2-2-1990

The Bison, February 2, 1990

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.harding.edu/thebison

Recommended Citation
Perspectives

World

Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev denied a report on Wednesday that he was considering resigning as head of the Communist Party. The Cable News Network made the announcement Tuesday, quoting a Communist Party official. Within minutes, calls were coming in for confirmation.

Nation

In his first State of the Union address, President Bush declared a new era in the world's affairs and unveiled a plan for deeper cutbacks in U.S. and Soviet troop numbers in Europe. Bush also announced that by the end of February the remaining troops in Panama would be pulled.

State

Attorney General Steve Clark made an apology Wednesday for the expense account errors of $3,951.29. Clark reimbursed the state.

Campus

The Student Association Valentine Party will be held on the 14th in the Student Center from 8:00-10:00 p.m.

Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" will be presented by the National Theatre's National Players company in the Benson Auditorium on Feb. 15. The company is America's longest running classical. The play will start at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $1.00 for students and $2.00 for adults.

Politics

Politics

Dr. Jimmy Carr shakes hands with Democratic Congressional candidate Ray Thornton. Thornton visited the student center Monday before going on to the rest of his campaign trail.

Sports

Huffers leave for Europe... p. 5

Time of Day discontinued... p. 8

UCA downs Bisons... p. 9

Sugar Bears over Lady Bisons... p. 10

---

Politics

Politics

by Michael Johnson

Ray Thornton, Democratic candidate for Second District Congress, was on the Harding campus Monday, Jan. 29, talking to students and faculty about his campaign. Thornton, a Conway resident, was on the campaign trail last week visiting places in White, Lonoke, and Pulaski Counties.

Thornton is so far unopposed for the Democratic nomination for Congress. He said he will continue to run a positive campaign even if he has opposition in the Democratic Primary held on May 20.

If elected, Thornton spoke of two major problems that he would like to solve if in office. One he said was "the erosion of values in the country." He went on to say he would work hard to "bring back the values of honesty, integrity, and hard work to the office." Thornton said the other problem was the lack of jobs in the state of Arkansas. He said he did not want young people to leave the state in search for jobs; he wants them to stay in Arkansas.

Thornton started his political career as Arkansas' Attorney General in 1979 to 1982. He then won the election as the Fourth District Congressman and served from 1973 to 1979. While in office, he served as the Chairman of the Science and Technology Committee from 1973 to 1978. Thornton has introduced legislation such as the Agriculture and Education Act of 1977. This legislation researched alternative fuels that the country could use. He also set up the National Center for Toxicology, which deals with the study of peacetime problems of the use and controls of poison.

Thornton, who is a member of the Sixth and Elrod Church of Christ, does have certain ties to Harding University. His sister, Betty Ulrey, is a teacher and the Chairperson of the White County Committee to Elect Thornton. Thornton has been on Harding's President's Development Council for the past 20 years. A number of those years he served as the Council's President.

Thornton said he always enjoys talking to the students and faculty at Harding. He invites everyone to a reception on his behalf at King's Inn in Searcy on Feb. 17, from 6:30 to 8:30 to come talk and get to know him better.

Congressman Tommy Robinson paid a brief visit to Harding's campus last Friday afternoon.

Robinson was in town promoting his candidacy for state governor. He also joined Sheffield Nelson at the Source Country Club for a program to support the Republican party.

Robinson was to arrive at the Hammond Student Center at 3:30 p.m., but due to a mix-up, he arrived earlier than expected. Therefore, Robinson's visit was not covered by the press.
Harding marriages

Many people view Harding as the place to go to find a mate. Such a reputation is well-deserved. In fact, a dean said the number of married students at Harding is more than one, and less than a million.

Last semester, about 375 students registered as "mar­ried"; not counting HSBS students — most of which are married. "Yes, to learn, you must test what you're taught. But, you are scared now. Let's leave!"

Do the pros outweigh the cons? What's it like to be married and still in school? Getting married while going through school definitely has its pluses."

"Instead of taking forty-five minutes to run in the cafeteria and eat, it takes two and a half hours; because you have to fix it, eat it, and clean it up," said Kelley. Every married student interviewed recommended marriage. This response probably had nothing to do with the fact that their spouse was in the room (heavy sarcasm).

Tanja Shackelford expressed the sentiments of most married students when she described her still-in-school marriage as, "definitely has its pluses."

Red Light District is an eye-opener

People are everywhere! Lights are flashing. The ding of a tram's bell warns pedestrians to clear the track sounds off sporadically. The wind is ice. Even long-johns can't keep the cold out.

"Hello! I'm Kristin Webb. Welcome to the Red Light District."

"It's a 50/50 shot. I'll get hit by a truck."

"I'm scared. But we're here to be educated. I'm finished learning. Let's leave and never come back."

That's why I'm here... to learn.

OK, the drug stories are true. Three offers in less than five minutes must be a record of some sort; or is it? Where are the police? Even the guys are scared now. Let's leave!

Wait a minute. We have to go back. I didn't see the drug stories are true. Three offers in less than five minutes must be a record of some sort; or is it? Where are the police? Even the guys are scared now. Let's leave!

"The drug stories are true. I didn't see the drug stories are true. Three offers in less than five minutes must be a record of some sort; or is it? Where are the police? Even the guys are scared now. Let's leave!

This time it's easy to find. Is that good? For me to be able to lead others there for an education? Should I go back.

Eternal loveliness in the unending cold expanses of the infinite frigid waste."

The singular beauty and glory of God, created in reason, not by luck of chance, spanning endlessly, seemingly effortlessly and alone in space.

On this blue sphere which we call Earth. Solely did God life create, verses and images, the universe.

Lonely in space's emptiness will forever and forever after broadcast its beauty, its hue throughout and beyond the darkness and decay for all to view.

by Dennis Mann
Fewer men than women are enrolled in college

(CPS) -- For the first time ever, more women than men are attending college, the U.S. Department of Education reported in mid-January.

The number of women registered for classes on the nation's campuses has almost doubled since 1970, the Education Department report, "Fall Enrollment in Institutions of Higher Education, 1987," found.

In 1987, there were 6.8 million women enrolled, compared to 5.9 million men, the report added.

"There's a greater independence among women now," explained Donna Shavluk of the American Council on Education's office of Women in Higher Education.

In the past, men outnumbered women in college, with 1516 E. RACE
SEARCY
1987: 2.7 million women compared to 3.7 million men.

In 1987, women numbered 6.8 million, men numbered 5.9 million.

The report credits this trend to increased women's involvement in education and society. It also notes the importance of education for both men and women.

Jan.-Feb. 1990 Special

FREE PERSONALIZED NAPKINS
With Your Invitation Order from the Masterpiece Wedding Collection

MASTERPIECE STUDIES
10% Discount on Wedding Order with Harding Student ID

HARDING PRESS
300 S. Remington
(Southwest Corner of Campus)
Phone: 279-4341

ARTISTIC FLORIST
& GIFTS

268-4333 10% HU Discount
1012 S. Main Street
Harding students take over
by Sheila McFall
from staff writer

Do you ever stop and think how a teacher learned to teach? Most people think teachers were just born with a book in one hand and a piece of white chalk in the other. But there are several students on this campus that will tell you different.

These people are education majors. There is not just one kind of teacher but three. There are the elementary majors, secondary majors, and the special education majors. But there are also education majors, and the special education majors. They all have one thing in common, student teaching, which is a basic requirement for all teaching majors to complete before they walk across that Benson stage to receive their piece of paper that allows them to be able to teach.

After 15% of years of being a student the role changes, a student becomes a teacher but this transformation does not just happen overnight. Many hours of studying, coloring, pasting, and listening are compiled before the last final is taken. Before the actual student teaching takes place each person has to go through what is called the "block." This is where the student comes up with full-fledged lesson plans, units, bulletin boards, and science projects. Cindy Mayfield, a senior elementary education major, said, "The block has been an experience that has tried my endurance and patience, but it also has given me a taste of reality." After each student completes his or her six hours of block in five weeks, they are hopefully ready for the real classroom with real students.

Alicia Brown, who is also a senior elementary education major, will be doing her student teaching at West Point Elementary in White County. The first day she visited the appointed school she said, "it made her eager to have her own classroom. Student teaching promises to be a very valuable experience for me as a future teacher."

The time spent in the classroom is precious to student teachers because they start to realize the awesome task that lies before them. They no longer are sitting in class listening; they are the ones standing up in front of a class filled with students listening to them and watching what they do. Hard work is one adjective to describe what a teaching major goes through during his or her preparation for teaching. So, if you see education majors frantic or in deep despair because they have not finished their reading unit or bulletin board, give them a hug or a simple smile. After all, they are the future teachers that will be molding our future by teaching young minds.

Students snowed by Blizzard of Bucks
by Carmella Bandy
from staff writer

"Blizzard" will hit the Harding campus tonight. "Blizzard of Bucks," a crazy game show, that is. "Blizzard of Bucks" is appearing for the first time at Harding University. The game show will be 90 minutes in length and will feature the "Incredible Money Machine," filled with $300 in cash and "bucks."

The game will work like this: three groups of four contestants will be selected by drawing during the show. These groups, pent

After each contestant completes his or her six hours of block in five weeks, they are hopefully ready for the real classroom with real students.

Alicia Brown, who is also a senior elementary education major, will be doing her student teaching at West Point Elementary in White County. The first day she visited the appointed school she said, "it made her eager to have her own classroom. Student teaching promises to be a very valuable experience for me as a future teacher."

The time spent in the classroom is precious to student teachers because they start to realize the awesome task that lies before them. They no longer are sitting in class listening; they are the ones standing up in front of a class filled with students listening to them and watching what they do. Hard work is one adjective to describe what a teaching major goes through during his or her preparation for teaching. So, if you see education majors frantic or in deep despair because they have not finished their reading unit or bulletin board, give them a hug or a simple smile. After all, they are the future teachers that will be molding our future by teaching young minds.

Students snowed by Blizzard of Bucks
by Carmella Bandy
from staff writer

"Blizzard" will hit the Harding campus tonight. "Blizzard of Bucks," a crazy game show, that is. "Blizzard of Bucks" is appearing for the first time at Harding University. The game show will be 90 minutes in length and will feature the "Incredible Money Machine," filled with $300 in cash and "bucks."

The game will work like this: three groups of four contestants will be selected by drawing during the show. These groups, pent

After each student completes his or her six hours of block in five weeks, they are hopefully ready for the real classroom with real students.

Alicia Brown, who is also a senior elementary education major, will be doing her student teaching at West Point Elementary in White County. The first day she visited the appointed school she said, "it made her eager to have her own classroom. Student teaching promises to be a very valuable experience for me as a future teacher."

The time spent in the classroom is precious to student teachers because they start to realize the awesome task that lies before them. They no longer are sitting in class listening; they are the ones standing up in front of a class filled with students listening to them and watching what they do. Hard work is one adjective to describe what a teaching major goes through during his or her preparation for teaching. So, if you see education majors frantic or in deep despair because they have not finished their reading unit or bulletin board, give them a hug or a simple smile. After all, they are the future teachers that will be molding our future by teaching young minds.

We have a Sweetheart of a deal for you.

The personal Portrait Valentine Only $7.90
JAN. 25- FEB. 10
price includes sitting portrait, card & envelope

GEORGE DILLIN
PHOTOGRAPHY INC
by Appointment 268-9304
1407 East Moore Avenue
SEARCY, ARKANSAS 72143

Try Sending a rose.

WE DELIVER!
Corner Gift Shop
On campus... 297 East Market

A CAT NAP
(photograph by Wayne Westerkok, Photography Editor)
HUF students leave campus with mixed emotions

The 1990 H.U.F. group left at 9:45 Wednesday morning with anticipation to begin their three month-long spring semester at Harding University in Florence, Italy.

This year’s group totaled 40 students, including two students from Auburn and Abilene Christian University, Robert Shackelford and Dr. Pat Gardner, along with their families, also accompanied the “Huf­fers.”

Their trip will take one day total. After the bus ride to Memphis, Tenn., they will board a plane routing them through Atlanta, Ga., before landing in Amsterdam on Thursday morning at 9:00 a.m.

While at H.U.F. each student will be required to take 12 to 16 hours depending on their own preference. Along with their chosen courses they must take Italian, Humanities 260, and Bible 313. Other courses will be taught through traveling and sightseeing. Another requirement in order to go to Italy is a G.P.A. of 2.0 and a minimum of 27 credit hours.

Some of the places that the students will be touring are Amsterdam, Florence, Rome, Berlin, and Athens, along with many optional trips.

When asked about some of the students’ reactions on going to H.U.F., Chantelle Bequette summed it up best by saying, “I’ve wanted to go since seventh grade and now it’s really happening.”

The group is expected to return to the United States on May 9, 1990.

Judds tickets are still on sale in the Student Affairs Office from Steve Belieich. Tickets are $15.00 with an I.D. and $16.50 without. The concert will be held Feb. 13 at the Benson Auditorium.

When you gotta study, but you gotta EAT Remember...

MAZZIO'S

NOW DELIVERS TO HARDING CAMPUS!!!

after 5:00pm

Minimum of $5.00 per order

3006 East Race

268-9888
Choral Festival

by Tamu Keglar

Last weekend the University Singers, the Harding Chorus, which are under the direction of Dr. Ganas, and the Concert Choir, under the direction of Dr. Shearin, all attended the Choral Festival. This particular festival featured many colleges from all over the nation, including York, David Lipscomb, and Northeastern. This year the Choral Festival was hosted by Abilene Christian in Abilene, Texas.

The singers began gearing up for this Festival early last August at the annual music camp which is held at Camp Tahodah. Each college who decides to attend the Festival is given five selections from which to choose. They then pick two of the musical selections to sing. The college which hosts the Festival chooses a guest clinician; this year Abilene chose their clinician from Arizona State University.

A member of the Concert Choir, said, "This Festival gives our choirs a chance to sing together with other students from colleges all over the country." After all of the colleges performed, they combined their talents and sang as one group. "I enjoyed the fact that we were all from Christian colleges, and that we all had something other than music in common," said Scott Miller.

The Choral Festival will be held at David Lipscomb University and will have the same structure as this year's Festival.

Harding students stand against DWI

by Stacey Stacey

To promote the awareness of DWI (Driving While Intoxicated), Harding University and other Arkansas colleges were drawn together to participate in a statewide competition last fall. The contest was proposed and sponsored by the Arkansas Medical Society Auxiliary.

The main facet of the contest was to select the best marketing video. The video will be presented to high schools throughout the state to raise interest in the war to stop DWI.

The program targets high school kids which, hopefully, will spread the importance of the issues the public faces from DWI.

Research revealed that Arkansas ranks among the top five states in the number of alcohol related traffic fatalities. This dubious distinction affects the families and friends of the victims, and also places a heavy burden on the taxpayers as well.

Not only will the project increase public awareness of DWI, but also show what responsibilities drunk drivers will face if they choose to endanger themselves and others.

With a budget of $5,000, a target of 10th through 12th graders, and a three month time frame, Harding’s media department took on the rest of the state to help in the battle to halt DWI.

Harding submitted two entries under the supervision of Dr. Butterfield and the communication department.

Each entry was judged by marketing media professionals. The panel included Willie Allen of Willie Allen Productions; Paul Behnke, Director of the Office on Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention; Harold Bartham from Mangan Rains Ginnaven Holcomb; and Judy Trice from the Hall High School English department.

After a long review, their decision was unanimous. The winning campaign titled, "Is Death Worth It?" submitted by Harding University students, became the first winning slogan in Arkansas to be used by the Auxiliary in their new DWI program.

Those students are Monica Bagley, Kathleen Eyma, Brian Mastburn, Paul Groenhagen, Tony Pierce, and Wade Dove.

In reward for their outstanding accomplishments, the communication department will receive $1,000 along with a formal announcement of recognition. The presentation will take place on Feb. 15 in the Governor’s room at the state capitol.

This university’s participation, as well as other schools, was greatly needed. The effort to create a winning campaign to attract state and national awareness and enlighten the communities on the problems related to DWI will increase as the students try to eliminate this dilemma.
Dreams come true for local children

by Kristin Webb

Dreams do come true. Craig Cheatham had two dreams since he came to Harding as a freshman in 1986: become S.A. president and light up the campus during the Christmas season. Both of those dreams were fulfilled this year, though Mark Moore scooped the Christmas lights idea on his own last year.

Cheatham decided to not only light up the campus better than before, but to help someone other than Harding's two favorite charities, the Brown's home and the Sunshine School. He was given a pamphlet for an organization that works on making dreams come true, called the Arkansas Children's Dreams. Big "D", Darren Bonham, was given the task to get in touch with the organization and find the name of a child we could help.

The name of a little girl was received, but the S.A. realized that there wasn't enough time to raise the money before Christmas, and one must work fast with terminally ill children. The decision was made to wait till after the holiday season and see if Harding could raise the money for another child.

Susan O'Conner, a coordinator for Arkansas Children's Dreams, gave the names of two Searcy children to Big "D" the next time he called. Three-year-old Jason Wolfe, and 12-year-old Gina McCoy shared a common dream. Both of them wanted to visit Walt Disney World in Florida. Big "D" told O'Conner that Harding could help make their dream come true.

The Systematics Company of Little Rock donated their company plane to the cause, and a few other Little Rock companies pitched in, too. Everything but money for food had been taken care of, when Harding jumped into the dreammaker role. Three hundred dollars was needed for the three-day weekend food tab.

A table was set up in the student center to collect money. Meanwhile, O'Conner paid the $300 out of her own pocket with the faith that Harding would come through, so that plans for the dream trip could be finalized. Exactly $300.00 was raised.

How did the fund come up so exact? "Actually we were about $11 short," says Cheatham, but a couple of guys pitched in the rest."

The two children and their parents left last Friday for Disney World, and the latest report said they had a blast! Mission accomplished, thanks to the many who gave. Cheatham hopes Harding will continue this service every year. Dreams can come true.
Memorial Library, has been named Harding in July.

Suzanne Spurrier, in July.

Suzanne Spurrier, circulation and technical services librarian of Beaumont Memorial Library, has been named Harding University library director effective at the retirement of the current head librarian, Winnie Bell, in July.

Suzanne Spurrier, a 1971 graduate of the university, has been a member of the Harding library staff since 1975. She holds the M.A. from West Virginia University and the M.L.S. from Indiana University.

A native of Zanesville, Ohio, Spurrier attended Ohio Valley College in Parkersburg, W. Va., before transferring to Harding. From 1971 to 1975, she taught in the Wood County West Virginia public schools.

With the appointment, Miss Spurrier will assume the responsibility of moving the entire library into a newly renovated and expanded facility on the Harding campus. The $1.6 million project was started last May at Beaumont Memorial Library when some of the 330,000 volumes were moved to the administration auditorium and the remainder were stored in a warehouse. The new building is expected to be completed for the fall semester.

The library contains 220,108 total volumes, including 181,712 books of which 22,323 are bound periodicals. The library has 95,598 microform volumes; 3,392 phonograph records in music, speech and biology; 107 filmstrips, tape reels and audiovisual kits. In a separate collection are 31,783 government documents. The library receives 1,722 periodicals and 11 daily newspapers.

The Communication Department plans to showcase the efforts of four student directors in a series of one-act plays to be presented in the coming weeks. Each of the directors were part of a play-directing class in the fall semester and the spring one-act presentations reflect their coursework.

"Overtones" will be presented Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 8 and 6. The performances are scheduled at 7:00 p.m. Dana Rogers is the director and the cast includes Elise Robinson, Maria Thomas, Dawn Cantrell, and Candy Skipworth.

John Folding will direct "Not Enough Rope." Performances are scheduled for Monday, Feb. 13, at 7:00 p.m. and Tuesday, Feb. 14, at 5:00 p.m.

The cast includes Robbie San Juan, Mavemeen Maya, and Elizabeth Wilson.

"Man in the Mirror" will be presented in late February and "Auntie" is scheduled for an early March performance.

Extra

Send the Bison Home!

Keep Mom and Dad up on the latest news. Subscriptions are only $9 for a year. Send address and check to Bison, Box 1192.

DON'T SIGN UP FOR A STUDENT LOAN UNTIL YOU SIGN UP HERE.

Check the box if you are a Federal Student Aid recipient. If you are not, this program will not apply to you.

Do You Want VISA & MasterCard Credit Cards?

This credit card is issued to you and is your personal property. Even though it is your bank card, you should treat it as you would any other credit card you carry with you.

If you lose your card, please report it immediately to the bank. The bank has the following credit card number:

SECOND IMPRESSIONS!

New arrivals: Esprit, Hang Ten, Russ, Ursula, Donna Morgan, MM Cohn

304 N. Spring, Searcy (on the court square)

Resale Shop

Why buy Retail when you can buy Resale?

Save with our half-price rack

Tuesday to Friday 10-5

Saturday 10-3

268-4700

STUDENT SERVICES

P.O. BOX 2084

HOLLYWOOD, FL 33022

YES!

I want VISA/MasterCard

VISA/MasterCard

1. (I want VISA/MasterCard)

2. I understand that if I return the credit card for any reason, it will be charged as a credit card purchase unless a written instruction is received from the holder of the card. If the card is returned, it will be charged as a credit card purchase unless a written instruction is received from the holder.

3. I understand that interest may be charged on the amount due if the card is not paid in full within 60 days.

4. I understand that if the card is not returned within 60 days, I will be charged interest on the amount due at the regular annual percentage rate charged by the bank.

5. I understand that if I fail to make the minimum required payment on the account, I will be charged a late fee of $5.00 per month, plus any other fees, and interest may also be charged.

6. I understand that if I do not return the card within 60 days, I will be charged interest on the amount due at the regular annual percentage rate charged by the bank.

7. I understand that if I fail to make the minimum required payment on the account, I will be charged a late fee of $5.00 per month, plus any other fees, and interest may also be charged.

8. I understand that if I do not return the card within 60 days, I will be charged interest on the amount due at the regular annual percentage rate charged by the bank.

9. I understand that if I fail to make the minimum required payment on the account, I will be charged a late fee of $5.00 per month, plus any other fees, and interest may also be charged.

10. I understand that if I do not return the card within 60 days, I will be charged interest on the amount due at the regular annual percentage rate charged by the bank.

11. I understand that if I fail to make the minimum required payment on the account, I will be charged a late fee of $5.00 per month, plus any other fees, and interest may also be charged.

12. I understand that if I do not return the card within 60 days, I will be charged interest on the amount due at the regular annual percentage rate charged by the bank.

13. I understand that if I fail to make the minimum required payment on the account, I will be charged a late fee of $5.00 per month, plus any other fees, and interest may also be charged.

14. I understand that if I do not return the card within 60 days, I will be charged interest on the amount due at the regular annual percentage rate charged by the bank.

15. I understand that if I fail to make the minimum required payment on the account, I will be charged a late fee of $5.00 per month, plus any other fees, and interest may also be charged.

16. I understand that if I do not return the card within 60 days, I will be charged interest on the amount due at the regular annual percentage rate charged by the bank.

17. I understand that if I fail to make the minimum required payment on the account, I will be charged a late fee of $5.00 per month, plus any other fees, and interest may also be charged.

18. I understand that if I do not return the card within 60 days, I will be charged interest on the amount due at the regular annual percentage rate charged by the bank.

19. I understand that if I fail to make the minimum required payment on the account, I will be charged a late fee of $5.00 per month, plus any other fees, and interest may also be charged.

20. I understand that if I do not return the card within 60 days, I will be charged interest on the amount due at the regular annual percentage rate charged by the bank.
Sports Scope

by David Van Burik

The National College Athletic Association Basketball Golden Rule reads: "THOU SHALT LOVE THY NEIGHBOR—ONLY IF HE PULLS FOR MY TEAM IN THE NCAA TOURNAMENT."

NCAA basketball is in high gear again, meaning tournament time is just around the corner. To the people in Las Vegas, the 64 team field means money and more money, but to the men's dormitories at Harding it represents even more: The right to mouth at your neighbor.

College basketball has a special quality that singles itself out among other sports, making it an ideal cause of war at a place like Harding where most of us come from different parts of the country. To see a group of eight to 10 guys yelling and screaming for their team in a dorm room while watching college hoops on a Saturday afternoon is a common sight. Even more common is hearing in chapel, and non-stop ridiculing from the guys in the hallway of the dorm follow you for days.

The best part of receiving is remembering. Everybody's team loses at some point in the season, leaving everyone as open game. The revenge factor always plays a big part in the giving stage of mouthing. To not mouth those that mouthed you first is a must in the dorm during college hoops season.

As the season and tournament come to an end in April, the mouthing will fade. Some of you may think that it gets out of control and that it creates a bad attitude. But for everyone involved, it is all done in fun and good taste. Besides, who could not mouth someone running down the hall with a hot head on, screaming "PUGSIE"?

HARDING POLL

NCA Division I Men's Basketball Top 25

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Points</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Missouri</td>
<td>250</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Kansas</td>
<td>249</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Michigan</td>
<td>218</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Arkansas</td>
<td>217</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. Oklahoma</td>
<td>197</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6. Georgetown</td>
<td>197</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7. Syracuse</td>
<td>180</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8. UNLV</td>
<td>173</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9. Illinois</td>
<td>165</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10. Duke</td>
<td>152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11. Purdue</td>
<td>148</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12. Dayton</td>
<td>147</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13. Louisville</td>
<td>96</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14. Arizona</td>
<td>88</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15. Loyola Marymount</td>
<td>81</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>16. Minnesota</td>
<td>75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>17. La Salle</td>
<td>64</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>18. Indiana</td>
<td>64</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>19. North Carolina</td>
<td>61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20. Michigan State</td>
<td>58</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>21. UCLA</td>
<td>55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>22. St. John's</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>23. Georgia</td>
<td>33</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>24. Texas</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25. Arizona</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Harding poll is taken each Sunday night after curfew. The panel is made up of ten students chosen by the Bison Sports Staff.

Forty-Niner Bowl

by Jon Holder

What a Super Bowl! Some fans were obviously disappointed while some had their wildest expectations surpassed. But no one could argue that the game showcased two teams whose performances were markedly different.

The San Francisco Forty-Niners extended their regular season excellence into the post-season game. The Forty-Niners' offense was timed to such precision that it seemed as if they could score at will. On the other hand, the Broncos should have just stayed in the locker room. No one could argue that the quarterbacks were two of the best to be found. While Montana and the Forty-Niner offense was almost flawless, Elway and his Bronco offense seemed to repeat last year's Super Bowl performance.

First, Elway was cold. Then when he showed signs of warming, the receivers could not catch the ball.

After all the hype, all the new commercials and all the hoopla was over, the team that knew what to do and did it went home with the trophy.

Intraturnal update

by Eric Morgan

The "A" teams in club basketball can be best defined as the elite superstars that best represent their club's talent. Altogether, there is a total of 60 teams ranging from "A to "G" in small, medium, and large clubs. Yet with all of that competition taking place in different brackets, there are three "A" teams that currently stand out as "the teams to beat" in the upcoming championship games.

In the small club race, Delta Chi Delta "A" has coasted through competition with victories, beating AGO by 34 points in their climb to the championship game. AGO's 75-31 loss could possibly bring on a rematch in the title game, provided AGO survives the next few games. Watch out for Delta Chi Delta's Cody Sipe, a talented shooter who has been known to surprise fans with a few slam dunks.

In middle "A" action, Theta Tau has been tough to beat, after wins against Chi Sigma and defending champion Kapka Psi. They show no signs of slowing down until the championship game is over.

In big "A" competition, make room for Alpha Tau. After two victories against Beta Delta and Sub Tau, they faced one more obstacle in the way of the championship game. In an exciting game, Alpha Tau edged Kapka Sigma 51-49 to advance to the final. Alpha Tau was led by freshman Marcus Dottin, who had three three-point shots for a total of 21 points. The undefeated teams now play in the championship game, which will be played in mid-February. Tomorrow's "A" games are as follows:

- Saturday, Feb. 3
- 10:00 Kings Men "A" vs. HSRS "A"
- 12:00 Alpha Tau vs. Kapka Tau "A"
- 1:00 Titan "A" vs. TNT & Sub-T "A"

Winner

2:00 Chi Sigma "A" vs. Galaxy "A"
2:00 Lambda "A" vs. Big Tau "A"
* all games in old gym

UP AND AT 'EM

Corey Camper, Harding guard, leaps for the shot in the game against Henderson State last weekend. Harding won the closely matched game.

Bears bewilder Bisons 66-63

In a game that saw both teams shoot poorly from the field, the University of Central Arkansas Bears turned back the Harding Bisons, 66-63, Monday night in the Games Athletic Center.

The loss drops the Bisons to 15-7 overall, 5-6 in Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference play. It marks the second time the Bears have defeated the Bisons this season.

"We put everything we had in it, but their athletes just wore us down," said coach Jesi Bucy said of his Bisons. "We couldn't stay with them in the end. They're a good team."

Harding trailed by one point, 31-30, at halftime, and trailed by as many as seven points in the early going of the second half. UCA's Joe Sitkowski came off the bench to hit two straight shots, giving the Bears a 39-32 lead.

Three pointers by Curtis Washington and Corey Camper brought the Bisons back within two, and Harding took a brief 55-53 lead on a Washington three-pointer with 5:49 to play.

That's when the Bears began to turn up their offense. Steven Delep, who led all scorers with 22 points, scored four points in the final two minutes to boost UCA to its win.

Afterward, Bucy noted the Bears' strategy as a key to their win.

"They made us go against the zone, which hurts us at times. We are not a great outside shooting team," he said. Harding was five of 13 on three-pointers in the game.

David James led Harding with 18 points, followed by Camper's 13. Clifton Bush supported Sitkowski with 11 points. The Bisons hit only 41 percent from the field, while the Bears shot a dismal 43 percent.

Harding's men's and women's teams are on the road Friday night against John Brown University. They host Southern Arkansas University Monday in a key ASC contest.

The Forty-Niner poll is timed to such precision that it seemed as if they could score at will. On the other hand, the Broncos should have just stayed in the locker room. No one could argue that the quarterbacks were two of the best to be found. While Montana and the Forty-Niner offense was almost flawless, Elway and his Bronco offense seemed to repeat last year's Super Bowl performance.

First, Elway was cold. Then when he showed signs of warming, the receivers could not catch the ball.

After all the hype, all the new commercials and all the hoopla was over, the team that knew what to do and did it went home with the trophy.
Lady Bisons fall to UCA, 74-65

The Harding University Lady Bisons learned a valuable lesson last night against the University of Central Arkansas Sugar Bears. Two halves make a whole, especially on the basketball court.

Poor shooting from the field in the first half spelled disaster for the Lady Bisons, as they tried to recover from a 30-percent accuracy. UCA held off a valiant rally for a 74-65 victory in the Game Athletic Center. The loss drops the Lady Bisons to 5-14 overall, 5-6 in Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference play. UCA improves to 15-6 and 6-3.

Harding's ladies traveled to Clarksville Thursday to face University of the Ozarks. Although Harding's first half shooting proved to be costly, it was the margin of free throw shots between the two teams that made the biggest difference. The Lady Bisons were whistled for 25 fouls, to only 11 for the Sugar Bears. UCA went to the free throw line 33 times, converting 25 of the shots. Harding, on the other hand, connected on three of four freebies.

The Sugar Bears kept the Lady Bisons at bay in the second half with their free throws.

David James named player of the week

Harding University guard David James has been named the NAIA District 17 Player of the Week for his play in three Bison wins last week. The announcement came from District 17 Information Director Steve Edington.

James, a 6-4, 195-pound senior from St. Louis, scored 85 points and shot 74 percent from the field to lead the Bisons to wins over Hendrix College (111-99), UA-Monticello (94-80) and Arkansas College (91-86). He averaged 28.3 points a game for the week.

From the field, James was an accurate 31 of 41, including three of five from three-point range. He connected on 30 of 35 free throws for 86 percent, and pulled down 19 rebounds, a 6.3 average. In addition, he dished out 11 assists and grabbed five steals.

An All-Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference first team selection last year, James currently is ranked sixth in the AIC in scoring with an 18.8-point average. He is also among the top 10 in the league in field goal percentage, hitting 72 of 97 shots for 73.8 percent.

The Bisons are currently 10-7 overall, 4-4 in AIC play. Thursday night the Bisons and Lady Bisons entertain Henderson State.

James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan James of St. Louis.

MEN'S A-TEAM BASKETBALL

BIG
W-ALPHA TAU
L-KAPPA SIGS, TITANS, SUB-T

MIDDLE W-THETA TAU
L-KNIGHTS, KAPPA TAU, PIKES/GALAXY,
CHI SIGS

SMALL
W-Delta, CHI
L-AGO, LAMBDAS, SIG TAU, KING'S MEN,
HSBS

Harding hit 19 more field goals in the final 20 minutes than UCA, but the Sugar Bears were 17-26 at the line during that stretch. Harding was 1-2 on free shots in the second half.

The Lady Bisons rallied from a 15-19 halftime deficit to pull within seven, 61-54, with 2:44 to play. Nancye Wilson stepped up in an offensive rebound on the play. UCA reeled off six unanswered points, however, to jump back in front 67-54. A basket by Dee Ann Waller was sandwiched between free throws by Kim Powell and Checola Seals.

Harding was able to cut the lead to eight, 69-61, on Gina Hudson's basket with 40 seconds left. That was as close as the Lady Bisons could get as the Sugar Bears hit five of seven free throws in the final 14 seconds of play.

Hudson led the Lady Bisons with 15 points, followed by Lisa Kirk's 13, Syrena Burch's 12, and Carrie White's 10. Wilson pulled down 12 rebounds for Harding. Seals led all scorers with 27, Waller scored 18, and Powell chipped in 16 for UCA.
Text Trends

(CPS) — Colleagues may soon be buying "customized" textbooks that might include bits and pieces from different books, sections of articles and even writing by their own professors if a new concept introduced by McGraw-Hill, the nation's second-biggest college text publisher, catches on.

The concept would allow professors to design their own textbooks, deleting unwanted chapters, and adding items such as personal notes, study guides and syllabi. "Textbooks," declared McGraw-Hill chairman Joseph Dionne in announcing his project, "will never be the same."

McGraw-Hill's effort effectively makes "professor publishing" legal. Students and professors often already create their own texts, assembling parts of other people's work to fit their classes, and then reproducing and binding them at campus copy shops.

However, without proper permission, the practice is illegal. The Association of American Publishers has sued Kinko's, a chain of copy shops, charging the firm has helped professors illegally reproduce copyrighted materials for their classes.

McGraw-Hill, on the other hand, would pay copyright holders and using software and typesetting technology developed for the company by Eastman-Kodak, produce better-looking, more readable texts than the homemade, photocopied versions assembled on campus.

The concept would allow professors to design their own textbooks, deleting unwanted chapters, and adding items such as personal notes, study guides and syllabi. "Textbooks," declared McGraw-Hill chairman Joseph Dionne in announcing his project, "will never be the same."

McGraw-Hill's effort effectively makes "professor publishing" legal. Students and professors often already create their own texts, assembling parts of other people's work to fit their classes, and then reproducing and binding them at campus copy shops.

However, without proper permission, the practice is illegal. The Association of American Publishers has sued Kinko's, a chain of copy shops, charging the firm has helped professors illegally reproduce copyrighted materials for their classes.

McGraw-Hill, on the other hand, would pay copyright holders and using software and typesetting technology developed for the company by Eastman-Kodak, produce better-looking, more readable texts than the homemade, photocopied versions assembled on campus.

The concept would allow professors to design their own textbooks, deleting unwanted chapters, and adding items such as personal notes, study guides and syllabi. "Textbooks," declared McGraw-Hill chairman Joseph Dionne in announcing his project, "will never be the same."

McGraw-Hill's effort effectively makes "professor publishing" legal. Students and professors often already create their own texts, assembling parts of other people's work to fit their classes, and then reproducing and binding them at campus copy shops.

However, without proper permission, the practice is illegal. The Association of American Publishers has sued Kinko's, a chain of copy shops, charging the firm has helped professors illegally reproduce copyrighted materials for their classes.

McGraw-Hill, on the other hand, would pay copyright holders and using software and typesetting technology developed for the company by Eastman-Kodak, produce better-looking, more readable texts than the homemade, photocopied versions assembled on campus.

The concept would allow professors to design their own textbooks, deleting unwanted chapters, and adding items such as personal notes, study guides and syllabi. "Textbooks," declared McGraw-Hill chairman Joseph Dionne in announcing his project, "will never be the same."

McGraw-Hill's effort effectively makes "professor publishing" legal. Students and professors often already create their own texts, assembling parts of other people's work to fit their classes, and then reproducing and binding them at campus copy shops.

However, without proper permission, the practice is illegal. The Association of American Publishers has sued Kinko's, a chain of copy shops, charging the firm has helped professors illegally reproduce copyrighted materials for their classes.

McGraw-Hill, on the other hand, would pay copyright holders and using software and typesetting technology developed for the company by Eastman-Kodak, produce better-looking, more readable texts than the homemade, photocopied versions assembled on campus.

The concept would allow professors to design their own textbooks, deleting unwanted chapters, and adding items such as personal notes, study guides and syllabi. "Textbooks," declared McGraw-Hill chairman Joseph Dionne in announcing his project, "will never be the same."

McGraw-Hill's effort effectively makes "professor publishing" legal. Students and professors often already create their own texts, assembling parts of other people's work to fit their classes, and then reproducing and binding them at campus copy shops.

However, without proper permission, the practice is illegal. The Association of American Publishers has sued Kinko's, a chain of copy shops, charging the firm has helped professors illegally reproduce copyrighted materials for their classes.

McGraw-Hill, on the other hand, would pay copyright holders and using software and typesetting technology developed for the company by Eastman-Kodak, produce better-looking, more readable texts than the homemade, photocopied versions assembled on campus.

The concept would allow professors to design their own textbooks, deleting unwanted chapters, and adding items such as personal notes, study guides and syllabi. "Textbooks," declared McGraw-Hill chairman Joseph Dionne in announcing his project, "will never be the same."

McGraw-Hill's effort effectively makes "professor publishing" legal. Students and professors often already create their own texts, assembling parts of other people's work to fit their classes, and then reproducing and binding them at campus copy shops.

However, without proper permission, the practice is illegal. The Association of American Publishers has sued Kinko's, a chain of copy shops, charging the firm has helped professors illegally reproduce copyrighted materials for their classes.

McGraw-Hill, on the other hand, would pay copyright holders and using software and typesetting technology developed for the company by Eastman-Kodak, produce better-looking, more readable texts than the homemade, photocopied versions assembled on campus.
*What's free? Everything! Everything from Coke to carnations. Stop by the College Inn and Etc., indulge yourself and not have to pay a cent! Well, not really (you'll need your declining balance) but it feels like it's free.

College Inn

Ice Cream Sundae Special

Hot Fudge, Butterscotch or Caramel

95¢

Etc...

Candies, Flowers & Gifts for all occasions

- Valentine Special
- ½ Dozen Roses $23.00
- ½ Dozen Carnations $16.50
- Valentine Mug & Flowers $8.00

Orders must be made by February 5th

FREE DELIVERY ON CAMPUS