By Professor Cunningham

Editorial Assistant.

Students and campus officials discussed various topics such as sexual assault, alcohol policies, parking and meals on a town hall meeting in Core Chapel. The Student Association held the meeting on Sunday to spark conversation between students and campus leadership.

The purpose of the town hall meeting was to create an opportunity for students to talk to administrators about issues from different parts of campus, and allow the administrators to hear about those issues that they might not otherwise hear.

For Garcia, the chance to discuss a number of cultures and their role in the campus gives her the chance to share her passion for culture and her story as an international student. Garcia serves as the PA manager for MSAC, and said she is involved in the groups of people that are involved with other events such as the Latin Festival.

In addition to the event, the meeting is part of the monthly visits that Garcia attends. The meetings are part of a large scale event.

Admission is $5 before the event and $7 at the door. Admission is $3 for the event. A portion of the event will be for LightHouse for Blind Children Home, the non-profit organization that provides shelter for orphaned children.

For Garcia, she says this is the first time for her to actually discuss her history and her story as an international student.

"It’s a big thing for me, to actually talk about my story and my culture," Garcia said.

"I think this has opened the eyes and ears of the administration to find out about what problems that maybe they haven’t even thought about," Stubblefield said. "We are always excited about the forums and we are always eager to hear about the students and their issues."
Presidency, from 1A

Even though Cruz is the first candidate to announce, there are other candidates who are believed to be likely to enter the race. According to The New York Times, both Bush and Clinton are believed to be likely to enter the race.

According to CBS News poll, Bush is in the lead on the Republican side, followed by Trump and Cruz. Both Clinton and Bush candidates are similar in terms of their public opinions, so it is difficult to predict who will win the nomination.

By Lorey Beal

Lorey Beal, a senior at Harding, is an assistant creative major, and she is also a member of the fashion show committee.

"The fashion show is a great opportunity for students to show off their designs and to see what other students are doing," Beal said. "I think it's really fun to sit back and see what people are doing and to see how the designs are coming together.

The fashion show will be held on April 18, and it will feature works from both the male and female students. The show will be held in the Student Union Ballroom, and it will be open to the public.

By Byron Hopper

Byron Hopper, a senior at Searcy, is a member of the Student Senate.

The Student Senate at Searcy is being revitalized by the new Student Senate leadership.

"The Student Senate is a great opportunity for students to get involved in the decision-making process and to have their voices heard," Hopper said.

The Student Senate will be holding meetings every other week to discuss important issues and to make decisions.

By Student Writer

The Stride to Survive race is being organized by Searcy's largest fundraiser organization, the Searcy Chamber of Commerce.

"We are excited to be hosting the Stride to Survive race, and we hope that many people will come out to support the cause," said Ashley Mosley, a senior at Searcy.

The race will be held on April 28, and it will feature a 5K run, a 1-mile walk, and a 5K run for children.

By Brendan Rush

Brendan Rush, a junior at Searcy, is a member of the Student Senate.

"The Student Senate is working hard to bring new life to the organization," Rush said. "We are looking for new members to join and to help us make a difference.

The Student Senate will be holding meetings every week to discuss important issues and to make decisions.

By Chelsea Black

Chelsea Black, a senior at Searcy, is a member of the Student Senate.

"The Student Senate is a great opportunity for students to get involved in the decision-making process and to have their voices heard," Black said.

The Student Senate will be holding meetings every other week to discuss important issues and to make decisions.

By Student Writer

The Stride to Survive race is being organized by Searcy's largest fundraiser organization, the Searcy Chamber of Commerce.

"We are excited to be hosting the Stride to Survive race, and we hope that many people will come out to support the cause," said Ashley Mosley, a senior at Searcy.

The race will be held on April 28, and it will feature a 5K run, a 1-mile walk, and a 5K run for children.

By Brendan Rush

Brendan Rush, a junior at Searcy, is a member of the Student Senate.

"The Student Senate is working hard to bring new life to the organization," Rush said. "We are looking for new members to join and to help us make a difference.

The Student Senate will be holding meetings every week to discuss important issues and to make decisions.

By Chelsea Black

Chelsea Black, a senior at Searcy, is a member of the Student Senate.

"The Student Senate is a great opportunity for students to get involved in the decision-making process and to have their voices heard," Black said.

The Student Senate will be holding meetings every other week to discuss important issues and to make decisions.
Facebook’s suicide prevention tool
guest writer
t笛芬

After exploring your reason for concern, Facebook will see to it that pop-up links to videos on the user’s related to suicide are viewed by the user. They could possibly get help.

I recently had a friend post a status on Facebook clarifying that half of us do not have it and that half of us do not want to lose anyone. This post was a very helpful reminder of the situation and how often people were missing the point.

Several symptoms of post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) include the following: difficulty concentrating, sleep disturbance, and repeated thoughts of the event.

The Internet has brought forth so many resources and ideas that I think Facebook position here to use the Internet to help. Like one of the users, I also have a few glaciers.

I thought of a friend who I knew had committed suicide, but because he had posted this status, someone was able to get to him in time.

Suicide, understandably, has become an easy and acceptable excuse for people. User can see other users and add more problems to the state that could state that current state, feeling sad. “I felt too far back in the sea, I knew we would never leave.”

O’Toole’s student only way of cooking food is to grab and go. This quick and easy option is most likely pizza or fried Mc. Pots. Sometimes, we do not have the time or brain power to use a microwave or oven. However, this option is not the best way to get the care package from grandma. Although none of these foods are healthy for us, when we are extremely hungry at night, we have to eat something. When we are eating while eating, it is easy to forget to look at the portion sizes of food.

Watching too many videos for 20 minutes can make us feel so we are not interested in doing anything. Binge-watching is one of the easiest and the best way to get that “I’m full” sensation.

This might sound like a bad idea, but it is so we can go on a date with each other and keep it.

Another factor is lack of sleep, which has directly in with poor stress management in college students. This is a major habit that all college students are notorious for and I can be the first to say I am guilty. A lot of students feel that they need sleep in the night or they are going to have a bad day. That is not true. I had to learn that I needed to go early to the deep sleep and stay in that sleep for an extended period of time to really make a difference.

In all of this, I am still going to try. Sometimes, make the irrational decisions to go out and wander rather than stay in school. When your mom has holidays, buy a pair of books and jeans and go on a road trip. Pull all-nighter videos.

The next level of review is your favorite memories and the ones that I still remember fondly.

As Saturday night approached, I hope you’ll decide to take Spring Sing seriously. It was a wonderful experience. We never would have met and made memories that will last a lifetime.

At the end of the show, but it wasn’t presented as such. That wasn’t the goal. The goal was to prevent the show from happening.

But knowing the signs for someone who

MADELINE JONES is a guest writer for the Bison. She may be contacted at kdiffine@student.harding.edu.

Facebook’s suicide prevention tool

guest writer
t笛芬

O’Toole's student only way of cooking food is to grab and go. This quick and easy option is most likely pizza or fried Mc. Pots. Sometimes, we do not have the time or brain power to use a microwave or oven. However, this option is not the best way to get the care package from grandma. Although none of these foods are healthy for us, when we are extremely hungry at night, we have to eat something. When we are eating while eating, it is easy to forget to look at the portion sizes of food. We watch too many videos for 20 minutes can make us feel so we are not interested in doing anything. Binge-watching is one of the easiest and the best way to get that “I’m full” sensation.

Another factor is lack of sleep, which has directly in with poor stress management in college students. This is a major habit that all college students are notorious for and I can be the first to say I am guilty. A lot of students feel that they need sleep in the night or they are going to have a bad day. That is not true. I had to learn that I needed to go early to the deep sleep and stay in that sleep for an extended period of time to really make a difference.

In all of this, I am still going to try. Sometimes, make the irrational decisions to go out and wander rather than stay in school. When your mom has holidays, buy a pair of books and jeans and go on a road trip. Pull all-nighter videos.

The next level of review is your favorite memories and the ones that I still remember fondly.

As Saturday night approached, I hope you’ll decide to take Spring Sing seriously. It was a wonderful experience. We never would have met and made memories that will last a lifetime.

At the end of the show, but it wasn’t presented as such. That wasn’t the goal. The goal was to prevent the show from happening.

But knowing the signs for someone who

MADELINE JONES is a guest writer for the Bison. She may be contacted at kdiffine@student.harding.edu.

Facebook’s suicide prevention tool

guest writer
t笛芬

O’Toole's student only way of cooking food is to grab and go. This quick and easy option is most likely pizza or fried Mc. Pots. Sometimes, we do not have the time or brain power to use a microwave or oven. However, this option is not the best way to get the care package from grandma. Although none of these foods are healthy for us, when we are extremely hungry at night, we have to eat something. When we are eating while eating, it is easy to forget to look at the portion sizes of food. We watch too many videos for 20 minutes can make us feel so we are not interested in doing anything. Binge-watching is one of the easiest and the best way to get that “I’m full” sensation.

Another factor is lack of sleep, which has directly in with poor stress management in college students. This is a major habit that all college students are notorious for and I can be the first to say I am guilty. A lot of students feel that they need sleep in the night or they are going to have a bad day. That is not true. I had to learn that I needed to go early to the deep sleep and stay in that sleep for an extended period of time to really make a difference.

In all of this, I am still going to try. Sometimes, make the irrational decisions to go out and wander rather than stay in school. When your mom has holidays, buy a pair of books and jeans and go on a road trip. Pull all-nighter videos.
Evaluating the Freedom of Religion

The Religious Freedom Restoration Act (RFRA), originally enacted in 1993, has been the subject of much attention to Arkansas politics as the state faces a decision on whether to approve a new bill regarding the freedom of religious expression. The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

One of the main arguments against the original bill is that it would be too easy for discrimination against religious minorities to occur. But another concern that is the reason for pushing the bill through is that it would make it easier for the government to not be forced into making laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

A chief among the arguments against the original bill is that it would be too easy for discrimination against religious minorities to occur. But another concern that is the reason for pushing the bill through is that it would make it easier for the government to not be forced into making laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The Religious Freedom Restoration Act (RFRA), originally enacted in 1993, has been the subject of much attention to Arkansas politics as the state faces a decision on whether to approve a new bill regarding the freedom of religious expression. The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

One of the main arguments against the original bill is that it would be too easy for discrimination against religious minorities to occur. But another concern that is the reason for pushing the bill through is that it would make it easier for the government to not be forced into making laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The Religious Freedom Restoration Act (RFRA), originally enacted in 1993, has been the subject of much attention to Arkansas politics as the state faces a decision on whether to approve a new bill regarding the freedom of religious expression. The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

One of the main arguments against the original bill is that it would be too easy for discrimination against religious minorities to occur. But another concern that is the reason for pushing the bill through is that it would make it easier for the government to not be forced into making laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The Religious Freedom Restoration Act (RFRA), originally enacted in 1993, has been the subject of much attention to Arkansas politics as the state faces a decision on whether to approve a new bill regarding the freedom of religious expression. The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

One of the main arguments against the original bill is that it would be too easy for discrimination against religious minorities to occur. But another concern that is the reason for pushing the bill through is that it would make it easier for the government to not be forced into making laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The Religious Freedom Restoration Act (RFRA), originally enacted in 1993, has been the subject of much attention to Arkansas politics as the state faces a decision on whether to approve a new bill regarding the freedom of religious expression. The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

One of the main arguments against the original bill is that it would be too easy for discrimination against religious minorities to occur. But another concern that is the reason for pushing the bill through is that it would make it easier for the government to not be forced into making laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The Religious Freedom Restoration Act (RFRA), originally enacted in 1993, has been the subject of much attention to Arkansas politics as the state faces a decision on whether to approve a new bill regarding the freedom of religious expression. The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

One of the main arguments against the original bill is that it would be too easy for discrimination against religious minorities to occur. But another concern that is the reason for pushing the bill through is that it would make it easier for the government to not be forced into making laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The Religious Freedom Restoration Act (RFRA), originally enacted in 1993, has been the subject of much attention to Arkansas politics as the state faces a decision on whether to approve a new bill regarding the freedom of religious expression. The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

One of the main arguments against the original bill is that it would be too easy for discrimination against religious minorities to occur. But another concern that is the reason for pushing the bill through is that it would make it easier for the government to not be forced into making laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The Religious Freedom Restoration Act (RFRA), originally enacted in 1993, has been the subject of much attention to Arkansas politics as the state faces a decision on whether to approve a new bill regarding the freedom of religious expression. The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

One of the main arguments against the original bill is that it would be too easy for discrimination against religious minorities to occur. But another concern that is the reason for pushing the bill through is that it would make it easier for the government to not be forced into making laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The Religious Freedom Restoration Act (RFRA), originally enacted in 1993, has been the subject of much attention to Arkansas politics as the state faces a decision on whether to approve a new bill regarding the freedom of religious expression. The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

One of the main arguments against the original bill is that it would be too easy for discrimination against religious minorities to occur. But another concern that is the reason for pushing the bill through is that it would make it easier for the government to not be forced into making laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The Religious Freedom Restoration Act (RFRA), originally enacted in 1993, has been the subject of much attention to Arkansas politics as the state faces a decision on whether to approve a new bill regarding the freedom of religious expression. The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

One of the main arguments against the original bill is that it would be too easy for discrimination against religious minorities to occur. But another concern that is the reason for pushing the bill through is that it would make it easier for the government to not be forced into making laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The Religious Freedom Restoration Act (RFRA), originally enacted in 1993, has been the subject of much attention to Arkansas politics as the state faces a decision on whether to approve a new bill regarding the freedom of religious expression. The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

One of the main arguments against the original bill is that it would be too easy for discrimination against religious minorities to occur. But another concern that is the reason for pushing the bill through is that it would make it easier for the government to not be forced into making laws in which religious freedom is a concern.

The bill passed the Arkansas House of Representatives on Tuesday and now awaits a vote in the Senate. It would make changes to the law, legislation that allows the government to make laws in which religious freedom is a concern.
Movie time

The movie is about the business side of major league baseball. The team’s annual budget was $12 million.

The coach feels that his team has better players than the other teams and should be going to the World Series.

The coach realizes that it is not just about winning games, but also about finding the right player for the right position.

Softball slowly improving record

“Hooray for Softball!”

The team is looking forward to a new season and is determined to improve its record.

The team’s record for the past five seasons is 9-2.

The team finished the season with a record of 19-7.

The team’s winning percentage for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s home record for the past five seasons is 13-5.

The team’s road record for the past five seasons is 6-2.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 11-2.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.8462.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7692.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7778.

The team’s record in conference games for the past five seasons is 0.7525.
Out in front

When it comes to telling stories about America's pastime, baseball, making predictions on how the best teams will end up and play this year is a toss up. Some of the best picks to fill out City Road's first World Series appearance since the team came into existence are just that: just good as the game of baseball itself. Many people study the game, trying to decipher that perfect match for the World Series.

When it comes to tell us from what team the National League will end up as an appearance in the World Series, one team comes to mind: the Washington Nationals. The American League is a little bit harder to decide. Growing up in a Kansas City Royals fan has left me a little biased, so I convey my popular predictions, I'm picking to make our next appearance this year.

For fans of injuries, they are having to deal with, the National League could be a powerhouse, and will take the NL East. With the injuries that the Nats are dealing with right now, more teams will be focused on Bryce Harper to play this season, as he has done in the past. Harper will be the key to success for the franchise. With Harper being gone, the rest of the team is going to be huge driving in runs. The starting pitching for the Nats will be handing lots of a baton. Max Scherzer, John Jaso, and Stephen Strasburg are all going to be very key to hit, and will all finish in the top 10 for the Cy Young vote, in my opinion.

The Royals did not seem to make very good money this last offseason, but with how young the team is, I expect a first pitch this year. With the loss of, Jayson Werth, the team's best hitter, the Nationals are going to make an appearance since 2016. With the loss of Bryce Harper, the team will be missing a lot of attention when it comes to starting pitchers. Even with the addition of Max Scherzer, the Royal bullpen is still as good as it was last year. This bullpen together with the starting pitching will be good enough for a recipe for success.
Student builds ‘foundation for the future’ through extracurriculars

By Melody McGhee

Many students at Harding share a passion for travel and a desire to show God’s love to the world, but some find it difficult to engage in long-term opportunities. Schoolwork and other responsibilities often take students away from participating in much more than spring break or summer missions trips. However, recently two students have decided to put school aside for a year and pursue this dream to come full circle and gain the international mission field.

First-year marriage and family therapy student Lethgon Teague and sophomore Nicole Onyema have both been accepted into World Race, a Christian organization that sends millennials to mission assignments around the world to share Christ’s love to those who want it.

“Teague will travel in the ‘11-17 trip which will send us to different countries across the course of 11 months,” Onyema said. “World Race will participate in the International Race that will send them to 12 different countries around the world to share Christ’s love to those that want it.”

Onyema said that she’s excited to be able to spend a whole year focusing on growing in Christ and allowing God to take her on a new adventure.

Teague is being traveled, after participating in both Harding University in Austin, Texas Fall 2015 and Harding University in France in Summer 2016 study-abroad programs. However, she’s still very curious and excited about what this trip has in store for her.

“I’ve traveled to some of the countries we will visit, but I have no idea what to expect, because it’s the first time I’ve ever traveled abroad, or even outside of the U.S.,” Teague said.

Both students will be spending 12 months immersed in a different culture and language every month. Teague is being trained to travel to 12 different countries in 11 months and 14 days, while Onyema is being trained to travel to 12 different countries in 11 months and 14 days.

Harding Press Student Writer

Flor Flores

Flor Flores is a junior double major in advertising and marketing and international business and a Marketing Association (AMA) vice president and the student in charge of organizing the “Fall Bash” fashion show on April 26.

Flores runs her own fashion blog called www.flork.flores.com. She started a blog about a year and a half ago just for fun, Flores said. “Of course it started out just in Spanish because that’s my (native) language. Since I was little, I’ve always loved modeling and I’ve always liked fashion. I started to add fashion photos to my blog as much as I could.”

Coming to Harding, Flores said she was not sure about majoring in fashion. “I didn’t want to study fashion at first,” Flores said. “I think business is a broad subject to study. I would love to have a fashion brand someday with clothing, shoes and accessories. I’m thinking about getting a master’s degree in fashion. This is how I plan to link my major with my fashion interests.”

Flores also acts as the social media director for the International Business Student Association, marketing director of Smiles for Christ, activities director for women’s social club Koi Jo and works in the bookstore.

“Everything ahead of the future,” Flores said. “That’s why I do so many things, to build a good foundation for my future. I’m not the kind of person that can sit in the library all day just studying. I think Harding is a great place to focus and have many professional, extra-curricular activities besides just studying.”

Sophomore Oscar Cepio is a close friend to Flores. “(Flores) is a very dedicated person and she works really hard for what she wants,” Cepio said. “I love all of the things she does because she has a purpose. She’s busy every single day and she’s never wasting time.”

Senior Cheryanne Little said she met and became close friends with Flores in speech class her junior year. “I did an ‘about me’ speech and told a lot about my love for Ko Jo Little,” Little said. “She came up to me (afterward) saying she was interested in joining our club. I encouraged her to do the club process, and when she was interested. I knew she was interested and was wowed by her potential.”

Little said that she and Flores “have become close friends, and that Flores’ hard work and determination have been an inspiration to her.”

“If I were to give advice to the students, I would tell them they need to get out of their comfort zone,” Flores said. “Just try to participate and get involved. Harding is a good place to find those opportunities.”

World Race sends students around the globe

Lethgon Teague, Nicole Onyema prepare for world missions

By Paige Mcghee

Many students at Harding share a passion for travel and a desire to show God’s love to the world, but some find it difficult to engage in long-term opportunities. Schoolwork and other responsibilities often take students away from participating in much more than spring break or summer missions trips. However, recently two students have decided to put school aside for a year and pursue this dream to come full circle and gain the international mission field.

First-year marriage and family therapy student Lethgon Teague and sophomore Nicole Onyema have both been accepted into World Race, a Christian organization that sends millennials to mission assignments around the world to share Christ’s love to those who want it.

"I’m doing what I love and everybody needs to do what they love because that’s the easiest thing to work hard for," Teague said. "Lois Hegarty, sophomore marketing performance opportunities in the music department. As opera workshop recital was held on March 22 at the Reynolds Recital Hall, which has helped the pair have the for an opera workshop class that will be offered next semester, according to Hegarty.

Hegarty, along with 12 singers, performed a series of arias from popular operas at the workshop in full costume and with props from the theatre department.

“A lot of people drop away from the word opera, because they associate it with stereotypical, boring music," Hegarty said. "But in this case, they knew the people were0,000.00000 performance artists. We think we could make a woman more comfortable about opera and about classical voice." Hegarty currently teaches opera at Harding’s Lewis-Fowlston vocal scholarship competition on October 22 and the International Vocal Performance series on October 23.

Hegarty’s voice teacher, Kelly Nelson, assistant professor of music, said that Hegarty has grown significantly as a singer in the last two years.

"She’s earned a very public, good education," Nelson said. "It’s very easy to give them their work on display for the first time. "

"But our students are a very"

Built during her first year here and will be offered next semester, according to Hegarty.

Hegarty shared, Amanda Abia just recently returned from the "11-17 World Race in December. Abia said the trip made a huge impact on her.

"This journey has opened my eyes to how God works with people," Abia said. "It was very exciting and new, but I want to stay and see what others want to do with their dream," Hegarty said. "I’m doing what I love and everybody needs to do what they love, because that’s the easiest thing to work hard for."
Searcy gets burrito-bar style restaurant

By Addison Hurst Student Writer

On March 31, Searcy’s newest eatery, “Mi Ranchito,” hosted its soft launch since its Christmas album “Silver,” was inspired by and suffered from a drug record label, Asmatic Kitty. Under the influence of and currently runs Stevens Express.

I decided to go with a burrito bowl, fajita style, chicken, white rice, black beans, cheese, lettuce, pickles, guac, cilantro and extra citruses. The best part of my first experience came when I ordered my first order and they offered on complimentary chips and salsa to go as well. Yes honey, Mi Ranchito has officially extended the first drip in my heart.

Two decades have passed since Mi Ranchito started, and it has found the same friendly counter with the cleanliness of the restaurant and the atmosphere. One of the most important things we must learn from our past is accepting mistake.

To give the veteran’s welcome home they deserve, it will ill serve us in the future, but attending the event will make a lot more meaningful.

As spring comes rushing into Searcy and winter leaves town, an activity that starts on campus and is the cause of either pure relaxation or annoyance. The following tips are necessary for you to do in the wake of a spring day in Searcy—so papilllas, and they came with honey and papilllas, and they came with honey and cheese. That gives them back to what their earlier work, such as "Michigan" or "Seren Swans," which was released prior to the full album release, the lyrics make that feeling of understanding.

You wouldn’t want anyone to sit on top of you while getting some chill time on your hammock, would you?

3. Use your hammock to bring headphones. While you may believe your taste in music is amazing, others may not agree. Be respectful of those around you and wear headphones.

Now that you know the proper etiquette for spending a spring day in a hammock while on campus, you will need to find the right place to do just that. There are many places around campus that one might consider a place of perfection for those who want to hang from the trees.

Linda Fereid | The Banner

Sufjan Stevens album inspired by parents

By Andrea DeCamp Student Writer

As spring comes rushing into Searcy and winter leaves town, an activity that starts on campus and is the cause of either pure relaxation or annoyance. When deciding to become a performer who hammocks on campus there are a few things to keep in mind. Here are some of the main considerations:

1. When hammocking in the same area as people you do not know, make sure you hang your hammock at least 15 feet away. If you do not know someone well enough to trust them, you may want to find somewhere else to set up shop.

2. Snacking is encouraged, but only with the permission of the person below. When choosing to stack your hammock, don’t assume the person you are hanging above is OK with it. Be polite and ask permission. When stacking your hammock, make sure your hammock is well above the hammock below it.

3. It is not especially pleasant with the cleanliness of the restaurant and the feel good music that was playing in the background. "Nothing Still the One" by Shania Twain came on and pretty much summed up my relationship with Mi Ranchito. Express. My overall experience was positive. With good food that is college-budget friendly and a fun feel, Mi Ranchito, "you’re all the one I need."

Museum offers free admission

Jacksonville history museum honors Vietnam veterans

By Kristina Kiser Reporter

The Jacksonville Museum of Military History (JMMH) held an event in commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the Vietnam War. The Jack Conway Museum of Military History classes in school and from the Vietnam War, honoring Arkansas killed in the Vietnam War. The day will conclude with an honors and remembrance ceremony and dinner on the grounds for the veterans and their families.

"We need to teach the young generation about respect for veterans who sacrificed their lives, and to give the Vietnam veterans the welcome home they deserve, it will ill serve us in the future," said Duggar.

"You're Still One" by Shania

By Linda Fereid | The Banner

Under the influence of and his mother died.

This is not my art project; several years during Stevens’ childhood, Brams made a big impact on Steven’s life and currently runs Stevens’ record label, Heavy Lift.

Prior to this release, Stevens collaborated with a variety of artists including rappers and other singer/songwriters. His music is known for being powerful, and outspoken and anti-racist. The album is nothing less than an amalgamation of all of these traits.

"Carrie & Lowell" is the perfect rainy day, easy-listening album. This album will take you back to what their earlier work, such as "Michigan" or "Seren Swans," which was released prior to the full album release, the lyrics make that feeling of understanding.

You wouldn’t want anyone to sit on top of you while getting some chill time on your hammock, would you?

3. Use your hammock to bring headphones. While you may believe your taste in music is amazing, others may not agree. Be respectful of those around you and wear headphones.

Now that you know the proper etiquette for spending a spring day in a hammock while on campus, you will need to find the right place to do just that. There are many places around campus that one might consider a place of perfection for those who want to hang from the trees.

Linda Fereid | The Banner

Sufjan Stevens album inspired by parents

By Addison Hurst Student Writer

On March 31, Searcy’s newest eatery, “Mi Ranchito,” hosted its soft launch since its Christmas album “Silver,” was inspired by and suffered from a drug record label, Asmatic Kitty.

Under the influence of and his mother died.

This is not my art project; several years during Stevens’ childhood, Brams made a big impact on Steven’s life and currently runs Stevens’ record label, Heavy Lift.

Prior to this release, Stevens collaborated with a variety of artists including rappers and other singer/songwriters. His music is known for being powerful, and outspoken and anti-racist. The album is nothing less than an amalgamation of all of these traits.

"Carrie & Lowell" is the perfect rainy day, easy-listening album. This album will take you back to what their earlier work, such as "Michigan" or "Seren Swans," which was released prior to the full album release, the lyrics make that feeling of understanding.

You wouldn’t want anyone to sit on top of you while getting some chill time on your hammock, would you?

3. Use your hammock to bring headphones. While you may believe your taste in music is amazing, others may not agree. Be respectful of those around you and wear headphones.

Now that you know the proper etiquette for spending a spring day in a hammock while on campus, you will need to find the right place to do just that. There are many places around campus that one might consider a place of perfection for those who want to hang from the trees.

Linda Fereid | The Banner

Sufjan Stevens album inspired by parents

By Addison Hurst Student Writer

On March 31, Searcy’s newest eatery, “Mi Ranchito,” hosted its soft launch since its Christmas album “Silver,” was inspired by and suffered from a drug record label, Asmatic Kitty.

Under the influence of and his mother died.

This is not my art project; several years during Stevens’ childhood, Brams made a big impact on Steven’s life and currently runs Stevens’ record label, Heavy Lift.

Prior to this release, Stevens collaborated with a variety of artists including rappers and other singer/songwriters. His music is known for being powerful, and outspoken and anti-racist. The album is nothing less than an amalgamation of all of these traits.

"Carrie & Lowell" is the perfect rainy day, easy-listening album. This album will take you back to what their earlier work, such as "Michigan" or "Seren Swans," which was released prior to the full album release, the lyrics make that feeling of understanding.

You wouldn’t want anyone to sit on top of you while getting some chill time on your hammock, would you?

3. Use your hammock to bring headphones. While you may believe your taste in music is amazing, others may not agree. Be respectful of those around you and wear headphones.

Now that you know the proper etiquette for spending a spring day in a hammock while on campus, you will need to find the right place to do just that. There are many places around campus that one might consider a place of perfection for those who want to hang from the trees.

Linda Fereid | The Banner

Sufjan Stevens album inspired by parents

By Addison Hurst Student Writer

On March 31, Searcy’s newest eatery, “Mi Ranchito,” hosted its soft launch since its Christmas album “Silver,” was inspired by and suffered from a drug record label, Asmatic Kitty.

Under the influence of and his mother died.

This is not my art project; several years during Stevens’ childhood, Brams made a big impact on Steven’s life and currently runs Stevens’ record label, Heavy Lift.

Prior to this release, Stevens collaborated with a variety of artists including rappers and other singer/songwriters. His music is known for being powerful, and outspoken and anti-racist. The album is nothing less than an amalgamation of all of these traits.

"Carrie & Lowell" is the perfect rainy day, easy-listening album. This album will take you back to what their earlier work, such as "Michigan" or "Seren Swans," which was released prior to the full album release, the lyrics make that feeling of understanding.
What was one of your most unique Spring Sing prises?

I really wanted to get up and sing on that stage, even if it was just for the audition. Being a Spring Sing host is a huge honor.

How do you feel when you perform on stage?

I feel at ease, I feel so happy, and that's probably where I'm most comfortable.

How do you prepare for a show?

If I have time I take a nap. That's pretty much it.

What is the group dynamic of all the hosts and hostesses?

Kelsey and Renee are the parents, and Jesse is the center of attention. He's kind of the ring leader of it all, he's the funny guy. I think of me because I'm just having fun.

What have you learned from this experience?

I've learned that the key to performance or confidence is to go out there and act confident. It doesn't have to be fake it till you make it.

What motivates you to perform?

I have to have such a great message to somebody.
By Nicole Hosticka
Editor-in-Chief

Spring Sing show presents unique challenges for directors and participants alike, but one factor that always has an influence on the director's decisions is the show's timing. For Knights social club show and Zeta Chi show producers Coleen Sheets and Micaleigh Melody respectively, the timing of next year's show was to allow clubs more time to prepare ahead of schedule and give new directors a direction to focus their efforts on.

"I think that the stress of having new directors in place effort was the local charity Children's Homes train foster parents, provide adoption services for maternity consultations. "The biggest strength of working with a large group are the directors who are in the show become obvious to the staff," Stockstill said. "We don't start working on what makes a good theme, and we will be teaching them things that hopefully they can then use to pick a theme before they leave for summer." Stockstill said the new timeline will allow students to begin planning specifics in the summer, which will put them in a better position to think about how the show will work. "Having more time means more things can be good theme, and we will be teaching them things that hopefully they can then use to pick a theme before they leave for summer." Stockstill said the new timeline will allow students to begin planning specifics in the summer, which will put them in a better position to think about how the show will work. "Having more time means more things can be good theme, and we will be teaching them things that hopefully they can then use to pick a theme before they leave for summer." Stockstill said the new timeline will allow students to begin planning specifics in the summer, which will put them in a better position to think about how the show will work. "Having more time means more things can be...
That's what wins
Consultant, senior Harrison Waldron

By Shane Schock
Sports Editor

In spring 2014, Knight's social club won best show at Spring Sing under the direction of his jazz band. Harrison Waldron. He described the experience as a very unique and enjoyable one.

"I have always been involved in music ever since I was in my first grade year," Waldron said. "The first show that I remember being involved in was my fourth grade year."

Now as a senior, Waldron is working hard to ensure that this year's show is a success. He is working closely with the performers and is looking forward to seeing the final product.

"I have always loved music and performing," Waldron said. "I have been involved in many different types of music, from choir to jazz band."

Waldron's favorite part of the show is seeing the reactions of the performers and the audience. He enjoys seeing the joy that music brings to people.

"I love hearing the excitement in their voices and seeing the smiles on their faces," Waldron said. "It makes it all worthwhile."
Frye chooses favorite Spring Sing shows

Frye explained that the top shows are in no order and that all of his picks excelled in different areas. Here are Frye’s top Spring Sing shows from the past two decades:

Show: Genres
- Clubs: TNT and Zeta Rho Year: 1994

> "This was before my time, but they had a tremendous showcase of people in the show. It was very theatrical and poetic-driven. It was one of the best shows that just stepped up and really surprised the audience. It was very well done, it was funny, it had it all; it really was a good parody. It should make you laugh." (Jepson Johnson)

Show: Vikings
- Clubs: Chi Sigma Alpha and Regina Year: 1995

> "Vikings was some of the best music arranged ever. They had eight pop harmonies at points. They just blasted the stage with singing. It was hilarious; it was fun and I have never seen anyone use Scream music like they did. Several routines went by and people thought that's it! I could watch that forever." (Frye)

Show: Girl Scouts
- Clubs: Ko Jo Kai and Ju Year: 2009

> "During auditions, they gave 'judge awards' to wear on their costumes to show what they had accomplished. They had strong staging as a group and some of the best choreography that has ever been on the stage. They really made the fast breaks that became a tradition for everybody here, and they just nailed it." (Jepson Johnson)

Show: Grettas
- Clubs: TNT and Zeta Rho Year: 2009

> "That was just silly and hilarious from start to finish. We had the young men old commenting on old people and old people doing all the cliches around being older. Everything was a great, funny joke right down the cliches. But it was a great blend of things. It doesn't start that a movie directly directed that show.” (Story by Zach Healey)

Show: The Show Heard Around the World
- Club: Knights Year: 2014

> "They did an excellent job of using men to their advantage. I thought they had a great selection in the music. There was a great, funny joke. Everything we were putting on the stage. It was just a great blend of things. It doesn't start that a movie directly directed that show.” (Story by Zach Healey)

Frye explained that the top shows are in no order and that all of his picks excelled in different areas. Here are Frye’s top Spring Sing shows from the past two decades:

Show: Genres
- Clubs: TNT and Zeta Rho Year: 1994

> "This was before my time, but they had a tremendous showcase of people in the show. It was very theatrical and poetic-driven. It was one of the best shows that just stepped up and really surprised the audience. It was very well done, it was funny, it had it all; it really was a good parody. It should make you laugh.” (Jepson Johnson)

Show: Vikings
- Clubs: Chi Sigma Alpha and Regina Year: 1995

> "Vikings was some of the best music arranged ever. They had eight pop harmonies at points. They just blasted the stage with singing. It was hilarious; it was fun and I have never seen anyone use Scream music like they did. Several routines went by and people thought that's it! I could watch that forever." (Frye)

Show: Girl Scouts
- Clubs: Ko Jo Kai and Ju Year: 2009

> "During auditions, they gave 'judge awards' to wear on their costumes to show what they had accomplished. They had strong staging as a group and some of the best choreography that has ever been on the stage. They really made the fast breaks that became a tradition for everybody here, and they just nailed it.” (Jepson Johnson)

Show: Grettas
- Clubs: TNT and Zeta Rho Year: 2009

> "That was just silly and hilarious from start to finish. We had the young men old commenting on old people and old people doing all the cliches around being older. Everything was a great, funny joke right down the cliches. But it was a great blend of things. It doesn't start that a movie directly directed that show.” (Story by Zach Healey)

Show: The Show Heard Around the World
- Club: Knights Year: 2014

> "They did an excellent job of using men to their advantage. I thought they had a great selection in the music. There was a great, funny joke. Everything we were putting on the stage. It was just a great blend of things. It doesn't start that a movie directly directed that show.” (Story by Zach Healey)

Not this year. "The biggest difference between this year's show and any show I've ever seen before is there is a lot less chance," Jones said. "Jed Jones said that in theatre, when you cannot hide something, you have to emphasize it. Instead of hiding in the back region with a curtain to allow clubs to set up their show, the Spring Sing 2015 set has an open design, according to Jones. Frye said that if the production team and the performers do their jobs correctly, the audience should not notice any striking dissimi-