The election is over, and it’s something that every night can be a Redbox night. And for one’s day. And for official, some to do with voter during this election by more only a few hundred votes, won a state question. Many local officials were also voted on, such as a firefighters’ dinner, even when it was not election time. Lincoln said that he made a point every time candidates seem to come out of the woodwork only during times mean “people just can’t doing his job during the campaign.” Perhaps this change in voting Bone marrow transplant aids HIV patient

As HIV patients have been free from infection for two years after undergoing a bone marrow transplant from a donor with a natural genetic resistance to the AIDS virus, German researchers said Wednesday.

After the patient was diagnosed with leukemia, doctors sought out a donor with a genetic mutation that helps the body resist AIDS. When a donor was found and healthy stem cells were transplanted, the patient's HIV and leukemia both disappeared.

But according to doctors, bone marrow transplants will never become the standard treatment for HIV.

The procedure is very risky and destroys the patient's bone marrow before the transplant, temporarily leaving the patient without an immune system.

It is also likely that HIV is still present in the patient's body and could return at any time.

Fall break gives extra free time to students
Three-day weekend allows more traveling, vacation

By MICHAEL BROOKER
student reporter

This semester, students have experienced a three-day weekend for the first time at Harding. Under the guise of "Fall Break," many students have been able to do many things different from the norm.

Most students were happy about how free they were given time, but a large group of students were not as happy about how many people were going.

"Amy, this is the first time that I have been able to travel over the weekend," said órgaños. "I am not sure I need the extra time, but it was a great surprise."

"I don't like the change," said órgaños. "I think that we are going to have extra time, but it is not something that I like." eines.

"I think that it is great that we are going to have extra time, but it is not something that I like," said órgaños. "I think that we are going to have extra time, but it is not something that I like." Años.

Overall, most students were pleased with the break, but some still thought it was much better than normal.

"It felt much like an adult thing," said órgaños. "I think that we are going to have extra time, but it is not something that I like." Años.

Despite the fact that many students were not as happy about the break, there were still many who were excited for the break.

"I am going to do a lot of things that I have been unable to do," said órgaños. "I think that we are going to have extra time, but it is not something that I like." Años.

In fact, many students were excited to get away from the Harding campus and enjoy some time off.

"I am going to do a lot of things that I have been unable to do," said órgaños. "I think that we are going to have extra time, but it is not something that I like." Años.

However, not all students were happy with the break as órgaños said, "I think that we are going to have extra time, but it is not something that I like." Años.

The Uncanny Valley

racial discrimination and civil rights issues is high on the agenda for the upcoming election. The Republican National Convention, held in Cleveland, Ohio, featured speeches from prominent figures such as Donald Trump, Mike Pence, and Newt Gingrich. The Democratic National Convention, held in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, featured speeches from figures such as Hillary Clinton, Bernie Sanders, and Tim Kaine. The debates between the candidates have been a major focus of the campaign, and both candidates have made promises to address issues ranging from economic growth to healthcare. With the election less than one month away, both candidates are likely to continue to campaign vigorously in order to win the votes of the American people. The outcome of the election will have significant implications for the future of the United States, and the world. As an American, it is my duty to vote in this election and to make an informed decision. I encourage all eligible voters to cast their ballots in this important election. We are a nation of immigrants, and it is important that we continue to welcome and support immigrants as they seek to make a better life for themselves and their families. For the Last Time, Who Has a Ski Idea That Doesn't Involve Sarah Palin

No matter how many times I try to explain to people that I am not Sarah Palin and do not have any connection to her, they continue to mistake me for her. It is annoying and frustrating, and I am tired of people thinking that I am her. The媒体 commonly make mistakes about me, and I am often asked to address issues that are not related to me. It is important to me that people know that I am not Sarah Palin and that I am a separate individual. I encourage people to read my work and to engage with my ideas and perspectives on their own terms. If you have any questions about me, please feel free to contact me directly. I am happy to answer any questions you may have. Thank you for understanding.

Harding Hosts First Film Festival

By JORDAN DALEY
student reporter

Film students are people of a way unlike any other medium. It continues on another plane, and it shares vibes in order to express and communicate their dynamic film and employ film as an avenue for life. This belief that film is a powerful medium led to the start of a film festival and one of the first of its kind, inspired by Jennifer Moore and Michelle Anderson's Film class on Highway 67. All people involved were enthusiastic about the festival and enjoyed the atmosphere.

"I think that's what's so great about the film festival," Jones said. "The technology is available for anyone to make a video and distribute it, and it's come a long way since the days of Super 8.

"I believe this festival will grow in popularity as more people become involved, especially in the area of education. The festival is open to anyone, and it provides an opportunity to share their work with others.

Teachers will select the winning film and the students who submitted it. The judges will select the winning film, and the students who submitted it will receive a $10 prize. The festival is open to anyone, and it provides an opportunity to share their work with others.

The festival will be held on Saturday, May 13, and it will feature nine student films, including one submitted by Dennis Davis, a senior English major with a film studies minor. The festival will also feature a documentary filmmaker from Dallas, a music video from Lake Volta, and a trailer for a student film.

Texas quarterback Colt McCoy cites faith as his reason for success

by ORISS D. GULL
student reporter

The University of Texas is the second-winningest football program in the history of the sport. It should come as no surprise that being the quarterback and leader of the Texas Longhorns involves great expectations, pressure and stress. However, Texas quarterback Colt McCoy has handled it all so perfectly that everything that happens in the football field is, in life.

"Brian Very-was just an amazing football player, but he was also an amazing person," McCoy said. "Without faith, we are nothing, and without God in my life, I wouldn't be who I am today.

"McCoy's journey to the college football scene.

McCoy was born and raised in Texas. He was a ball boy for his father, Brad McCoy, and began to look up to his hero, Jim Nee High School. McCoy's parents, both Abilene Christian University graduates, instilled in him and his two brothers a strong sense of family and the Christian faith. McCoy's father was already a football coach, and has been credited with bringing his son into the football world.

"He became the ball boy when he was 1.5 years old and left when he was 12 years old," McCoy said. "However, everything wasn't only about football in the McCoy household. Colt's parents, North Abilene Christian University graduates, instilled in him and his two brothers a strong sense of family and the Christian faith.

"I grew up in a household where faith was instilled in me," McCoy said. "I grew up in a household where faith was instilled in me, and I grew up in a household where faith was instilled in me. I grew up with my family," McCoy said. "We've been a family for a long time, and we've been together through everything."

"McCoy's excellent play in college football history.

Colt became the starting quarterback for the Longhorns during the spring of 1997. Colt's parents, North Abilene Christian University graduates, instilled in him and his two brothers a strong sense of family and the Christian faith.

"He's been ball boy from the time he could walk," McCoy said. "And he's been the starting quarterback for the Longhorns during the spring of 1997. Colt's parents, North Abilene Christian University graduates, instilled in him and his two brothers a strong sense of family and the Christian faith.

"But it wasn't easy. He had to work hard and do good things to be an example in life.

"Colt has definitely nabbed the game film from the man to 12 years old. However, everything wasn't only about football in the McCoy household. Colt's parents, North Abilene Christian University graduates, instilled in him and his two brothers a strong sense of family and the Christian faith. McCoy's father was already a football coach, and has been credited with bringing his son into the football world.

"The payoff pitch.

You've probably heard the saying "Texas A&M and Louisiana State are no were," but that's not the case with McCoy. McCoy's parents, both Abilene Christian University graduates, instilled in him and his two brothers a strong sense of family and the Christian faith.

"It should come as no surprise that McCoy's journey to the college football scene.

McCoy is currently leading the third-ranked Texas Longhorns, who began the season with a 10-0 record. McCoy's parents, North Abilene Christian University graduates, instilled in him and his two brothers a strong sense of family and the Christian faith. McCoy's father was already a football coach, and has been credited with bringing his son into the football world.

"I'm just happy to be here today, that's why I'm here today," McCoy said. "I'm just happy to be here today, that's why I'm here today. I'm just happy to be here today, that's why I'm here today.

"Colt's tremendous play in college football history.

Colt has definitely nabbed the game film from the man to 12 years old. However, everything wasn't only about football in the McCoy household. New association represents ad majors

BY JORDAN BALEY

student reporter

The newly formed Harding Student Advertising Association will unite advertising students through providing real life experience and recognition to advertising majors.

Senior Justice Copeland and Matt Tate asked Steve Shaner, professor of Communication, to serve as president for the organization. Shaner said he was flattered that his predecessor, Dr. Donald Faust, would support the group.

"We are going to have two main goals," Shaner said. "First, we want to provide Harding students with real world experience, and second, we want to provide ads to the nation," Shaner said.

The advertising major said he wanted to establish a student-run advertising agency called the AdAgency. The AdAgency would be run by students.

"We want this to be a real enterprise," Shaner said.

Shaner said he wants to make sure the group is well-funded to have success.

"Of course, I will need to get some money into this," Shaner said.

Shaner said he is excited about the possibility of advertising for the Harding community.

To provide the group with the necessary funds to work, the organization will hold an annual competition.

"We have been approached by several local groups," Shaner said. "We have the opportunity to help out the community.

"It is exciting to get the exposure, and to excel in the real world," Shaner said.

Shaner said he hopes that the AdAgency will be able to provide more exposure to Harding students and the community.

"We want to do good things for the community," Shaner said.

Shaner said he hopes to have the AdAgency up and running by the end of the fall semester.

"I am excited about the opportunity to work with Harding students and the community," Shaner said.

Faith the Size of a Postage Stamp

BY ASHLEY REESE

student reporter

The Lord says if you have faith as a mustard seed — it can move mountains. But in Kostum's case, faith is the size of a postage stamp.

When evaluating the mixing of events that led to Por Kpung's journey to Harding University, many who read the stories have been inspired by the perseverance, "West said. "Hopefully, a relationship with God and the student is nurtured for the process." When we are not all called to teamwork, wanting people and programs together, sometimes relatively small knowledge and skills can make a difference in people's lives. Our efforts may be small, but we can make a difference in someone's life. The Lord says, "Faith as small as a mustard seed can move mountains." When we believe in God's word and have been given the ability to turn our faith in to action, the results can be amazing.

Peter Kosgei began his journey to the U.S. in 1982. His family fled the civil war in Kenya in 1982. In 1983, Cox and his wife Beth began his efforts to plant a church in the United States. The first letter they received was from a Christian high school, a school that was started by another church that Cox had founded. It was at this time that they decided to make a difference. Many of the world's most elite runners are from the Kalenjin tribe. Peter Kosgei is now 26 years old. He was young when he was forced to leave his home in Kenya. Though he didn't have much, he was determined to make a difference.
