Dear Brother Chalk:

Your letter was received a few days ago and was discussed at our business meeting on Tuesday evening. We regret that you will not be able to be with us for a few days during Thanksgiving week of this year. We decided to extend the invitation and ask you to be with us during the same week in 1967—beginning on Sunday and closing with the Thanksgiving service on Thursday morning. Personally, I regret that you will have so little time for preaching in the future since you are so capable in that field. However, when you get settled in your new work, you may find time for more pulpit work.

We are all well and our work appears to be making good progress. I appreciate getting your bulletin each week.

With personal regards to you and your wife, I am

Sincerely,

George M. Pullias
