In entertainment: When it comes to those trips to the cinema with the family over Thanksgiving break, Hand has some top picks for you.

Page 4b

Suddenly, someone jumped out of the car and attacked me from behind.

Ethan Hudson, senior

In order to pursue the building, casinoing Hudkins to close the Underground Cafe on Sept. 24.

Some went down this past summer not having anything to do with anything but the Anti-Recycling Coalition. In addition to owning The Underground Cafe, Hudkins owns Zion Coffee Shop.

According to Saul Hudkins, who previously owned The Underground and is currently operating the Zion Climbing Center, The Underground Cafe should reopen this spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.

The coffee shop The Underground is projected to open in the spring.
Disease kills bats, threatens species

by NICOLE SEELINGER-GRAY

Editor's note: This article was published on November 11, 2011.

The game "Bigger is Better," in which the goal is to trade items for paper clips, is taking off in the United States. On Monday, Harding students started a chapter of the game on campus, with students trading items for paper clips, the better to raise money for a homeless shelter.

McBride said he believes this is a great way to get the senior program to focus on important issues like preventing disease and caring for others, especially people who are less fortunate.

McBride said he hopes the seniors will enjoy this game and that they will bring others to the game as well, like their family and friends.

McBride also hopes that this game will gain the interest of the community, and that other community members will join in on the fun.

McBride said that the seniors should have fun while they are playing and that they should not forget the purpose of the game.

McBride said that the seniors should not forget that they are not only having fun while playing, but that they are also doing something important for the community.

McBride said that the seniors should remember that the game is not just about having fun, but that it is also about making a difference in the community.

McBride said that the seniors should be proud of themselves for being a part of something that is making a difference in the community.

McBride said that the seniors should remember that they are not only having fun while playing, but that they are also doing something important for the community.

McBride said that the seniors should remember that they are not only having fun while playing, but that they are also doing something important for the community.

McBride said that the seniors should remember that they are not only having fun while playing, but that they are also doing something important for the community.

McBride said that the seniors should remember that they are not only having fun while playing, but that they are also doing something important for the community.

McBride said that the seniors should remember that they are not only having fun while playing, but that they are also doing something important for the community.

McBride said that the seniors should remember that they are not only having fun while playing, but that they are also doing something important for the community.

McBride said that the seniors should remember that they are not only having fun while playing, but that they are also doing something important for the community.

McBride said that the seniors should remember that they are not only having fun while playing, but that they are also doing something important for the community.

McBride said that the seniors should remember that they are not only having fun while playing, but that they are also doing something important for the community.

McBride said that the seniors should remember that they are not only having fun while playing, but that they are also doing something important for the community.
On the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month of 1918, an armistice was signed between the Allied nations and Germany in World War I, which to this day is known as Veterans Day. It is a time to remember those who served and protect America. It is the time to give thanks for the things we have, and in our own lifetime, the worst war. Today, it is a day when we are given the chance to respect and honor those who gave their lives for our country.

Veterans Day programs thus far have been a success. It is a day when local newspapers, radio and television stations participated in the ceremony. It is a day to remember those who served and protect America. It is the time to give thanks for the things we have, and in our own lifetime, the worst war. Today, it is a day when we are given the chance to respect and honor those who gave their lives for our country.

I think what we need is a greater focus on domestic works. I think that is the real issue here. The issue between our government and domestic policies is to improve our country. So far, all we have seen is government policies that are not helping our country. We need to see a different approach in our domestic policies.

LUKE WENDEBORN is a junior multimedia major for the Bison. He may be contacted at lwendeborn@harding.edu.

Do I attract weirdoes, what does it mean? Well, it means that I will be interested in you and will be interested in our relationship.

I have always been interested in my own relationships and how they affect me. I have always been interested in how my relationships affect me and how they affect other people. I have always been interested in how my relationships affect me and how they affect other people.

If you have any other ideas on how to improve communication for the Bison staff, please contact the Editor-in-chief, J.M. Adkison, at J.M.-Adkison@harding.edu.
Customer Service

I'll raise the world, customer service would have a whole lot more respect from me if it knew how to treat the workers. Now, I am not meaning our service at Wendy’s, which is way below the standard of a three star restaurant, which means below three stars, which is a rating on the telephone at 13 pm. What I am saying is, we have a more servant-minded attitude toward whatever they happen to be. There are some restaurants, such as the Wendy’s, that do a good job at what they do and we have to excuse the service. As we get to our servant-minded service, we have a much higher level of service.

---

Favorable Holiday Traditions

savanah lee
Staff Space

A Thanksgiving break quickly approaches I think many of us look forward to getting back before the holiday times. But what do we do when we have to go through the fast-food restaurants with a family that makes that kind of stress a lot worse. You have to think of people who are working just as hard as the high-paid CEOs in the top-level office suite. Not that a manager in a fast-food establishment would feel like a servant-minded attitude when dealing with workers, for his or her dedication. We all have those holidays we set for the week. We wait for the week when we get to enjoy traditions with the people we care about most.

The holidays bring us each joy and spirit with lots of family. We gather together as our families to do our wonderful home-cooked foods and stories from the past year and party games. We decorate with our names. We stock our stockings as a Christmas tradition. Then fill each other's bags with little gifts. Most people think of stocking stuffers as a Christmas thing, but since we get together for Thanksgiving, we give little gifts in a way. We eat and talk and know each other in your family, let me fill you in. In Mr. Noodle's, he's a tall, skinny man with only one arm. However, he seems to be a good-hearted man. He wears a checkered vest and floppy bow-ties and has a prominent mustache. He wears a high collar, and most people think he is the reigning king of children's television. His name is Mr. Noodle.

Carolyn: Yes.

But when you do walk in, Mr. Noodle, how do you serve the customers who are always counting because my 5-year-old had gone to Gibsons, which was next door. Eileen told him she would need more than a lot more time to get to know the family in front of me. Especially since Mary Anne age 4, the youngest and gentlest, and I saw more as a voice of self-defense in a world where you have to think of people who are working just as hard as the high-paid CEOs in the top-level office suite. Now, I am saying is, we have a more servant-minded attitude toward whatever they happen to be. I have a feeling that if we could more patience, kindness and gentleness, and if we showed more as a voice of self-defense in a world where you have to think of people who are working just as hard as the high-paid CEOs in the top-level office suite.

J.M. ADKISON is the editor-in-chief for the Bison. He may be contacted at jadkison@harding.edu.

---

OPINIONS

The Bison

4a Friday, November 11, 2011

Just When You Thought You Had the Room to Yourself for the Weekend

Love Is All Around.

Um, Chris... What Are You Doing? Are You Watching the MOVIE LOVE ACTUALLY?

Oh, Um, It Is a CHRISTMAS Movie, You Know. It Was Already in the DVD Player. Want to Watch Die Hard?

Actually, I Think I M Essed Up the DVD Into a Different Slice.

---

On Pins and Needles

Carolyn: I see you on your computer screen. What is it? Me: I'm reading Mr. Noodle. Mr. Noodle? Carolyn: You are doing something funny. Me: Do you think I am Mr. Noodle? Mr. Noodle?

Carolyn: Yes.

However, if you did not look up at all in my work, I hope you know. And do not expect any information. I don’t have any. Please be aware that you can be an Associate Professor of English at a distinguished university might not be shielded to be misinterpreted for Mr. Noodle. Mr. Rogers, no, this is not Mr. Noodle. Mr. Rogers. Mr. Noodle. We can't get our attention this morning. We are going to be on our own.

Favorable Holiday Traditions

savanah lee
Staff Space

When they got home received a call from the store if they were missing a kid. They then course rushed back to the store to retrieve them.

My family does stocking stuffers for everyone, why, we all have a paper grocery bag that we donate with our names. We then fill each other's bags with little gifts. Most people think of stocking stuffers as a Christmas thing, but since we get together for Thanksgiving, we give little gifts in a way. We eat and talk and know each other.

---

Just the Claxton

In your family, let me fill you in on Mr. Noodle. He's a tall, skinny man with only one arm. However, he seems to be a good-hearted man. He wears a checkered vest and floppy bow-ties and has a prominent mustache. He wears a high collar, and most people think he is the reigning king of children's television. His name is Mr. Noodle.

Carolyn: I see you on your computer screen. What is it? Me: I'm reading Mr. Noodle. Mr. Noodle? Carolyn: You are doing something funny. Me: Do you think I am Mr. Noodle? Mr. Noodle?

Carolyn: Yes.

However, if you did not look up at all in my work, I hope you know. And do not expect any information. I don’t have any. Please be aware that you can be an Associate Professor of English at a distinguished university might not be shielded to be misinterpreted for Mr. Noodle. Mr. Rogers, no, this is not Mr. Noodle. Mr. Rogers. Mr. Noodle. We can't get our attention this morning. We are going to be on our own.

Carolyn: I see you on your computer screen. What is it? Me: I'm reading Mr. Noodle. Mr. Noodle? Carolyn: You are doing something funny. Me: Do you think I am Mr. Noodle? Mr. Noodle?

Carolyn: Yes.

However, if you did not look up at all in my work, I hope you know. And do not expect any information. I don’t have any. Please be aware that you can be an Associate Professor of English at a distinguished university might not be shielded to be misinterpreted for Mr. Noodle. Mr. Rogers, no, this is not Mr. Noodle. Mr. Rogers. Mr. Noodle. We can't get our attention this morning. We are going to be on our own.

Student 1: How do you write on the board, Mr. Noodle?

Student 2: How do you type with the PowerPoint, Mr. Noodle?

Student 3: How do you explain the root of this exercise in your stark voice, Mr. Noodle?

Mr. Noodle: There you go another source of eyebrow raiser. Thanks, little Carolyn, wherever you are.

MICHAEL CLAXTON is a guest editor for the Bison. He may be contacted at claxtonm@harding.edu.

---

On Pins and Needles

Carolyn: I see you on your computer screen. What is it? Me: I'm reading Mr. Noodle. Mr. Noodle? Carolyn: You are doing something funny. Me: Do you think I am Mr. Noodle? Mr. Noodle?

Carolyn: Yes.

However, if you did not look up at all in my work, I hope you know. And do not expect any information. I don’t have any. Please be aware that you can be an Associate Professor of English at a distinguished university might not be shielded to be misinterpreted for Mr. Noodle. Mr. Rogers, no, this is not Mr. Noodle. Mr. Rogers. Mr. Noodle. We can't get our attention this morning. We are going to be on our own.

Student 1: How do you write on the board, Mr. Noodle?

Student 2: How do you type with the PowerPoint, Mr. Noodle?

Student 3: How do you explain the root of this exercise in your stark voice, Mr. Noodle?

Mr. Noodle: There you go another source of eyebrow raiser. Thanks, little Carolyn, wherever you are.
NBA lockout

The NBA officially announced yesterday that all November games (Nov. 16) are likely to be canceled, due to a dispute between owners and players over player compensation. The lockout, which began July 1, is reportedly the longest in NBA history. The owners want a reduction in the revenue-sharing pool and a cap on the amount of money players can make, while the players want to maintain their current compensation levels. The NBA Players Association and the National Basketball Association are currently meeting to try to reach a resolution. If no agreement is reached, the lockout could extend into the regular season, potentially affecting player contracts and team rosters. The lockout also has implications for the upcoming Olympic Games, as members of the U.S. men's and women's basketball teams may have to choose between representing their country or playing in the NBA.

HUGHES speaks out

Marshall Hughes, the women's basketball coach at Harding University, spoke out about the lockout yesterday. "We're really disappointed to see this happen," Hughes said. "Everyone has worked so hard to reach this point, and now it seems like we're going to have to start all over again."

Hughes added that the players are feeling uncertain about their future. "We've been looking forward to this season for so long, and now it looks like we might not get to play," Hughes said. "It's really tough to see all of that hard work go to waste."

The players have expressed their support for the owners, with many saying that they understand the financial pressures they are facing. "We know that the owners are trying to make the best decision for the league, and we're willing to support them," said one player. "But it's still disappointing to see the season go up in smoke like this."

Hughes also expressed concern for the fans, who have been eagerly anticipating the start of the season. "We know how much our fans were looking forward to seeing us play," Hughes said. "It's really tough to see all of that excitement go up in smoke like this."

The lockout has also raised questions about the future of the Olympic Games. "We're really concerned about the Olympic Games," Hughes said. "We know that the players are going to have to make a decision about whether to play or not, and we're hoping that they make the right choice."

Hughes added that the players are working to stay in shape and prepare for the season, even though they know that there is uncertainty about the start of the season. "We're working hard to stay in shape, and we're hoping that we can play this season," Hughes said. "But we're also realistic about the situation, and we know that there is uncertainty about the start of the season."

The NBA and the players are expected to continue negotiations in the coming days. "We're really hoping that we can reach a resolution," Hughes said. "It's really tough to see the season go up in smoke like this, and we're hoping that we can reach a resolution soon."
A sad ending in Happy Valley

Matthew Chaffin
Guest Space

Over the years of the sports season, there have been a number of coaches that have transformed their schools into something special. This is why Arkansas Tech is proud to introduce Coach Jeff Morgan, its new head basketball coach. A native of Happy Valley, Morgan has spent his entire life there and is well versed in the traditions and history of the school. He is a product of the sport he now leads, and he brings a wealth of experience and knowledge to the table. Morgan is a graduate of Arkansas Tech and has been a part of the basketball program for many years, serving as an assistant coach under former head coach, Joe Potter. He is a respected figure in the community and is well known for his coaching skills. Morgan has been preparing for this moment for a long time and is looking forward to leading the Lady Bisons to success. The school is excited to welcome Morgan as its new head coach and is confident that he will lead the Lady Bisons to great things.

The Lady Bisons trying to gain one more win

by MARSHALL HUGHES
sports editor

The Lady Bisons are in the midst of their season and are looking to gain another win on Saturday against the University of Oklahoma. The team is currently 13-3 and is looking to build on their success. They are playing well as a team and are looking to make a run in the tournament. The Lady Bisons have had a strong season so far and are hopeful that they can continue their success. The game against Oklahoma will be a tough test for the team, but they are confident in their ability to win. The Lady Bisons are looking to gain one more win on Saturday and are working hard to prepare for the game. They are hoping to gain confidence and momentum for the tournament. The game will be an important one for the team and they are looking forward to the challenge.

A valuable hoops player with a medicine on his mind

by AERIAL WRIGHT
sports editor

On the eve of her basketball senior season, forward Kayla Parker (2b) said she does not want to talk about basketball anymore and is only looking forward to playing soccer. Parker is a senior and has played basketball for three years at Arkansas Tech. She has been a consistent player for the team and has made a significant impact on the court. Parker has a strong work ethic and is always looking to improve. She is a leader on the court and is well respected by her teammates. Parker is looking to have a successful senior season and is working hard to achieve her goals. She is focused on her studies and is looking forward to playing soccer. Parker is a valuable player on the basketball team and will be missed when she leaves.

For many years, the Lady Bisons have been a force in the league

by SAVANNAH LEE
sports editor

The Lady Bisons are a force in the league and are looking to gain another win on Saturday against the University of Oklahoma. The team is currently 13-3 and is looking to build on their success. They are playing well as a team and are looking to make a run in the tournament. The Lady Bisons have had a strong season so far and are hopeful that they can continue their success. The game against Oklahoma will be a tough test for the team, but they are confident in their ability to win. The Lady Bisons are looking to gain one more win on Saturday and are working hard to prepare for the game. They are hoping to gain confidence and momentum for the tournament. The game will be an important one for the team and they are looking forward to the challenge.

A sad ending in Happy Valley

Matthew Chaffin
Guest Space

Over the years of the sports season, there have been a number of coaches that have transformed their schools into something special. This is why Arkansas Tech is proud to introduce Coach Jeff Morgan, its new head basketball coach. A native of Happy Valley, Morgan has spent his entire life there and is well versed in the traditions and history of the school. He is a product of the sport he now leads, and he brings a wealth of experience and knowledge to the table. Morgan is a graduate of Arkansas Tech and has been a part of the basketball program for many years, serving as an assistant coach under former head coach, Joe Potter. He is a respected figure in the community and is well known for his coaching skills. Morgan has been preparing for this moment for a long time and is looking forward to leading the Lady Bisons to success. The school is excited to welcome Morgan as its new head coach and is confident that he will lead the Lady Bisons to great things.

The Lady Bisons trying to gain one more win

by MARSHALL HUGHES
sports editor

The Lady Bisons are in the midst of their season and are looking to gain another win on Saturday against the University of Oklahoma. The team is currently 13-3 and is looking to build on their success. They are playing well as a team and are looking to make a run in the tournament. The Lady Bisons have had a strong season so far and are hopeful that they can continue their success. The game against Oklahoma will be a tough test for the team, but they are confident in their ability to win. The Lady Bisons are looking to gain one more win on Saturday and are working hard to prepare for the game. They are hoping to gain confidence and momentum for the tournament. The game will be an important one for the team and they are looking forward to the challenge.

A valuable hoops player with a medicine on his mind

by AERIAL WRIGHT
sports editor

On the eve of her basketball senior season, forward Kayla Parker (2b) said she does not want to talk about basketball anymore and is only looking forward to playing soccer. Parker is a senior and has played basketball for three years at Arkansas Tech. She has been a consistent player for the team and has made a significant impact on the court. Parker has a strong work ethic and is always looking to improve. She is a leader on the court and is well respected by her teammates. Parker is looking to have a successful senior season and is working hard to achieve her goals. She is focused on her studies and is looking forward to playing soccer. Parker is a valuable player on the basketball team and will be missed when she leaves.

For many years, the Lady Bisons have been a force in the league

by SAVANNAH LEE
sports editor

The Lady Bisons are a force in the league and are looking to gain another win on Saturday against the University of Oklahoma. The team is currently 13-3 and is looking to build on their success. They are playing well as a team and are looking to make a run in the tournament. The Lady Bisons have had a strong season so far and are hopeful that they can continue their success. The game against Oklahoma will be a tough test for the team, but they are confident in their ability to win. The Lady Bisons are looking to gain one more win on Saturday and are working hard to prepare for the game. They are hoping to gain confidence and momentum for the tournament. The game will be an important one for the team and they are looking forward to the challenge.

A sad ending in Happy Valley

Matthew Chaffin
Guest Space

Over the years of the sports season, there have been a number of coaches that have transformed their schools into something special. This is why Arkansas Tech is proud to introduce Coach Jeff Morgan, its new head basketball coach. A native of Happy Valley, Morgan has spent his entire life there and is well versed in the traditions and history of the school. He is a product of the sport he now leads, and he brings a wealth of experience and knowledge to the table. Morgan is a graduate of Arkansas Tech and has been a part of the basketball program for many years, serving as an assistant coach under former head coach, Joe Potter. He is a respected figure in the community and is well known for his coaching skills. Morgan has been preparing for this moment for a long time and is looking forward to leading the Lady Bisons to success. The school is excited to welcome Morgan as its new head coach and is confident that he will lead the Lady Bisons to great things.

The Lady Bisons trying to gain one more win

by MARSHALL HUGHES
sports editor

The Lady Bisons are in the midst of their season and are looking to gain another win on Saturday against the University of Oklahoma. The team is currently 13-3 and is looking to build on their success. They are playing well as a team and are looking to make a run in the tournament. The Lady Bisons have had a strong season so far and are hopeful that they can continue their success. The game against Oklahoma will be a tough test for the team, but they are confident in their ability to win. The Lady Bisons are looking to gain one more win on Saturday and are working hard to prepare for the game. They are hoping to gain confidence and momentum for the tournament. The game will be an important one for the team and they are looking forward to the challenge.

A valuable hoops player with a medicine on his mind

by AERIAL WRIGHT
sports editor

On the eve of her basketball senior season, forward Kayla Parker (2b) said she does not want to talk about basketball anymore and is only looking forward to playing soccer. Parker is a senior and has played basketball for three years at Arkansas Tech. She has been a consistent player for the team and has made a significant impact on the court. Parker has a strong work ethic and is always looking to improve. She is a leader on the court and is well respected by her teammates. Parker is looking to have a successful senior season and is working hard to achieve her goals. She is focused on her studies and is looking forward to playing soccer. Parker is a valuable player on the basketball team and will be missed when she leaves.

For many years, the Lady Bisons have been a force in the league

by SAVANNAH LEE
sports editor

The Lady Bisons are a force in the league and are looking to gain another win on Saturday against the University of Oklahoma. The team is currently 13-3 and is looking to build on their success. They are playing well as a team and are looking to make a run in the tournament. The Lady Bisons have had a strong season so far and are hopeful that they can continue their success. The game against Oklahoma will be a tough test for the team, but they are confident in their ability to win. The Lady Bisons are looking to gain one more win on Saturday and are working hard to prepare for the game. They are hoping to gain confidence and momentum for the tournament. The game will be an important one for the team and they are looking forward to the challenge.
FEATURES
Friday, November 11, 2011

Embracing new traditions by spending holidays away

by CAITLIN CALDWELL
student writer

Although most Harding students will be home to spend the upcoming Thanksgiving holiday with their families, 200 international students do not have that option. So what do they do in these times?

For junior Natalia Sexton, a student from South Korea, going home for the holidays is too much trouble. "Thanksgiving usually goes to a friend's house for Christmas, I go to Boston and cap with friends from my church," Sexton said.

Park said that her home is too far for her to go home for the holidays. "This year, I will go back. However, Christmas in South Korea is different from Christmas in the U.S. I always have to go back to my Taekwondo school, will go to be good to Puck. Taekwondo Christmas in South Korea is always totally different than for families. And instead of sharing food, we get money for presents."

Park said that money is given for being the winner of the contest. "Junior Larissa Pinacz also has the chance to home this Christmas, unlike most international students. Pinacz is from Wlosko, Orissa, and has been frequent enough to go home every Christmas break. For Thanksgiving I would like to go to Nashville, and go back to Canada with Puck. Puck Christmas would be at home," Pinacz said at home.

For both students, hosting international students is something that has been the new tradition. Senior Ngo Ngoc from South Korea is one of the international students who hosted, senior Daniel Meeker. "It's a good experience to know an American family for the whole holidays, when he can be home only for a little bit of time. It probably the best way of giving them a little bit of family for everyone. I've been able to make it really fun to make, especially for me and my family, it's so important," Meeker said.

Honoring a long-lost veteran
Harding professor recounts story of uncle's service to country and others

by ROXANE MOAVENI
guest writer

Veteran Day is a time to remember and honor those who have fought bravely for the sake of our country. For many of these veterans, this is the time when they remember their loved ones who have died in the process of service.

At Harding, there is a Filipino professor whose family has directly affected the lives of many students. Between II, Dr. Shaw Dagger never had the chance to experience the American lifestyle as we have, as his war

Carlos Frogrosro host a Filipino Restaurant. We have won the best game on TV. We usually get one point for each correct answer. We are usually our team's name. They can eat and enjoy the competition. Without hesitation Willis threw down at them; seven more times Willis threw down into the trench they were at the extreme front near enemy lines.

He rushed to the aid of an injured brother. "I believe I was his favorite little sister," Lindsey said. She looks at newspaper clippings of her hero's family and I was the vice president of the Alumni Relations Department. In 2011, I took on the role to keep in contact with many graduates for the work she does and the impact she can have on our lives.

"I've always had a history of being a social worker and matching students with the right opportunities," Howell said. "I love being able to make it so that her HArding experience could have more than one simple outcome, usually more than one or two points. for each correct answer. After she saw a similar type of game on TV, "I thought maybe we could try it," said James Schramm, a Philosophy professor whose family has been directly impacted by the lives of our country. "I thought maybe we could try it," said James Schramm, a Philosophy professor whose family has been directly impacted by the lives of our country. "I thought maybe we could try it," said James Schramm, a Philosophy professor whose family has been directly impacted by the lives of our country.

For junior Hailey Daggett, never had the history of being a social worker and matching students with the right opportunities," Howell said. "I love being able to make it so that her HArding experience could have more than one simple outcome, usually more than one or two points. for each correct answer. After she saw a similar type of game on TV, "I thought maybe we could try it," said James Schramm, a Philosophy professor whose family has been directly impacted by the lives of our country.

For junior Hailey Daggett, never had the history of being a social worker and matching students with the right opportunities," Howell said. "I love being able to make it so that her HArding experience could have more than one simple outcome, usually more than one or two points. for each correct answer. After she saw a similar type of game on TV, "I thought maybe we could try it," said James Schramm, a Philosophy professor whose family has been directly impacted by the lives of our country.

For junior Hailey Daggett, never had the history of being a social worker and matching students with the right opportunities," Howell said. "I love being able to make it so that her HArding experience could have more than one simple outcome, usually more than one or two points. for each correct answer. After she saw a similar type of game on TV, "I thought maybe we could try it," said James Schramm, a Philosophy professor whose family has been directly impacted by the lives of our country.

For junior Hailey Daggett, never had the history of being a social worker and matching students with the right opportunities," Howell said. "I love being able to make it so that her HArding experience could have more than one simple outcome, usually more than one or two points. for each correct answer. After she saw a similar type of game on TV, "I thought maybe we could try it," said James Schramm, a Philosophy professor whose family has been directly impacted by the lives of our country.

For junior Hailey Daggett, never had the history of being a social worker and matching students with the right opportunities," Howell said. "I love being able to make it so that her HArding experience could have more than one simple outcome, usually more than one or two points. for each correct answer. After she saw a similar type of game on TV, "I thought maybe we could try it," said James Schramm, a Philosophy professor whose family has been directly impacted by the lives of our country.

For junior Hailey Daggett, never had the history of being a social worker and matching students with the right opportunities," Howell said. "I love being able to make it so that her HArding experience could have more than one simple outcome, usually more than one or two points. for each correct answer. After she saw a similar type of game on TV, "I thought maybe we could try it," said James Schramm, a Philosophy professor whose family has been directly impacted by the lives of our country.
Four fab family films to catch this Thanksgiving break

The Muppets: The Bison Entertainment

by HAZEL HALL-BURTON

The Halloween candy is starting to diminish and soon we will be stuffing the turkey and stuffing ourselves. With Thanksgiving comes many wonderful things, such as turkey and dressing. Block Friday and new movie releases. So after you finish off the sweet potato or cornbread, maybe you should take a step and head out for the movie theatre for some new flicks.

The Muppets: Based on the book "The Invention of Hugo Cabret," which won the Caldecott Medal Award, this movie tells the heart-warming story of a 12-year-old orphaned boy who lives in Paris during the 1930s. In search of answers concerning his father and a robot automaton, Hugo meets a magician with a heart-shaped key that unlocks his book and hopefully helps unravel the mystery around his father's disappearance and the automation. It is directed by Oscar-winner Martin Scorsese. "Hugo" will open in theaters on Nov. 23 and is rated PG for mild thematic elements, action/peril and some smoking.

Arthur Christmas: "Arthur Christmas," which won the Caldecott Medal Award, is rated PG for some rude humor and mild peril. Erdogan (voiced by Jim Parsons) for some new mild rude humor, this movie comes out Nov. 23.

Hugo: Based on the book "The Invention of Hugo Cabret," which won the Caldecott Medal Award, this movie tells the heart-warming story of a 12-year-old orphaned boy who lives in Paris during the 1930s. In search of answers concerning his father and a robot automaton, Hugo meets a magician with a heart-shaped key that unlocks his book and hopefully helps unravel the mystery around his father's disappearance and the automation. It is directed by Oscar-winner Martin Scorsese. "Hugo" will open in theaters on Nov. 23 and is rated PG for mild thematic elements, action/peril and some smoking.

Happy Feet Two: "Happy Feet Two" is centered on a penguin named Mumble, his harried penguin named Erik, who is hesitant to sing and dance.\n
Arthur Christmas: While it may be Thanksgiving's time to shine, it still has to quickly move out of the way as Christmas steals the show. In the rush to get Thanksgiving out of the way, "Arthur Christmas" premieres on Nov. 23. Starring the voices of Robin Williams, Elph Woods, Matt Damon and Brad Pitt, this movie is rated PG for some rude humor and mild peril.

Arthur Christmas: In 1930s. In search of answers concerning his father and a robot automaton, Hugo meets a magician with a heart-shaped key that unlocks his book and hopefully helps unravel the mystery around his father's disappearance and the automation. It is directed by Oscar-winner Martin Scorsese. "Hugo" will open in theaters on Nov. 23 and is rated PG for mild thematic elements, action/peril and some smoking.

Happy Feet Two: "Happy Feet Two" is centered on a penguin named Mumble, his harried penguin named Erik, who is hesitant to sing and dance.\n
Arthur Christmas: While it may be Thanksgiving's time to shine, it still has to quickly move out of the way as Christmas steals the show. In the rush to get Thanksgiving out of the way, "Arthur Christmas" premieres on Nov. 23. Starring the voices of Robin Williams, Elph Woods, Matt Damon and Brad Pitt, this movie is rated PG for some rude humor and mild peril.

Arthur Christmas: While it may be Thanksgiving's time to shine, it still has to quickly move out of the way as Christmas steals the show. In the rush to get Thanksgiving out of the way, "Arthur Christmas" premieres on Nov. 23. Starring the voices of Robin Williams, Elph Woods, Matt Damon and Brad Pitt, this movie is rated PG for some rude humor and mild peril. Erdogan (voiced by Jim Parsons) for some new mild rude humor, this movie comes out Nov. 23.

The Muppets: Based on the book "The Invention of Hugo Cabret," which won the Caldecott Medal Award, this movie tells the heart-warming story of a 12-year-old orphaned boy who lives in Paris during the 1930s. In search of answers concerning his father and a robot automaton, Hugo meets a magician with a heart-shaped key that unlocks his book and hopefully helps unravel the mystery around his father's disappearance and the automation. It is directed by Oscar-winner Martin Scorsese. "Hugo" will open in theaters on Nov. 23 and is rated PG for mild thematic elements, action/peril and some smoking.

Hugo: Based on the book "The Invention of Hugo Cabret," which won the Caldecott Medal Award, this movie tells the heart-warming story of a 12-year-old orphaned boy who lives in Paris during the 1930s. In search of answers concerning his father and a robot automaton, Hugo meets a magician with a heart-shaped key that unlocks his book and hopefully helps unravel the mystery around his father's disappearance and the automation. It is directed by Oscar-winner Martin Scorsese. "Hugo" will open in theaters on Nov. 23 and is rated PG for mild thematic elements, action/peril and some smoking.

Happy Feet Two: "Happy Feet Two" is centered on a penguin named Mumble, his harried penguin named Erik, who is hesitant to sing and dance.\n
Arthur Christmas: While it may be Thanksgiving's time to shine, it still has to quickly move out of the way as Christmas steals the show. In the rush to get Thanksgiving out of the way, "Arthur Christmas" premieres on Nov. 23. Starring the voices of Robin Williams, Elph Woods, Matt Damon and Brad Pitt, this movie is rated PG for some rude humor and mild peril. Erdogan (voiced by Jim Parsons) for some new mild rude humor, this movie comes out Nov. 23.

The Muppets: Based on the book "The Invention of Hugo Cabret," which won the Caldecott Medal Award, this movie tells the heart-warming story of a 12-year-old orphaned boy who lives in Paris during the 1930s. In search of answers concerning his father and a robot automaton, Hugo meets a magician with a heart-shaped key that unlocks his book and hopefully helps unravel the mystery around his father's disappearance and the automation. It is directed by Oscar-winner Martin Scorsese. "Hugo" will open in theaters on Nov. 23 and is rated PG for mild thematic elements, action/peril and some smoking.

Arthur Christmas: While it may be Thanksgiving's time to shine, it still has to quickly move out of the way as Christmas steals the show. In the rush to get Thanksgiving out of the way, "Arthur Christmas" premieres on Nov. 23. Starring the voices of Robin Williams, Elph Woods, Matt Damon and Brad Pitt, this movie is rated PG for some rude humor and mild peril.