Dear Troy:

The copy of your letter to your parents along with your letter to me was here when I returned from Lubbock on Wednesday. After reading your very kind letter to your parents, I felt even worse about not getting to see them. I flew to Abilene Monday afternoon at 3:00; and between Monday afternoon and Tuesday afternoon, I recorded five Herald of Truth radio sermons. I then studied what little I could and drove to Lubbock just in time for church. Due to pressing commitments in Abilene, I had to return immediately following the service. I did not get to go by and visit with your people. I am wondering if I could write them a letter of explanation with the further suggestion that I will look forward to getting to know them and visiting with them after our move to Abilene by September 1 of this year. I feel very keenly about this failure. I do hope that I can help in some other way when I move to Texas.

Please let me know what you feel about my writing them as soon as your reply comes. Our prayers are being offered on behalf of your parents and on behalf of your work. Please forgive my being unable to contact them.

Your brother,

John Allen Chalk

P.S. Please send their name and address again. I had it in the papers I took to Texas with me but misplaced it in the return home.
