Miss Kathy Brue
Miss Sue Ketcham
Governor Dodge State Park
Dodgeville, Wisconsin

Dear Miss Brue and Miss Ketcham:

I have just read with interest the article on Page 1, Section 4 of the Wisconsin State Journal, August 7. I was happy to learn of your unusual activities at Chapel Bach, the church maintained for vacationers just outside Governor Dodge State Park. I was interested and pleased to note the enthusiasm and involvement of your lives in the weekly worship services in this chapel.

I would like more information about the activities you carried on during the week--things regarding your own personal religious connections and other experiences you might have had during the summer that could be a part of speeches or lessons that I present around the country to young people. Your example is a very refreshing one in the midst of a day when young people do not show the kind of religious interest that some would like them to show. I personally have been thrilled on countless occasions at the faith and dedication of young people just like yourselves.

I am the regular weekly speaker on a radio program heard on approximately 500 radio stations called Herald of Truth. Enclosed is a series of lessons presented on this radio program during the month of May. I thought you would be interested in having a copy of them. If you do find the time and inclination, I would appreciate a reply to some of the things mentioned in this letter. May God bless you.

Sincerely yours,

John Allen Chalk
