Dear Brother Choate:

I spent a great deal of time and effort in arriving at the decision I told you about in my last letter. I am still convinced that there is a need for Choate's Quarterly, that it can fulfill a desired place among brotherhood publications. During my recent meeting in Chattanooga, I had an opportunity to talk with David East who preaches for the East Ridge congregation in that city. I believe David is a former classmate of yours. He has had considerable experience in printing and as you probably know he has published Geography workbooks of his own. David is now going into the publishing business and is definitely interested in becoming business manager and publisher for the Quarterly. I outlined something of the work to him and he ask me to write you concerning it. He stated that he would even be able to print the Quarterly at less than Williams Brothers in Nashville. His address is 6112 Sherwood Drive, Chattanooga, Tennessee.

I will be happy to submit material and would even like to handle an entire section on book reviews or any other department that you might suggest if you feel the need. I hope that this lead will produce a beneficial relationship.

Fraternally yours,

John Allen Chalk
