Dear John Allen:

Hello, somewhere on the road to Abilene. Hope you made it back alright. Bet that you remember dear ole Petrolia, and this weekend. Car breaks down, then no supper and then car trouble going back. Sounds like my luck.

Enclosed is a token of appreciation for coming. Wish it could have been enough to cover expenses, but guess the elders weren't moved by your statement of faith. Hope they didn't stick you too much in Albany.

Sure did enjoy having you to speak to us, but am afraid they may not like my style of preaching after hearing you. I certainly did enjoy it and would like to have you around for a while to try your luck with them. I have listened to your sermon twice since then so maybe it will help me some.

Know you are busy on the papers and trying to get through so I won't trouble you with long letters and questions. I do want to say thanks again for coming, it was a real pleasure to have you.

In Christian love,

You forgot the papers on Chalk's Book Service.

Know you enjoyed getting back so early.
