Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sellers
Route 2
Lexington, Tennessee

Dear Folks:

Thank you for a very pleasant meal and visit in your home during our recent meeting at Lexington. It was extremely thoughtful of you to invite me.

My wife deeply regretted that she could not visit in your home also. She had looked forward to the visit, but unfortunately, could not get away from the children that particular day.

Thank you for all you did to make my visit to Lexington, and with the church there, a very pleasant one. I enjoyed immensely the hospitality of your home.

Fraternally yours,

John Allen Chalk
