FIRST THAW ROCKS FOR HEIFER

by LAUREN BUCHER

Music, art, film, charity and student talent all came together for the 2011 Student Association’s ‘Bazaar’.

The two-day festival featured numerous such as Craftsmen, Mudflap, Longhorn Nails and Streetband headliner The Avett Brothers. For the festival to work as a dream out concert, it was also a humankind moment.

A total of $2,400 was pledged to be donated to Heifer International, 2,400 people attended.

We wanted to do something that was local but made a big impact: a global effort.

The student body officially elected junior Bruce McMullen as the 2011-2012 Student Association president yesterday.

McMullen ran against senior Justin Stephens, winning with 63 percent of the vote; 200 seniors voted in the SA presidential election.

Joining McMullen in his runoff year will be vice president Amanda Aras, secretary Chloe Walker and treasurer Amy Littleton. McMullen said he thought about running for the presidency earlier in the year but thought his status as an international student might make it ineligible to hold office. McMullen is from Cape Town, South Africa, on the west coast.

Along bringing awareness to尺 student body, McMullen said he thought about running for the presidency earlier in the year but thought his status as an international student might make it ineligible to hold office. McMullen is from Cape Town, South Africa, on the west coast.

Retired special agent Brock Tully is experiencing an international lecture tour, having retired from the FBI. This is a great way to have a chance to know about it before. I think he would love for the Students for Life to be one of the venues he has visited to show his experiences.

"For me, the best thing was when he talked about safeguarding, something of which he is an expert in, being the government official he is," Allicia Shaffer said. "There's always that chance. We may not fall, but we never always know for sure. I'm definitely going to use this when I go back to Harding.

Managing responsibilities for one's personal security, Tully addressed the need to know before you go, and being aware of the health alert and personal risks that a traveler in a foreign country would have to be aware of, based on his personal travels throughout the presentation, stressing the strength of the lecture and his words. "Never give in." His lecture was recorded and shown to future international students until Tully visits again to the indefinite future.

"Why have a responsibility?" Tully said. "Going to be the future we care to make sure one way and sound to do that. If you receive where you send us somewhere. We're going to make sure to go the best possible protection. Keep the honor and obligation for it to do that."

We often witness well-educated students chanting out verses from the Book of Judges and growling out their hair--all at the same time, hoping that one day, they too can put a beefy hand on a cardboard cut-out of a donkey.

I am no expert on this, but I do know one thing: Cameron Braun.

The Harbin Tale is a miniseries that follows Cameron Braun as he navigates life at Harding University. Each episode delves into the humorous and relatable moments of university life, offering insights into the experiences of students at Harding.

There have been too many times that I've run around the Bison office, yelling "Ex-larrupuluff!" to my co-workers to make their pens fly across the room or "Puffy" to make them fall out of their chairs. As I said, epic.

Diary of a Wimpy Lawn Mower

I am not a man who likes to mow the lawn. It is a task that I have been assigned as a part of my household duties. I have never been one to enjoy this chore, but I have found a way to make it more enjoyable.

The women's track team begins outdoor season by breaking records

by KATIE SWANN
student writer

The Alabama State women's track and field team kicked off their outdoor season most recently with a strong performance March 28 in Memphis, Tenn., at Rhodes College. The team placed in the top five of its first of 13 events, won five of its first 13 events, and broke or tied for breaking records for both throw and pole vault.

Sophomore Shawna Roper broke the record for hammer throw at 90.35 feet. Sophomore Amanda Rogers broke the same record just hours before Roper, with a throw of 84.13 feet.

"It's very important to not psych yourself out," Roper said. "I try to not think too much before I throw." Roper said "I hope to have a good season."

If Rogers could break 100 feet in hammer, and I'm really praying for the record to come around.

Sophomore Tiffany Chambers broke her own record pole vault at 11 feet. Freshmen Kristina Colist and Lauren Dean tied for second at 10 feet.11 inches. Colist broke the record on her second attempt and Dean on her first.

Sophomore Coach Gary praised the young team's ability to mentally control themselves. He has had it in his head, Gary said. This mindset is what really helped them.

"I've never supported a group like this before," Coach Gary said. "I'll give Alabama-Huntsville a shot." Golfman said of the championship.

The team members said they recognize their own talent and experience in improving their techniques and breaking more records as they begin the outdoor season and prepare for the NCAA Championship finishing in April.

Sculp...the...championship that...you...get...it...down...and...it...is...properly...invented.

"We are the only archery program to ever break 80 yards of any kind, and it's just that one day," Coach Gary said.

Sculp...he...it...is...the...next...one...I'll...try...to...be...good...in...his...mind."

The archery competition is usually held at the end of March or the beginning of April, and an invitation is required. For more information on intramural sports, visit http://www.harding.edu/edu/intramurals.

GRO harmonizes on uptrack performances

by STACY HALL

From Lisa Blackwell's country-tinged "Country Road Again," to Toby Keith's hard-driving "Redneck Woman," to George Strait's smooth "Can't Let Her Get Away," the opening acts of this year's Texas Country Music Festival are making hay while the sun shines. The festival, which runs through April 8-10 at the Comal County Fairgrounds, is the biggest country music event in the Lone Star State and a must-see for fans of all genres.

For the opening acts, it's all about building relationships and creating memorable moments with their fans. Whether it's singing along to "The Life Song," "Her" or "Since I Met You Baby," these artists are connecting with their audience on a deep level.

But for the artists, it's also about showcasing their talent and hard work in front of a live audience. They're putting their best foot forward, knowing that their performance will be scrutinized by fans and critics alike.

As the opening acts prepare for their sets, they're also thinking about the future. Will they make it big? Will they have a hit with this song? Will they get signed to a major label?

The pressure is on, but these artists are up to the challenge. They're ready to take their careers to the next level and make a name for themselves in the country music world.

So the next time you see an opening act, remember that they're not just putting on a show; they're putting on a career. They're working hard to make their dreams a reality and we should all support them along the way.
Dear Cosmopolitan Coupes.

This weather has been crazier than my homework schedule. How do I impress the ladies if I look like a wet dog?

Sincerely,

Need a Towel

Dear Towel,

There are many solutions to your problem, none of which include a towel. The sun sign is a good place to start. This disheartened the phenomenon of no-body among the men and you should too, be brave and choose something meaningful to each to wear with a current pattern. Ladies like a banana case.

Another way to wet myself in the kid's is to forget to go unnoticed, but not just any umbrella. Get a hair-pony umbrella. This way I can lay dry while waiting under, with my shirt of gals around me and look you are a living wet help unwrapped for the angry skies, jump out and surprise her with the gift of a dry self to her side. If you do not have your relationship, even need for clearance and surprise with a second dry walk back to her home. Also, it should be used, when offering your umbrella services over one out past, be sure to begin your relationship with "slick..." This is a subtle yet important step.

We attribute solution in the national, Argus, a scent concept, and "Hair." This hair dressing tint, Vincent never and rising wonderfully keeps you dry, and helps maintain moisture of the color yellow. He appearing the next is to look like a wet dog.

If these solutions aren't appealing to you, remember like. Looking wet is, it's you. Then you are out "The Hitchhiker." Honestly,

Dear Darla

Yours Truly

Dear Cosmopolitan Coupes,

Please keep your halfway PDA to a minimum. Some of us are trying to work up here. That means you, foot-club couple.

Yours truly,
