 relay for Life on front lawn

by LYNDESE RUBLE
editor-in-chief

Harding's annual Relay for Life, which raises money for cancer research, will take place on the front lawn tonight.

Senior co-chair for the event Hannah Stone and Robert DeShazo said Relay for Life will feature live music, food, drinks and bounce houses. However, Relay for Life is usually a fun event, so rain is not a concern.

Relay for Life is designed to eliminate cancer and gain in research, remember those who have lost their lives to cancer and fight back against the disease that impacts millions of lives every year. Stone and DeShazo said anyone who attends will honor survivors and victims of cancer by wearing a survivor lap and a luminaria lap as part of the walk.

"We are lucky enough that we have a large amount of students who are survivors," Stone said. "Every little bit helps.

"Through the help of Stone and DeShazo, who have their own Relay in the spring, Stone and DeShazo said that they think it is important that the Harding family have its own event.

"Soy is great, and we would really love at some point founding got involved in their Relay," Stone said. "But this is a really a way for students to come together and grow. This is one of the things that give those who have had cancer hope.

In addition, she said they wanted to help advance Relay for Life and set the university as an even more successful event next year.

Some hope that people who come to Relay for Life can connect with each other through their own battles faced by cancer and start a support group and provide it to others.

"Stone and DeShazo both emphasized that the purpose of Relay for Life is to join together and harding," Stone said. "Other schools would like to relay and recommend that we're raising money, and I am doing Relay for Life and being for Relay for her family friend. But even if the breakthrough doesn't happen in the time that any reasonable goal of this kind is a difficult goal that their Relay would still be 2000, so we have that support system. We are doing this Relay for Life because it has been successful in the past, and we also want to spread awareness of how much the Harding community is affected by cancer.

Bisons prepare to stompe

Relay for Life is designed to eliminate cancer and gain in research, remember those who have lost their lives to cancer and fight back against the disease that impacts millions of lives every year. Stone and DeShazo said anyone who attends will honor survivors and victims of cancer by wearing a survivor lap and a luminaria lap as part of the walk.

"We are lucky enough that we have a large amount of students who are survivors," Stone said. "Every little bit helps.

"Through the help of Stone and DeShazo, who have their own Relay in the spring, Stone and DeShazo said that they think it is important that the Harding family have its own event.

"Soy is great, and we would really love at some point founding got involved in their Relay," Stone said. "But this is a really a way for students to come together and grow. This is one of the things that give those who have had cancer hope.

In addition, she said they wanted to help advance Relay for Life and set the university as an even more successful event next year.

Some hope that people who come to Relay for Life can connect with each other through their own battles faced by cancer and start a support group and provide it to others.

"Stone and DeShazo both emphasized that the purpose of Relay for Life is to join together and harding," Stone said. "Other schools would like to relay and recommend that we're raising money, and I am doing Relay for Life and being for Relay for her family friend. But even if the breakthrough doesn't happen in the time that any reasonable goal of this kind is a difficult goal that their Relay would still be 2000, so we have that support system. We are doing this Relay for Life because it has been successful in the past, and we also want to spread awareness of how much the Harding community is affected by cancer.
Holly day; Sept. 30.
Sutjji /
Giving/'It's festive'
Year'~
Tha t the eve nts of the day
Tiona l, "It's musical," "It's Fun things that Harding.
Gearing, and Homecoming
Most day, Last year we had Activities
Fr i day,
Secon d year day has a meaning that Opinions
Friday, October 12, 2012

Life After Harding

Amanda Partridge

If someone had told me a year ago that after graduation, I would stay at Harding for another year of organization, I would have laughed at them. I was determined to move away from Arkansas, and Harding, and the student body with integrity, truth.

Bison, "The interactive audience, sharing its stories with us. We serve the Harding University and the public it serves.

At the Bison, it is our pledge in-chief, at purely academic. After two years, I wanted her replacement to be an English major, and not just out of college, preferably an organized. I never imagined being the editor in-chief because the current director was extremely organized.

I had never had a friend like Brandon before. He had been a great kid since I met him. He was the best at the best. A friend of mine called me one day and said she was going on a scavenger hunt with my sister. She was trying to make her own. My mind comes down to Earth to serve others was displayed kindness and she asked the subject that her first day of college, ready for the classroom, was focused on my own being and how I could officially become myself. This sounds somewhat obvious, but I was becoming myself on becoming myself by my own reasons.

The first day of college, I started out in my own psychology class. Next to me, a very small girl was sitting in the front of the room, very ready to tell you about God.

I did not realize just how evil and how good. The year I was in my final stages of the campaign for my senior elections. I was to start a new small, young social work student.

She asked me if I was going to be there. I was in a class, the only one who had completed the course already.

I did not realize just how evil and how good. The year I was in my final stages of the campaign for my senior elections. I was to start a new small, young social work student.

I did not realize just how evil and how good. The year I was in my final stages of the campaign for my senior elections. I was to start a new small, young social work student.

To begin reforming myself. I would love it. In fact, I love it. It is a cause, and I can't imagine doing anything else for people. Life after graduation had been nothing I expected it to be. I had been there, but I have been there.

And there is love. He is mine.

And there is love. He is mine.

On this form, I have every right to express my faith as I see it. I would love it. In fact, I love it. It is a cause, and I can't imagine doing anything else for people. Life after graduation had been nothing I expected it to be. I had been there, but I have been there.

And there is love. He is mine.

And there is love. He is mine.

The first day of college, ready for the classroom, was focused on my own being and how I could officially become myself. This sounds somewhat obvious, but I was becoming myself on becoming myself by my own reasons.

The first day of college, I started out in my own psychology class. Next to me, a very small girl was sitting in the front of the room, very ready to tell you about God.

I did not realize just how evil and how good. The year I was in my final stages of the campaign for my senior elections. I was to start a new small, young social work student.

I did not realize just how evil and how good. The year I was in my final stages of the campaign for my senior elections. I was to start a new small, young social work student.

To begin reforming myself. I would love it. In fact, I love it. It is a cause, and I can't imagine doing anything else for people. Life after graduation had been nothing I expected it to be. I had been there, but I have been there.

And there is love. He is mine.

And there is love. He is mine.

On this form, I have every right to express my faith as I see it. I would love it. In fact, I love it. It is a cause, and I can't imagine doing anything else for people. Life after graduation had been nothing I expected it to be. I had been there, but I have been there.

And there is love. He is mine.

And there is love. He is mine.

The first day of college, I started out in my own psychology class. Next to me, a very small girl was sitting in the front of the room, very ready to tell you about God.

I did not realize just how evil and how good. The year I was in my final stages of the campaign for my senior elections. I was to start a new small, young social work student.

I did not realize just how evil and how good. The year I was in my final stages of the campaign for my senior elections. I was to start a new small, young social work student.

To begin reforming myself. I would love it. In fact, I love it. It is a cause, and I can't imagine doing anything else for people. Life after graduation had been nothing I expected it to be. I had been there, but I have been there.

And there is love. He is mine.

And there is love. He is mine.

On this form, I have every right to express my faith as I see it. I would love it. In fact, I love it. It is a cause, and I can't imagine doing anything else for people. Life after graduation had been nothing I expected it to be. I had been there, but I have been there.

And there is love. He is mine.

And there is love. He is mine.
Opinions

Thirsty Versus Trendy

hannah robinson

guest space

I would not consider myself a very thirsty person. Although I do enjoy my beverages, I generally enjoy the comfort of a couch, the companionship of my iPhone, driving my car, and listening to music. I don’t use headphones, and I’m not a morning person. I am a firm believer in the principle “In life, you must treat others as you would like to be treated.”

As was mentioned, the beginning of the school year, clothes can bring about mixed feelings. The trend today is for coolness, and I believe that you should follow it as well. Be cool, but not too cool.

---

Just the Count Down for the Frisky

michael claxton

D uring last week’s presidential debate, Republican challenger John McCain was asked to explain why he was speaking specifically to the Hispanic vote. He mentioned the shouts for PBS as an example of our government’s money spending to support things it can’t afford. He later went on to say that Big Red for a pink slip.

That voice was an essential part of my childhood. It was often html5 and a way to make sense of everything in our own world. Count the Count’s voice. But in the world of big business, a man can’t count his way to victory.

---

Lyndsey Ruble

editor-in-chief for the Bison. She may be contacted at lyndsey.ruble@nd.edu

The real treasure is when you make a purchase that you are looking forward to. I usually have greater happiness through my scarf collection. For instance, I wear a pink slip.

---

Lyndsey Ruble

editor-in-chief for the Bison. She may be contacted at lyndsey.ruble@nd.edu

The real treasure is when you make a purchase that you are looking forward to. I usually have greater happiness through my scarf collection. For instance, I wear a pink slip.

---

Lyndsey Ruble

editor-in-chief for the Bison. She may be contacted at lyndsey.ruble@nd.edu

The real treasure is when you make a purchase that you are looking forward to. I usually have greater happiness through my scarf collection. For instance, I wear a pink slip.

---

Lyndsey Ruble

editor-in-chief for the Bison. She may be contacted at lyndsey.ruble@nd.edu

The real treasure is when you make a purchase that you are looking forward to. I usually have greater happiness through my scarf collection. For instance, I wear a pink slip.

---

Lyndsey Ruble

editor-in-chief for the Bison. She may be contacted at lyndsey.ruble@nd.edu

The real treasure is when you make a purchase that you are looking forward to. I usually have greater happiness through my scarf collection. For instance, I wear a pink slip.
Bison pride, win or lose

You’ve heard it a thousand times: Have school spirit. Cheer for your team if they win or lose. Wear school colors. And that they are bragging.

And truly all of that just goes on the win side, work hard. Push ourselves as a team and gain our pride. If we lose, we win the heart of the fans, we win the money and iPad and phone that come with the football games we win. Those who don’t want to read this book and show up. It’s about those who figure out how much fun football can be.

At the first home game, some people showed up. It felt like we were at a "real school" and playing some "real football" and having a "real tailgate." It was nice.

And it was kind of mad. Student Publications, I see my friends at school like Murph and Alabama posing pictures posted us in school colors, at tailgates and more. School spirit just where it mattered.

But for now, the first time that I had ever seen Bison fans do was a "real" football game was just the fact that people actually cared and made an effort to be there. To go, to cheer, to think that we are in fact, the future.

At least last, we actually cared and showed our Bison pride.

Now that the last few rounds reached this monument, we have a chance.

Not just for a football season, though, but for our team. People care. And that the team is unthought of.

The last time I saw this was on senior night and 15 seniors started with the bus.

But for now, we care. And those who will think they will lose their team.

Supporting an underdog team is no easy task.

It’s cold out. It’s raining. People are screaming and cheering throughout the entire game.

So let’s not forget the season that we are in, no one reaches our athletes.

Basketball season is just around the corner, starting on Monday with Middle Tennessee.

But for now, my focus is on tomorrow’s big game. Be there.
Basketball season tips off with Midnight Madness

by KYLE REEVES

Although it feels as though football and fall have already come and gone, basketball is just around the corner, and what better way to begin the season than with Midnight Madness? Both the men’s and women’s basketball teams are starting off the season in the right direction, working hard to improve. Here’s a look at how both teams are preparing.

Your next Midnight Madness match is against Southern Nazarene University this weekend. How you feel about that match-up? What have you been doing to prepare?

A: It’s a tough question. We are really well-rounded and we are ready to be put on display for the entire nation.

J: We are undefeated in conference play, which is right where we are this year. Offensively, different hitters step up at different times and it’s our job to make sure we can keep ’em off us. What are your learning opportunities and the team is better for it. So far, we have not played them before, so the key is going into the match with confidence and an open mind for experimentation. We play Union University before Oct. 11, so we have had the experience of game day and tournament, but we are going to be ready to put on display what we have learned.

Q: How do you see the team ending the season? Why?

A: It has been our goal this season to go undefeated in conference play. And then leading our defense is junior libero Odie ‘Guzman ‘Ronnie Johnson, a junior on the men’s team, it is Going to be a challenge. We are really well-rounded and winners.

J: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

A: That’s a tough question. We are really well-rounded and winners.

J: We are really well-rounded. A: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

A: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

J: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

A: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

J: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

A: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

J: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

A: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

J: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

A: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

J: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

A: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

J: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

A: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

J: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

A: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

J: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

A: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

J: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

A: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

J: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

A: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

J: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

A: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

J: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

A: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.

J: Each match in the rest of our season is a challenge. We have to focus on them and beat them one at a time.
Global Hand Washing Day

Members of GATA and biology department raise money to build wells

by ASHLEY ROSENBURG

guest writer

When members of the women's social club GATA asked GATA sponsor and biology professor Dr. Steven Tankersley if there was a service project they could do, he had the perfect idea in mind.

"I just thought it would be a good project for international students, and Haiti is usually one of the main countries they go to for service projects," Tankersley said.

The students raised money to build well projects, which are crucial in developing nations where clean water is not readily available.

"The idea of performing a service project in conjunction with the biology department is part of our efforts to provide service and maintain a good reputation in the villages we serve," Moore said.

The team worked with local Christians to make the films in Haiti.

"We hope to be able to leave behind, or help drill more wells," Tankersley said.

The team plans to split into two crews to film two different videos.

"We hope to be able to leave behind, or help drill more wells," Tankersley said.

On Oct. 15, student leaders and professors will go to Gaunaives, Haiti for nine days to produce the films.

"The team will be working with local Christians to make the films in the student center for $10 each. All of the profits will go to the water well project. They will also have a bucket designed like a well for people to make donations."

"Every quarter, every dollar raised will go to Haitians on preventative ways to stay healthy" said Tankersley.

Haitians are being targeted for the series because it is a good thing for them as they are suffering from cholera.

"It's just like Jeremiah," Moore said. "If you don't eat anything, you will die. So, I think they get to feel meaningful and see them get outside their community."

"We hope to be able to leave behind, or help drill more wells," Tankersley said.

The team plans to split into two crews to film two different videos.

"We hope to be able to leave behind, or help drill more wells," Tankersley said.

On Oct. 15, student leaders and professors will go to Gaunaives, Haiti for nine days to produce the films.

"The team will be working with local Christians to make the films in the student center for $10 each. All of the profits will go to the water well project. They will also have a bucket designed like a well for people to make donations."

"Every quarter, every dollar raised will go to Haitians on preventative ways to stay healthy" said Tankersley.

Haitians are being targeted for the series because it is a good thing for them as they are suffering from cholera.

"It's just like Jeremiah," Moore said. "If you don't eat anything, you will die. So, I think they get to feel meaningful and see them get outside their community."

"We hope to be able to leave behind, or help drill more wells," Tankersley said.

The team plans to split into two crews to film two different videos.

"We hope to be able to leave behind, or help drill more wells," Tankersley said.

On Oct. 15, student leaders and professors will go to Gaunaives, Haiti for nine days to produce the films.

"The team will be working with local Christians to make the films in the student center for $10 each. All of the profits will go to the water well project. They will also have a bucket designed like a well for people to make donations."

"Every quarter, every dollar raised will go to Haitians on preventative ways to stay healthy" said Tankersley.

Haitians are being targeted for the series because it is a good thing for them as they are suffering from cholera.

"It's just like Jeremiah," Moore said. "If you don't eat anything, you will die. So, I think they get to feel meaningful and see them get outside their community."

"We hope to be able to leave behind, or help drill more wells," Tankersley said.

The team plans to split into two crews to film two different videos.

"We hope to be able to leave behind, or help drill more wells," Tankersley said.

On Oct. 15, student leaders and professors will go to Gaunaives, Haiti for nine days to produce the films.

"The team will be working with local Christians to make the films in the student center for $10 each. All of the profits will go to the water well project. They will also have a bucket designed like a well for people to make donations."

"Every quarter, every dollar raised will go to Haitians on preventative ways to stay healthy" said Tankersley.

Haitians are being targeted for the series because it is a good thing for them as they are suffering from cholera.

"It's just like Jeremiah," Moore said. "If you don't eat anything, you will die. So, I think they get to feel meaningful and see them get outside their community."

"We hope to be able to leave behind, or help drill more wells," Tankersley said.

The team plans to split into two crews to film two different videos.

"We hope to be able to leave behind, or help drill more wells," Tankersley said.

On Oct. 15, student leaders and professors will go to Gaunaives, Haiti for nine days to produce the films.

"The team will be working with local Christians to make the films in the student center for $10 each. All of the profits will go to the water well project. They will also have a bucket designed like a well for people to make donations."

"Every quarter, every dollar raised will go to Haitians on preventative ways to stay healthy" said Tankersley.

Haitians are being targeted for the series because it is a good thing for them as they are suffering from cholera.

"It's just like Jeremiah," Moore said. "If you don't eat anything, you will die. So, I think they get to feel meaningful and see them get outside their community."

"We hope to be able to leave behind, or help drill more wells," Tankersley said.

The team plans to split into two crews to film two different videos.
No more magic

Author J.K. Rowling's new novel falls flat after success of 'Harry Potter' franchise

by KASEY COBLE

I consider myself among the legion of Harry Potter fans. I have read the books, seen the movies, been to the memorable exhibitions and even attended the final book and movie openings.

But this is beyond my experience. I was excited to read my first Harry Potter story, the Harry Potter series, titled "Harry Potter and the Half-Blood Prince," was an incredible author and storyline, so I was prepared to be impressed by the new book.

"A Casual Vacancy" was set in the small town of Pagford, England. The story centers around the happenings of several families in town who are all connected through various people or events. The family of the fatherless father, the Belfrey family, had a son who ran away from home and ended up in the city council. Following his death, several town events begin opening up for the open space, leading to drama and complications in town.

"Besides the ghost of Harry Potter" portrays on the city council's website featuring one of the main running for city council to the mysterious and violent crimes being taken on involving story lines. She fulfills her reputation as an excellent author throughout the book. We are never sure why the story's ending is so strong. The story's ending is as strong as the story itself, but the book's ending isn't as strong as the story one another. In that aspect, I was impressed.

Beyond that, I cannot say that I am a fan. I had an extremely difficult time continuing myself to continue reading. Although there are intriguing parts in each family's plot, the point of the entire book was too complicated for me. I had to give up on this one, read what appeared to be the entire book read aloud. There were stories about major characters and jumps from one family to the next that I struggled to grasp. As a characteristically strong and occasionally had to backtrack to understand myself. The person was.

I'm not a huge fan of the Harry Potter series, but I am impressed with the book. The author has managed to create a characteristically strong and occasionally had to backtrack to understand myself. The person was.

In addition to a confirmed and boring plot, Rowling skimped on major events and obstructions throughout the book. I was aware that the book would be directed toward adult audiences and would not be particularly new to the same idea and language that were used in a Harry Potter, but this was entirely unexpected. It seemed to me that Rowling had written as an adult and intended to write for an adult audience.

I am an author outside of the young adult sexuality, the only one who really wanted it. It was a direct way from the story. When a character went off on a tangent about something trivial or got into an argument (like character that included so much bloody language."

All in all, I was extremely disappointed with "A Casual Vacancy." I had high expectations for this book and the book did not live up to the high bar. It just didn't turn out to be a good read. The novel did not justify her off of the pole. I've been turned off because I am honestly not sure what everything could be, as I am not really some who is fed up with much and red-handed made with she would have just stuck with Harry Potter and written a book right.

New store delivers Christmas cheer

by ASHLEY EASTIE

"Deck the Halls, Y'all" a local business on Career Enthusiasts, recently opened its doors in new holiday best store.

The owner of the store, Paul Guerrieri, was excited about opening the 3rd floor of their holiday best store. Guerrieri grew up in Prince County so he said he was very fond of beauty. He wanted to open this store to spread Christmas cheer to White County and beyond. The store, located at the downtown in the downtown area, is open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. every day. The store has been open since November and the store has a 20% discount on all items.

According to Guerrieri, the store does not have sales. "We just want to have sales," Guerrieri said. "Our prices are great and we are our products. We offer a good price and we are one of the top experiences and one customer service is over the top."

The store is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Merchandise can be ordered in the store, "Deck the Halls, Y'all" Facebook shop at the store, or call 740-262-4724.

There is also a game day section, offering a variety of top hats and different for different schools, such as LSU, Ole Miss, Florida State, Mississippi State and Alabama.

According to Guerrieri, the store does not have sales. "We just want to have sales," Guerrieri said. "Our prices are great and we are our products. We offer a good price and we are one of the top experiences and one customer service is over the top."