Dear Brother Hundley:

I will be happy to consider working with the congregation there in a gospel meeting in either August, 1973, or June, 1974. My schedule demands that I begin the meeting on Sunday morning and continue it through the following Friday evening. In regard to expenses, I never make it a practice to state my needs or in any way make demands upon the inviting congregation. I would expect to have my expenses covered and whatever other remuneration the brethren would see fit to expend. This is a matter that I do not attempt to control or govern.

It may be possible that one of these two months and years might not be acceptable. If such occurs, I would appreciate your making an alternate suggestion in 1973 or 1974. If the brethren feel that a Sunday morning through Friday evening meeting is too short, then they will have to ask someone else. Unfortunately, I cannot, except in unusual circumstances, spend any more time in an effort of this nature. Thank you for your invitation; it would be a pleasure to work with you and the brethren there.

Fraternally yours,

John Allen Chalk
