Dear Gladys:

Your kind letter has been received and your hospitable invitation appreciated. I would like nothing better than to stay in your home during my stay in Southern California this Fall; however, the Anaheim Central congregation has already made other arrangements for me and we are now planning to bring my wife and two children. According to present plans, we will be staying in the home of one of the elders in the Central congregation.

They have also indicated that they will provide us a car. In view of the arrangements that are already complete, I think it best that we stay in the place already suggested. Your offer is very deeply appreciated.

Though we will be staying somewhere else and not using your automobile, please do not think for one minute that you are off the hook medically. I may have to have you to get me back on my feet again. Thanks for all your concern.

Fraternally yours,

John Allen Chalk
