Dear Ronnie:

I have just talked at length with Coach Wally Bullington of Abilene Christian College. During the past two years I have had a very enjoyable association with Coach Bullington and his entire football team and have come to appreciate deeply what the boys on the team stand for and what Coach Bullington himself believes in.

I understand that you are considering the possibility of coming to Abilene Christian College on a football scholarship. I believe that you will find no greater group of men with whom to work anywhere in the country. Not only are all of the coaches dedicated Christians but the players themselves are Christian men who will make unique contributions as coaches and as leaders in their communities after they leave college. The football team enjoys a special kind of relationship to the rest of the campus and especially among themselves. One of the greatest things stressed during the four years one plays with the Abilene Christian College Wildcats is personal spiritual growth. This is where I have had an opportunity to work with the team and many individuals on it.

I can assure you that you would not make the wrong decision if you chose to come to Abilene Christian College. I think you would not only be playing ~~with~~ men who are dedicated to a championship quality football, but you would also be working with men who believe a Christian life is the most effective way to be of service to one's fellowmen and to the entire world in the exciting days ahead.

If I can answer any questions or be of any assistance as you make your decision, please feel free to write or call on me.

Sincerely yours,

John Allen Chalk
