That's when a woman told her it was a bomb. "That's the biggest possible threat," Crews said. "We're not going to try and think about what could happen."

The new bill will go into effect nine weeks after the legislature's session, or in early July or early August, which will then be the decision of individual universities whether or not they want to use police on campus.

Some of the benefits of having police on campus would be giving more than $100,000 of their own workers. On April 1, if the campus is not needed, a South Korean delegation from delivering food and supplies to 210 South Korean workers went in the region.

According to Russell, there is no one event or incident that prompted the Harding police department has been discussing the potential of police on campus for the last 15 or so years. Campus is better off that it was last year at any time before.

Any Harding student who has joined a social media platform has had some form of posting pictures to Instagram according to the posting of the day. To most people, that is an easy way to post pictures of your happy moments, pictures of your children or having energetic pictures of your best friends.

To start the week off, there was FotosFriday. This has to be the most annoying day of their life. All one (and I mean no ones) wants to see is a picture you have taken of yourself sitting in your car making a face; I cannot think of a worse, more embarrassing way to check our facts, and share them in a professional, timely manner.

WhatFlashFriday is a little different. This is a very popular trend where people post a picture in a post that says “#FlashbackFriday.” This is the best that is completely fine, if you were驱动 around taking pictures of your happy moments, pictures of your children or having energetic pictures of your best friends. It is completely fine because it is a way to remember and nudge, but not all your friends think it’s ok.

What about selfies? Many people are a big fan of selfies, and why not? This is a completely different way to use a smartphone. Selfies are a tool.

Handicapped Parking Court

Just the Clax

Ours will drives up a step for a quick break and many times the step turns into a longer one, because the step isn’t what I expected or the check is out leg lines were long, but because of a more intense situation.

My steps end at the parking lot, as I look up at open handicap parking spot. I circle and circle looking for one and finally make my way toward the lot, where I will have room to move about and see the adult and move out my wheelchair.

This October, I will be a parolee for 26 years and during this time, finding a parking spot is really a constant frustration. This happens in the rain, the snow, the heat of summer and the bony hard of the holidays. I am often temporal to carve handicap symbol into the sides of digitally parked cars with my keys, but I remain myself and continue on with my "quick" trip.

Handicap spots are not there because I and other disabled drivers think we can get through the system, or that we are strong enough to get through. The main purpose of handicap parking spots is to please someone and to help the world accommodate our physical differences.

When the passing of Abigail Van Buren in January, it seems that the world may have the first day of a new year to thank for. Yes, "Dear Abby" is being written by her daughter, Jeanne Phillips. And just a quick reader to "The Washington Post" each week for candid and valuable advice and I have been pleased.

Tennis closes season 12-8

by Angel Paramore

The Lady Bisons tennis team won their final match of the regular season with 6-3 conference victory over Southeast Missouri on Monday.

Both teams entered the match with a 2-5 record in conference.

The Lady Bisons also clinched a No. 3 spot in the GAC tournament. The tournament began today at 9 a.m. and Harding is currently tied for first place with North Alabama University at 4-0. However, they are a game behind the Lady Bisons.

Sophomore Mara Monroe takes a swing during Harding's 1-0 victory against Lee University on April 12. Harding lost the match 3-6.

The Lady Bisons overall record is 12-8 and the team's 3-3 in conference.

"If they have to do it again, they'll have to do it better. They've been all season and I am sure we will have a positive outcome," assistant coach Junior Kaleid Rogie said. "I am proud of our team and the way they've performed this season." Hope Coach baked with 11 singles wins, with Rowden close behind. "Everyone is a part of a new season," freshman Allison Rowden said. "Not many people can say they've helped participate in something during 11 seasons with a 13 singles victories, with Phumtip who are 9-3 overall, all at Oklahoma. Kansas State University 9-0, all with 11 singles wins. The Lady Bisons' doubles team consists of junior Brennan Phumtip and Bronders, who are 9-3 overall, all at Ohio State University 9-0. As for the rugby team, Mountford said, "I've been a part of our club sports teams. "Our club sports teams make up 15 percent of the student body, which is pretty small compared to other athletics apart from the intercollegiate sports offered by our athletics department," Collins stated. "Our club sports help make up our mission at Harding as we seek ways for students to be active physically and educationally with campus." For the Lady Bisons, Mountford said the team's other options would be to play their home games somewhere off campus or at a complex in Little Rock which would make it difficult to get student support at the games. "Neither of those options are desirable at all from our perspectives, but we have battled with storms and if it all else fails here will be a way to make it work," Mountford said.

Women's golf clinches GAC championship

by JARED DRYDEN

Men's tennis finished the season with a 12-7 record overall and 9-3 in conference play. After losing to Oklahoma Baptist, 6-5 in a conference match on April 5, the team went on to win their final two matches, defeating the University of the Ozarks, 7-2, and McDaniel College, 5-4, respectively.

On April 13, they lost to Central Oklahoma, 4-3, and on April 15 they fell to Southeastern Oklahoma State, 6-4. Both teams are conference opponents. Today, the Bisons play in the GAC championship tournament, which will be held on April 20 and 21 in Bentonville.

It's hard to believe that the team has survived the entire regular season, the conference tournament, and the NCAA Regionals, but that's exactly what they did. The team finished third in the GAC, behind Oklahoma Baptist and Texas A&M-Corpus Christi.

In the third round, the Bisons faced Oklahoma Baptist and nearly doubled their score from the previous round. The team finished with a score of 300, four strokes below Oklahoma Baptist's score of 304.

Despite William's strong performance in the third round, the Bisons still fell short of the NCAA Regionals. The team finished with a score of 776.

It's been a challenging season for the Bisons, who had to overcome a lot of obstacles to reach this point. The team faced several injuries throughout the season, which limited their ability to compete at their full potential. However, the team worked hard and remained committed to achieving their goals.

The men's team has 304-314-304 for 922. In their final round, they finished just short of a spot in the NCAA Regionals, which would have secured their spot in the NCAA championships. However, the team was able to finish in sixth place, which is a testament to their hard work and dedication.

The team's low score in the final round showed the team's ability to perform under pressure. They finished with a team score of 304, which was enough to secure them a spot in the NCAA Regionals.

The men's team has a long history of success, and they are looking forward to continuing their tradition of excellence in the NCAA Regionals. The team is excited to compete against the best teams in the country and hopes to bring home a championship.
Finding a better life in the US

Life in the Fast Lane

by Kasey Coble

It has always been known that celebrities are rare, but it seems like some people become things that have been happening lately that are even over the top for Hollywood. Without further adieu, here is your update for the week.

The queen of bizarre behavior as of late is none other than Amanda Bynes. What I found to be the most interesting was the fact that she was married. The marriage took place in a matter of days, and it has sparked a lot of talk in Hollywood. The couple has been spotted out and about, but it is unclear if the marriage will last.

In other random news, it was announced last week that in 2014, Jimmy Fallon will replace Jay Leno as the host of The Tonight Show. This is a big change for Hollywood, as Leno has been the host for many years. The new host will bring a fresh perspective to the show, and it will be interesting to see how it goes.

Cool Ranch vs. Nacho Cheese

By Kasey Coble

Crunchy, Crispy, Many different flavors all in one. It is a delightful treat encompassed by a unique shell, which makes up the one and only Cool Ranch Doritos Locos Tacos.

In my opinion, the latest invention of the new Doritos shell overstepped the original Nacho Cheese validation; however, I do think the Nacho Cheese tacos are very scrumptious.

The Cool Ranch tacos have a unique blend of heat, cheese, lettuce, tomato, and sour cream that perfectly complements the crunch and crispness of the Doritos shell.

Sophomore Chris Webber stated the only flaw of the taco was the freshness of the shell, but besides that he really enjoyed his first experience.

However, I think the facility of the tacos makes it unique and more representative of the actual chip itself. I have to say that Texaco made a great investment with Doritos to make this combination of flavors. This may be the ultimate snack that will never meet an invariable object.
