an appointment with him, if you should think it necessary.

Because of the many requests which I am receiving from time to time, one from a fellowpreacher in California this week, for the pictures which I have had drawn I am anxious to also produce and publish, or have published a spiral-bound volume of pictures of all the symbols in the Revelation and make them available to the brotherhood. I have already mentioned this to Brother Goodpasture and found him very responsive to the idea. We might want to consider this work also, along with the other publication.

Write me as to your preference of time and place for our meeting and I will, if not hindered, make it a point to be there.

I trust that your work is still pleasant and profitable. I was glad to learn of your college work, especially the teaching. I received an offer yesterday for an assistant professorship in a fairly good college; but had decline it on account of other committments.

With continued respect and good wishes, I am,

Fraternally yours,

W. S. Thompson
