Dear Dr. Roberts:

I have just finished reading your very interesting review of three commentaries on the Epistles of John in Restoration Quarterly, third quarter of 1967. I am sure someone else has already pointed out to you, or you noticed it in the published copy that John R. W. Stotts' name has been misspelled twice, both in giving the biographical material on page 170 and in the text of the review on page 171. Stott is a man from whom I have gained much inspiration in his articles and books, including Basic Christianity, and Basic Introduction and The Preacher's Portrait. The review was a very excellent one. I did want to pass on this suggestion in case a small thing like that had been overlooked. Again, accept my gratitude for the work you have done personally with Restoration Quarterly.
