Dear Sam:

How do I say thank you to a man who took a group as varied as ours and welded them into a coherent and spiritually deepened whole? Your wise leadership was so evident, and yet so unassuming throughout the retreat at the Yokefellow Institute. Several of our more sensitive men saw in your handling of our retreat the discipline that they are now committed to securing, of working sensitively with small groups. Thank you for your verbal and your unspoken witness.

We achieved every goal envisioned for the retreat. Many things unexpected were also accomplished. God truly worked, in my judgment. Thank you so much for a time of healing, a time of questioning, a time of conviction, a time when wholeness became a greater possibility in our lives than ever before.

If any accounts were left unsettled, or if there is anything that I need to do, please contact me.

Sincerely yours,

John Allen Chalk

Dear Brother,

A recent word from Elton Trueblood's journeyings indicates that he will fly into Dayton in time to be here for the opening session of your group, Monday night.

There are now 38 registrations and as soon as you give us their flight plans, we will work out the transportation for them.

I presume that you and others of the group will be arriving early on Monday. This will give us an opportunity to firm up some details and discuss areas of concern to be explored during the retreat.

We look forward to having you here.

Sincerely,

Sam Emerick
Director
