Mr. James Hall
Adamsville,
Tennessee

Dear James:

Nothing seems more difficult these days than finding preachers for the many congregations seeking them, especially is this true where unusual situations exist like at Admasville.

I agree with you that there are some special opportunities and needs in the congregation there. A good man would be worth a great deal and could insure the future growth of the congregation. However, the problem remains that I do not know of a man available for the work at this time. My suggestion is that you would do well to properly and carefully choose a man with a family who would like to attend Freed Hardeman College while living and working with the Adamsville church. A good man with an unusual desire to attend school could not only improve his own future effectiveness for the Lord but would also greatly aid the church there. If the brethren are so disposed to use a man and to make a great contribution to the brotherhood thereby, you should contact Brother W. A. Bradfield at Freed Hardeman College.

Give my regards to all of my good friends at Adamsville. I trust that you and your family are in good health and am so happy to know of your interest and work for the Lord.

Your brother in Christ,

John Allen Chalk
