Dear Nat:

Thank you for remembering the request I made about your recent films for the New York Times. I would like very much to see these films, if at all possible. The other material you sent along should prove very profitable.

It was a real pleasure visiting with you in Abilene. I hope we will have the same opportunity again sometime in your own city.

Sincerely yours,

John Allen Chalk

Dear John:

I haven't forgotten about sending you the prints we talked about, but they just haven't been available up to now. I expect however, that they will be available next week.

In addition to these two, that is, "SLAVERY AND SLAVE RESISTANCE" that has been produced for The New York Times and is designed to supplement courses in Social Studies and American History, and "IT'S UP TO YOU" a film that is to be used in supervisory training in industry with hard core employment programs, there are other films of ours in the general area of human relations which you might like to see. Enclosed is some material about those films.

I found our conversation in Abilene of great interest and I hope that you will be able to visit with us here in New York.

Regards,
