Dear Paul:

Sounds like everything is going great at North Warren! God be thanked for the beautiful and wonderful way He is using you, Sandra and the family.

I especially appreciated the sense of urgency which your letter conveyed. It is obvious that your life is experiencing great spiritual growth and that God is using you in a powerful way. Be assured of my prayers for your continued effectiveness, especially in working with young people.

I approach the leaving of Herald of Truth with mixed emotions. It has been a difficult task, but it has also been a rewarding one. Pray for our new work in Atlanta. I am going to school full-time, as well as working with a campus ministry, and it is going to demand the best effort of my life in Christ.

Thank you so much for writing. It was great hearing from you.

Your friend,

John Allen Chalk

Dear John Allen:

Great things have been happening for the Lord here. Recently, six have been obedient to New Testament Christianity and three restored to the Lord, in the last three weeks. This brings the total response close to 75 since middle of August, 1968. There are presently two more cottage meetings in progress, and I was able to tentatively establish a new Bible study with a Methodist lady today. There is a great zeal among Christians here for the lost, and the community is feeling the force of the kingdom in their lives.

I have read and learned of your decision to go to Atlanta. I was not surprised greatly, for I observed that your power and influence in the lives of the youth today, especially among collegiates, is one to which you need to devote total time because of the vital need for Christ in them. I have been strengthened and inspired by my own close association with you, and my love and respect deepens. It will be my personal privilege to speak at a youth campaign in Port Huron, Michigan this month, and Lord willing, speak nightly at an area wide evangelistic effort in Dayton, Ohio in June, emphasis youth. Hence, my effective interest, also, lies in today's searching young hearts, whose deep seated desire is to embrace the truth of God and promote a meaningful life. With God's help, we can help them find it in Christ. I do urgently hope we can one day serve Him together in the same place.

Sandra and family are well. Hope this correspondence finds you, Sue, and children the same.

May God grant you health, peace and wisdom to preach with even greater power his gospel of Christ.

Sincerely,

Paul Killom
