HARDING COLLEGE
SEARCY, ARKANSAS
VOLUME XXXIII

One of the major aims of everyone attending Harding is to become a part of her way of life, to feel that we belong here, that we are accepted here, and that we are needed here. In time we succeed in this endeavor, and find that not only have we become a part of Harding but she a part of us. It seems only a moment after we make this discovery that our time is up, and we must leave. In order to keep you in contact with life here, and especially as it unfolded this year, 1956-57, the yearbook staff has attempted to bind up a part of Harding — your part — between the covers of this book. Throughout future years may this volume serve to remind you not only of your days at Harding, but also of the Christian ideals and objectives for which our Alma Mater stands.

THE AMERICAN

DEDICATED to building a greater trust in God and appreciation for our nation, Harding College has founded an educational program that has merited nation wide acknowledgment. Harding views the American Way of Life as having its anchorage in God's laws. She stresses recognition of the worth and dignity of self-reliance and freedom, thus generating a dynamic force advancing the welfare of all mankind.

Many students find employment in Harding's recently remodeled cafeteria.

Hard work has been a major factor in building the United States from a few scattered colonies to the most influential nation of the world in less than two centuries. The pioneer farmer toiled long hours with crude tools while the average laborer today works forty hours a week under ideal conditions with precision tools and equipment. However, it still takes the catalyst of human effort to change raw materials, technical know-how and inventive genius into useful products. The productive capacity of the free American labor force is by far the greatest the world has ever known. Even though there is a tendency in some quarters to regard work as menial and degrading, Harding teaches her students to appreciate the dignity and honor of honest work.

A Way Of Work . . .

Student workers wax and polish Harding's Student Center weekly.

College congregation members, led by Kenneth Davis, stand as they raise their voices in praise to God.

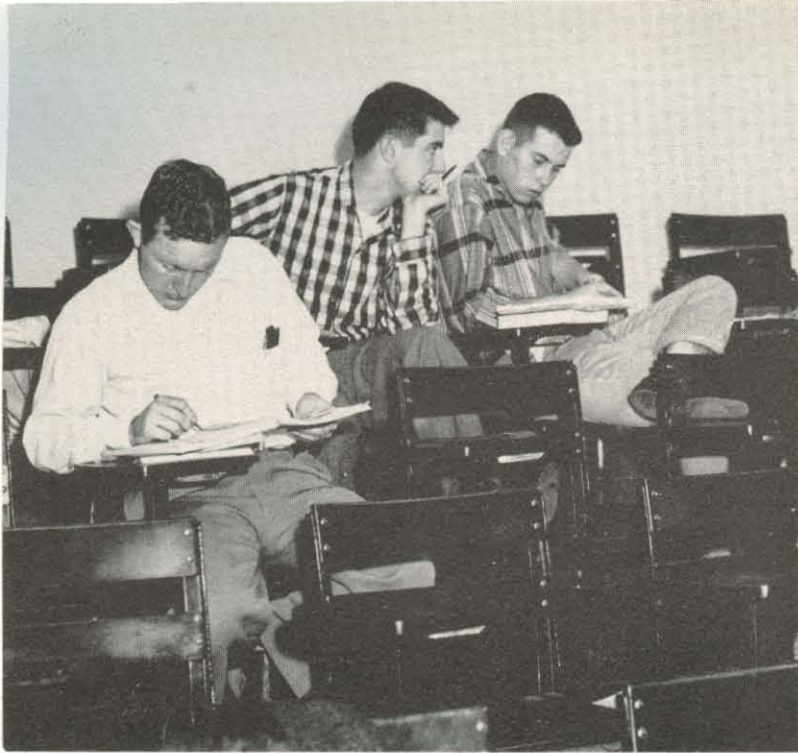

... And A Way Of Worship

Informal worship service, as with this group of married students in Vet Village, shows Christianity being carried into everyday life.

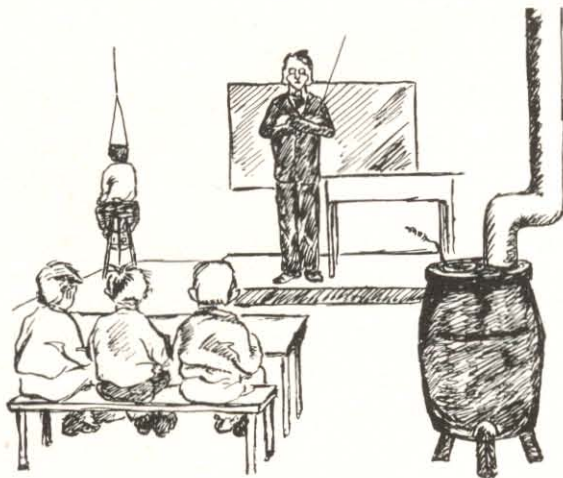

Most of the early settlers of our country left Europe and came to America seeking a place where they could worship God according to the dictates of their consciences without fear of persecution or intimidation. Our Constitution was written by men of great wisdom who revered God, studied the Bible and recognized that each individual has certain inalienable rights. Truly the very foundation of our way of life is laid on the bedrock of Christian principles. Although we are living in an age characterized by secularization, materialism and catastrophic world wars, Harding is dedicated to emphasizing the great principles upon which our nation is built and to helping each student develop a philosophy of life patterned after that of Christ.

The thoughtful expressions of Pat, Roy, and Jerry reflect the scholastic challenge to all Harding students.

One of the outstanding features of our American way of life is the unique educational system that we have developed. For nearly two centuries, beginning with the establishment of Harvard in 1636, most of the colleges in our country were founded by religious groups. Near the beginning of the nineteenth century the state university movement began. Today approximately half of the college students attend private colleges and universities while the other half attend tax-supported institutions. Side by side there has developed a huge program of mass higher education and an outstanding graduate and professional program. Harding has made a distinct contribution through its program of American Studies which has become a model for similar programs in other colleges and universities.

A Way Of Study . . .

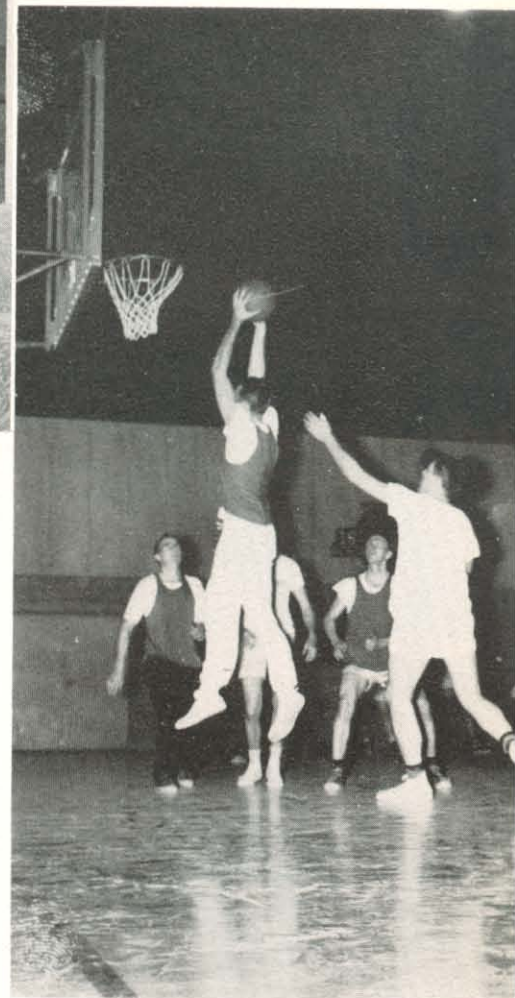

This panel discussion concerning office management shows one of the many educational facilities open to every student.

Students settle down for an evening of television entertainment in the Cathcart reception room.

Athletic interests are met through Harding's excellent intramural sports program.

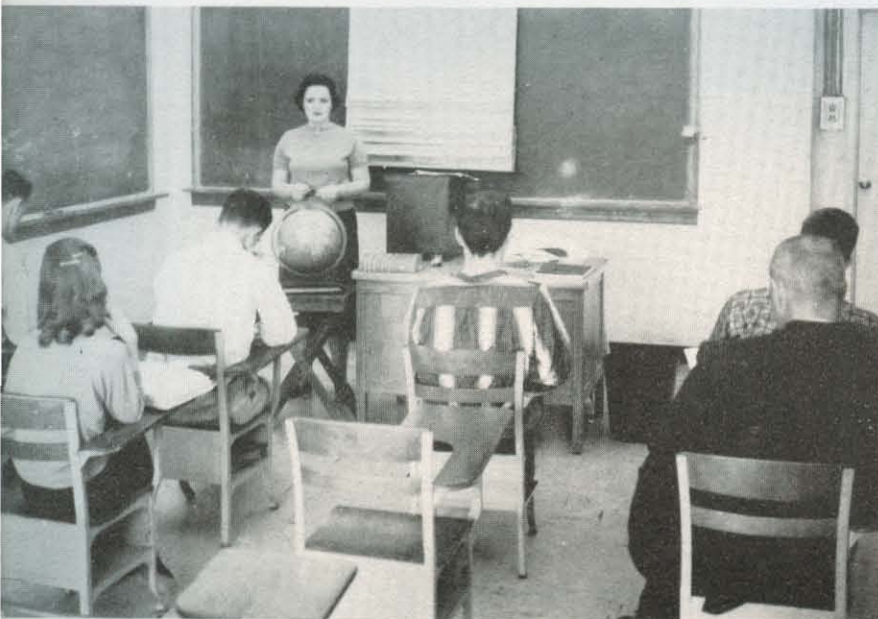

... And Recreation

Outings, such as this, are a vital part of college life.

Although the work of our forefathers was arduous and their hardships were many, they had their occasions of festivities and relaxation. In the early years of our country, hunting and exploring the vast frontier wilderness challenged the attention of many. Also, the diversity of household duties gave variety and prevented their way of life from becoming routine and monotonous. However, they had their clambakes, log rollings, turkey shoots, fiddling contests and community sings. Harding provides many types of wholesome recreation for her students. The excellent intramural sports program and open periods for play in the gym enable students to participate as well as to watch. The lyceum series and several art, dramatic, forensic, journalistic and music organizations afford excellent recreational opportunities.

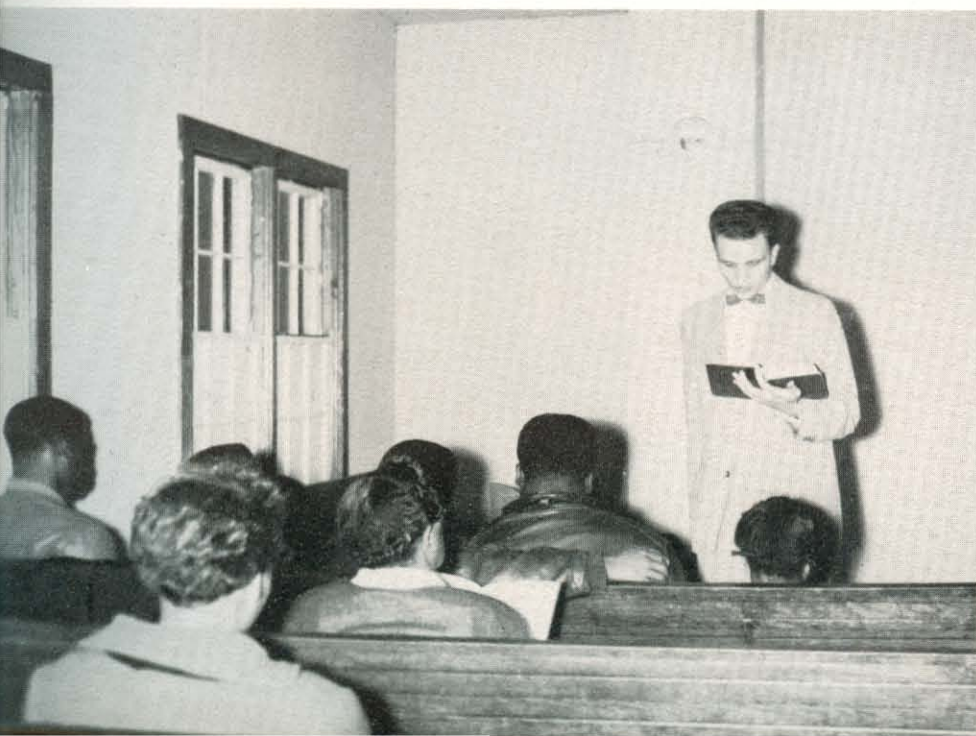

Betty prepares for her teaching career by conducting a history class in the Academy.

A Way Of Service . . .

Russell McNalty conducts services for the local colored congregation.

Dr. Roy Wellborne, head of Harding's Student Placement Office, discusses future job possibilities with Ted Lloyd.

Professors find time for a between-classes-break in the Student Center.

With the coming of sunny days and the ravages of spring fever, students are drawn to the fish pond to discuss the day's events.

... And Association

Entertainment, enjoyment, and relaxation are provided by formal social club banquets.

During the colonial period, the founding fathers often lived in stockaded villages for protection. As the frontier receded, the settlers continued to live in communities to enjoy the association of their fellow man. The town meeting became the center of activity in each village and many New England towns still have regular town meetings. One of the outstanding features of Harding is the opportunity it affords young people to associate with fellow students from all parts of this country and several foreign countries. In order to facilitate a wholesome social life, a number of social clubs have been organized. Planning for banquets, outings and other club activities in these small groups helps the student develop cooperative attitudes and leadership abilities. Such associations aid in developing well-adjusted personalities.

Dedication . . .

A man came to Harding College in 1936 with a vision. Today where a dream once stood, the reality now exists because that man placed his trust in God and worked untiringly. Because you have given unselfishly to the service of youth, because you have given courageously to the service of your country, because you have given humbly to the service of your God, we dedicate this 1957 Petit Jean to you, GEORGE STUART BENSON.

THE COLLEGE

Campus Scenes . . .

Harding means many things to many people—home to students and an oasis to the many visitors who are impressed with the Christian atmosphere and modern facilities. The plant, valued at approximately six million dollars, and the modern teaching program make possible unlimited educational opportunities. Still, seeing the need for furnishing additional opportunities to American youth, Harding now has underway a two and one-half million dollar expansion program, including student housing, library expansion, and classroom buildings. Students are privileged to live wonderfully while preparing to contribute their part in the advance of the ideals to which Harding College is dedicated.

Administration Building — contains administrative and faculty offices, small auditorium, recording studio, classrooms, and a large auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,350.

Ganus Student Center — houses the college bookstore, post office, inn, offices of student publications, alumni office, darkroom, banquet room, and other facilities.

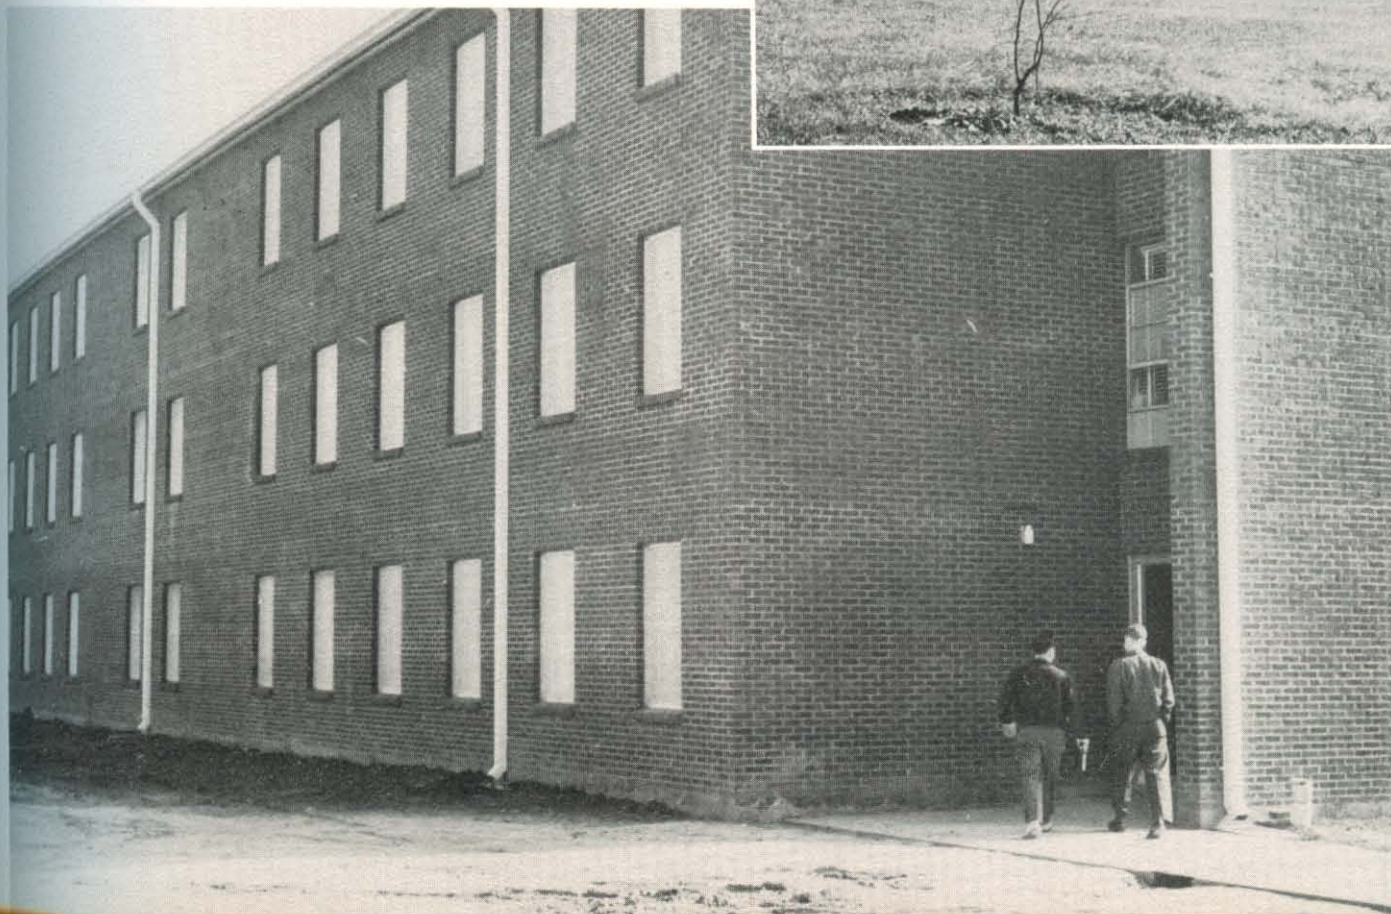

American Studies Building — houses the School of American Studies, offices, classrooms, research facilities, and an auditorium equipped for all types of visual aid materials.

The Music Hall — contains studios for piano, voice, band, and chorus, as well as classrooms and practice rooms.

New Graduate Dormitory — this latest addition to the Harding plant supplies housing for approximately two hundred men, with both single and double rooms.

Science Hall — a three-story classroom and laboratory building. Its well equipped laboratories include those for the physical and biological sciences and for home economics.

Home Management House — named Echo Haven, will accommodate six young women as they gain home management experience.

Pattie Cobb Hall — a three-story building, housing the cafeteria and providing rooms for women students. The ground floor, containing the cafeteria, is air-conditioned.

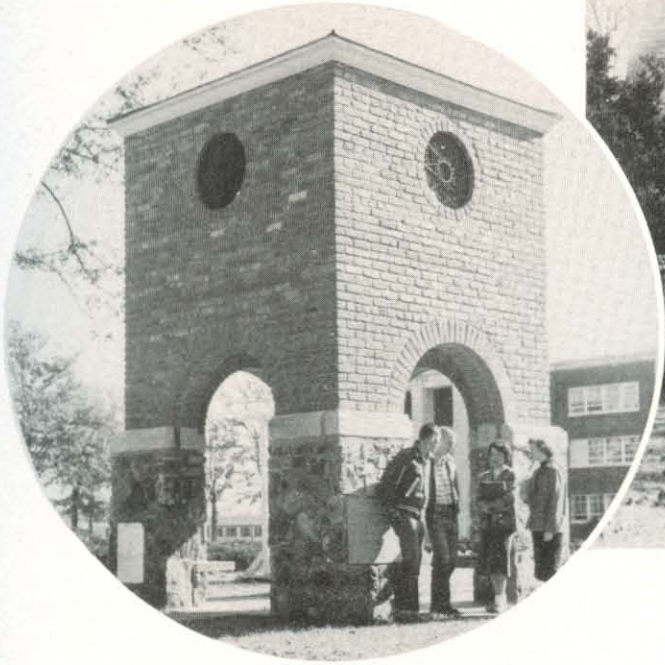

Beaumont Memorial Library — air-conditioned and can accommodate one-third of the student body at one time.

Academy Building — houses all the facilities for the high school, grade school, print shop, and the storage room.

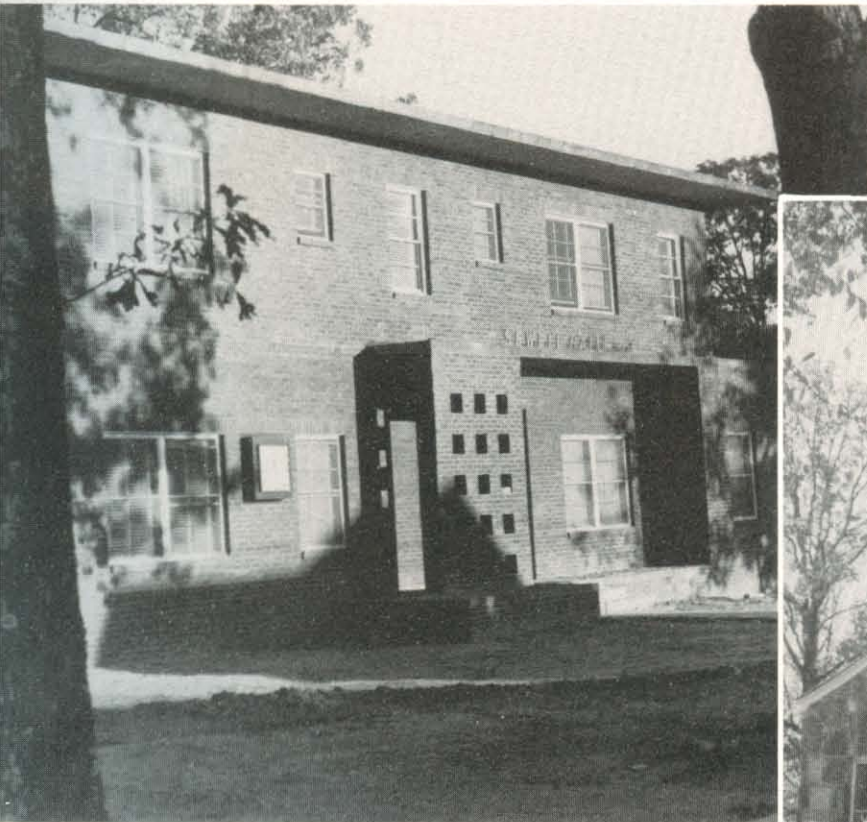

Cathcart Hall — a dormitory for one hundred and ninety women, has — in addition to comfortable rooms — a kitchenette, an ironing room, and a large reception room.

The Bell Tower — erected of materials from old Godden Hall, contains the bell once housed there.

The President's Home — a two-story, brick veneer structure built in 1940; includes eight rooms and a double garage.

Sewell Hall — named in honor of the Jesse P. Sewells who donated a large portion of the cost, is a faculty-staff apartment building containing seven furnished apartments.

The Dean's Home — a two-story, rock veneer home of seven rooms; designed and built by Dean and Mrs. Sears in 1936.

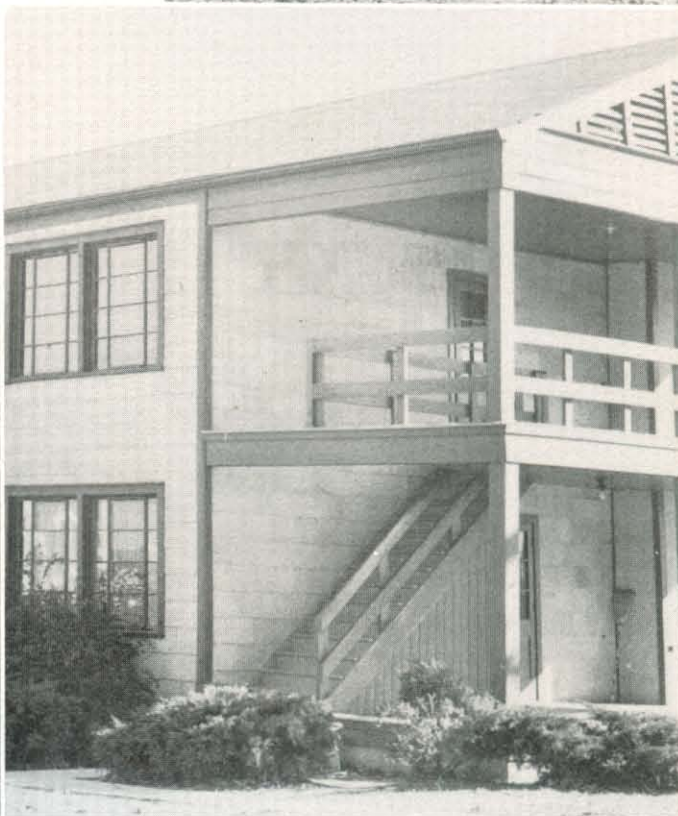

Rhodes Memorial Field House — has three basketball courts, a skating rink, equipment rooms, classrooms, and other facilities for sports and physical education.

Armstrong Hall — houses two hundred men students. The modern suites are comfortably furnished and have connecting baths.

West Dorm — recently converted to a women's dorm, supplies housing for over sixty students.

East Dorm — equipped to provide rooms for sixty-four high school boys.

Implementing Progress of Christian Education

Board Officers — W. O. Beeman, George S. Benson, Dr. L. M. Graves, Richard D. Fuller, Dr. Houston T. Karnes.

The BOARD OF TRUSTEES, rendering unselfish service to Christian education, is the real guiding hand behind Harding College. Dedicated to the propagation of education and Christianity, outstanding men of many fields have served the college through the board during its entire thirty-three year history. Although unknown to most of the students, the members of the board of trustees render indispensable service by making decisions and formulating policies concerning the college.

Present chairman of the board is L. M. Graves, M. D., Memphis, Tennessee, a board member for fifteen years. Led by the capable Dr. Graves, these men give liberally of their time and energy without receiving monetary compensation.

Directing Harding's Educational Policies

George Stuart Benson, Harding's president for the past 21 years, is the one man most responsible for the development of our college to its present respected position in the field of education. Largely through his efforts we now have a modern campus, competent faculty, School of American Studies, and graduate School of Bible and Education. A graduate of Harding College and Oklahoma A. and M. College, Dr. Benson received his M. A. degree from the University of Chicago and the LL.D. degree from both Harding College and Knox College. Prior to becoming Harding's president, he served 11 years as a missionary to China.

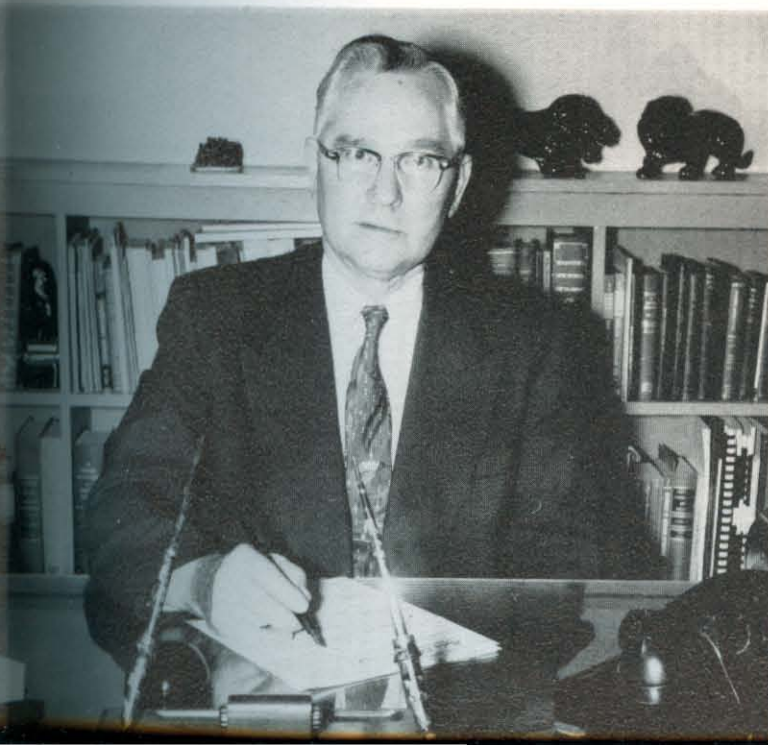

George Stuart Benson

Lloyd Cline Sears, dean of the college and chairman of the English Department, has been prominent in Harding's academic growth for three decades. After graduating from Cordell Christian College and the University of Oklahoma, Dean Sears began teaching at Harper College in 1918. He holds the M.A. degree from the University of Kansas and the Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago.

Clifton Lloyd Ganus, vice-president of Harding College, sets an example of Christian living whether in the classroom or gym. After graduating from Harding College, Dr. Ganus received his M. A. and Ph.D. degrees from Tulane University. Returning to his Alma Mater, he became professor of history, chairman of the Department of History and Social Science, and dean of the School of American Studies.

Administrative

William Knox Summitt

William Knox Summitt, registrar of Harding College, also heads the Department of Psychology and is Director of Admissions. He received the B. A. degree from Union University, the M. A. from George Peabody College, the Ph. D. from the University of Missouri, and did post doctoral study at the University of Indiana. In addition to his teaching experience of twenty-eight years, he is a member of many professional organizations.

Adlai S. Croom

Adlai S. Croom, business manager of Harding College for the past eight years, received his B.A. degree at the University of Louisville and his M.A. at Harvard. He became president of Arkansas Christian College in 1922. After teaching at Washburn College, Topeka, Kansas, he spent nineteen years in the insurance business.

Inez Pickens

Mrs. Inez Pickens, Harding's dean of women, is considered both a friend and counselor to the students. Along with the responsibilities of this position she finds time to teach English at the Harding Academy. Mrs. Pickens attended the University of Oklahoma and Harding College, receiving the B. A. degree from the latter in 1946.

Officers

J. C. Moore, a new addition to the Harding staff this year, holds the position of assistant to the president. Prior to spending four years in Germany as a missionary, he served as business manager of David Lipscomb College from 1946 to 1948. Mr. Moore attended David Lipscomb College, George Peabody, and Vanderbilt University, receiving his B.A. degree from the latter

James C. Moore

James Atkinson, well-known to the student body as director of the Student Personnel Office, came to Harding from radio stations KSCL and KDAV in Lubbock, Texas, where he did news and special effect programs. After attending Abilene Christian College, he received the B. A. degree from Central Oklahoma State College and the M.A. from Texas Technological College. Mr. Atkinson joined the Harding faculty in 1954 as assistant professor of English and served as college field representative during 1955.

James H. Atkinson

During his four years with Harding College, William Peyton Campbell, executive assistant to the president for finance has been actively engaged in presenting the Harding story to industrial leaders throughout the nation. Gen. Campbell is a graduate of the University of Arkansas and requested retirement from his position of Assistant Chief of Finance, U.S. Army, to assume his present duties.

Harding's Graduate Program Expands

Graduate Class Officers — Claud Danley, vice-president; Louise Shults, secretary; Ron Bever, president.

In addition to high-quality liberal arts education, Harding offers graduate work at the Master's level in Education, and Bible and Religious Education. The M.A. and M.R.E. degrees are offered in the Department of Bible and Religious Education. In the M.A. program a student may major in one of four fields—Biblical, Historical, Doctrinal, and Practical. The M.R.E. program requires a minimum of two years of graduate study and is designed for Bible teachers and Christian workers in general as well as for those who plan to devote full time to gospel preaching. The Master of Teaching degree is offered in the Education Department at both the elementary and secondary levels. The curriculum is designed to enlarge and strengthen Harding's program of teacher training since more than 40 per cent of her graduates enter the teaching profession. Teachers get advanced training in subject matter fields as well as in professional education, and courses in school administration may be elected. The objective of the program is the preparation of superior classroom teachers. Persistent effort is made to provide students with excellent educational facilities. This year the graduate wing on the library was completed and several collections of classical works on the Bible have been added to the library holdings. Much time and money is being spent each year in building a functional library for both graduate and undergraduate work. An extension program in both Little Rock and Memphis is conducted by the Department of Bible and Religious Education in order to expand the services of the college. Dr. W. B. Barton, Jr., lives in Memphis and devotes full time to that center. Selected teachers spend one day weekly in Little Rock. Most extension work is at the graduate level.

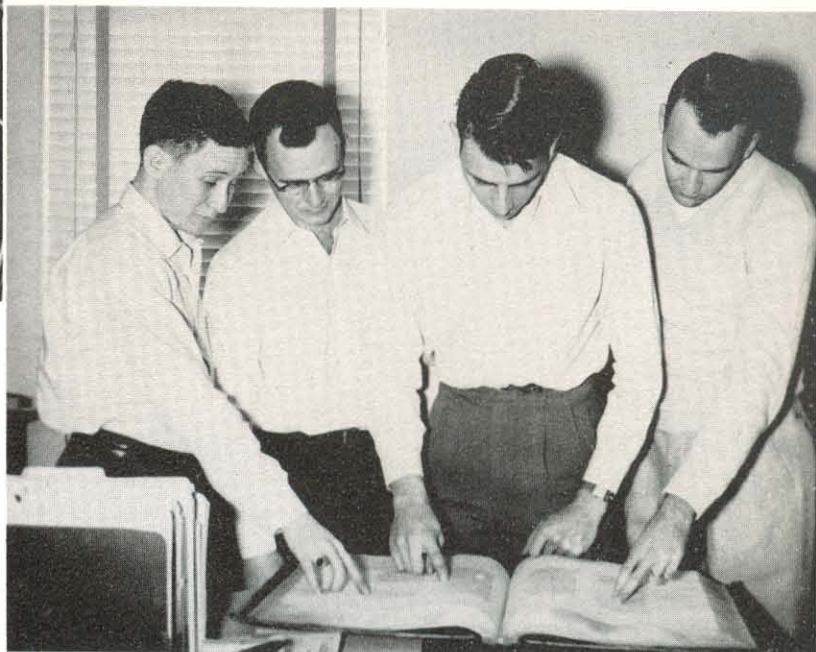

Head of the graduate Bible department — W. B. West

Seniors - "Where Do We Go From Here"

Senior Class Officers — Joe Segraves, vice-president;
Stan Schwartz, president; Shirley Fort, secretary.

"Where do we go from here?" is a question often asked but not easily answered. Wherever it be, no matter how far away in time or distance, the memories of college life, and especially those of the Senior year, will always be held dear. After class elections were over, the class settled down for that last year. Although primarily concerned with their studies, Seniors found some time for social life. The first class party—held in the Emerald Room—carried out a Valentine theme. Music, entertainment and games were provided by energetic class members. The Junior-Senior Banquet and a spring outing concluded the class activities for the year. Looking back over four years of college life and looking forward to the years ahead, the Class of '57 leaves the Harding campus with courage and humility to render Christian service.

Juniors - "Three Years Surely Changed That Professor"

Junior Class Officers — Sue Paxson, secretary; Ken Vanderpool, president; Calvin Downs, vice-president.

As with Mark Twain and his father so it was with the Juniors and their teachers—the third year of college brought astonishment at how much their professors had “learned” in two short years. Class social life began with a party in the Emerald Room with class members providing the entertainment. The traditional Junior-Senior Banquet and the class outing came in the spring. On the outing the class enjoyed hiking, eating and sightseeing. After much discussion and deliberation, the class chose for its project to supply food and clothing to a needy family in Newport, Arkansas.

Class Sponsor — Jim Atkinson

A bit surprised that after one year in college so much remained to be learned, the sophomore class quickly set about to correct the situation. After the swirl of campaign dust cleared, this being the first year upperclassmen campaigned for office, activities got underway. Not even the rainy season stopped the determined sophomores. Even though the rain fell in torrents on the evening of their first social event, the class of '59 held a weiner roast in the gym. Amid games and entertainment the cold, wet weather was soon forgotten. Being on the "giving end" during social club pledge week is one of the sophomore's rewarding experiences, and, as freshmen will testify, full advantage was taken of the situation. Group social life closed for the year with the spring outing as the class eagerly looked forward to their third year of college.

Class Sponsor — Cliff Ganus

Freshmen - "This Thing Is A Snap"

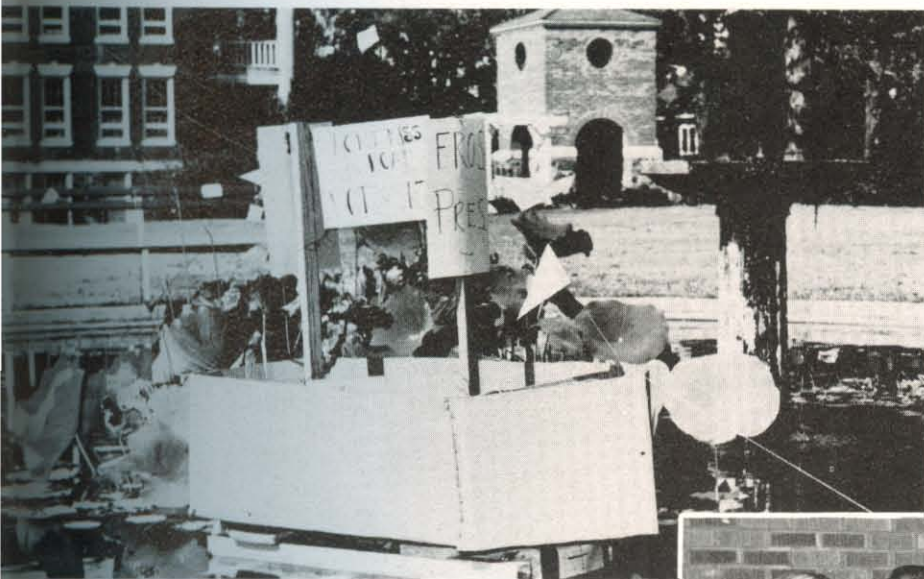

Freshmen Class Officers — Heywood Loyd, president; Claudette DuBois, secretary; Mavis Baldwin, vice-president.

"This thing is a snap" is an attitude characteristic of many freshmen as they begin that first big year of college. The class of '60 was no exception as they faced the year with confidence and enthusiasm and became a vital part of Harding life. Early in the year they were welcomed in a chapel address by Mr. J. C. Moore. During the freshman elections every available space held a "vote for" sign. In fact, so much campaigning took place that upper classmen succeeded in placing a fictitious person in nomination for a freshman class office. The most impressive event of the year, however, was the never-to-be-forgotten social club pledge week. After it was over the freshmen knew that they truly "belonged." Class projects for the year included painting the much-used swings and editing the freshman edition of the Bison.

Class Sponsor — Ken Davis

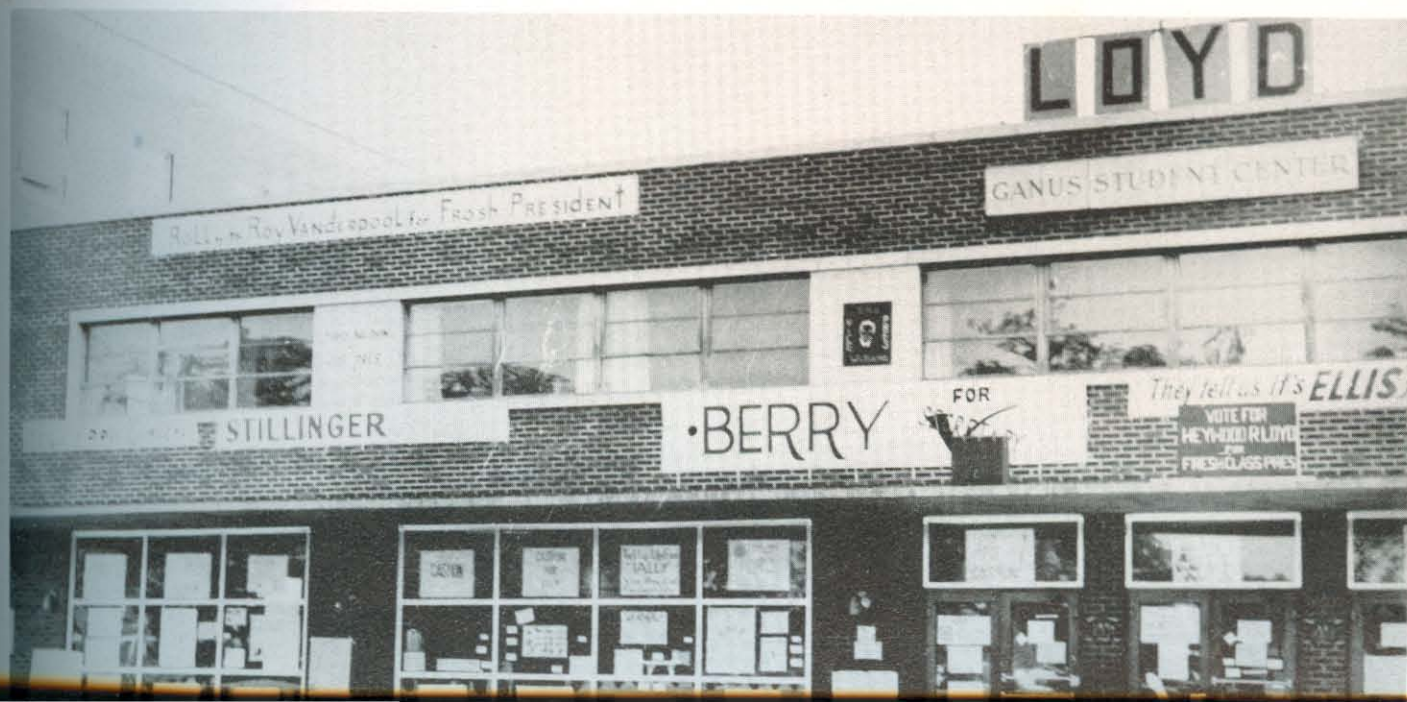

As did it's fictitious owner in the class election, this "Steve Bowman" boat sank shortly.

Scenes like this were quite common during pledge week.

Freshman Activity

Even during election year national politics had nothing on the freshman class.

Spontaneous hymn sings around the lily pond, a regular occurrence, are a source of inspiration to the student body.

Students Drawn By Christian Association, Fellowship

Students are drawn to Harding by the Christian association and Christian fellowship that pervades the campus. Christian principles, foremost in the minds of her founders, today remain the basis of Harding life. There are many opportunities for worship and service. "Hymn-sings" are uniquely associated with Harding and these spontaneous gatherings around the lily pool are deeply moving and constitute a real part of Harding. Inspiration gained from singing hymns and studying the Bible is manifest in the many ways students render service to others—conducting services at the county farm, doing personal work, serving as Bible teachers in near-by congregations, and performing many other deeds of Christian love.

Each Sunday afternoon finds a group of students walking to the old folks home to conduct worship services.

Sign language club members meet for discussion of ways of service to the deaf.

Students, faculty members, and visitors discuss the lectures between programs.

Lectureship Highlight Of Fall Semester

The Annual Bible Lectureship, attracting Christians from many areas, is the highlight of the fall semester. The aim of this program is to fill the heart and mind with the knowledge, understanding, and love of Christ. The theme this year was "The Biblical Doctrine of the Last Things." Qualified speakers were selected from congregations throughout the nation and from missionary fields abroad. Stimulating lectures, programs by the a cappella choruses, and the renewal of old friendships provided a source of inspiration, strength and fellowship. The fullness of the spiritual experience obtained at the 1956 lectureship will long remain in the memory of those who attended.

Brother Keeble combines a knowledge of God's word with a fine sense of humor to present interesting, challenging lessons.

Brother Sawyer, preacher during the spring meeting, spoke daily in chapel.

Brother Speck discusses the current teaching situation in a daily lectureship class.

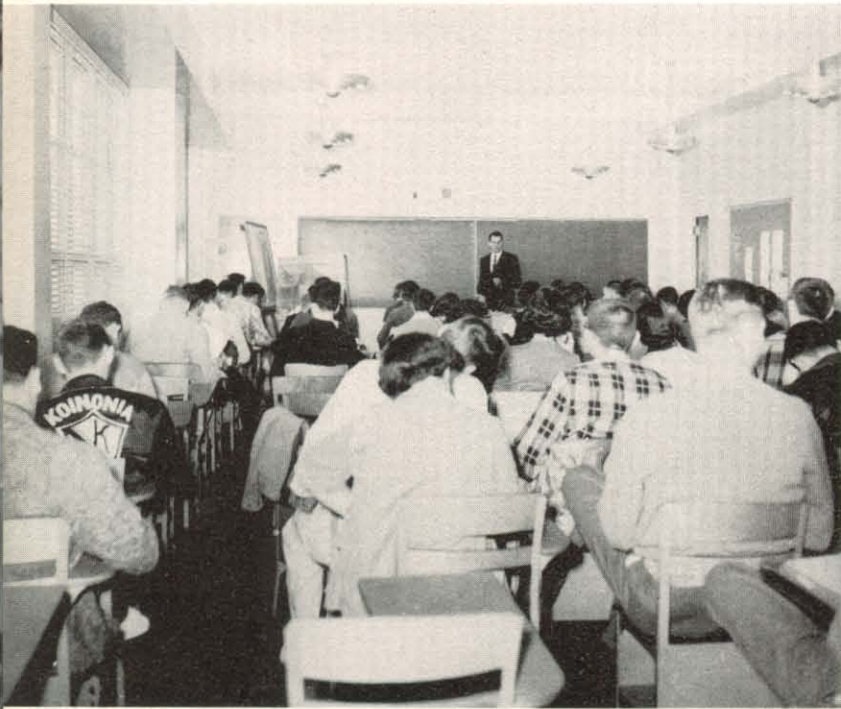

Harding's preacher students are preparing to preach the Gospel throughout the world.

Student Preachers Gain Knowledge, Experience

Student preachers, comprising approximately one-third of the male student body, each Sunday speak for numerous congregations in Arkansas and bordering states. These young men gain the practical knowledge of how to apply the truths and principles learned in classes through these weekly preaching appointments. At Harding emphasis is placed on developing every student into a faithful Christian, but special facilities exist for the training of those men who plan to give full time to preaching. The regular Monday evening preacher's meeting employs speeches, debates and panel discussions to focus attention on many of the problems preachers encounter in their work. Also, some courses in the college curriculum are designed to prepare preachers to work effectively. Each student at Harding takes a class in Bible, or an approved related field, and attends the daily chapel service. In each dormitory, the day is closed by a short vesper service conducted by and for the students.

Students increase their knowledge of the Bible in classes such as this.

Students display their interest in God through attending the extra curricular Monday night meetings.

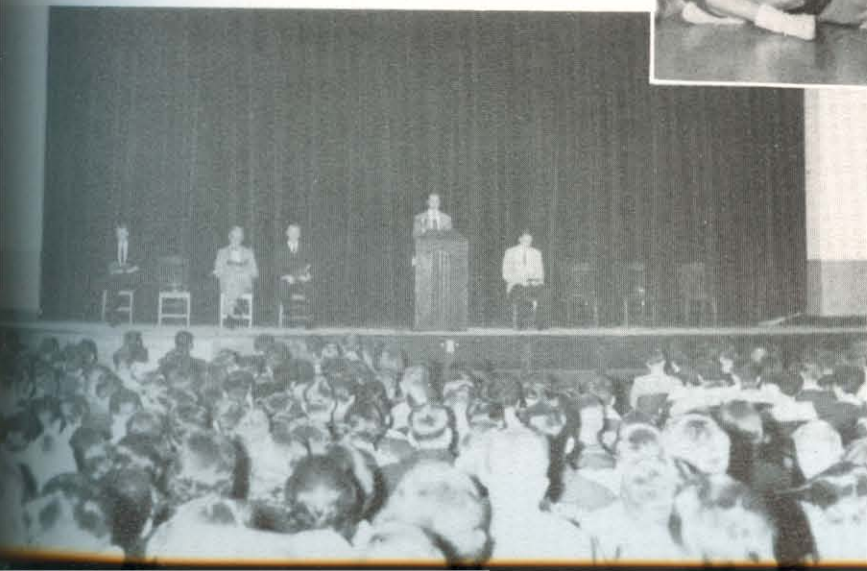

Informative programs and moving devotionals constitute the majority of the programs given at Young People's Meeting, held each Sunday evening in the College Congregation building.

In each men's dorm a group gathers to worship God as the day ends.

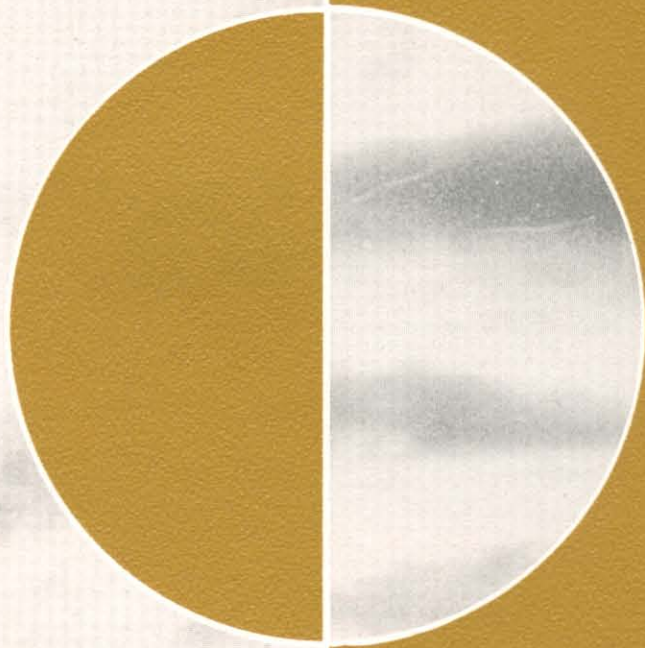

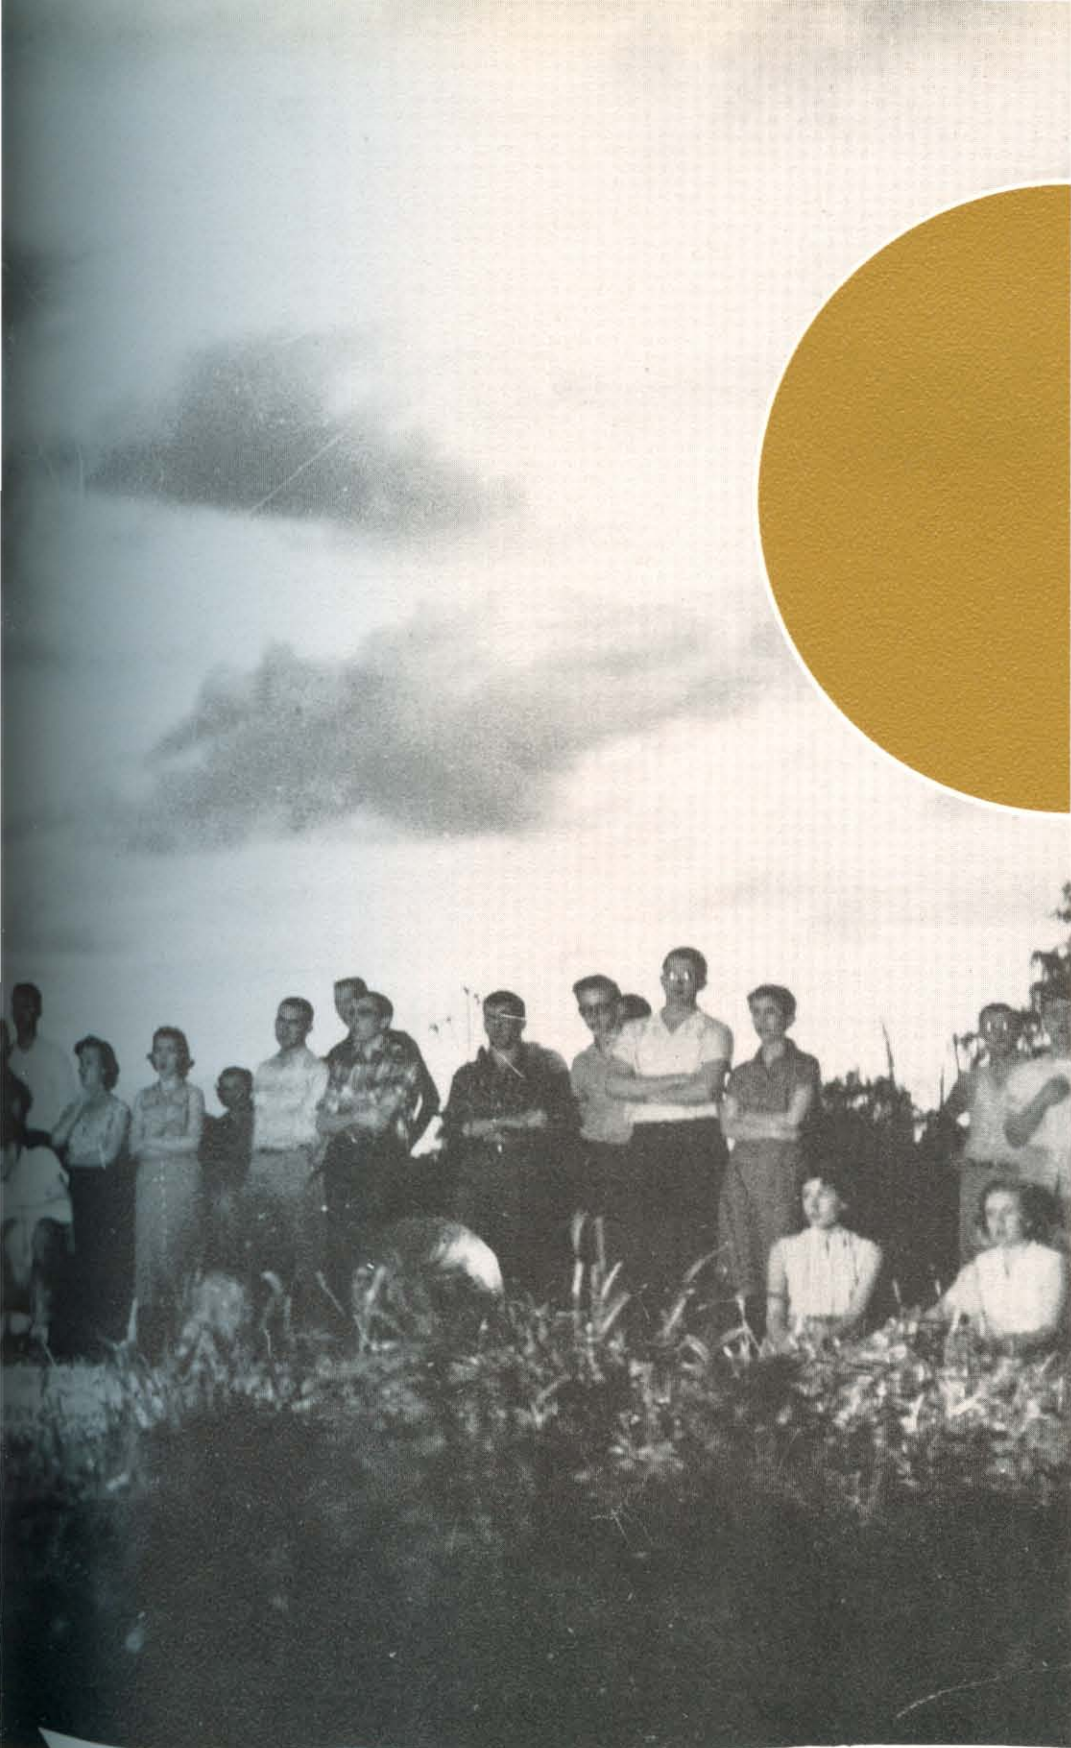

Girls, too, conduct vesper services each evening before retiring.

One of the long remembered experiences of Harding students, the daily chapel service draws the entire student body together.

Student Council Supplies Representative Government

Under the capable leadership of Dick Richardson, Edsel Hughes and Nadine Pate, the Student Association enjoyed the most active and successful year in its history. Adopting the slogan "dedicated to a year of progress," the officers arrived on the campus early in September to make plans for the year and to assist with the orientation of new students. An information booth was maintained outside the Student Center and refreshments were served on the day of registration. Active participation of each student was solicited, and they were assigned duties on the basis of information gained from a "work sheet" filled out during matriculation. The Student Council directed class elections, organized an advisory cabinet, sponsored a contest to provide dolls for underprivileged children, planned an all-student Christmas party, and sponsored musical programs, ball games, and worthwhile films.

FTA--Today's Hope for Tomorrow

FUTURE TEACHERS of America, sponsored by Prof. Ed Sewell, is one of the largest and most active organizations on campus. Its purpose is to create interest and understanding in the teaching profession. Work began this year with a social and a chapel program which began the annual membership drive, culminating in a membership of 110.

The Florence Cathcart Chapter sponsored a class in parliamentary procedure, and during National Education Week a radio program was given.

Edsel Hughes served as state president and was elected Secretary at the National Convention.

The chapter met bi-monthly for informative programs, consisting of films, panel discussions, guest speakers, and short dramatic skits in an effort to develop better teachers for America's schools.

The Bison--Our Weekly Campus Review

*T*his year the Bison did more than simply inform, educate, and entertain the student body through the press. In the fall the Bison sponsored the annual all-star football game; and at the end of the basketball season, sponsored the annual basketball all-star game.

As a member of the Arkansas College Press Association, the Bison annually enters the ACPA sponsored college newspaper contest. In 1955-56 the Bison won the Sweepstakes award and many individual awards. To bring the year to a climax an informal banquet was conducted for the Bison staff at Camp Wyldewood.

The Petit Jean--Our Permanent Record

Looking back over the conception, evolution, and completion of the 1957 PETIT JEAN, we realize that our efforts could never have reached fruition but for the cooperation of students, faculty, and staff. For this we thank you, and believe that because of it you will feel that this is all the more your book. Whether or not we met the standard of excellence set by past yearbooks will not be known for many months, but we believe the real evaluation of this composition lies in how well the events of the past year come to life as you turn these pages. Should you, in future years, come to look upon your 1957 PETIT JEAN as an old and familiar friend, all our worry, work, late hours, and sleepless nights will have been amply repaid.

Music Touches Each Student's Life

Harding A CAPPELLA CHORUS, made up of sixty-eight members and directed by Prof. Kenneth Davis, is the largest in Harding chorus history. Members of the chorus are selected from the entire student body by private audition. In addition to recording "Hymns from Harding," a weekly radio program heard over 179 stations, the group gave a joint concert with the Harding Chorale and Academy Chorus. Other programs were for lectureship, chapel, and weddings. Two major trips during the year provided listening pleasure for thousands and many memories for chorus members. This year the chorus toured the southeastern states on the fall trip and the southwestern states during the spring.

Men's Quartette — Bob Sullins, Arthur Voyles, Harold Sisco, Dwight Smith.

A TEMPO is an organization composed of students who especially enjoy music and are interested in learning more about composers and the different phases of music. Activities included chapel programs, receptions for Lyceum artists, and "The Squirrel Hunt," an annual outing. A TEMPO each year presents the Outstanding Musician Award to some deserving Harding Student.

Two MEN'S QUARTETS kept busy this year with engagements in surrounding communities, week end trips, and a television appearance over a Little Rock station. The quartets are selected from the A Cappella Chorus by audition.

Selected from the A Cappella Chorus, the eight members of WOMEN'S ENSEMBLE are chosen for the blending ability and quality of their voices. This year their schedule included a television appearance and programs for dinners and luncheons.

Ensemble—Marilyn Davis, Charlene Harris, Betty Clark, Patsy Parker, Darlene Darling, Claudette Harris, Mary Redwine, Lois Robertson.

Consisting of 30 members from the training school, high school, and college, the BAND exists to give musical experience to students. This year the group marched at homecoming, played for six other Academy games, the Bison All Star game, and presented a joint concert with the chorus. Again this year band members attended the Annual Arkansas Intercollegiate Band convention at Magnolia.

Harding's CHORALE is open to all students who enjoy singing. Dr. Erle T. Moore, director, tries to strike a happy medium between artistic standards and the average person's ability to meet those standards. The year's activity included an appearance on the fall lectureship program, chapel programs, and a spring concert. Again the group made several off-campus appearances.

Harding's SYMPHONETTE, under the direction of Prof. Kenneth Davis, attempts to give those playing instruments opportunity to perform. The twenty members, composed of elementary, high school and college students, are interested in furthering musical interest on the campus. During the year the group presented chapel programs and concerts, in addition to performing as pit orchestra for several Lyceum programs.

The MOODS, a polished thirteen piece swing band under the direction of senior George Oliver, made its initial appearance of the year on the "Student Association Presents" program and found an immediate and enthusiastic welcome. Copying the basic style of Glen Miller, combined with other styles for variety, the group entertained audiences in chapel, at social club banquets, special student programs, and over Little Rock television.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA, a national honorary dramatic fraternity encourages excellence in the field of drama. Membership in the Eta Omega cast is based upon ability in stage work and previous Campus Players membership. ALPHA PSI OMEGA presents awards for outstanding dramatic abilities.

Drama Gives Training

CAMPUS PLAYERS, Harding's dramatic organization, occupies an integral role in the lives of students who aspire to act or to work with the technical aspects of drama. The group meets every Thursday night and is usually entertained by one act plays. The Players, sponsored by Glen and Wanda Wiley, are responsible for three of the lyceum series presented during the school year. This year's productions ranged from the classics—Molier's "The Miser" and Chekov's "The Cherry Orchard"—to the modern Broadway comedy hit "Time Out For Ginger" by Ronald Alexander. In addition to the major dramatic productions, the Players sponsor the Workshop Theater, a series of one act plays produced and directed by students. This year they staged the plays of Eugene O'Neil, James M. Barrie, William Saroyan, Edna St. Vincent Millay, and other noted playwrights. This year the Players also gave awards for the best actor and actress of the year, with the winners being chosen from the one act, student directed plays. A new addition for the Players was a Green Room, and a much needed workshop. Requirement for entrance into the Players is a total of twenty-five points. This point system is based upon the number of hours worked, as well as acting. With such an ambitious dramatic program, interested students are provided with an outlet for their creative ability in acting, directing, lighting, makeup, costuming, and scene design. Campus Players not only provides students with fun and experience, but it also furnishes a wonderful source of entertainment.

Harding has designed her own special lyceum series to entertain and enlighten the student body, utilizing both professional and student talent. The year was begun with the appearance of Phillipe Entremont, noted French pianist, one of the world's most talented and fastest rising young concert artists. Mr. Entremont, a tremendous favorite with the students, made a sensational appearance with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra soon after his appearance at Harding. A classical touch was added by Players' Inc. who brought one of Shakespeare's finest plays, "Henry IV," to the Harding stage. This was their second visit to the campus. The appearance of Lucine Amara, metropolitan opera soprano, continued to add variety to the series. The spring semester opened with a concert by Miss Joyce Flissler displaying her versatility with a program of music ranging from the classics to "Turkey in the Straw." Miss Flissler was given an enthusiastic reception. The student body received a special treat when the Grass Roots Opera Company presented a fine performance of Rossini's one-hundred fifty year old masterpiece "The Barber of Seville." A magnificent performance by the Don Cossack Chorus closed the year's lyceum programs. The chorus received a most exuberant reception by the student body and provided a fitting climax to a year of professional entertainment.

APPRENTICES to Campus Players are drama enthusiasts working to meet the requirements for initial memberships. Participating in major productions, work-shop plays, Campus Players' programs and backstage work for one semester qualify them to become members.

Debators Talk Way To Successful Year

The purpose of Harding's debate program is to encourage participation in forensics, which includes debate, discussion, extemporaneous speech, and original oratory, and to recognize outstanding work in these areas on both the intramural and inter-collegiate level. The team this year entered a total of eight tournaments, in six states. Participating in these tournaments were thirteen students, entering a total of eighty-five debates. In the first meet of the year Harding debaters won the sweepstakes award, and third place in the individual ratings. At Southwestern College, Winfield, Kansas, Bill Floyd won the oratorical contest in the senior men's division. The Mid-South Tournament, Conway, Arkansas, saw Floyd and McCampbell reach the semi-finals, with Rea and Nicholson going to the quarter finals.

Diversified Organizations

To serve the Harding family and to propagate the ideals of Harding College—this is the purpose of the CIRCLE K CLUB in its third year on our campus. One of the club's many outstanding projects was to assist new and returning students moving into the dorms. The club also placed new signs downtown pointing the way to the campus and carried on a weekly radio program featuring Harding talent.

To promote interest and study in the visual arts is the aim of the BOHEMIAN CLUB, under the direction of Mrs. Perry Mason and Herbert Dean. The group also sponsors programs of visual arts on the campus. Among their activities were a costume party and art exhibits.

Interest in photography on the Harding campus is promoted by the CAMERA CLUB. The members were especially desirous of learning more about photography and enjoyed interesting lectures and demonstrations at their Sunday afternoon meetings. During the year the organization promoted several contests and exhibitions and enjoyed a spring function.

GERMAN CLUB members are interested in learning more about German people, custom, language, and culture. Sponsored by Prof. Leslie Burke, the group implemented their purpose by corresponding with the people of Germany, hearing speeches and records in German, and seeing films on Germany.

Show Student Interests

The HOME ECONOMICS CLUB, sponsored by Mrs. Guy Thompson, does as much to be of service to others as to the club members themselves. This year at their Christmas party each girl brought a toy for some orphan. Their outstanding social was a dinner with Miss Alma Keys, the state home economics supervisor, as special guest. An award was also given to the outstanding girl in home economics.

Encouraging good health habits and contributing to a more healthful environment on the Harding Campus is the objective of the STUDENT HEALTH ASSOCIATION. Under the direction of Mrs. Mabel French, the club sponsored a first aid class taught by pre-med students. The members became active in their campaign by assisting in the campus infirmary.

The SALESMANS CLUB is composed of individuals who defray college expenses by selling Bibles door-to-door during the summer. Plans are now being made to include those interested in other types of selling as well. Its purpose is to aid in developing better salesmen, fostering higher ideals of salesmanship, and interesting others in selling.

LOS RANCHEROS was organized to acquaint students with the language, custom, and tradition of Latin American countries. At the bi-monthly meetings films concerning life "south of the border" were shown. The 25 members kept busy with various activities, including a chapel program.

Home Economic Club — SEATED: Shirley Venable, Pat Jordan, Janiece Helm, Grace Murphy, Sandra Collins, Nadine Tyler, Joy Edwards, Myrna Morford, Mary Jo Putnam, Hilda Milligan, Marie Knight, Donna Wise, Willene Rhodes. Sponsored by Russell Simmons, the DACTYLOLOGY CLUB was formed in the interest of helping the deaf. Besides traveling to Little Rock every Sunday to hold classes and church services, three of the members appeared over television telling of their present work and future plans. As a result of the club's effort, full time ministers are now working with the deaf.

Those playing a leading role in helping new girls feel at home are the BIG SISTERS. Girls of this service organization are chosen by Mrs. Inez Pickens, and during the summer they correspond with future freshmen. Attitude is the keynote in choice of these girls, with compatibility as an equally important characteristic. Activities included conducting the all girl's meeting and the Christmas party.

Sixty Percent of Student Body Employed

The student employment program, involving approximately sixty per cent of the student body, enabled many of us to finance part of our expenses. Whether working for the college or for a public concern, we always had the satisfaction of helping ourselves while gaining valuable experience and learning to budget our time. Jess Rhodes, work co-ordinator, taught efficiency and made working a pleasurable experience.

Petit Jean Day Reveals Election Results

Each fall the men's social clubs select a nominee for Petit Jean Queen. In a colorful array of formal dress these girls are presented to the student body for selection of the three finalists, chosen for their beauty, charm, personality and character. Suspense grows greater as dedication day approaches. The story of Petit Jean, the namesake of the yearbook, is told as the dedication ceremony is begun. And at last, the queen is announced. Also at this time, class favorites, best all around, and yearbook dedications are made for both the academy and college. Then a wild dash to various points where the yearbooks are distributed, the sack supper on the campus lawn, and the signing of yearbooks ends the day.

May Fete Highlights Spring

Will it rain or shine on the first day of May? This is the question asked by the Ju Go Jus as they add the final touch to the annual May Fete. After witnessing the early morning parade of blue jeans, rolled hair and half closed eyes, one stands in amazement, staring at the now brilliant and graceful performance of the Maypole winders. During the fall semester each woman's club selects a junior or senior representative for the queen nominee. From these fifteen young ladies one is selected by the student body to be Queen of May, with the royal court being composed of representatives from each college and high school social club. This year marks the twentieth year of this spring festival. Hats off to Nina Harvey, director of the 1957 May Fete, who worked tirelessly in producing this event.

National Recognition For Alpha Honor Society

In the spring of 1936, the Alpha Honor Society was organized on the Harding campus for the purpose of promoting and recognizing high scholarship among the students. From 1936 through the spring of 1956, 128 students have been elected to membership. In the fall of 1956 the Alpha Honor society petitioned ALPHA CHI, National Honor Scholarship Society, that a chapter of ALPHA CHI be established at Harding College. On March 1, 1957, the Arkansas Eta Chapter of ALPHA CHI was installed by Dr. Paul C. Witt of Abilene Christian College. Membership in ALPHA CHI is restricted to the upper ten per cent of the junior and senior classes. In addition, juniors must have achieved a 3.70 scholarship index, and seniors a 3.50 index, on all college work taken prior to election. Good moral character is an essential qualification for membership. All former members of the Alpha Honor Society are associate members of the Arkansas Eta Chapter of ALPHA CHI.

Thirteen Seniors Elected

Thirteen Harding seniors were chosen to the annual publication Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, one of the highest honors awarded college students. These thirteen, known in every phase of campus life, were selected by the faculty following nomination by the Student Association. These students were chosen on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership, participation in extracurricular activities, and potentiality for future usefulness to business and society.

HERMAN ALEXANDER, his voice booming, preached regularly at Coy and was an active participant in a number of student activities.

EUGENE BAILEY, a scholarly mathematics major who found time for the musical interests, was active in a tempo, and the a cappella chorus.

NORMAN DYKES, a "pre-med" student with a major in chemistry, maintained a high scholastic rating and promoted Circle K activities.

J. D. EWING, noted for his excellent scholarship, proved his strength by lifting barbells.

CLAUDETTE HARRIS, "ole Faithful" to the a cappella chorus and FTA.

NINA HARVEY, a home economics major, directed the May Fete in the spring and was active in several extra-curricular organizations.

EDSEL HUGHES, vice-president of the Student Association, state president and national FTA secretary, and business manager of the Petit Jean.

DORIS LEE JONES, a familiar face at the library desk, kept smiling as she completed an education major with a high scholastic average.

EVELYN LAWRENCE, taking time out from studying, cheerfully aided the student association president by typing reports and letters.

JACK MEREDITH, interested in preaching the gospel to Spanish speaking people, spent much of his time in preparation for this work.

NADINE PATE, member of the a cappella chorus and FTA, found herself busy filling the position of student association secretary.

DICK RICHARDSON, student association president, made an excellent scholastic record and received a Rotary Fellowship to Ireland.

STAN SCHWARTZ, a scholarly "pre-med" student, was assistant coach in the academy, president of the senior class and active in intramural sports.

SOCIAL CLUBS

Harding Social Clubs Unique, Practical

Harding's social clubs are unique and practical organizations—unique in that they are not national fraternities or sororities and practical in serving worth-while purposes. First, they bring students together, allowing them to “get acquainted.” Secondly, they perform noteworthy projects, such as placing hymnbooks in the new dorm, supplying trophy cases, clothing the needy, or any number of similar tasks. Activity is lethargic or spasmodic until the all important “pledge week.” From that eventful moment forward activity begins to accelerate. The first functions are stag outings for the men, and bunking parties for the women. The tempo increases as winter comes and “formal” banquets flourish. Then comes the migration of Hardingites to the outdoors for fun packed spring outings. Interspersed between the social functions are the club athletic contests. Each group enters the games with desire and energy, yet observing real Christian sportsmanship. Except for farewell parties club activity terminates with track and field day late in the spring.

Pledge week! The anxiously awaited, long remembered comedy that starts social club activity rolling.

Club members are brought closer together through club projects. This year Sigma Taus chose to erect a new welcome sign.

"God, Husband, Wife"

One of the most recent additions to Harding's social clubs, Theta Alpha Gamma, is for married students only. Organized during the fall semester, the group quickly garnered membership, ending the year with over fifty. The purpose of the club is to promote more fellowship between married students, and the Greek letters signify "God, husband, and wife." Meetings are held once each month, with each meeting being a social function. The first such party-meeting was a Christmas party. The club colors are red and white, symbolizing love and purity. Hugh Rhodes serves as sponsor.

Bunking Party Prior To Pledge Week

Beta Tau Gamma, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Herb Dean, wrote a new constitution and worked hard to carry out their new plans. A bunking party for the charter members laid the plans for pledge week. Suitcases and hats appropriate for the occasion made up the traveling equipment of the pledges. After much preparation, the charter and new members decorated the Rendezvous in pastel colors, giving their version of "Show Boat" on the night of January 10. When spring came they escaped the drudgery of school for a day in the wilds of Petit Jean State Park.

Successful First Year For New Club

This year new social clubs were formed on the Harding campus, with AEX among them. Surprisingly strong athletically for a new organization, the club gave all opponents plenty of competition. Pledge week saw the addition of eleven new members at the Bee Rock initiation. The formal banquet, on Washington's birthday, was in the Rendezvous banquet room with Cleon Lyles of Little Rock as guest speaker. The spring outing, held at Petit Jean State Park, ended the first year of activity. The charter members chose James Hedrick as sponsor and Claudette Harris as queen.

Being a new club didn't seem to keep AEX from a bang-up initiation.

Twelve New Members Added

The Delta Chi Omega started this busy year initiating twelve new members formally in the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Ken Davis. The ceremony was followed by a wonderful dinner. The club later celebrated its ninth birthday by having a spaghetti supper in the Cathcart Hall kitchen. Fun was had by all at the third function on January 11 as well as at the many bunking parties held in the Davis' home. The second semester was filled with many activities, including a farewell party for one of the members. Teamwork proved profitable in the outstanding volleyball games played.

Seems initiation didn't have an adverse effect on these pledges.

Pledges Initiated At Red Bluff

This was another busy and delightful year. It began with a stag outing in the wilds overlooking Little Red River. Returning to civilization, the APKs chose Patsy Parker as club queen, and made plans for pledge week. Pledge week drew to a climax with a wonderful supper at the home of sponsor, Charles Pitner, and a trip to Red Bluff where the pledges were duly initiated. The club's social activities were highlighted by the annual banquet at the Rendezvous on March 2. There was also the delightful spring outing to Petit Jean State Park. The project selected was to help install a television set in Armstrong Hall. Breakfast in the sponsor's home closed out the year's activity.

Crowning Of King Rex Banquet Feature

Jackie Anguish bravely volunteered the use of her home for an old member* bunking party, at which pledge week plans were completed. The candlelight ceremony of formal initiation climaxed an eventful week for the "muds." A chilly Wylde-wood Christmas party featured cranberries and popcorn strung from the tree, with Christmas carols being sung around a crackling fire. Under a canopy of brilliantly colored balloons and streamers, GATAs and dates spent a fun-filled banquet night at the Mardi Gras. Speaker Richard Walker emphasized the meaning of this celebration, followed by the feature of the night, the crowning of King Rex. Members and dates headed for Tahkohdah on May 6, a day free from cares and study.

Nine Charter Members Begin New Club

On the night of October 12, ten boys met in the Graduate Dorm and a new social club, Beta Phi Kappa, was formed. After approving a constitution, the group was officially recognized. The charter members, Ron Rea, Jim Gaskill, Ben Curtis, Dick McIntyre, Buddy Robison, Ronald Huffstutler, Don Holton, Earl Holloway, Tom Eaves, and Jim Phillips, chose Ed Sewell as club sponsor. After an exciting and trying pledge week, nine members were added at an informal initiation at Camp Wyldewood. Mozelle Telchik, club queen, was a Petit Jean Queen finalist. February 14 was the banquet date, with Evan Ulrey as guest speaker. The club's first spring outing to Petit Jean State Park concluded the social activities of the year.

Harding Belles Relive Old South Theme

More than twenty years ago, the Ju Go Ju Club was formed. All through the years the club has planned and participated in banquets, outings, and their yearly club project, the May Fete. Each fall the old members enjoy a week of giving commands to pledges. Among other duties, the "lowly ones" must plan and prepare a breakfast for old members. The annual banquet was held at the Rendezvous. A theme depicting the Old South made a perfect setting for the speaker, Clifton L. Ganus, originally from New Orleans. The May Fete really begins at 6 a.m. each morning during the month of April, but on May 1, all the hours of practice pay off—if it doesn't rain. Following May day, the girls hold a yearly outing for a day of relaxation.

Social Activity And Fellowship

Crowning a week of pledging, the Cavalier Club began the year with the initiation of eight new members. The outstanding event of the fall semester was a banquet in the Blue Room of the Rendezvous. Other important activities were a spaghetti supper at the home of sponsor Bill Williams and a stag outing to Little Rock for dinner at Bruno's and a show. The year was filled with a number of the ever popular stag outings, capped by a "drag" outing to Petit Jean State Park for the annual spring trek to the wilds. The club project for 1957 again was to increase the Cavalier Club Loan Fund, which is especially provided for the benefit of deserving students in need of financial help. Helen Hendrix was selected as Club Queen.

New Members Guests At Spaghetti Supper

"Socks of grey, socks of gold," what a sight to behold. Has everyone seen these during pledge week? If not, they did not observe the commotion every afternoon by the lily pond. One of the first activities for the new members was a bunking party, featuring a spaghetti supper. Highlighting the year for the KKKs was the banquet with a modern valentine theme. Among the other activities that bound them together were swimming parties, overnight stays at Wyldeewood with sunrise devotionals, the birthday party, and spring outing.

Banquet Highlight Of Spring

DIs and dates visited a "Winter Wonderland" at the Rendezvous Restaurant on February 19, the date of their formal banquet. Fried chicken and all "the trimmings" was served buffet style, amid an atmosphere that was anything but chilly. Stork Visits Campus; Leaves Baby Club

Look what the stork brought! Yes, it was a baby—a baby club, born this year and named Kappa Phi. The proud parents were eight charter members. Fifteen pledges went through a “glorious” week of being called “worms,” as well as a few other things. The climax of pledge week was a formal initiation in the home of the sponsor, Mrs. Erle T. Moore. Shortly after initiation, the new members treated their pledge masters to a hamburger fry as a token of “appreciation.” The highlight of the year was the Christmas Toyland banquet held at the Rendezvous, December 7. Other activities on the agenda included swimming parties, bunking parties, breakfast at Bee Rock, and an all day outing in the spring.

Christian Fellowship In Social Activity

A typical and well loved Frater activity—eating.

As with all Christian people, the thing that gave life and impetus to the Frater Sodalis this year was a genuine striving to reflect the spirit of Christian brotherhood in social activity; believing that without Christ there is no real solidarity of association. The moments of quiet, thoughtful reflection around a campfire at a stag outing or around a single candle at the formal initiation were moments when hearts found joy in warm companionship. Thus went a year of Christian fellowship, a year never to be forgotten.

"Heavenly Night" At Banquet

This year the LCs began activities by selecting Mrs. Harry Risinger as sponsor. On October 21, seven old members enjoyed a hamburger supper and bunking party at the sponsor's home. Pledge week ended with the initiation of ten new members in a candlelight ceremony at Mrs. Risinger's. The traditional Spanish supper was enjoyed in the Pattie Cobb kitchen on December 1. "Heavenly Night" was the theme of the banquet held at the Rendezvous. A milkyway of glittering stars led from the sky to the throne of Queen Barbara Harris and King Ron Bever. Other activities for the year included a spring outing and a third function.

Steak Supper, Wagons, And Faculty Directory

An open-fire steak supper at the home of sponsor Kenneth Davis began an active year for the Galaxyys. Professor Davis also was host to the club initiation which was held on his farm. A Christmas party given by Jim Mahaffy provided another delightful evening. The traditional formal banquet was held this year at the Mayfair Hotel. The club decorated the banquet room with wagons and stars in keeping with their theme, "Hitch Your Wagon to a Star." Guest speaker for the occasion was Gordon Teel, minister of the College Congregation. For a project the Galaxyys installed a faculty directory in the lobby of the administration building.

King And Queen Reign At "Ball"

October saw fifteen happy pledges trapped to run the gantlet of MEA pledge week. They survived a week of stunts and servitude—wearing dunce caps and carrying fantastically imaginary animals. Subdued pledges gathered around the symbolic red, white, green, yellow and blue candles for an impressive formal initiation, followed by a reading of the revised constitution. Then came a dizzy night of the not-so-formal initiation at the home of Zena Street, capped by a bunking party at Mrs. Benny Gallaway's home. The King and Queen of Hearts reigned over the Valentine Ball, the annual banquet held at the Roseann. Project of the year was to furnish new equipment for the school park. Petit Jean State Park was the scene of the spring outing.

Progress Reigns As Club Program Expands

For his untiring efforts as president of Harding College, and his contributions to the American way of life, the Koinonia Club this year presented George S. Benson with an honorary membership plaque at the formal banquet. Theme for the annual banquet, the club's 21st, was "An Evening in Paris," with decorations depicting a sidewalk cafe. After Dr. Benson delivered the address of the evening the club presented a sweetheart sweater to Betty Ann Floyd. Club project was to build a dugout for the baseball diamond. Petit Jean Queen Nominee Nancy Stovall was one of three contest finalists. The spring outing consisted of a trip to Petit Jean State Park.

Money Tree Featured At Formal Banquet

Fall activities were discussed by the returning OEGES following a supper in their sponsor's home. Seven new members were initiated after a week of vigorous pledging. The combined efforts of the old and new members produced an unusual but delightful visit to the make-believe realm of "The Garden of Greenbacks." Green bills and silver money trees decorated the Rendezvous banquet room. Guest speaker for the occasion was J. D. Bales. Purchasing a table service for the Emerald Room and giving financial help to a girl at the Tipton Orphan Home comprised the project. Other club activities included the annual spring outing and several suppers, plus informal parties given in the Lott Tucker home.

Pledges Bring $1.37 Each At Auction

It seems that the value of the human body has decreased—at least an auction of seven Lambda Sigma pledges would yield no more than $9.59! After the auction, and a trying week, the pledges were “warmly welcomed” into the club at an informal initiation on Hobo Island. At the banquet the members went “Around the World in an Evening,” but actually got no farther than the Roseann Dining Room. Speaker for the occasion was Clark Stevens. At the beginning of the second semester co-sponsor Don Sime was welcomed back. The project for the year was to supply clothing for a needy Searcy family. A spring outing was enjoyed at Petit Jean State Park, and stag outings were held at Wyldewood and Bee Rock. The club also fielded athletic teams in many events.

Oriental Food Highlight Of Banquet

Christmas caroling was the first activity for Omega Phi and dates, ending with hot chocolate and doughnuts at the home of Mrs. Russell Simmons. "Oriental Restaurant" was the banquet theme, held March 15 at the Rendezvous. Differing from conventional banquet food, the group dined on delicious Chinese food. Girls and dates headed for an outing at Blanchard Springs on April 29. The group kept busy through the year with Tuesday morning breakfasts, bunking parties, athletic tournaments, and informal get-togethers. The scholarship plaque, a yearly project, was engraved with the name of the social club having the highest scholastic average for the year.

One's first impression during pledge week might have been "Indians to the right of me, Indians to the left of me." Closer inspection would have revealed nothing more than Mohican pledges with mom's old worn-out blanket. After several trying days, seven youngsters won the right to wear full headdress, and to be classed as one of the braves. Following the scalping, older members evidently relented, for they served homemade ice cream in honor of the new additions. The club's outstanding project of the year was to sponsor a drive for religious books for Nigerian Christians. The Indians gave up the great outdoors and became entirely civilized for the banquet, held February 9, at the Mayfair Hotel.

New Members Initiated By Candlelight

After an eventful week of pledging, twelve "rats" were formally initiated into the Phi Delta club at an impressive candlelight ceremony in the home of Mrs. Bill Williams. Following initiation the newcomers treated old members to a traditional dinner in the Cathcart Hall kitchen. After the Christmas vacation, the club invaded the William's home again, where they enjoyed a delicious spaghetti supper. "Lovers' Air Castles" was the theme of the gala banquet held at the Rendezvous, February 12. The club traveled to Petit Jean State Park for the spring outing on April 29.

Backward Look At Pioneer Banquet

The Pioneer Social Club, formed this year, is dedicated to service, development of Christian character, and leadership. Eleven pledges were accepted in the fall. On the darkest night imaginable these were blindfolded and taken to Camp Wylde-wood for final initiation. The theme "Great Pio-neers of Harding College," was chosen for the ban-quet at the Rendezvous, January 8, with a collec-tion of historic items vividly portraying Harding's earlier years. Petit Jean State Park was the scene of the outing. As a project the club assisted in mail-ing the Bible Lectureship programs. The Pioneers' first year was one of success and enjoyment.

Events highlighting the first semester included the acceptance tea, the initiation ceremony, a bunking party at the home of Mrs. Joe Pryor, and a slumber party at the home of Charlene Harris at which the girls prepared entries for the 1956 Dolly Drive. The second semester began with a banquet, February 16, at the Rendezvous where Reginas and dates dined and were entertained in regal splendor. Multitudinous Activities Characterize Year

After an hilarious informal initiation of nine pledges at Echo Dale, the Sigma Tau Sigmas enjoyed a year filled with multitudinous activities. The year's highlight was an unusual masquerade banquet held at the Rendezvous on February 28. At the banquet Sue Young, club queen, was presented a sweater. Club projects included furnishing songbooks for vespers in the Graduate Dorm, sending clothing to foreign students, and adding a "Welcome" sign to the campus. Other activities included stag outings at Echo Dale, swimming parties at the Harding pool, and winning the club basketball tournament. A traditional spring outing to Petit Jean State Park climaxed the year's activities.

Successful First Year By Work, Determination

This year marked the birth of the Theta Psi social club. With much determination and hard work the charter members had a successful pledge week and inspirational initiation. The new members rolled up their sleeves and pitched in to help make a success of the club's first banquet, held at the Mayfair Hotel. Sea shells and fish in a fish net hanging from the ceiling created an atmosphere of underwater fantasy. "Little Italy" set the theme of the third function, held in the Emerald Room. An outing in the spring climaxed an initial year filled with fun and good fellowship.

At the traditional informal initiation, held at the Sub-T cabin, eleven pledges were warmly welcomed into the club after a week of rigorous pledging. As a highlight to the social activities, a "Shipwreck Party" was held at the Legion Hut on January 18. All the members grew beards for the event and each member and his date came dressed as if shipwrecked. Other activities included fielding winning athletic teams, enjoying stag outings, and having a third function with dates at the club cabin. The project was to place a bust of C. L. Sticky fingers resulted from a taffy pull held in the Emerald room, scene of the third function. Tofebts and dates took off to Petit Jean State Park on May 13 for a delightful day in the wilds.

New, Better Bulletin Board Erected

The TNTs this year chose as their project to finance the construction of a new brick sports bulletin board with sliding glass doors designed to match the architectural design of the buildings on the campus. The club hopes that this will increase participation in the intramural sports program. The "mock trial" initiation of the pledges, stag outings at Bee Rock, feeds at the homes of the sponsors and club swims in the college pool are events that will be long remembered. The traditional TNT cowboy party at the Legion hut on February 1 was a gala affair. A spring outing and the traditional annual signing party concluded the year's activities. Doris Lee Jones was chosen as club queen.

As the oldest girl's social club on the campus, the WHCs proudly wear the name of Woodson Harding Comrades, in recognition of the outstanding service of Mrs. J. N. Armstrong to young women. These fun-loving girls cooked fried chicken and "fixin's" for their annual "Country Supper." Ingenious initiation stunts were also "cooked up" for twelve new pledges, with the atmosphere of Halloween adding a spookier-than-usual touch to the informal initiation. Meetings were highlighted by numerous parties, suppers, and bunking parties at the lovely home of Mrs. W. B. West, including the formal acceptance party for new members. A mid-year activity of the Tri Sigs was to sponsor the Moods, Harding's newest band, in a Christmas program. The Tri Sigs "got away from it all" for a day on the spring outing. Several stag outings were held during the year. Mary Helms represented the club in the Petit Jean Queen contest.

SPORTS

Cecil Beck — intramural sports director

Successful Intramural Sports System

Where would America be without the competitive spirit? It has been said that competition makes the man. This has been proved at Harding where emphasis is placed on the student's physical well-being as well as his mental and spiritual status. In recent years, under the capable leadership of Cecil Beck, Harding has developed an intramural program that rates second to none in our nation. In the fall of 1955 Beck instituted eight man tackle football, and Harding became one of the few schools in the nation to include this highly competitive sport in its intramural athletic program. The most outstanding feature of this complex recreational system is that ninety percent of the students participate.

Softball-Volleyball Open

Softball was not overshadowed by football in the fall sports program since a large number of boys chose to play softball and there was keen interest in activities on the diamond. The powerful Rebels came from behind near the close of the campaign to capture the league crown, but they fell before the all-stars in the annual post-season tussle. The pitching and field generalship of Tommy Eaves and the lusty hitting of Bill Belue and Wayne Knight were the main factors in the team's success story. Dick McIntyre, who tossed the only no-hitter of the season, shared the pitching spotlight with Eaves. Long base hits added many thrills to the games and the hitters were led by Healy, Johnson and Massey.

Fall Sports Program

Volleyball is often considered a fill-in between football and basketball, but some of the most exciting moments in a thrill-packed fall schedule were produced in the volleyball games. Many new names began to appear in the sports columns when activity shifted from the gridiron and diamond to the volleyball court. The Turks won the Magyar circuit but the Danes established themselves as the highest calibre team by winning the Celtic league and defeating the Turks in the school championship tussle.

Tackle Football Reigns

Tackle football really came of age this year. The game for boys with muscle and brains budded last year and bloomed this season. Never before has such enthusiasm by players and spectators alike been displayed over an intramural sport. The Student Association sponsored a game each Saturday night. Athletic Director, Cecil Beck, divided the 50 participants into four teams and gave Harold Norwood, Marsh Goodson, Dale Flaxbeard, and Charles Weeks the reins. It was Norwood's Tennessee team that took top honors. The team's high octane attack centered around Harold Vanderpool, Jim Bor-

The contest featured such stars as John Vanderpool, Jim Christian, Mason Andres, and Garrett Timmerman, but the men of the hour were back Bob Fletcher and lineman Jesse Fleming. Fletcher was named the game's best back. Fleming, a rugged guard, was named lineman of the night.

... Is Supplemented By Track

In the last track and field day Director Cecil Beck announced that records were to be made and kept for future tracksters to try and break. The result was the best track and field day ever held here. The Independents, led by incomparable Roger Brown, who scored $21\frac{1}{4}$ points, took top honors with 46—1-3 points. However, the Sub-Ts won the club title with a 46 point production. Harold Vanderpool led the way with 15 points. Boyd Garner leaped 19' 6" in the broad jump.

Class Sports Competition

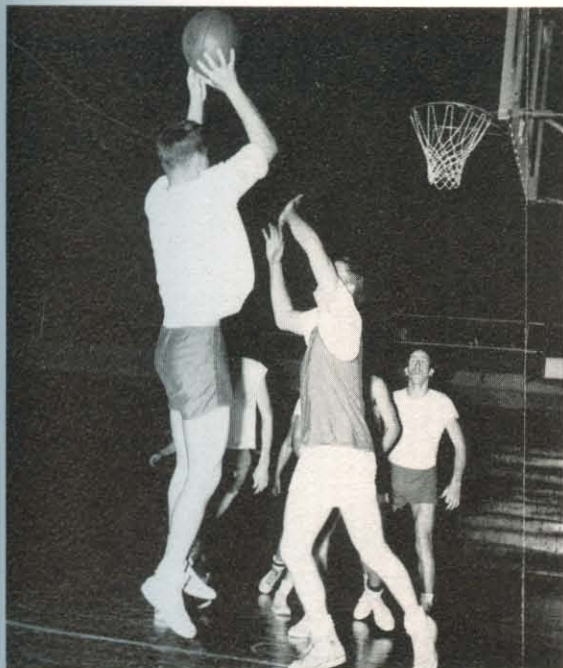

One aspect of the sports program which is showing increased interest year by year is class competition. Tournaments are held in all sports and participation by graduates and faculty rounds out the six teams. An alert and hustling bunch of freshmen captured the baseball crown. The frosh were led by the hurling of Joe Hightower and the hitting and fielding of Wayne Knight and Phil Futrell. The faculty took both the softball and football titles. They were given a tremendous boost by the return the basketball crown. The tournament featured such stars as Dave Richards, Ted Lloyd, Keith Boler, Harold Norwood, and Dale Flaxbeard. The sophomores and juniors experienced a very lean year.

To Prominence

Club sports are one of the new additions to Harding's sports program. Returning to prominence after taking a backseat to intramural athletics for several years, club contests proved to be one of the most popular forms of recreation during 1956-57. The real importance of athletic tournaments is to create a greater spirit within the clubs themselves and build more understanding between boys social clubs. Softball initiated the school year in club competition with Sub-Ts edging out the Sigma Tau Sigma club and Mohicans in close contests. Ragball also went in favor of the shipmen, but not until after a hair-raising game with the Sigma Taus which ended 18-13 in favor of the Sub-Ts. In the final game of ragball, the Sub-Ts defeated the Mohicans 34-13. Volleyball took a turn to favor the Sigma Tau club as they defeated the Mohicans in the finals 19-17 and 15-8. Basketball was close, but the Mohicans had too much height and depth to be withstood. On the finale of the tournament, they defeated the Koinonias 54-44 in a breathtaking finish. Track had its thrills too, with the Track and Field Day providing most of the excitement. The traditional contest always draws a multitude of spectators. At the end of the year an award is given the club which has compiled the most points. The Sub-Ts, Sigma Taus, and Mohicans had the best opportunity to capture this coveted trophy this year.

Increased Interest

The women's intramural program got underway this year with softball. Anderson's undefeated Twinkies formed the core of the All-Star championship. Gattis pitched her second no-hitter of the season in the All-Star game. Twelve clubs were represented in the club volleyball tournament, and they provided lots of excitement for both players and spectators; the Delta Chis won with a 10-1 record. Belue's intramural volleyball team emerged as champs with an 8-2 standing. The female cagers shared the spotlight at the Bison All-Star game. The team, captained by Floyd and Anderson, bowed to Belue's team 46-44; Barnes rolled in 21 points to capture the high point title. Intramural basketball was exciting all the way with many veterans striving to hold their own against a host of eager newcomers. Club basketball followed the intramural tournament. The club events attracted many participants as this was an excellent way of keeping club spirit high. Other events of the year included ping-pong, tennis, basketball free-throw, badminton, horseshoes, and a swimming meet. Anderson, high point entrant of the track and field day in 1955, returned after a year's absence to challenge Kurz, the 1956 champion. They found plenty of competition for that top spot. The planning by the director plus the cooperation and enthusiasm manifested by the players made this a successful year.

For Service To Others

The KEY CLUB, affiliated with Kiwanis, is a service organization. This year the group organized Junior K, the first junior high service club in the history of Kiwanis International. Among its projects was the purchase of a public address system for the football field, the "Athletic Banquet," and the selling of Packer's Charm Soap to finance the other projects. School service projects included locker inspection, selling tickets to school functions, and managing the concession booth at athletic contests.

This club, composed of ten members elected by the students themselves on the basis of good citizenship and service to the school, strives to improve student-faculty relations, and to promote good citizenship. This year they gave a chapel program, and the main project was an all-school party.

Beta Club — ROW ONE: Linda Graddy, Felicia Harris, Lola Speak, Mrs. Inez Pickens, Bettye Ritchie, Lou Martin, Nancy Knott, Latina Dykes. Beta Club Encourages Scholarship

After the six weeks tests were over there was always a small knot of students gathered around a sheet of paper on the bulletin board. Why all the fuss? That sheet of paper contained the names of the members of the BETA CLUB, a national honorary club. Mrs. Inez Pickens is the sponsor, with Gerald Casey as president, Charles Davis as vice-president and Bettye Ritchie as secretary-treasurer. It is a real honor to become a member and a fight to stay in this club. A ninety average must be maintained for two consecutive six weeks periods to become a member; to remain a member the same average is required. An annual event for this group is a breakfast on Baccalaureate morning.

The Academy's Music Program

The Academy has one musical organization of which anyone may become a member — the LARGE CHORUS. Formed with the idea of improving congregational singing as well as giving students a musical background, the organization also serves as a training group for the small chorus. Participation in chapel singing is one evidence of the success of this group. Although taking no tours, as the other musical organizations, this was the group's third year in helping interested students improve their singing. Approximately sixty students, directed by Eddie Baggett, compose this group.

Quartet — Rhodes, Jack Gerald Casey, Harold Valentine, Timmy Rhodes.

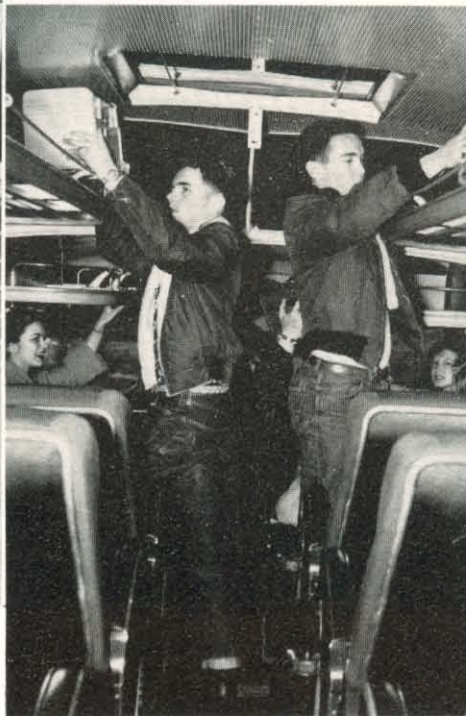

Sextet — Nancy Knott, Betty Ritchie, Pat Street, Kay Northcutt, Billie Rhodes, Rosie King.

Includes Entire Student Body

Membership in the SMALL CHORUS is on a competitive basis, with tryouts being conducted at the beginning of each semester by director Eddie Baggett. To remain a member each person must attend all rehearsals, pass all school work, and conduct his life in such a way as not to bring reproach upon the group. After having been a member of the chorus one can never forget the thrill of singing before hundreds of people in different sections of Arkansas and the nation. Several trips were taken this year, including a nine day tour of Iowa and Illinois. The good times on the bus, the visits in Christian homes, and the nearness felt to God in singing, were uplifting and inspirational to all.

Dramatics Provides Entertainment, Training

Hold on Angelo, Pete seems to be getting carried away.

Those interested in dramatics met with Mrs. Halley Vanderpool to organize the Academy Playhouse. They began the year with a masquerade party of literary characters, later sponsoring "Pink Magic." Under the leadership of Jim McLeod, president, Ben Camp, vice-president, Norma Stafford, secretary-treasurer, and Frank Underwood, reporter, they enacted scenes from "The Merchant of Venice" at the regular club meetings.

From the looks of things Mrs. Vanderpool isn't on the set.

Improved Speech Through Debate Activity

Meeting on Thursday nights, the DEBATE CLUB stressed improvement in public speaking and especially in debating. Last fall club members traveled to Little Rock Central Debate Clinic to study debate techniques and analyze the current national debate topic. In addition to regular competition, chapel debates were also conducted. The team is composed of Jim Harding, Jim Howard, Bill Cannon, and Charles Van Winkle with Mrs. Halley Vanderpool acting as sponsor.

Organizations For Service And Study

The LIBRARY CLUB's purpose is to give library assistance in any way possible. In addition to being in charge of the bulletin board displays for new books, the members straighten, letter, and classify books, while one of the members serves as librarian each period. Each fall the group plays an important part in presenting the White County Book Fair.

There is no shortage of scholastic ability in the Academy, and many of the outstanding students may be found in the SCIENCE CLUB. Mr. Russell McNalty, club sponsor, seeks to guide the group in coming to a better understanding of scientific knowledge. The club's purpose is to encourage interest in science. In keeping with this goal the group attended the annual Arkansas Junior Academy of Science.

Academy Football Has Large Following

The Wildcats began the season by trouncing their first two opponents, Bradford and Heber Springs. After holding a tough Marvell team to a tie, they continued their winning ways by defeating Beebe and the Deaf School. Then following another tie with Bald Knob, the Wildcats playing in a down-pour of rain, lost the district championship in a heartbreaker to Augusta. After losing to speedy Des Arc and powerful Mountain Home they traveled to Barton, closing the season with an 18-7 victory.

Starting Eleven — LINE: Harold Valentine, Bill Williams, Roy Shinley, Ronald Kersh, Clyde Joliff, Bill Smith, Jack Rhodes. BACK-FIELD: Gerald Casey, Bubba Davis, Timmy Rhodes, Don Berryhill.

Everybody except the water boy gets in the act as the Harding line engulfs a ball carrier.

Wildcats Edged Out In District Semi-Finals

The Wildcats, although small, made up for this lack of quantity with shooting accuracy and an alert defense. When they were hot, they gave everyone a tough time. Outside of losses in tournament play they were defeated only three times, twice by Class A District 2 Champion Beebe. The team started the season by beating old nemeses, Griffithville. They edged by Vilonia 64-62 in their only overtime game of the year. Taking a record of 16-6 to District, they had to face the tournament favorite, Desha, in the first game. Coach Groover had his boys "up" though, and the "Cats" were victorious by a score of 75-54. They got by tough Pleasant Plains before taking on Grubbs in the semi-finals. Grubbs was a much taller team and their superior height gave them a 48-47 win. Gerald Casey placed on the All-County and All-District teams, with Timmy Rhodes receiving All-District Honorable Mention.

Oldest Academy Club Now Largest

The K-9 Club is the oldest of the high school boys' clubs. It was originally called the Nine Knights as it had nine charter members, but it is now the Academy's largest club. This year the club held its traditional cowboy banquet with the theme "K-Bar-9 Ranch, Groover Gulch." Eighteen pledges learned the forgotten art of pushing pennies and rolling barrel hoops. Initiation was completed with a feast of raw eggs and oysters.

Spring Portrayed By "Enchanted Garden"

After a week of hectic pledging twelve new members were informally welcomed with egg whites and halfcooked spaghetti at the Ritchie home. This preceded the formal candlelight ceremony at Miss Grady's. Before leaving for the Christmas holidays, the KATs took food and blankets to a needy family, then spent the night in a bunking party at Miss Grady's. Spring was portrayed with daffodils, pansies, and ivy when the Kappa Alpha Thetas took their dates to an "Enchanted Garden" on March 2.

"April In Paris" For Youngest Club

The beginning of the Vikings second year of operation was a busy one as they made plans to initiate eight pledges. Stag outings held at Camp Wyldewood and informal on campus get togethers bound them closer. The annual banquet, held at the Rendezvous, was "April in Paris" with Jack Wood Sears as guest speaker. Mary Redwine and Yvonne Fagan furnished the entertainment. As club project one Monday was spent by the members cleaning up Wyldewood for the summer sessions.

One Star is about to be pushed out of the picture.

"Let's Pretend We're In Spain" By STARS

Ten new members were initiated into the STAR club in the traditional candlelight ceremony at the home of Mrs. Andie T. Ritchie, club sponsor. The new girls joined forces with the old members to make the banquet, their first big social activity, a success. "Let's Pretend We're in Spain" was the theme with yellow, orange, green and white being the color scheme. A king and queen were selected to reign over the evening, as Andy T. Ritchie provided the entertainment. Adding to the year's pleasant memories were the two slumber parties held in the home of Beth French.

"I'm for fried eggs."

Twelve New Members Added

In a joint initiation with the Vikings, the Zeta Kappa Taus this year initiated twelve new members at Hobo Island. After initiation both clubs were served refreshments at the Baggett home. The formal banquet, held in the Terrace Room of the Mayfair Hotel, had as a theme "Moonlight and Roses." In place of the usual speaker ZKTs and dates enjoyed a movie, "Holiday in Arkansas." As a project the club bought a new medicine chest to be carried on athletic trips and chorus trips. Spring found the club members at Camp Wyldewood, helping at the annual spring clean up day. A late spring outing closed the club's social events for the year.

New Members Initiated By Candlelight

Hats! Gloves! Canes! This means that Sub-Deb pledges are around. This fall eleven pledges suffered through the informal initiation and were later formally initiated at Pat Street's home with the traditional candlelight ceremony. Before embarking on the Christmas holidays, the members gathered at Mrs. Vanderpool's home for a Christmas party. Sub-Debs and dates entered the "Land of Hearts" for the annual banquet, with Gorden Teel delivering the after-dinner speech and Jake Engles and John Wilson providing the musical entertainment.
