Harding Brings Land of Oz to the Stage

"Oz" Cast Prepares For Flight

By TAYLOR DURHAM
assistant news editor

When most people think of Oz, they think of W.W. Denslow's illustrations or the movie that aired in 1939. However, in the beginning of the week, the 20-member group of students and faculty will be acting and singing the Oz story on stage in the Theatre Arts Building.

"Oz" is one of the most recognized stories coming from the mind of L. Frank Baum and has been interpreted in countless ways. The university will give a new interpretation of Baum's story;

"I thought about what it would be like to be Dorothy in that story, and I thought it would be so much fun to be on stage and to have that experience," senior Whitney Witt said.

Weeks of preparation and a casting process will culminate in the debut of the musical tonight. Mime students and faculty will come together to create an experience that Baum could only dream of.

"I have never been a part of a musical, so to be able to participate in something like this is incredible," junior Paige Crowder said.

The story of Dorothy and her adventures with the Scarecrow, Tin Man and Lion is a classic, and the cast and crew are excited to bring it to life.

"The cast and crew are very excited to bring this story to life," Witt said.

The cast and crew have already completed the first weekend of rehearsals, and they are looking forward to the performance tonight. Witt said that the cast and crew are working hard to bring the story to life.

"We are working very hard to get the show up on its feet and to bring the story to life," Witt said.

The performance will be at 7 p.m. tonight in the Theatre Arts Building. The cast and crew hope that the audience will enjoy the performance and appreciate the hard work that has gone into bringing the story to life.

Managing Time Key to Musical's Success

By JERRY PATTON
copy editor

Theatre Arts director Jake Breuer said that the musical will be a success if the cast and crew can manage their time effectively.

"We have to be able to manage our time effectively in order to be successful," Breuer said.

Both teachers and students are working hard to bring the show to life, but they are also aware of the challenges that come with managing time.

"Timing is everything; you can't get the show on its feet if you don't manage your time effectively," Breuer said.

The cast and crew are working hard to bring the show to life and to manage their time effectively. They are excited to share the story of Dorothy and her adventures with the audience and to bring the story to life.

Harding Opens History House

Apple's Leopard Debuts

Today marks an anniversery in the history of Macintosh computers. Apple, Inc. CEO Steve Jobs unveiled the Mac OS X Leopard, Apple's latest operating system.

Mac OS X Leopard integrates several improvements into the Mac's operating system, including enhanced security, an updated interface, and improved multimedia features.

Leopard also includes a new Finder interface that makes it easier to navigate and manage files, as well as a new desktop background system called Cover Flow that allows users to preview files and folders in a visually appealing way.

The new operating system also introduces a number of new features and improvements, including a new Mail application, improved iCal integration, and enhanced Internet connectivity.

The release of Leopard marks a significant milestone in the history of Apple's operating system, as it represents a major update to the Mac OS X platform and introduces a number of new features and improvements that will undoubtedly enhance the user experience for Mac users around the world.

Fires Blamed on Boy

The teenager who started the fire that caused $10 million in damages to the Green Mountain National Forest in Vermont has been identified as a 15-year-old boy.

According to reports, the teenager, who has not been publicly identified, started the fire while playing with matches on Sunday night.

The fire, which started near the town of Jericho, grew quickly and was fueled by strong winds, causing extensive damage to the forest.

The teenager has been arrested and charged with starting the fire, which is a felony offense. The investigation into the cause of the fire is ongoing.

Belief in Supernatural Present in Population

A recent study published in the Journal of Personality and Social Psychology found that a significant proportion of people believe in the existence of supernatural entities, such as ghosts, extraterrestrial life, and other phenomena.

The study, conducted by researchers from the University of California, Berkeley, surveyed more than 2,000 participants and found that 49% of participants reported at least one belief in the supernatural.

The researchers noted that belief in the supernatural is not limited to any particular demographic group and is present in both religious and non-religious individuals.

The study highlights the importance of understanding the role of belief in the supernatural in shaping people's attitudes and behaviors.

Wildfires Affect HU Community

By JP FUEGER

Raging wildfires in Southern California has forced one million residents in 13 blaze hotspots since the fire began two weeks ago. More than a dozen homes have already absorbed a half million acres of the dry and dry-repressed region. In the latter’s Chattooga county, President Bush declared Southern California a disaster area, sending word to the nation. The local disaster outreach all of the way to Harding through the California state offices, where President McConathy’s family resides in San Diego, which was the hardest hit. "This was directly affected by the wildfires," one of the state leaders reported.

Under McConathy’s direction, the communication will receive in a larger city such as Little Rock. "Date Night at Doc’s" will be theird that venue when the fire started. It was later confirmed that the blaze was started by a cigarette thrown with matches.

Doc’s introduces “Date Night”

By HEATHER BROWN

While the winter months just around the corner, the openness for the appropriate time to order dinner at the local park are drawing to a close. A 2006 graduate, Under, was thinking to find other alternatives to show how much special just how much they care in a way that shouldn’t break the bank.

With the help of Oberst, the couple on a budget may only have to purchase flowers to find such an alternative. Beginning Tuesday, Nov. 6, Doc’s Grill will offer “Date Night at Doc’s,” a new service designed to provide couples the opportunity to spend quality time together in a romantic atmosphere. "The Night at Doc’s" will include a four-course meal, consisting of an appetizer, soup or salad, a main course and dessert, as well as romantic lighting and music.

Flowers will also be handed out at the end of each month in appreciation of Doc’s as their moment of choice. According to Director Brown, general manager at Doc’s Grill, the idea was born in early May. "The thought was that we had a good base and thought we might as well get the "mid-week grind."

"We started hearing Date Night at Doc’s and it was a great idea," the president said. "For people who are in college during the week and work every day, people are really looking for a romantic night out, and Doc’s Grill would have the perfect atmosphere for a date night."

Seating for this event will be limited so reservations are not required, they are preferred. A select number of restaurants in the area will be featured, but reservations are not required to double date the opportunity to do so. More than one hundred people present successful, Doc’s Grill will return to offering this service as often as possible.
Wildfires Affect HU Community

By BY FOGLER

Student reporter

Arguing wildfires in Southern California have forced many students to evacuate. This year students have faced the same problems that many others have already experienced. The University has had to deal with the situation and turn it around.

The main problem for students at HU is the closure of the dorms. The university decided to close the dorms for safety reasons. This was done in coordination with local authorities. Students were informed of the closure via email and phone messages.

According to Dwayne Breaux, flowers will also be handed out at the entrance of the dorms. This is to provide comfort to the students who have been affected by the wildfires.

Editorial: Learning The Rules of the Field

When I logged all my washes, I noted my washing 30 to 35 minutes, but it happens (not sure) to be well under thirty minutes as the washers are regularly checked. I've been out of the house for over a year, and I'm feeling the washers are done.

I've been watching them for a while, because I don't want to break the rules of the field. I've been out of the house for over a year, and I'm feeling the washers are done.

I'll be back in the house for the next wash, and I'm feeling the washers are done.

It's Good To Be Wicked

Jane Witt

With a look similar to those of a fairy godmother, senior Jane Witt once again played the Wicked Witch of the West in the homecoming musical "The Wizard of Oz." Her left dimple, sophomore Haley Moore protruding next to her skin, has entailed the task of portraying someone said. "Let's face it, I was the villain."

Witt's first challenge was mastering the fact that I am myself back. Although rehearsals have been long, those moments when the witch scenes, and I was like, 'I got it! I was thrilled beyond imagination.'

Witt said, "I love getting to be that confident and powerful person. She's simply the perfect role for me."

Witt has definitely been searching for the right words to describe the witch she will serve as a hostess, a position she has always been the good guy, and it's never gotten to play a character like that before. "I've never gotten to play a character like that before."

"When you're in character, you're a different person, and you're living a different life," Witt said.

Witt's performance of the witch was aimed to make people do a double-take. "I'm doing it, and I'm really excited. I just can't wait for my friends to get to see this." Witt said.

"I'm super excited," Witt said. "I'm so excited to be with all of the humorous and unusual faces and unusual voices and unusual facial expressions."

"It's really hard for some people to keep a straight face, so that makes it not be able to keep a straight face," Witt said. "It's hard for people to realize, you know, their emotions.

"I've picked up things really fast, so that makes me not be able to keep a straight face," Witt said. "I'm doing I am practically insane; •

"Someday, I'm going to be behind me and cheering me on and to get me the most," Witt said. "You get to be a little bit crazy and do anything that I could do."

"The ability to alter her lines that could destroy my beautiful beauty, the excitement and the adrenaline that I'm going to be an outlandish performer. She has a bright face, she moves well, she's got a quick aptitude. She's crazy and I don't get to feel whenever I get up on stage."

Hester Becomes An Instant Hit

By BRANDON HIGGINS

At Midnight Madness the fans were treated to something special when junior forward Brian Hester first dunked the basketball in front of the fans. The moment was an instant phenomenon. Hester has already become a fan favorite and is expected to be one of the top players on the team during the upcoming season.

Hester first dunked when he was a 5-foot-7 sophomore guard at Bentonville High School in 2005. He has since grown to 6-foot-3 and is expected to have a significant impact on the team.

Bison Freshman Makes A Statement At Midnight Madness With Athletic Ability

By MONTGOMERY BRENNER

Freshman Patrick Hester makes a statement against ninth-ranked Arkansas Tech quarterback Justin Ray. Ray acquired 236 rushing yards on 31 carries.

Lateral Lovin'

Task for a team on the last play of a game is to run out the clock and win. In the case of Trinity University, there was only one second left. The Bison were trying to get the ball up the field and into the end zone to win. There were only two plays left in the game.

The Bison's defensive line was outmanned, but they still held on. The last play was a lateral, but the offense couldn't get the ball to the receiver, one near-tackle was tackled by Millsaps. The Bison were a couple of times when they were intercepted by Millsaps.

The moral of this story: It's good for 61 yards and a biscuit, chew it up and swallow it, if you can.

Bisons Take On Wonder Boys

By LEISURE LEINN

The Bisons are looking to improve their record to 16-0 after a 56-49 loss last week. They are currently ranked number one in the Southeastern Conference. They are gearing up for their next game against the Wonder Boys, who have a record of 15-1.

The Bison defense will be tested against the Wonder Boys' high-powered offense. The Bisons will need to shut down their key players if they hope to emerge victorious.

The Moral of the Story: The Bison defense will need to step up and shut down the Wonder Boys' offense if they hope to remain unbeaten.

AImprovised Defense Beats Stiff Arkansas Tech Task

By CHAD WHITFIELD

The Bisons defense was able to overcome a lack of experience and a tough offensive line to win the game against Arkansas Tech. The defense allowed only 17 points in the game, which is a testament to their hard work and dedication.

The Bison defense will need to continue their strong performance against the Wonder Boys if they hope to remain unbeaten.

Eastern Philosophy Applied To Christian Principles

By JEREMY WATSON

October 30

In a culture becoming more and more obsessed with Eastern philosophy and practices, many have adopted a special place in many women's minds after being portrayed in films, books, and television shows. But while many people enjoy the romanticized view of "Eastern mysticism," few really understand the principles behind the culture and philosophy of Japan. In his book, "The Way of the Christian Warrior," author Paul Nowak takes up the mantle of Christianity with Bushido to show the world how these principles can be used to better serve Christ and be an example to the world.

Nowak begins his book by discussing the similarities between the samurai and Christianity, saying, "To use an analogy from the dojo, just as a Christian daily walks with God, I could deduce the book into three sections for the three aspects of spirituality: faith, discipline, and reason. Each section takes passages from writings of samurai and scripture, and shows how the principles contained in each relate to a Christian's daily walk with God." Nowak said.

"I was interested in the ways of the warrior," he said, "in how the principles can be used to better serve Christ and be an example to the world. I found that the citations from the samurai writings and scripture are very similar. I found that there were many common teachings, and the Christian knight can be a refreshing and enlightening look at the Christ-like in influence on the world." Nowak said.

Nowak takes these common teachings and develops them through quotations of both ancient writings and Christian scripture. In the "Servant" section, he emphasizes the samurai's role as a servant, or warrior, who put his master above himself in their ordinary lives, become warriors for Christ.

"It is very important to remember that the way of the samurai... is not a substitution or replacement, but a way to live through the power and authority of the Christian faith as we understand it," Nowak said. "It was my hope that these servant virtues could be applied to other sections for the three aspects of service, Self-Sacrifice and Resolve as we Christians live our lives in a manner to better serve Christ and be an example to the world."

The book is divided into three sections: Faith, Discipline, and Reason. It is a Christian's daily walk with God, and discipline of the samurai. The principles cruelly behind the actions, and the way of the samurai is applied to the Christian ideal of service. More truths and challenges are presented as the sections for the three aspects of service, Self-Sacrifice and Resolve are taken up by quoting the many New Testament passages that encourage a Christian to deny themselves in order to follow Christ.
