Dear Brother and Sister Bessire:

Thank you so much for inviting me into your home during my week in Madison. I thoroughly appreciated the thoughtfulness behind the invitation, and I realized something of the imposition it must have caused. Both of you have displayed a courageous Christian spirit throughout this campaign effort. I know that unusual hardships have been worked on you because of this effort, but I deeply appreciate all that you did to make it such a wonderful success.

I was happy to have the opportunity to become better acquainted with your family and to be able to visit with the other people you had for dinner that evening. Thank you for remembering me in asking me to be a part of that group.

My prayers and best wishes are with the continuing work in Madison. I am confident that the future does hold great opportunities and almost unlimited horizons. I feel that the work is on a sound basis and know that much of the credit must be given to your family. Please be assured of my continuing interest and willingness to help at any time I possibly can.

Fraternally yours,

John Allen Chalk
