

I N D E X

For the 6,300 students and employees at Harding University, the end of the school year promises a variety of things. For freshmen, it is the relief of completing their first year as an “almost adult.” For sophomores, it could be returning home from the experience of a once-in-a-lifetime trip to study abroad. For juniors, it is the thrill of finally getting into their major classes and realizing their purpose through academics. And finally, for seniors, the end of the school year means our college careers are nearing the end. They have completed their years at school, and it is time to show the world outside of Harding what they are made of. For any stage of life, the end of a chapter can be stressful. With every ending comes change, and although change can be difficult, change also facilitates growth. From the time we step into our freshman dorm, to the moment we walk across the graduation stage, we are different. We contain multitudes.

C L O S I N G

Contradictions live within each of us, and contradictions surround each of us, yet we find ourselves daily searching for an unwavering source of support on which we can rely. Throughout the college experience, students undergo many changes and opportunities for growth. And although everyone on campus is undergoing similar changes, students are under immense pressure to appear "perfect" to their fellow classmates, professors, friends and family, or even to themselves. The picture of perfection can include earning high grades, maintaining a booming social life, participating in various organizations and taking steps towards successful future careers. As we seek out that picture of perfection in our own lives, we unknowingly alter the different versions of ourselves. When we try to satisfy our undying longing to find an unchanging earthly foundation where we can stand, we will inevitably fail as every earthly foundation crumbles, shifts and separates in its own contradictions and imperfections. And if not the foundation, it is us who crumble and shift, rendering the foundation useless. Every relationship has its scars, every plot has its twists, and every yearbook has its misplaced Oxford commas. We find ourselves seeking a perfection that does not exist on this side of eternity as our only constant and perfect foundation is not of this world, but of the next.

92 YEARS OF PETIT JEAN

"OUR ASPIRATIONS, OUR OBJECTIVES, AND OUR DREAMS HAVE BEEN ENLARGED AND ELEVATED, AND WE MUST PRESS ON TOWARD THESE HIGHER GOALS WITH ALL THE STRENGTH, COURAGE AND DETERMINATION WE CAN MUSTER."

- PETIT JEAN 1964

These iconic Petit Jean yearbook covers represent over nine decades of Harding University. The role of a yearbook is to capture the moments that make up one specific year and what made it unique. For 92 years, students have been blessed with the opportunity to record Harding's history and will continue to do so for many years to come.

WE WILL NEVER STOP

After three amazing years working for Harding University's Petit Jean yearbook as the layout and graphic designer, it's hard to believe my college years are coming to a joyous end. Each year was a learning experience that added to the multitudes of not only who I am as a person but who I will be in my future.

Our yearbook team worked tirelessly to put together what we hope is an inspiring, eye-catching and unforgettable book of 2016. Every page of "Multitudes" was carefully designed and perfected with the intention to wow and astound. Whether it's through the eye of our incredible photographers or the perspective of our detailed section editors, we have woven together a book with a deeper meaning.

Our lives and how we grow do not only define the layers and multitudes of who we are, but where we came from. What is so encouraging and breath-taking to me is having a God who knows our every multitude, who designed each layer with purpose, including the layer of our presence here at Harding University.

As the class of 2016 approaches graduation and the ultimate launching point that will propel us into our careers, I feel so blessed to be a part of a school and community that is surrounded by the presence of God and a greater purpose. The thought alone of everything changing is absolutely terrifying. Everything will be different after graduation, filled with the highest of highs and the lowest of lows. But we keep going, we will keep changing and we will never stop.

Our hope as a team is that every time you open "Multitudes" you will remember just how intentional our God is.

If you would have told me freshman year that by senior year I would be the head photographer for the Petit Jean, I would not have thought that possible. All I knew then about photography was that photos looked pretty cool on my iPhone, but for the last two years of my time here at Harding, I have had the privilege and blessing to photograph events and people all over campus. I have had weeks completely packed full of photo assignments and I have had weeks when I didn't take one photo for the yearbook, but reflecting on my two years as a photographer for the Petit Jean, I really have seen and experienced remarkable things I would not have otherwise. Through my lens, I feel I understand people better and can witness some of the incredible things God has done and is doing on this campus.

Working as a photographer for the Petit Jean yearbook has been one of the most rewarding experiences in my college career. I've been given the chance to work among several artists who've challenged me beyond what I thought was possible. I've seen my work improve immensely here at Harding, and I feel truly honored to have had the opportunity to share it with all of you. Although the real world at times seems daunting, I am confident in what my four years at Harding University have taught me.

I started working for the yearbook as a volunteer photographer last year. I had been taking pictures before then, but at first I was not able to take as good of pictures as I needed to take, and I can clearly see that from pictures I took at that time. Though I still need to grow as a photographer, I would not have been able to learn so much without working for the yearbook in the last two years. I have had great experiences through this job, and more than that, I have enjoyed taking pictures so much.

DEQUAN RAINDLLE

Harding University and its athletics department were deeply saddened by the untimely death of Dequan Raindle.

Raindle, a 21-year-old native of Corsicana, Texas, transferred to Harding from Blinn College in Brenham, Texas, in January and trained with the football team through the spring 2015 semester.

According to an online story on the CorsicanaDailySun.com, Corsicana Police Chief Randy Bratton reported that Raindle was found unresponsive when family members tried to wake him for his nighttime job.

Medics transported Raindle to Navarro Regional Hospital where he was pronounced dead. Bratton said there were no signs of foul play found by investigators. Navarro County Justice of the Peace Connie Hickman ordered an autopsy in the death investigation.

Harding head coach Ronnie Huckleba said of Raindle: "I am at a loss for words. Dequan Raindle was one of the happiest, most positive people I have ever been around in my life. We are praying for Dequan and his friends and family."

BLAKE HUNTER

I was sitting around a fire with my friends the Saturday night after Blake Hunter's death that morning. We were waffling between small talk and big talk — cheerful talk and tearful talk — trying to keep our minds light while our hearts were undeniably heavy. One of my friends suddenly gasped, "Oh my gosh," as her jaw dropped and she pointed to the sky. The shooting star lasted long enough for us all to stand and turn, watch it complete its fall, and end with one final, silent burst of light, burning a glowing trail in the night sky. It was hands-down the most magnificent shooting star any of us had ever seen.

God only gave us 25 years of Blake Hunter's light. It was so brief, yet so bright. It affected every single person fortunate enough to experience it. It did not matter how dark your night was, and it did not matter if one person or thousands of people were present. It did not matter if you were grabbing a quick coffee one-on-one or if you were just a face in the audience and he was on stage. Blake was there to shine his light, and he did so without ceasing for 25 years.

But like that shooting star, Blake did not go without leaving a glowing trail behind him. He did not shine so that he would be glorified — Blake served as a mirror for the light of his Savior. His memory and his legacy live on in the countless people he influenced as he worked to expand God's kingdom.

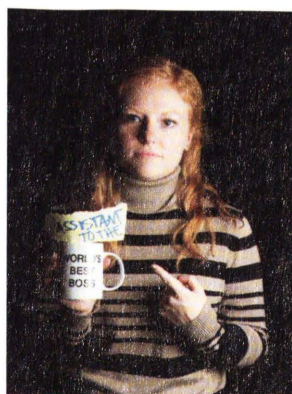

I now know that at the end of my life, the light at the end of the tunnel will be a little bit brighter because my friend Blake has been added to it. He will be waiting in that light at the end of the tunnel for us all, shining brighter than ever.

APPRECIATION

From everyone on the 2016 Petit Jean staff, we'd like to say thank you to those who made this book possible.

Thank you to the students, staff, faculty and beyond who let us take their pictures, ask them endless questions and share their stories. This book would be nothing without your cooperation and encouragement.

To Johnny Cole, our Walsworth representative, thank you for guiding us, praying with us and dedicating your time to the Petit Jean. To Jill Fowler, our in-plant consultant, thank you for answering every single phone call, email and question we've ever had. Your wonder-woman talent made this book our dream. To Blaze Hayes, thank you for design guidance and personal cheerleading from day one. These incredible people from Walsworth made us their number one priority and did everything possible to make this book happen. There are never enough thank yous.

To Katie Ramirez, director of Student Publications and Petit Jean adviser, this book could be 340 pages of only thank yous, and it wouldn't be enough. Without your experience, wisdom, knowledge and patience, we'd be nowhere. Thank you for believing in and supporting our crazy ideas and especially for helping us make them happen. Thank you for your endless encouragement, hours on hours of work and for bringing in your dogs to deadline.

Thank you to Mrs. Debbie Hopper for providing the most delicious desserts and treats we've ever had on deadline nights. Even with gluten-free options! It was the most important fuel for us, and we would not have had the energy without it.

Hannah Robison and JP Baker, thank you for your work. Our Student Publications secretaries made every day possible. Whether it was through accomplishing daily tasks, giving wisdom from their years on staff, or keeping the snacks flowing, they made daily life in the office uplifting, encouraging and fun.

Lastly, thank you to President Bruce McLarty. Thank you for recognizing the importance of Student Publications and making it possible. Thank you for inspiring us and encouraging us to show why it's great to be at Harding.

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Petit Jean staff works in the Student Publications office, located on the first floor of the Donald W. Reynolds Center for Music and Communication. Any correspondence can be sent to the Petit Jean, Harding University, Box 10812, Searcy, Arkansas, 72149. Students enrolled in 12 credit hours or more both semesters have paid sufficient general fees to cover the $30 cost of the yearbook. Depending on their enrollment status for the year, others are charged full or half price. The Petit Jean is a member of the Arkansas College Media Association, the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and the Associated Collegiate Press Hall of Fame.

EDITOR'S NOTE

CHANGE IS A PART OF LIFE.
CHANGE HAS NEVER BEEN EASY.
CHANGE IS GOOD.

My freshman year I didn't even know Harding had a yearbook until the day they came out, and now, I'm a senior sitting in the editor-in-chief office and thinking about how freshman me would be shocked at the course my life has taken. Not just because of yearbook, but in my thoughts, my actions, my friends, my life goals and my plans.

If my life were written out to see all at once, it would be riddled with endless contradictions. And so would yours. Does that make us hypocrites? Absolutely not. We are humans with a plan written for us by someone greater. Our life is composed of nothing but changes and how we adapt to them. This is something I've always believed and something represented in the concept of "multitudes."

I found the Walt Whitman quote while scrolling through Pinterest. Usually I'm not the kind of person who identifies with the script-text-over-floral-backgrounds quotes, but something in me clicked, and I immediately knew what I wanted to express with this book.

One of the greatest periods of change and contradiction in our lives occurs during college. Through the years, yes, we change, but even in our day-to-day lives and roles, we change. Harding is composed of social clubs, athletics, academics and more. Every hour we could be changing the hat we wear. We act professionally at work and with our professors. We act crazy when we're with our friends but not so crazy when we're with our families. We act differently in each of those roles, and that's not a bad thing. We are who we are at our core despite the contradictions in our lives. We are large. We contain multitudes.

I wanted to symbolize this in the design of this book. In the beginning, everything is clean and aligned. Everything is simple. As the book goes on, it's much more expressive and complicated. Pictures overlap and not everything is centered in the middle of the page; however, I wanted the folio to stay in the middle to represent an anchor or our core. The book is cohesive and whole, just as our lives are, despite the contradictions.

I hope the next time you pick up this book, you think about who you were the last time you picked up this book. I hope you think about the changes and contradictions you went through at Harding and think about how they made you grow. I hope you think about the changes and contradictions you've gone through in life after Harding. I hope you think about the changes and contradictions you went through in 2015 and 2016. I hope this book reminds you of your time in college and how it helped you expand your multitudes.

Never feel bad about or be scared of change within yourself.

Be large. Contain multitudes.
