Dear Brother Chalk

For many years, I have tried to encourage brethren in every way possible to learn to pray. However, I have realized that a mere sermon or two, or quick urging would not be sufficient; that a workbook which would actually teach brethren to pray was most needed.

A close friend of mine, Charles Hodge, used the material, "My God and Prayer" in an adult class at the Rosemont Church of Christ where he serves as minister. After studying the material carefully, I realized that if I could get various congregations around the country using this material, that it would help to encourage my brethren to learn to pray.

I wanted you to have the enclosed copy. If the congregation there desires to use it as a study book in adult classes, they can be obtained in quantities for 75¢ each. I sincerely hope that getting this little booklet distributed will serve the purpose of getting brethren to pray.

Sincerely

Alan Bryan
