Dear George:

Enclosed are replies to our recent fund raising letter. I was surprised at the amount of response that came directly to me, even though we got negative replies. The fact that these elders were willing to answer suggests something.

I am, however, quickly coming to the conclusion that you or someone closely connected with the seminar is going to have to visit personally elderships soliciting their financial help. You may have to appoint an executive assistant for this purpose, or free yourself to make these contacts, if a continuing program of missionary training is to be undertaken each year. I do not think I have to remind you of my commitment to what you are doing with the seminar. Let me know of any way I can help.

Fraternally yours,

John Allen Chalk
