Community Drive Underway In Phase IV Campaign

More than $540,000 has been pledged to Harding in the 1980 Searcy Fund Drive, according to Lott Tucker, vice president for finance and coordinator of the campaign effort.

"We are still actively securing commitments from individuals and businesses as well as those whose home offices are located out of the city," he said. "We are hoping that we can exceed $600,000 on this year's campaigns."

The community effort is a major part of the $5.6 million Phase IV development program announced last November. At the kickoff meeting, the Searcy Advisory Committee projected a $500,000 goal, to be pledged over a five-year period.

In announcing the status of the fund drive, Tucker indicated that the local campaign should be completed by the first of March.

"The response to the campaign has been tremendous," he said. "The splendid cooperation and support of the business community means a great deal. We feel it is a positive demonstration of the support and confidence in Harding's role in the community."

Members of the 1979 Advisory Committee are John Paul Capps, Leslie Carmichael, Richard Deener, Robert

Fall Homecoming, Lectures Announced

Two major fall events, the 57th annual Harding University Bible Lectureship and Homecoming, are now being planned for 1980.

The Lectureship, scheduled for October 7-10, will feature the theme "We Give Thee But Thine Own." More than 30 speakers will present forums and classes. Special musical programs by the school's choruses will be held before evening lectures. Other events, including a special tea for women and the preacher-elder dinner, will also be offered.

Neale Pryor, professor of Bible, is Lectureship director.

Homecoming weekend will be November 7-8 and will essentially follow the same format as in recent years. The class of 1955 will be recognized as the honor class. Highlighting Saturday afternoon will be the gridiron clash between the Bisons and Southern Arkansas University.

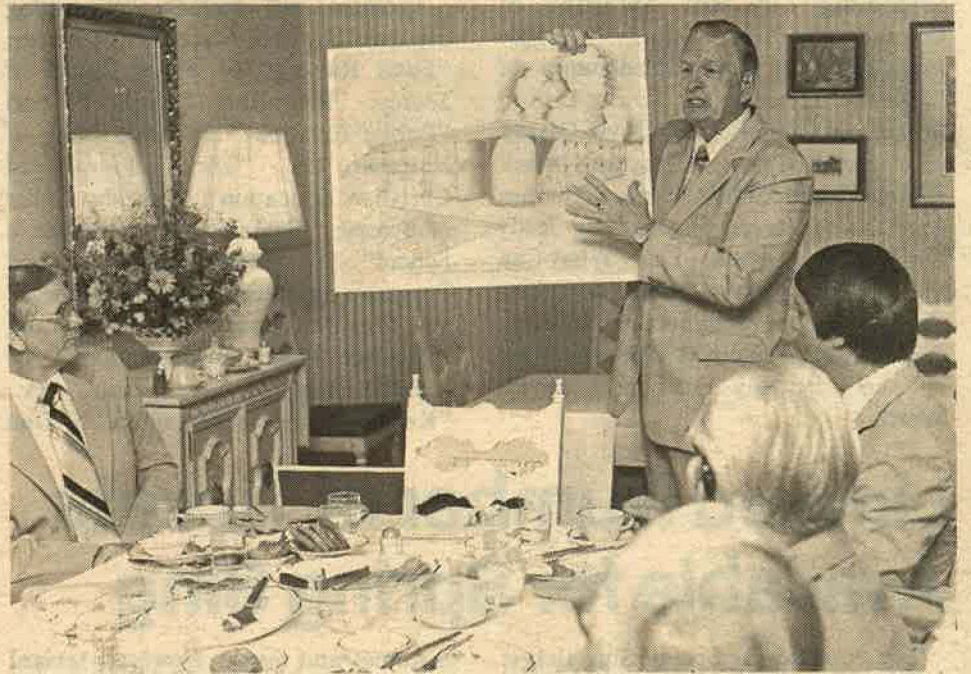

Dr. Jimmy Carr, assistant to the president, is coordinator of Homecoming.

Details of both events will be available in later Bulletins.

Edwards, Clifton Ganus Jr., Wayne Hartsfield, Perrin Jones, Ed Lightle, Orrill Morris, Jack Powell, Phil Pyeatt, Porter Rodgers Jr., Reynie Rutledge, Troyce Smith, Jack Wiseman, E. O. Yancey and Albert Yarnell.

Leadership Committee members are Kevin Barry, Darol Bell, Pete Cole, Floyd Daniel, Deener Dobbins, Elbert Eubanks, Burney Lightle, Bob McKinney, Dwane Treat, Tucker, W. D. White and Elmer Dale Yancey.

The $5.6 million campaign calls for construction of a $1.25 million Harding Academy building, a $1.2 million Business and Economics Building and a $400,000 addition to the Science Building.

Civic leaders gather at a breakfast in the Blue Room to hear President Clifton Ganus outline the Phase IV building projects. Ganus displays the preliminary sketch for the new business and economics building. The Searcy fund drive has more than $540,000 in pledges to date.

Auditorium Dedication Planned March 27

Final plans are being made for the March 27 dedication ceremony of the George S. Benson Auditorium.

President Clifton Ganus will begin the ceremony at 4 p.m. and introduce special guests.

Dr. Benson, Harding's second president, will be the honored speaker at the program. The 81-year-old Benson served at Harding 1936-65. He and his wife, Sallie, were missionaries to China before returning to Harding. Benson is currently president of the National Education Program and is active in supporting Christian education at home and abroad.

"This will be a memorable day for Harding and we hope that many of our alumni, friends and parents will be able to join us," said Ganus. "We have invited state officials and other special guests to be present, and at 7:30 p.m. Dr. Milton Friedman, Nobel Prize-winning economist will speak for our American Studies Lecture Series," the president continued.

Ceremonial music will be provided by the Chorale, A Cappella Chorus and the Brass Ensemble of the University Band. A musical program, composed by Dr. William Holloway of the faculty especially for the occasion, will be presented.

Featuring an 80 by 66-foot fan-shaped stage with orchestra pit the building has 3,400 theatre seats. An earth-toned color scheme is used throughout and gold velvet theatre curtains draw to a scallop. The upper balcony can be converted into four classrooms.

The new facility is located at the corner of Center and Blakeney streets, on the northeast part of the campus. Its construction marks the final project of the "Decade of Development," a program which saw the completion of seven new buildings on campus and the renovation of two structures.

The $2.6 million auditorium, under construction since March of 1978, was opened for use in January this year.

Enrollment Is 2,776 For Spring Semester

The official enrollment for the spring semester of 1980 is 2,776, according to Virgil Beckett, registrar.

The number is down from the record 3,001 students registered last fall. Much of the decrease is due to the December graduation of 125 students.

The current student body comes from 46 states and 24 foreign countries. Male students total 1,406, female students total 1,370, and married students total 318.

There are 107 new students on campus this semester, and 2,111 students (76 percent of the entire enrollment) live on campus.

Programs Planned for 13-In-1 Workshop

Workshops on Church Growth and Christian Schools are scheduled to be presented at the 1980 13-in-1 Workshop at Harding August 4-7.

Topics and speakers for the Church Growth program include "Effective Leadership" by Wayne Kilpatrick of Birmingham, Ala.; "Balance Programming" by Roy Smalling of Colorado Springs, Colo.; "Multiple Ministries" by Gary Beauchamp of Dallas; "Developing Soul-winning Edlers and Churches" by David Caskey of Baytown, Texas; "Reaching Black America" and "What White Churches Can Do to Reach Blacks" by Rudy James of New Orleans, La.; "What Can We Learn From Other Religious Groups" by Joe Schubert of Houston, and "Growth Principles From the Book of Acts" by Ray Fulenwider of Ft. Worth.

The Church Growth program, hosted by Mac Lynn of Memphis, will be located in the Administration Auditorium on campus.

The workshop on Christian Schools will be hosted by Richard Duke and held in the American Studies Auditorium on the campus.

Lectures will include "Recruiting Students" by Fred Alexander of Searcy; "Fund Raising" by Floyd Daniel of Searcy; "Recruiting Personnel" and "Public Relations" by Jesse Long of Norcross, Ga.; "The Philosophy of Christian Education" by Bobby Coker of Searcy; "Beginning to Organize a School" and "Transportation, Food Programs and Other Support Services" by Harold Bowie of Memphis; "Physical Plant Considerations" by Martin Greer of Fort Smith, Ark.; "Keeping Christ in Education" by Don England of Searcy; "Managing School Finances" by Harrell Austin of Paragould, Ark.; "Curriculum Decisions" by Ed Higginbotham of Searcy and "The Case for Christian Education" by Harding President Clifton Ganus Jr.

The remaining workshops are The Christian Home, Singles, Christian Evidences, Biblical Studies, Nursery, Primary, Juniors, Youth Ministry, Adults, and Educational Directors and Supervisors.

Altogether programs will feature devotionals by Joe Beam of Evansville, Ind., and lectures with Wayne Kilpatrick of Birmingham, Ala.; Beauchamp, Batsell Barrett Baxter of Nashville, Tenn., and Landon Saunders of Houston. Nick Boone of Madison, Tenn., will lead singing for the altogether programs.

Further details may be obtained from the Harding University Bible Department, Box 939, Searcy, Ark. 72143.

Limited Number of Tickets Available for Spring Sing

The demand for Spring Sing tickets has increased steadily each year since the musical program started as a part of the annual Youth Forum.

With the opening of Benson Auditorium this spring and the increase in number of available seats, many more persons will be able to see the show April 4-5, but the availability of seating remains somewhat critical nonetheless.

At presstime, only a few seats in the auditorium's upper balcony remained unsold for Saturday night, when awards are presented for the top presentations, costumes and music. However, several hundred seats were available for the Saturday matinee at 3 o'clock.

The show will open on Friday, April 4, and a limited number of seats remained unsold for that performance.

Last spring, about 6,000 persons attended the five performances. Should the three shows become sellouts this year, the number of attendants will be approximately 10,000.

The tickets may be ordered by sending the provided coupon with remittance to Harding University, Box 1224.

Corbin Hears Carter At Council Meeting

Bob Corbin, associate professor of health, physical education and recreation, attended a meeting conducted January 31-February 2 by the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports in Washington D. C.

President Jimmy Carter addressed the group on Friday concerning the nation's physical fitness status and the administration's position on fitness programs. Carter also spoke on the recent decision for the United States to boycott the Olympics and the current physical fitness training of American military personnel.

Corbin later met with congressman Ed Bethune of Searcy.

Miss Kersey Crowned Winter Festival Queen

Miss Michelle Kersey, a junior elementary education major from Memphis, was crowned Winter Festival Queen during halftime of the Bison-Arkansas Tech basketball game on January 31. President Clifton L. Ganus crowned the queen, who was escorted by her father Gale Kersey.

Honor attendants in the queen's court included junior Pam McFarlin, a junior elementary education major from Carlisle, Ark., and Pam Pipkin, a senior business management major from Jackson, Tenn.

Class representatives were Susan Parkey, a freshman from Franklin, Tenn.; Patti Miller, a sophomore from Pasadena, Texas; Jill Pettie, a junior from Huntsville, Ala., and Gayla Shipp, a senior from Tallahassee, Fla.

The annual ceremony, sponsored by the Gata social club, is held to raise money to help send needy children to Camp Wyldewood. A total of $230 was collected this year.

Richard King

Richard King Added To Harding Faculty

Richard D. King Sr. has been added to the Harding faculty as an associate instructor of Bible, according to Harding President Clifton L. Ganus Jr.

King's appointment was effective with the beginning of the 1980 spring semester.

A graduate of Butner High School in Cromwell, Okla., he attended Central State College in Edmond, Okla., before transferring in 1976 to Harding, where he was a dean's list student and member of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. After receiving his bachelor's degree in 1979, he attended the Harding Graduate School of Religion in Memphis.

The 30-year-old King served as personal work minister for the Northeastern Avenue Church of Christ in Oklahoma City from 1973-76 and currently is preaching at the Spruce Street Church of Christ in Augusta, Ark.

King and his wife, the former Lola Maxwell of Oklahoma City, have three children — Roshell, Dianah and Richard Jr. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornell King of Okemah, Okla.

ON THE COVER — Michelle Kersey, a junior from Memphis, receives a congratulatory kiss from her father, Gale Kersey, after she was crowned as Winter Festival Queen on January 31. The festival, held this year at the halftime of the Bison-Arkansas Tech basketball game, has become an annual festivity to raise money to send needy children to Camp Wyldewood.

May Intercession, Regular Summer Programs Offered

Intercession, the accelerated 17-day short course, will launch the summer academic program at Harding University May 12-28.

A maximum of four semester hours of credit may be earned. Courses offered include Biology Field Studies, Principles of Macroeconomics, Economic Education for Elementary Teachers, Literature of the Western World, American Poetry, Western Civilization, Human Relations, Principles of Marketing, Quantitative Business Analysis, Tennis and Racquetball, Golf and Bowling, Lifesaving Certification for men, Earth Science, American National Government, General Psychology, Courtship and Marriage, and Basic Speech Communications. A seminar on Youth Ministry will be offered but will end on May 16.

The two regular summer sessions are set for June 9-July 11 and July 14-August 5. More than 100 courses will be offered in the fields of art, Bible, biology, chemistry, economics, English, French, history, mathematics, music, physical science, physics, political science, psychology and speech.

"The summer provides a time that students can concentrate on studies and also save money," said Dr. James Carr, director of summer session. Carr explained that a maximum of thirteen hours could be earned in the entire 10-week period, with a savings on room and board over the regular 18-week semester.

"There is also less activity on the campus, creating a quiet atmosphere which is helpful in the concentrated study," he noted.

Other special programs are offered throughout the summer including an Advanced Studies Program for qualified high school students and a Developmental Program for incoming freshmen who wish to strengthen academic skills. Both programs will be held concurrently with the regular Summer Session.

Workshops will also be offered in the field of Education.

For more information on summer programs, contact Dr. Carr, Box 1224, Harding University, Searcy, Ark. 72143.

History Group Names Jewell to Committee

Dr. Fred Jewell, associate professor of history at Harding University, has been appointed to the Paper Prize committee of Phi Alpha Theta national history honor society. He will assist in selecting the six best graduate and undergraduate papers submitted to the organization during the next six years.

Winners selected in the program receive cash awards and have the option of having their papers published in the society's official organ, "The Historian." Phi Alpha Theta annually honors those who have made conspicuous attainments in the field of history.

Jewell received the appointment last December at the convention of Phi Alpha Theta in New York City, where he read a paper entitled "The Anglo-American Connection: Sir Norman Angell and the Battle Against Isolation, 1940-1941."

Jewell, who holds the doctorate in education from Ball State University, joined the Harding faculty in 1968. His wife, Alice, is a member of the English faculty.

Jewell will read a paper entitled "Another Supreme Court Balancing Act: Libel Laws, the First Amendment, and the Public Figure Doctrine" at the annual convention of the Arkansas Political Science Association February 29-March 1 at Fairfield Bay.

Business Team Chosen, Reno Competition Begins

The 1980 Harding University Business Team, which will compete in the annual business games in Reno, Nev., has been announced by Dr. David Burks, sponsor and dean of the School of Business.

Senior accounting major David Perkins of Memphis is the only returning member to this year's group. The four new team members are junior accounting major Allen Hunt of Frankfort, Ky.; senior accounting major Bruce Piller of Neenah, Wis.; senior computer science major Walt Smith of Searcy and senior accounting major Hal West of Nashville, Tenn.

The competition, sponsored by the University of Nevada at Reno, will involve schools from California, Oregon, Nevada and Arkansas. From now until April, the students will make computerized decisions in hypothetical business situations. They will travel to Reno April 26-28 for final competition and announcement of the winners. Judging will be based on achievement of goals, profits, and credibility.

Harding competed last year and was one of three divisional winners named from a field of 21 colleges and universities.

Honorary Art Society Inducts Six Students

Six new members have been inducted into the Epsilon Iota chapter of Kappa Pi art fraternity at Harding.

They are Glenda Buchanan, of Benton, Ark.; Greg Clayton of Troy, Mich.; Chris Davis of Searcy, Doug Laman of North Little Rock, Kim Leonard of England, Ark., and Kent Pate of Jonesboro, Ga.

Kappa Pi is a national honor society for junior and senior art students who have excelled academically as well as artistically.

Officers of the Harding chapter are Doug Hudson, president; Karen Tibbals, vice president; Karen Stork, secretary, and Jan Fleming, treasurer.

Faculty sponsors are Elizabeth Mason and Stan Green.

Bison Band Makes Oklahoma Tour

The 68 members of the Bison Band and director Dr. G. E. Baggett made a three-day tour to Oklahoma February 18-20, performing five concerts enroute.

The group played at Roland, Oklahoma High School and for the residents at Turley Children's Home in Tulsa on Monday.

On Tuesday, the band presented a concert at Green Country Christian Academy in Tulsa before leaving for Oklahoma City to perform at Judd Theatre Tuesday night on the Oklahoma Christian College campus.

The band members were guests of the OCC Band for the night, and were hosted by Warren Casey, a 1977 Harding graduate who is now director of OCC's band.

The final performance was at Living Word Academy in Oklahoma City before leaving for Searcy. Enroute, the Russellville Church of Christ provided dinner for the group Wednesday night.

The Band presented a campus concert, the group's premier performance in Benson Auditorium, February 22.

Captain Petrich Evaluates U.S. Defense Posture

by Andrea Mannen

At the February 5 program of the American Studies Lecture Series, U. S. Navy Captain Horst Alfred Petrich ('55) warned that recent events, including the turmoil in the Middle East, increased Soviet aggression, and domestic economic problems call for an immediate re-evaluation of America's defense.

"The moment has come when we must face up, realistically, to our total defense posture — conventional as well as nuclear," stated the 25-year Navy man.

While Congress has amended the 1980 budget to increase defense spending and the Department of Defense has planned a larger budget that has already been submitted to Congress for 1981, Petrich explained that the actions were only a beginning.

"The renewed awareness of our national security needs is but a recognition of the problem. Since the Soviets have outspent us by approximately $100 billion over the past five years, we cannot correct that imbalance in one or two years," he told the audience in the American Heritage Auditorium.

The commander of the Air Logistics Wing in the Eight United States Naval District in New Orleans maintained that control of the seas and a strong navy are vital to the national interest since 97 percent of our total number of imports come via water. "Denial of access to the roads of commerce on the seas would stop the industrial machine of this country with devastating effects felt throughout the land."

Of equal importance is the communication with our allies and their dependence on the oceans, according to the captain.

Captain Horst Petrich, a former Harding student and now commander in the United States Navy, meets the audience after speaking for the American Studies Lecture Series on February 5.

"Supremacy on the sea and continual use of the sea for peaceful commercial purposes is an absolute requirement for the United States. We maintain supremacy by keeping our navy second to none, keeping pace with the potential threat and devoting adequate resources," he said.

Comparing our naval force with the Soviet Union's, Petrich noted, "While our navy has fewer ships and submarines they are much more capable. What is worrisome to me," he continued, "is that the trend is against us. While our navy is getting smaller, the Soviet's is growing. We must depend on the sea while the Soviets are a land power," he cautioned.

In suggesting measures to be taken that would help assure the future, Petrich, who attended Harding from 1948-55, offered a three step plan. The country must predict the future by recognizing requirements and preparing to deal with a wide range of problems, and assess our adversary accurately and realistically. His third concern was that the navy continue her global reach, maintain the ability to go on the offensive and retain technological supremacy.

On a note of guarded optimism, Petrich concluded his 40-minute prepared speech, saying, "Today you have the finest navy in the world. It is modern, sophisticated, capable and respected by every other nation as the finest navy in the world. You have an obligation," he charged, "to do your part to see that it stays that way . . . you have a responsibility because you are the future leaders."

Following his lecture, Petrich — the father of two current Harding students, Erika and Kurt — commented on questions from the group of university students, faculty members and guests. Highlights included:

— The draft: "There is not enough of a shortage at the present time to warrant a draft. If it escalates any more, it would be my judgment that the President would seriously consider it. But registration would probably come sooner."

— Drafting women: "The possibility is there. I would doubt that it would be an option exercised very quickly. I think there would be enough women to volunteer."

— The Russian invasion of Afghanistan: "They (the Afghans) are a fierce and proud people. I think the Soviets will pull out, but I don't know when. When they feel that they have a leadership there that will lend itself fully to their wishes, they may feel confident enough to pull out the troops."

— The volunteer program and quality of the armed forces: "I personally have not had that experience (of working with incompetent personnel.) The people that I have served with are trained very expensively, technologically. They are the finest in the armed forces."

Alumni Association Opens Nominations for Officers

Nominations for officers of the Harding Alumni Association are now being accepted, according to David Crouch, director of alumni relations.

A nominating committee appointed in November at the annual meeting of the Association has proposed the following candidates: president-elect, Dr. David Smith (BS '67) of Little Rock; vice president, Harry Risinger (BS '69) of Memphis; Mrs. Bill F. Hefley (Jane Sutherland, BA '55) of Little Rock, and Dr. James W. Carr (BA '70) of Tallahassee, Fla.

Additional nominations are solicited by the Alumni Association for these positions. The person nominated must be willing to serve if elected. Also, biographical information concerning the nominee should be submitted with the nomination.

Deadline for receiving the additional nominations is April 1, 1980. Ballots will be mailed to members of the Alumni Association before June 1 and must be returned to the Alumni Association office before July 1.

Ballots which will be mailed to alumni will contain the names of two candidates for president-elect and five candidates for vice-president elect.

All nominations should be submitted in writing to the Alumni Association, Box 768, Harding University, Searcy, Ark.

Competition Approaching For Six Springtime Sports

Springtime will bring a flurry of activity on the Harding sports scene as six different sports will contend for conference honors.

With two Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference championships already decided, Harding is second in the all-sports trophy competition and a strong showing in the spring sports will be crucial to a top ranking.

This year will be the last for bowling as an AIC-sponsored sport. The Bison keggers, the only AIC team ever to win an NAIA national title, will be aiming for their seventh straight conference championship. In 17 seasons Harding has won 14 championship trophies.

Following is a capsule look at sports.

TENNIS

Four lettermen return for Coach David Elliott, who anticipates an improvement in last year's fourth place conference finish.

"With senior Scott Carsten's leadership, we should contend for the conference championship," an optimistic Elliott said.

Expected to play a vital part in the Bisons' prospects are senior Scott Dawkins of Ketchikan, Alaska and sophomores Bob Ballenger of Corning, Ark., and Eric Dawkins of Ketchikan, Alaska.

Promising newcomers include freshmen David Redding of Nevada, Mo.; Sam Moore of Decatur, Ill.; Clark Woods of Hope, Ark., and Rex Fowler of West Plains, Mo.

SWIMMING

The Harding Water Buffaloes, fifth a year ago, are definitely improved and Coach Jack Boustead has a solid nucleus of 11 lettermen returning.

Counted on for strong contributions are co-captains Eric Frederickson of Merced, Calif., and Carl Waites of Dearborn, Mich.

Improvement in the sprints and distance events, along with the development of diver Jim Davenport of Walden, N. Y., should account for valuable points in the conference meet.

GOLF

Five lettermen, including two-time All-AIC Brent Taylor of Bartlesville, Okla. will give coach Phil Watkins a wealth of experience to challenge for the conference title.

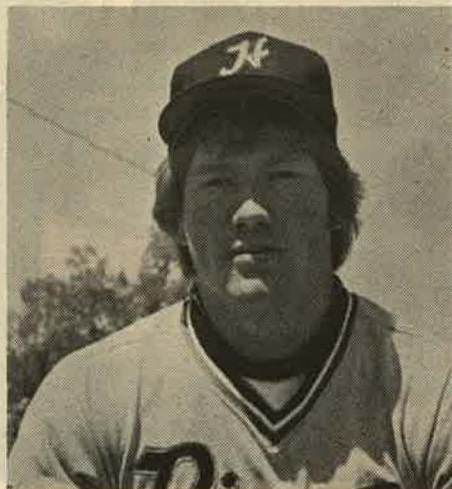

In addition to Taylor, returnees include sophomores Randy Wooten of San Diego, Calif., and David Padgett of

Ken Dorsey

Brent Taylor

Mike Moody

Mike Bedwell

North Little Rock, junior Phil Garnett of West Monroe, La., and senior Keith Goree of Pensacola, Fla.

Newcomers expected to contribute and contend for a spot in the top five are freshman Hubie Smith of Memphis and transfer Jim Wade.

TRACK

Two NAIA All-American pole vaulters, 13 lettermen and some talented newcomers enhance the Bison's outlook for track and field.

The vaulters, junior Mike Lynch of Scottsdale, Ariz. have career bests of 16-0 and 15-6, respectively, and should be the class of the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference.

Triple jumper Kevin Granberg (46-9) of Tacoma, Wash., half miler David Edwards of Louisville, Ky., and distance man Richard Teixeira of Auburn, Ind., should be dependable scorers for the Bisons. Among the newcomers, miler Joe O'Connor of Augusta, Maine, an air force veteran, appears likely to make his presence felt.

Look for the Bisons to improve on last year's fourth place finish.

BASEBALL

Strength up the middle, a baseball axiom, will keynote Coach Dick Johnson's 1980 squad.

With two-time All-AIC and All-District 17 catcher Mike Moody of Texarkana (.348) anchoring the Bison infield, the Bisons return lettermen at short stop, second base and centerfield. Steve Ulrich of Hanson, Calif., at shortstop, either Mark Kay of Tulsa, Okla., or Rieke Stewart of Des Arc in center, and either transfer Don Skinner of Byron, Mich., or sophomore John Gross of Pine Bluff at second will provide the experience so lacking a year ago.

Program Receives Award

Harding has been named the recipient of an All-America Award in publications by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, according to Charles Eppler, NAIA director of public relations.

The 1979 football game program, produced by the public relations office, was recognized as one of the top ten in the nation in NAIA Division I entries.

"This is the first time we have entered this particular category and we are very pleased about the award," said Stan Green, Harding director of public relations.

Participating in the weekly production of the publication were Mike James, director of photography, Chuck Hicks, graphic artist, Linda Hilbun, student assistant, Louanne Zuccolo, secretary, and Green.

"Each week we tried to update the program with player profiles, statistics, photographs and rosters, as well as premium coupons from local sponsors," Green said. "With the sponsorship of the advertising sales by the Downtown Bison Booster Club, this has been our most successful year with programs."

Lynch Wins Vaulting Contest

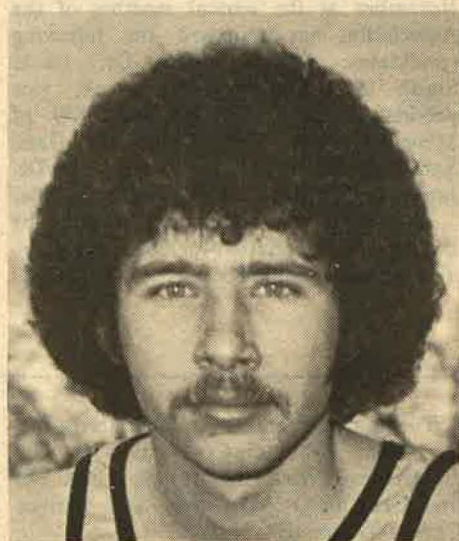

With a leap of 16-0, Harding junior Mike Lynch won the pole vault event at the Mason-Dixon Games in Louisville, Ky., February 8.

Matching his best all-time individual performance, Lynch led all vaulters in the college and club competition at the prestigious intersectional meet.

Lynch, who gained All-America recognition in the 1979 NAIA indoor national championships, is the defending Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference outdoor champion at 15-6 and was a member of the District 17 All-Star team which competed in Mexico City last spring.

Teammate Perry Fraley of Scottsdale, Ariz., vaulted 15-6 for a fifth place finish in the Mason-Dixon competition.

By virtue of their performances,

Mike Lynch

Lynch and Fraley qualified for the 1980 NAIA Indoor Championships in Kansas City, Mo., February 14-16.
