Dear Campaign Worker,

The "Give God A Chance" Campaign just concluded in Monrovia, Liberia, West Africa, of which you were a vital and irreplaceable part will live as a memorial to your faith and labor in and for the faith once delivered unto the saints. I am aware of the cost it entailed in finance, time, efforts, energy and personal sacrifices, however, "nothing done for God goes unnoticed or unrewarded."

As director may I assure you that the success of the campaign was and remains a team success and our fortune (yours and mine) is that we were lead by the Lord to be on the team.

Thanks for your concern, your participation, your cooperation, your Christian attitude and conduct. Since we are to be judged by our works, your works in the unprecedented "Give God A Chance" campaign will not only be recorded in the history of the cause of Christ in Liberia and Africa, but in the records of eternity.

My thanks to the end of the ages.

Yours in our Redeemer,

R. C. Wells
