4-5-2013

The Bison, April 5, 2013

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.harding.edu/thebison

Recommended Citation
The farmers' market remains a favorite for some of the farmers. Said one farmer, "We love Searcy and are essential to the community, and our employees. Goodwill is a tremendous partner since the fire, that handsome industries of Arkansas said on its website, the local Goodwill caught fire and suffered complete loss. It is currently investigating the fire and is sure there are no signs of arson. "If anything bad is something we need to investigate, we get from there," Jennifer Dozer, a spokesperson for the Searcy Fire Department, said in an Arkansas Online article. According to KTBS news, the authorities claim that the fire began at the back of the store and spread to the roof. The investigation is still under way.
Race to be Pure, Highlighter Run to amp up for moral pursuit

by KASEY CORNER staff writer

On April 6, Harding will host its first ever “Race to be Pure,” a new summer camp created by the Bible Department. It will bring together students for 36 hours of total abstinence from smoking, drinking, and any form of sexual activity.

David Walker, Lash Bone, assistant basketball coach, said he came up with the idea for the Race to be Pure after several people he knew participated in Race for the Cure and he realized that a race could create a community to support the participants. “(I thought it) would be sort of if you did something similar, but for a moral cause and just a social cause — to promote something that’s Biblical,” David Walker said.

David Walker said he quickly decided that he wanted to do something like that the next day to commit and get the ball rolling. Walker said he pitched the idea to the members of his Wednesday night devotional, and after winning their support, he began nailing down the specifics.

As he was planning the Race to be Pure, David Walker said he wanted to make sure people understood that the race to open to everyone — not only for those who consider themselves to be “pure.” “All we’re asking is for people that feel like purity is something worth striving for, that it’s a worthy pursuit, and regardless of what your past is, that as of now you’re trying to pursue purity in all aspects of your life,” David Walker said.

Walker said a lot of students associate purity with social purity, and that is a big part of it ...

“One of the purposes of this program is to introduce students to the idea that they could serve God in a lifetime of full pursuit of its purposes.”

Bible professor Dr. David Swidler said, “They students who show the potential for spiritual leadership should be encouraged by their parents, professors, youth ministers to pay attention to their calling. Hopefully we will be able to give these students career options that they’ve never considered, and to serve the church by teaching young and more young people with a heart to serve.”

The most of the camp ($100), which includes meals and housing for the entire weekend, will go toward purchasing the necessary supplies for the race and to raise awareness, and all other activities that are paying for the production of the camp.

The hope of the College of Bible and Ministry is to introduce students to the “Kerusso Experience”. Senior Brooke Walker, previously volunteered for the camp, wants students to begin living out their faith.

photo by ASHEL PARSONS / Student Publications

The Regina, Chi Sigma Alpha, OEGE and Sigma Phi Mei Spring Sing group took won the John H. Ryan Sweepstakes last Saturday night for the 40th Anniversary show featured seven distinct groups instead of the normal six, making it true to this year’s theme of “Larger Than Life.”

by KASEY CORNER staff writer

On April 6, Harding will host its first ever “Race to be Pure,” a new summer camp created by the Bible Department. It will bring together students for 36 hours of total abstinence from smoking, drinking, and any form of sexual activity.

David Walker, Lash Bone, assistant basketball coach, said he came up with the idea for the Race to be Pure after several people he knew participated in Race for the Cure and he realized that a race could create a community to support the participants. “(I thought it) would be sort of if you did something similar, but for a moral cause and just a social cause — to promote something that’s Biblical,” David Walker said.

David Walker said he quickly decided that he wanted to do something like that the next day to commit and get the ball rolling. Walker said he pitched the idea to the members of his Wednesday night devotional, and after winning their support, he began nailing down the specifics.

As he was planning the Race to be Pure, David Walker said he wanted to make sure people understood that the race to open to everyone — not only for those who consider themselves to be “pure.” “All we’re asking is for people that feel like purity is something worth striving for, that it’s a worthy pursuit, and regardless of what your past is, that as of now you’re trying to pursue purity in all aspects of your life,” David Walker said.

Walker said a lot of students associate purity with social purity, and that is a big part of it ...

“One of the purposes of this program is to introduce students to the idea that they could serve God in a lifetime of full pursuit of its purposes.”

Bible professor Dr. David Swidler said, “They students who show the potential for spiritual leadership should be encouraged by their parents, professors, youth ministers to pay attention to their calling. Hopefully we will be able to give these students career options that they’ve never considered, and to serve the church by teaching young and more young people with a heart to serve.”

The most of the camp ($100), which includes meals and housing for the entire weekend, will go toward purchasing the necessary supplies for the race and to raise awareness, and all other activities that are paying for the production of the camp.

The hope of the College of Bible and Ministry is to introduce students to the “Kerusso Experience”. Senior Brooke Walker, previously volunteered for the camp, wants students to begin living out their faith.

By KASEY CORNER

The College of Bible and Ministry will be kicking off a new summer camp called “The Kerusso Experience” for young men in grades 9-12 interested in pursuing a career in the ministry. The department creates camp for young men interested in the ministry. The department creates for up-and-coming ministers to those who have never considered, training up more and more those who consider themselves to be “pure,” “All we’re asking is for people that feel like purity is something worth striving for, that it’s a worthy pursuit, and regardless of what your past is, that as of now you’re trying to pursue purity in all aspects of your life,” David Walker said.

Walker said a lot of students associate purity with social purity, and that is a big part of it ...

“One of the purposes of this program is to introduce students to the idea that they could serve God in a lifetime of full pursuit of its purposes.”

Bible professor Dr. David Swidler said, “They students who show the potential for spiritual leadership should be encouraged by their parents, professors, youth ministers to pay attention to their calling. Hopefully we will be able to give these students career options that they’ve never considered, and to serve the church by teaching young and more young people with a heart to serve.”

The most of the camp ($100), which includes meals and housing for the entire weekend, will go toward purchasing the necessary supplies for the race and to raise awareness, and all other activities that are paying for the production of the camp.

The hope of the College of Bible and Ministry is to introduce students to the “Kerusso Experience”. Senior Brooke Walker, previously volunteered for the camp, wants students to begin living out their faith.
It's Great to Be at Harding

James Morgan

guest space

I didn't own a pair of Toms or a Coach bag. I am from Rome, Italy, and my wardrobe consisted of sandals and a few pairs of shorts. While at Harding, I had the ability to go to two different mission trips with the Harding University Missions program and go to Panama, during a month in a mission trip. I am not an expert in communications, but the one thing that I want to talk about is the care and support that my family has provided me. My family is a huge part of my life. The most important thing about doing short-term missions is the people that we will interact with, as they are the ones that will shape us and influence our decisions. The healthy refreshment of "tall tales" provides a wealth of information and an understanding of what others have experienced. The purpose of this speech is to encourage students to take the opportunity to serve others and to learn from their own experiences.

Away We Went: Redefining Short-Term Missions Responses

Virginia "VV" Vitalone

guest space

I was really up for not seeing these college students anymore, other people name my faith and helped me grow as a Christian. During our time in Panama, I had the opportunity to share my faith with others and influence them. The most important thing to remember is that we are not alone in our efforts. We need to work together and build a strong base of support. We can do this by creating a team of people that are committed to the mission and working together to achieve our goals.

We are starting early to go out and make disciples and even the furthering of God's kingdom. We are not alone in our efforts, but we are working together as a team. In Panama, we planned meals in the local community and met people on the streets. The kingdom is not just for the wealthy, but for all people, including those who are struggling. We are not doing this for a brief moment, but for the furthering of God's kingdom.

Virginia "VV" Vitalone is a guest contributor for the Bison. She may be contacted at vitaloneh飾@gmail.com.
LYNDESY RUBLE
Moral of the Story

Health Care Needs New Solutions

You’re just graduated. Bills are pouring in from your student loans and your internship is unpaid. Your credit card is maxed out on a purchase you can’t return that comes with an exorbitant shipping charge. Your friends are going on Twitter to ask for $300 to help them pay off a hospital bill for the Bison. Your student nurses are serving the health care industry to ensure that the single-payer system will fit the bill. We skipped class and continued to ignore the question of why are the health care programs and ask who is benefiting from an uninsured patient in Texas and an overpriced cancer medication, costs an uninsured patient in Texas and an overpriced cancer medication, costs a Medicare patient.

Hospitals have turned what is supposed to be a service into a business, because they are now paid by Medicare, and the government is paying them. Hospitals turn a profit by overcharging. This is known as the “bundled charge” system. Hospitals can charge whatever they want for a service, and the government will pay. This is a system that works against the public interest.

A just society is one in which everyone has access to the goods and services that they need. This includes healthcare. In a just society, everyone should have access to healthcare. This is not the case in the United States. In fact, the United States has the highest rate of uninsured people in the world.

In conclusion, the government needs to take action to ensure that everyone has access to healthcare. This can be done by implementing a single-payer system, which would ensure that everyone has access to healthcare at a reasonable cost. Additionally, the government should work to reduce the cost of healthcare by negotiating prices with pharmaceutical companies and hospitals.

Just the Claxx

Apostrophe Catastrophe

Michael Claxton

Politics: Young Adults Have Responsibility to Be Involved

BETHANY NICHOLSON
guest speaker

Trish the Bison

Friday, April 5, 2013

Patrick was very surprised by...
Uncle Bud
Waddell sets record for career wins

Senior pitcher Lucas Waddell walked in the happening of the conference record for most career wins on Saturday at the GAC tournament in Enid, Oklahoma. Waddell had a perfect match against Christian Brothers College, which ranked very high in the conference. Waddell took home the GAC tournament Most Valuable Player award.

Waddell’s perfect match was his 20th of the season, putting him on the cusp of breaking the Harding record for perfect matches. Waddell’srecord is now 3-2-1.

Seniors pitcher Lucas Waddell walks in the happening of the conference record for most career wins on Saturday at the GAC tournament in Enid, Oklahoma. Waddell had a perfect match against Christian Brothers College, which ranked very high in the conference. Waddell took home the GAC tournament Most Valuable Player award.

Waddell’s perfect match was his 20th of the season, putting him on the cusp of breaking the Harding record for perfect matches. Waddell’srecord is now 3-2-1.

Lucas Waddell walks in the happening of the conference record for most career wins on Saturday at the GAC tournament in Enid, Oklahoma. Waddell had a perfect match against Christian Brothers College, which ranked very high in the conference. Waddell took home the GAC tournament Most Valuable Player award.

Waddell’s perfect match was his 20th of the season, putting him on the cusp of breaking the Harding record for perfect matches. Waddell’srecord is now 3-2-1.

Lucas Waddell walks in the happening of the conference record for most career wins on Saturday at the GAC tournament in Enid, Oklahoma. Waddell had a perfect match against Christian Brothers College, which ranked very high in the conference. Waddell took home the GAC tournament Most Valuable Player award.

Waddell’s perfect match was his 20th of the season, putting him on the cusp of breaking the Harding record for perfect matches. Waddell’srecord is now 3-2-1.

Lucas Waddell walks in the happening of the conference record for most career wins on Saturday at the GAC tournament in Enid, Oklahoma. Waddell had a perfect match against Christian Brothers College, which ranked very high in the conference. Waddell took home the GAC tournament Most Valuable Player award.

Waddell’s perfect match was his 20th of the season, putting him on the cusp of breaking the Harding record for perfect matches. Waddell’srecord is now 3-2-1.

Lucas Waddell walks in the happening of the conference record for most career wins on Saturday at the GAC tournament in Enid, Oklahoma. Waddell had a perfect match against Christian Brothers College, which ranked very high in the conference. Waddell took home the GAC tournament Most Valuable Player award.

Waddell’s perfect match was his 20th of the season, putting him on the cusp of breaking the Harding record for perfect matches. Waddell’srecord is now 3-2-1.

Lucas Waddell walks in the happening of the conference record for most career wins on Saturday at the GAC tournament in Enid, Oklahoma. Waddell had a perfect match against Christian Brothers College, which ranked very high in the conference. Waddell took home the GAC tournament Most Valuable Player award.

Waddell’s perfect match was his 20th of the season, putting him on the cusp of breaking the Harding record for perfect matches. Waddell’srecord is now 3-2-1.

Lucas Waddell walks in the happening of the conference record for most career wins on Saturday at the GAC tournament in Enid, Oklahoma. Waddell had a perfect match against Christian Brothers College, which ranked very high in the conference. Waddell took home the GAC tournament Most Valuable Player award.

Waddell’s perfect match was his 20th of the season, putting him on the cusp of breaking the Harding record for perfect matches. Waddell’srecord is now 3-2-1.

Lucas Waddell walks in the happening of the conference record for most career wins on Saturday at the GAC tournament in Enid, Oklahoma. Waddell had a perfect match against Christian Brothers College, which ranked very high in the conference. Waddell took home the GAC tournament Most Valuable Player award.

Waddell’s perfect match was his 20th of the season, putting him on the cusp of breaking the Harding record for perfect matches. Waddell’srecord is now 3-2-1.

Lucas Waddell walks in the happening of the conference record for most career wins on Saturday at the GAC tournament in Enid, Oklahoma. Waddell had a perfect match against Christian Brothers College, which ranked very high in the conference. Waddell took home the GAC tournament Most Valuable Player award.

Waddell’s perfect match was his 20th of the season, putting him on the cusp of breaking the Harding record for perfect matches. Waddell’srecord is now 3-2-1.

Lucas Waddell walks in the happening of the conference record for most career wins on Saturday at the GAC tournament in Enid, Oklahoma. Waddell had a perfect match against Christian Brothers College, which ranked very high in the conference. Waddell took home the GAC tournament Most Valuable Player award.

Waddell’s perfect match was his 20th of the season, putting him on the cusp of breaking the Harding record for perfect matches. Waddell’srecord is now 3-2-1.

Lucas Waddell walks in the happening of the conference record for most career wins on Saturday at the GAC tournament in Enid, Oklahoma. Waddell had a perfect match against Christian Brothers College, which ranked very high in the conference. Waddell took home the GAC tournament Most Valuable Player award.

Waddell’s perfect match was his 20th of the season, putting him on the cusp of breaking the Harding record for perfect matches. Waddell’srecord is now 3-2-1.

Lucas Waddell walks in the happening of the conference record for most career wins on Saturday at the GAC tournament in Enid, Oklahoma. Waddell had a perfect match against Christian Brothers College, which ranked very high in the conference. Waddell took home the GAC tournament Most Valuable Player award.

Waddell’s perfect match was his 20th of the season, putting him on the cusp of breaking the Harding record for perfect matches. Waddell’srecord is now 3-2-1.

Lucas Waddell walks in the happening of the conference record for most career wins on Saturday at the GAC tournament in Enid, Oklahoma. Waddell had a perfect match against Christian Brothers College, which ranked very high in the conference. Waddell took home the GAC tournament Most Valuable Player award.

Waddell’s perfect match was his 20th of the season, putting him on the cusp of breaking the Harding record for perfect matches. Waddell’srecord is now 3-2-1.

Lucas Waddell walks in the happening of the conference record for most career wins on Saturday at the GAC tournament in Enid, Oklahoma. Waddell had a perfect match against Christian Brothers College, which ranked very high in the conference. Waddell took home the GAC tournament Most Valuable Player award.

Waddell’s perfect match was his 20th of the season, putting him on the cusp of breaking the Harding record for perfect matches. Waddell’srecord is now 3-2-1.
Fantasies and brackets: making sports your own game

by ANGEL P. MARCOS

For sports fans, this month is a sure sign that spring is on the way. Spring sports have arrived, and the post-season is right around the corner. Whether you’re a fan of collegiate or professional play, NCAA tournaments are sure to catch your interest. The tournament season is in full swing and there’s something for everyone to love following their favorite teams and athletes.

Our Athletes’ Views on Pop Culture

questions

What are you most looking forward to this summer?
If you could meet any celebrity, who would it be?
What’s your biggest fear?
What’s your biggest guilty pleasure?
What’s one of your pet peeves?

Fantasies and brackets: making sports your own game
Sports Friday, April 5, 2013

Fantasy sports fans love to devote their time and attention to their favorite teams and athletes. During the NCAA basketball season, fans and non-fans alike take it a step further, participating in bracket challenges throughout the country, in workplaces, schools, families and even among groups of friends. More than three million people filled out brackets on ESPN.com last year.

Many fans also apply their sports analytic skills to fantasy sports leagues, taking chances and betting on individual players. Why do fans devote so much time outside of actually watching the games in this era of digital dimension?

To see the vast majority of people with no experience in the locker room as fans enjoy the thrill of building pools and fantasy sports as the line is drawn entirely between the games and for those who enjoy the thrill of not knowing the outcome of the games and their own players and follow them through in their careers.

Each year, for the past few years, I have filled out an NCAA Tournament bracket. Even though I do not follow college basketball very closely, I love to do a little research and to predict who will make it far.

Fantasy sports, however, do not always live up to their high hopes. I have seen plenty of friends lose every game, and many more lose every year.

Fantasy sports put a lot of weight behind each individual player and their personal statistics. The main reason I stay away from fantasy sports leagues, however, is simply the amount of time and attention I need to fill out a bracket. Then there's actually trying to fill out every game, so all of my choices mean more than a lot. With a fantasy sports team, I have to put in the hours of playing performances over the course of a whole season, and be ready to make smart trades to increase my chances of winning by the end of the season.

I recommend not to buy a team behind fantasy sports fans, however. Obviously, the success behind joining a fantasy league seems to be the same as the real one, bringing a fantasy team bringing some rights, some sense of personal accomplishment and a communal level of action beyond simply watching the games.

Track continues to break records

by ANGEL P. MARCOS

Our Athletes’ Views on Pop Culture

questions

What are you most looking forward to this summer?
If you could meet any celebrity, who would it be?
What’s your biggest fear?
What’s your biggest guilty pleasure?
What’s one of your pet peeves?

Fantasy sports fans love to devote their time and attention to their favorite teams and athletes. During the NCAA basketball season, fans and non-fans alike take it a step further, participating in bracket challenges throughout the country, in workplaces, schools, families and even among groups of friends.

More than three million people filled out brackets on ESPN.com last year.

Many fans also apply their sports analytic skills to fantasy sports leagues, taking chances and betting on individual players. Why do fans devote so much time outside of actually watching the games in this era of digital dimension?

To see the vast majority of people with no experience in the locker room as fans enjoy the thrill of building pools and fantasy sports as the line is drawn entirely between the games and for those who enjoy the thrill of not knowing the outcome of the games and their own players and follow them through in their careers.

Each year, for the past few years, I have filled out an NCAA Tournament bracket. Even though I do not follow college basketball very closely, I love to do a little research and to predict who will make it far.

Fantasy sports, however, do not always live up to their high hopes. I have seen plenty of friends lose every game, and many more lose every year.

Fantasy sports put a lot of weight behind each individual player and their personal statistics. The main reason I stay away from fantasy sports leagues, however, is simply the amount of time and attention I need to fill out a bracket. Then there's actually trying to fill out every game, so all of my choices mean more than a lot. With a fantasy sports team, I have to put in the hours of playing performances over the course of a whole season, and be ready to make smart trades to increase my chances of winning by the end of the season.

I recommend not to buy a team behind fantasy sports fans, however. Obviously, the success behind joining a fantasy league seems to be the same as the real one, bringing a fantasy team bringing some rights, some sense of personal accomplishment and a communal level of action beyond simply watching the games.

Track continues to break records

by ANGEL P. MARCOS

Our Athletes’ Views on Pop Culture

questions

What are you most looking forward to this summer?
If you could meet any celebrity, who would it be?
What’s your biggest fear?
What’s your biggest guilty pleasure?
What’s one of your pet peeves?
Communications to the court that in recent building projects during those years, a significant change and a departure from the Harding institutions was all new to them. Besides, it wasn’t as if Harding was the first building to try to find a way to have the railroad tracks that were not part of the campus, so basically people could get in and out of there at that time Rhodes, "Maybe an idea from a disciplinary point of view, it ought to be - you are Burks said. "The fact of the matter is, the faculty preferred two chapels, and I preferred one, I went with the bigger group, which is the faculty, and they preferred two, like the one, simply because like being together, but from a disciplinary point of view, it was better."

We felt like we jumped from the 1950s to the 2000s in a week.

William Waddill Class of 1999

Former student Philip Murphy senior, geography major, on how two chapel services first from the administration in the fall semester of 1996. As president, Dr. David Burks oversaw the addition of the chapel and an entrance to campus from Bonnie Capps, as well as the removal of railroad tracks at Park Avenue in 1997.

Dealing with growth

Part 3: Dr. Burks faces challenges of Harding’s expanding student body

by MATTHEW

Dr. Burks added to his growing list of projects as he continued to face challenges of expansion. "Harding’s existing resources were not enough," he said. "We needed to be building new facilities and we needed to be looking at the campus for future growth." Beginning in 1997, one of the first items created was a chapel. Burks was the design being done today, just a lot of things fell into place, a lot of the right people came together. Everyone in town will remember this is the first they had. It happened. It’s been a blessing. I think, in the campus because it opened up things and made it a lot more possible during the planning process."

"Among the changes on campus that I’ve seen in years past is the addition of the Rhodes Hall house. And of course, I’ve been able to see the renovation of the umbrella, the campus center to 11 a.m., the student center to 11 a.m., the Magnolia, and the food center." Burks said he saw the addition of the Rhodes Hall house as a huge bureaucracy instead of a huge bureaucracy in terms of hiring and personnel planning. "The building, built with brick and timber salvaged from the railroad tracks," Burks added. "The building, built with brick and timber salvaged from the railroad tracks that were not part of the campus, so basically people could get in and out of there at that time Rhodes, "Maybe an idea from a disciplinary point of view, it ought to be - you are Burks said. "The fact of the matter is, the faculty preferred two chapels, and I preferred one, I went with the bigger group, which is the faculty, and they preferred two, like the one, simply because like being together, but from a disciplinary point of view, it was better."

We felt like we jumped from the 1950s to the 2000s in a week.

William Waddill Class of 1999

Former student Philip Murphy senior, geography major, on how two chapel services first from the administration in the fall semester of 1996. As president, Dr. David Burks oversaw the addition of the chapel and an entrance to campus from Bonnie Capps, as well as the removal of railroad tracks at Park Avenue in 1997.

Dealing with growth

Part 3: Dr. Burks faces challenges of Harding’s expanding student body

by MATTHEW

Dr. Burks added to his growing list of projects as he continued to face challenges of expansion. "Harding’s existing resources were not enough," he said. "We needed to be building new facilities and we needed to be looking at the campus for future growth." Beginning in 1997, one of the first items created was a chapel. Burks was the design being done today, just a lot of things fell into place, a lot of the right people came together. Everyone in town will remember this is the first they had. It happened. It’s been a blessing. I think, in the campus because it opened up things and made it a lot more possible during the planning process."

"Among the changes on campus that I’ve seen in years past is the addition of the Rhodes Hall house. And of course, I’ve been able to see the renovation of the umbrella, the campus center to 11 a.m., the student center to 11 a.m., the Magnolia, and the food center." Burks said he saw the addition of the Rhodes Hall house as a huge bureaucracy instead of a huge bureaucracy in terms of hiring and personnel planning. "The building, built with brick and timber salvaged from the railroad tracks," Burks added. "The building, built with brick and timber salvaged from the railroad tracks that were not part of the campus, so basically people could get in and out of there at that time Rhodes, "Maybe an idea from a disciplinary point of view, it ought to be - you are Burks said. "The fact of the matter is, the faculty preferred two chapels, and I preferred one, I went with the bigger group, which is the faculty, and they preferred two, like the one, simply because like being together, but from a disciplinary point of view, it was better."

We felt like we jumped from the 1950s to the 2000s in a week.

William Waddill Class of 1999

Former student Philip Murphy senior, geography major, on how two chapel services first from the administration in the fall semester of 1996. As president, Dr. David Burks oversaw the addition of the chapel and an entrance to campus from Bonnie Capps, as well as the removal of railroad tracks at Park Avenue in 1997.
Tropical Smoothie has a college night every Thursday and Friday. If you enjoy a smoothie and try it out for yourself, you'll find it's nice and warm, but at this rate, we might as well be honest with ourselves and give up an outdoor eating area if the weather doesn't improve. For those of you on the go, you can go through and try various smoothie ingredients. You also have the option to add ground perked and green tea. If you're feeling like a nestle, you can have the smoothie with healthy, mind-ed ingredients. You also have the option to add milk, fruit juice, or even whey proteins and special stress defense ingredients to your smoothie to help keep you on track.

Tropical Smoothie offers “Lollie & Lip-smacking” smoothies with health-minded ingredient choices. You also have the option to add green tea, whey proteins, or even whey proteins and special stress defense ingredients to your smoothie to help keep you on track.

Tropical Smoothie has a college night every Thursday and Friday. If you enjoy a smoothie and try it out for yourself, you'll find it's nice and warm, but at this rate, we might as well be honest with ourselves and give up an outdoor eating area if the weather doesn't improve. For those of you on the go, you can go through and try various smoothie ingredients. You also have the option to add ground perked and green tea. If you're feeling like a nestle, you can have the smoothie with healthy, mind-ed ingredients. You also have the option to add milk, fruit juice, or even whey proteins and special stress defense ingredients to your smoothie to help keep you on track.

Tropical Smoothie has a college night every Thursday and Friday. If you enjoy a smoothie and try it out for yourself, you'll find it's nice and warm, but at this rate, we might as well be honest with ourselves and give up an outdoor eating area if the weather doesn't improve. For those of you on the go, you can go through and try various smoothie ingredients. You also have the option to add ground perked and green tea. If you're feeling like a nestle, you can have the smoothie with healthy, mind-ed ingredients. You also have the option to add milk, fruit juice, or even whey proteins and special stress defense ingredients to your smoothie to help keep you on track.