Dear Brother Goodpasture:

We hope that this letter finds you rapidly improving. Sue, Mary Beth, and I were so happy to know that the doctor's reports were as favorable as they were. I know that you were happy to be home again.

Our Fall Lectureship started in a great way with Brother J. M. Powell. He did an outstanding job favorably impressing the ones that were here. Cliett had a much better audience on Tuesday night and did a wonderful job. This letter is written mainly to tell you honestly and sincerely about the effect he had on our audience. I am continuing to hear excellent reports about his presentation. Even though improvement was't necessary over the last time I heard him, I must confess that I was very pleasantly surprised with the increased force and persuasiveness with which he presented his lesson. There is no doubt that he is an excellent preacher. Brother Collins spoke to an overflow audience last night and brought to a climax the thinking presented by Brother Powell and Cliett. I kept Brother Powell in our home on Monday night and thoroughly enjoyed becoming better acquainted with him.

Enclosed you will find a check for $65.75. This is the balance of an account on books purchased December 27, 1961. I regret having to wait so long in paying this account but deeply appreciate your willingness to help in that regard.

The people in this area continue to ask daily about your condition and I join with all them in expressing our best wishes and prayers for your complete recovery.

Fraternally yours,

John Allen Chalk
